WHEREAS the great and general court or assembly of this province, by an act made and passed at their sessions in May, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-eight, on the grant of the house of representatives, agreed upon and ordered a tax of one hundred and five thousand pounds; and whereas by the act aforesaid, provision is made, that the general court at their present session might apportion the same on the several towns, districts, parishes and places within this province, if they should think fit: yet inasmuch as such a heavy tax will be extremely burthensome to the inhabitants of this province under their present distressed circumstances; and as the proportion of said tax must be very unequal in regard to several towns, for want of a new valuation which cannot be compleated this session; and as some of the possessors of the government securities, for the redemp- 1768, chap. 14, § 5.

tion of which the aforesaid sum of one hundred and five thousand pounds is applied, are willing to continue their money upon loan, payable at a further period, which with the tax of thirty thousand pounds now agreed to be assessed and levied this year, will be sufficient to redeem the government securities with the interest thereon, which will become due in June, one thousand seven hundred and seventy; wherefore for the ordering, directing, and effectually drawing in the sum of thirty-four thousand one hundred and thirty-six pounds seven shillings and elevenpence [one] halfpenny; and to the end that the same may be apportioned, assessed and levied in the easiest manner we are able for the benefit of his majesty's subjects, and also that his majesty's government within this province may have the better and more speedy effect of the said grant; we his majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the representatives in general court assembled, pray that it may be enacted, —

And be it accordingly enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

[SECT. 1.] That each town, district, parish or other place within this province be assessed, and pay as such town, district, parish, and place's proportion of the sum of thirty-four thousand one hundred and thirty-six pounds seven shillings and elevenpence one farthing, the several sums following; that is to say, —

And be it further enacted,

Treasurer to issue his warrants to the selectmen or assessors.

[SECT. 2.] That the treasurer do forthwith send out his warrants, directed to the selectmen or assessors of each town, district, parish or other place within this province, that are taxed, requiring them, respectively, to assess the sum hereby set upon such town, district, parish or other place, in manner following; that is to say, to assess all rateable polls above the age of sixteen years, within their respective towns, districts, parishes or other places, or next adjoining to them, belonging to no other town or place, at four shillings, and proportionably in assessing the additional sum paid out of the treasury to the representatives, for their trav[ai][e]l and attendance aforesaid (excepting the governor, lieutenant-governor and their families, the president, fellows, professors, Hebrew instructor and students of Harvard College, settled ministers and gramm[e][a]r-school masters, who are hereby exempted as well from being taxed for their polls, as their estates being in their own hands, and under their actual management and improvement; as also the estate pertaining to Harvard College); and other persons, if such there be, who, through age, infirmity or extreme poverty, in the judgment of the assessors, are not able to pay towards public[k] charges, they may exempt their polls or estate[s], or abate part of what they are set at, as in their prudence they shall think fit and judge meet.

Rules for assessment.

[SECT. 3.] And the justices in their general sessions, in the respective counties assembled, in granting a county tax or assessment, are hereby ordered and directed to apportion the same on the several towns, districts, parishes and other places in such county, in proportion to the province tax; and the assessors of each town in the province are also directed, in making an assessment, to govern themselves by the same rule; and the incomes of all estates, both real and personal, lying within the limits of such town, district, parish or other place, or next unto the same, not paying elsewhere, in whose hands, tenure [or] occupation or possession the same is or shall be found, and also the incomes or profits which any person or persons, except as before excepted, do or shall receive from any trade or faculty, business or employment whatsoever, and all profits which shall or may arise by money, or commissions of profits, in their improvement, at twelve pence per pound; and to abate or multiply the same, if need be, so as to make up the sum set and ordered hereby for each town, district, parish or other place to pay; and in making the said assessment, to estimate houses and lands at the amount of six years' yearly rent whereat the same may be reasonably set or let for in the place where they l[i][y]e; the said houses and land to be taxed to such persons as shall be the actual tenants thereof upon the first day of September next; excepting all such houses and buildings, in the town of Boston or elsewhere within this province, as shall then be improved as barracks for the king's troops, or otherwise for his service, all which houses and buildings so improved shall be taxed to such persons to whom the rents of the same shall at that time be due or payable: saving all agreements between landlord and tenant, and where no agreement is, the landlord to reimburse one-half of the tax set upon such houses and lands (new cleared lands for tillage not to be rated until the first crop be taken off); and to estimate negro, Indian and molatto servants proportionably as other personal estate, according to their sound judgment or discretion; as also to estimate every ox of four years old and upwards, at forty shillings; every cow or heifer of three years old and upwards, [at] thirty shillings; and every horse and mare of three years old and upwards, at forty shillings; and every swine of one year old and upwards, at eight shillings; goats and sheep of one year old and upwards, at three shillings each; the several creatures above mentioned to be taxed to their respective owners or occupants, by the assessors of the town in which the owners or occupants dwell: likewise requiring the assessors to make a fair list of said assessment, setting forth, in distinct columns, against each particular person's name, how much he or she is assessed at for polls, and how much for houses and lands, and how much for personal estate, and income by trade or faculty, and if as guardians, or for any estate, in his or her improvement, in trust, to be distinctly expressed; and the list or lists so perfected, and signed by them, or the major part of them, to commit to the collector or constable or constables of any such town, district, parish or other place, and to return a certificate of the name or names of such collector, constable or constables, with the sum total to each of them committed, unto himself, some time before the last day of November next.

Lists to be committed to constables or collectors.

[Sect. 4.] And the treasurer, for the time being, on receipt of such certificate, is hereby [e][i]mpowered and ordered to issue forth his warrants to the collector or constable or constables of such town, district, parish or other place, requiring him or them, respectively, to collect the whole of each respective sum assessed on each particular person, and to pay in their collection, and to issue their accompts of the whole, at or before the thirtieth day of March, which will be in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and seventy.

Treasurer to issue his warrants to constables or collectors.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 5.] That the assessors of each town, district, parish or other place, respectively, in convenient time before their making of the assessment, shall give seasonable warning to the inhabitants, in a town meeting, or by posting up notifications in some place or places in such town, district, parish or other place, or notify the inhabitants some other way, to give and bring in to the assessors true and perfect lists of their polls and rateable estate they shall be possessed of on the first day of September next, and income by trade or faculty, and gain by money at interest, which they are to render to the assessors, on oath, if required; and if they refuse to give in an account of the money at interest, on oath, the assessors are [e][i]mpowered to doom them; and if any person or persons shall neglect or refuse so to do, or bring in a false list, it shall be lawful to and for the assessors to assess such person or persons, according to their known ability in such town, in their sound judgment and discretion, their due proportion of this tax, as near as they can, agre[e]able to the rules herein given, under the penalty of twenty shillings for each person that shall be convicted by legal proof, in the judgment of the said assessors, in bringing in a false list; the said fines to be for the use of the poor of such town, district, parish or place where the delinquent lives, to be levied by warrant from the assessors, directed to the collectors or constables, in manner as is directed for gathering the town assessments, to be paid into the town, district, or parish treasury, for the use aforesaid: saving to the party aggrieved at the judgment of the assessors in setting forth such fine, liberty of appeal therefrom to the court of general sessions of the peace within the county, for relief as in the case of being overrated. And if any person or persons shall not bring in a list of their estate as aforesaid to the assessors, he or they so neglecting shall not be admitted to make application to the court of general sessions, for any abatement of the assessment laid on him or them.

Notice to be given to the inhabitants to bring in a true list of polls and estate in possession the first day of September.

[Sect. 6.] And if the person be not convicted of any falseness in the list, by him presented, of the polls, rateable estate, or income by trade or faculty, business or employment, which he does or shall exercise, or in gain by money at interest or otherwise, or other estate not particularly assessed, such list shall be a rule for such person's proportion to the tax, which the assessors may not exceed.

And forasmuch as, oftentimes, sundry persons, not belonging to this province, bring considerable trade and merchandize into the same, and by reason that the tax or rate of the town where they come to is finished and delivered to the constable or collectors, and, before the next year's assessment, are gone out of the province, and so pay nothing towards the support of the government, tho[ugh], in the time of their residing here, they reaped considerable gain by trade, and had the protection of the government, —

Be it therefore enacted,

Transient traders to be rated.

[SECT. 7.] That when any person or persons shall come and reside in any town within this province, and bring any merchandize, or trade, to deal therewith, the assessors of such town are hereby [e][i]mpowered to rate and assess all such persons, according to their circumstances, pursuant to the rules and directions of this act provided, though the former rate may have been finished and a new one not perfected as aforesaid.

And be it further enacted,

Merchants to be rated for carrying on trade in any town besides where they dwell.

[SECT. 8.] That when any merchant, trader or factor, shall set up a store, and traffic[k], or carry on any trade or business, in any town within this province, not being an inhabitant of such town, the assessors of such town where such trade and business shall be carried on as aforesaid, be and hereby are [e][i]mpowered to rate and assess all such merchants, traders and factors, their goods and merchandize, for carrying on such trade and business, and exercising their faculty in such town, pursuant to the rules and directions of this act: provided, before any such assessors shall rate such persons, as aforementioned, the selectmen of the town where such trade is carried on shall transmit a list of such persons as they shall judge may and ought to be rated, within the intent of this act, to the assessors of such town or district.

Selectmen to transmit a list of such persons before they are rated.

[SECT. 9.] And the constables or collectors are hereby enjoined to levy and collect all such sums committed to them, and assessed on persons who are not of this province, or are resident in other towns than those where they carry on their trade, and pay the same.

And whereas it has been the practice of some of the inhabitants of the town of Boston to remove to some other town in this province, and there reside for some months, to avoid paying their part of the taxes in the town of Boston, to which they really belong, to the great injury of the said town, —

Be it therefore enacted,

Inhabitants of Boston who remove out of town and return in a year, to pay their tax in said town.

[SECT. 10.] That when any inhabitant of the town of Boston shall remove to any other town in this province, and shall, in one year after, remove back to said Boston, and shall have been taxed in the said town, shall be subject to pay said taxes, in like manner as he would have been had he not have removed from said Boston (saving so much as he shall be taxed in the town removed to), anything in this act to the contrary notwithstanding. [Passed July 15.

CHAPTER 2.

AN ACT FOR GRANTING UNTO HIS MAJESTY SEVERAL RATES AND DUTIES OF IMPOST AND T[O][U]NNAGE OF SHIPPING.

Preamble.

We, his majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the representatives of the province of the Massachusetts Bay, in New England, being desirous of lessening the public debts, have chearfully and unanimously given and granted, and do give and grant, to his most excellent majesty, for the service of this province, as they shall hereafter apply it, the several duties of impost upon all liquors, wares, goods and merchandize that shall be imported into this province, and t[o][u]nnage of shipping hereafter mentioned; and pray that it may be enacted, —

And be it accordingly enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

From July 10, 1767, to July 11, 1770, impost to be paid.

AN ACT TO PREVENT THE DESTRUCTION OF ALEWIVES AND OTHER FISH IN IPSWICH RIVER, AND TO ENCOURAGE THE ENCREASE OF THE SAME.

Preamble. 1764-65, chap. 34. 1765-66, chap. 33.

Whereas, heretofore, great variety of fish, particularly salmon, bass, shad and alewives, used to pass up Ipswich River, so called, to cast their spawn in the natural ponds emptying into the same, but, for a long time past, the passage of the said fish up the said river, by milldams across the said river and its branches, has been almost totally obstructed, to the great damage and distress of the inhabitants, especially the poor, of divers towns in the count[ies][y] of Essex and Middlesex thro' which the said river and its branches run, as well as to the prejudice of the cod-fishery on the coasts of the province; and whereas the laws now in force relating to opening and keeping open passages for fish in rivers and streams within this province are by experience found to be ineffectual for opening a sufficient passage for the said fish up the river aforesaid, —

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives, in General Court assembled, Proprietors of Warner's Milldam to make and keep open a passage for the fish.

[Sect. 1.] That the proprietor or proprietors of the dam across Ipswich River, commonly called Warner's Milldam, and also the proprietor or proprietors of the dam at Farley's Mills, so called, be, and they [are] hereby [are], required, henceforward, at their own cost and charge, in proportion to their several interests, to make and keep open a passage for the fish thro' their respective dams, from the twentieth day of April to the fifteenth day of June, annually; and that the said passage be made within four feet of the northerly end of each of [the] said dams, six feet wide, to extend from the top of the said dam and as low as the mudsills of the same, and that during the said time the bottom of the said passage be covered with flat stones, or gravel, in such a manner as that the bottom be not raised higher than the sills, —

And be it further enacted,

Proprietors of the floom at Choate's Mills required to keep open a passage in the same manner as Warner's and Farley's, on penalty.

[Sect. 2.] That the proprietor or proprietors of the floom at Choat[e]'s Mills, so called, in said town, be, and they [are] hereby [are], required, henceforward, during the time aforesaid, annually, to keep open a passage six feet wide, thro' the said floom, in the same manner as the proprietors of Warner's and Farley's Mills are hereinbefore required and enjoined, where the waste-gate now is, on pain that the proprietor or proprietors of either of the aforesaid mills neglecting to observe the directions of this act in any of the instances before mentioned, shall forfeit the sum of fifty pounds, to be recovered of them, or either of them, by action of debt in any of his majesty's courts of record, in the county where the offence shall be committed, to be disposed of as follows; viz[t]., one moiety to him who shall sue for the same, the other moiety to the poor of the town where the offence shall be committed.

And be it further enacted,

Sluices or passages to be kept open.

[Sect. 3.] That [the] sluices or passages thro' or by all other milldams now erected or that shall hereafter be erected upon the said river, or upon any stream or streams running from any natural pond into the same, provided the said milldam be below the same ponds, shall be open, and kept open, according as is already directed by the laws of the province now in force; and that the proprietor or proprietors of such milldam[s] shall make, maintain and keep open said

sluices or passages, at their own cost and charge, in the same manner as is heretofore in this act provided with regard to the passages thro' Warner's and Farley's milldam[s], and under the same penalty for every neglect, to be recovered and disposed of in the same manner.

And be it further enacted,

Penalty for taking fish after a certain time.

[SECT. 4.] That every person who shall, after the fifteenth day of April which will be in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and seventy, presume to take fish of any kind in said river or its branches, or any of the ponds emptying themselves into it, with seans or drag-n[i][e]ts of any kind, shall forfeit for every such offence the sum of five pounds, to be recovered in any of his majesty's courts of record in the county of Essex; one moiety to him who shall sue for the same, the other moiety to the poor of the town where the offence shall be committed.

And whereas it has been found by experience that sawdust floating in streams where fish pass does much obstruct their passage, —

Be it further enacted,

Saw-mills not to work during such time as the passages are open for the fish, on penalty.

[SECT. 5.] That, during the time in which passages for the fish are by this act ordered to be kept open, none of the saw-mills on the said river, or any of the streams running from natural ponds into the same, shall be suffered to go for the cutting [of] any wood or timber in the same, upon pain that every person who shall saw any wood or timber in any of the said saw-mills during the time aforesaid, shall for every such offence forfeit and pay the sum of ten pounds, to be recovered to his own proper use by any person who shall sue for the same in any of his majesty's courts of record proper to try the same.

Continuation.

[SECT. 6.] This act to continue and be in force until the fifteenth day of April, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-three, and no longer. [Passed and published July 15.

AN ACT TO IMPOWER THE EAST PRECINCT IN SALEM, WHERE THE REV.[D] MR. JAMES DIMAN NOW OFFICIATES, TO RAISE MONEY FOR DEFREYING MINISTERIAL AND OTHER NECESSARY CHARGES OF SAID PRECINCT.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is found inconvenient to raise money for defreying ministerial and other charges in the east precinct in Salem, by an assessment or tax on polls and estates in said precinct, —

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Freeholders of Salem East Precinct impowered to levy a tax on pews, &c.

[SECT. 1.] That the freeholders and other inhabitants [in] [of] the said east precinct in Salem, legally qualified to vote in precinct affairs, be, and they are hereby, authorized and impowered, at any meeting of said precinct duly called and warned for that purpose, annually, in March, during the continuance of this act, to grant a tax or assessment not exceeding fifty pounds, on such of the pews and other seats in said meeting-house as they shall judge reasonable; and such inhabitants are hereby impowered, from time to time, to determine in what proportion the owners or occupants of such pews or seats shall pay towards the sum that may be granted as aforesaid, and the time and manner of payment; and the said parish, at any such meeting as aforesaid, may appoint a collector or collectors to collect the sum so agreed to be raised, who shall be sworn to the faithful discharge of their trust, and shall pay and deliver the money which he or they shall collect, to the treasurer of said precinct, to be applied from time to time, as said precinct shall order, for defreying the ministerial and other charges of said precinct; and in case any proprietor or occupant of any such pew or seat shall neglect to pay the sum assessed thereon, for two years, having due notice thereof from the collector for the time being, then and in that case it shall and may be lawful, and the committee of said precinct for the time being are hereby impowered, to sell the said pew or seat of such delinquent for the most it will fetch, at public sale, to be adverti[z][s]ed at least fifteen days before said sale, and, after paying the tax then due on said pew or seat, with the charge of said sale, the remainder, if any, shall be returned to the owner.

[Sect. 2.] This act to be in force for three years from the first day of August next. [Passed and published July 15. Continuance.

CHAPTER 9.

AN ACT FOR EFFECTUALLY PREVENTING THE CURRENCY OF THE BILLS OF CREDIT OF CONNECTICUT, NEW HAMPSHIRE AND RHODE ISLAND, WITHIN THIS PROVINCE.

Preamble. 1766-67, chap. 22.

WHEREAS bills of credit still continue current within the governments of Connecticut, New Hampshire and Rhode Island, and it is of great importance to the interest of the inhabitants of this province, and to the interest of such of his majesty's subjects in Great Britain and elsewhere, as have trade and commerce here, that the currency of said bills should be effectually prevented throughout this government, —

Be it therefore enacted by the Lieutenant-Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Bills of other governments prohibited, on penalty of £50.

Form of the oath.

You, A. B., do, in the presence of God, solemnly declare that you have not, since the thirtieth day of April, one thousand seven hundred and seventy, wittingly and willingly, directly or indirectly, either by yourself or any for or under you, been concerned in receiving or paying, within this government, any bill or bills of credit of either of the governments of Connecticut, New Hampshire or Rhode Island. So help you God.

Other officers to be chosen, in case of neglect or refusal.

[Sect. 3.] And where any person, chosen and not exempted as aforesaid, shall refuse or neglect to take the oath aforesaid, on tendering the same, the town, district or precinct shall proceed to the choice of another person in his room.

And be it further enacted,

His majesty's council to take the oath.

And be it further enacted,

The said oath to be taken upon issuing executions on judgments of court;

[Sect. 6.] That no execution shall be issued from the office of any clerk of any of the inferiour courts of common pleas, or of the superiour court of judicature, for any sum whatever, unless the plaintiff, or in case of joint plaintiffs, one of them, sueing in his or their own right and dwelling within this province (except bodies corporated), shall first take the oath aforesaid, to be administred by a justice of the peace, or by the clerk of the court from which such execution shall issue; and certificate thereof shall be made on such execution; and if any execution shall issue or go forth without such certificate, the same shall be and hereby is declared to be void, excepting as is hereinafter provided: provided, nevertheless, that no

Be it enacted,

Proviso with regard to executions where persons are absent or remote.

[SECT. 8.] That when any person or persons shall be absent from this province, or employed in his majesty's service in such parts thereof as are very remote from the courts or places where they recover judgments, in all such cases it shall be lawful for the clerks of the superiour court of judicature, court of assize and general goal delivery, and of the inferior courts of common pleas, or other courts of law, to issue writs of execution, when applied for, upon judgments recovered by such person or persons as are before mentioned, notwithstanding he or they have not taken the oath appointed by this act to be taken: provided, nevertheless, that before executions are issued, as aforesaid, a certificate in writing, under the hand of any justice of the peace for any county in the province, shall be delivered to the clerk who issues the execution, setting forth that, at the date of such certificate, the person or persons on whose behalf execution is applied for, is then out of the province, or employed in his majesty's service as aforesaid.

WHEREAS an act of this province was made in the fifth year of his present majesty's reign, intituled "An Act for preventing fraud in debtors, and for securing the effects of insolvent debtors for the benefit of their creditors," and another act was made in addition thereto in the same year; and whereas, within the time that the said acts were in force, sundry concealed and absconding debtors, by virtue thereof, had their goods, chatt[el][le]s and estates attached and seized, and committed into the hands of trustees to be disposed of by them according to the direction of said acts, who, by reason that the same acts expired before the expiration of the eighteen months therein set and limited for the making of a dividend of such debtors' goods and effects, could never take the benefit of said acts, nor obtain their discharge according to the provision and intent thereof, —

Be it enacted by the Lieutenant-Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Whereas the records and proceedings of the proprietors of the new plantation called Hartwood, in the county of Berkshire, in the manner of warning their meetings, dividing and disposing their lands, and granting their taxes, appear not to have been made and conducted agre[e]able to the laws of this province; but nevertheless they appear to have been such that no injustice will accrue to any one from an establishment and confirmation of them, yet great difficulties and inconvenienc[i]es may arise to said propriety without the interposition of this court; and whereas the said proprietors have made their application to this court that they may be impowered to enforce the payment of taxes already assessed on the lands in said propriety, —

Preamble.

Be it enacted by the Lieutenant-Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Proviso for securing the title of John Murray, Esq.

[SECT. 2.] That nothing in this act contained shall be so held or construed as any way to affect the title of John Murray, Esq [r]., to any lands which he claims to hold under John Walker.

Preamble.

And whereas the said proprietors have further prayed the aid of this court, to enable them to hold a legal meeting for the regulating the affairs of said township and bringing forward the settlement thereof, —

Be it further enacted,

A proprietors' meeting directed to be held at Springfield.

CHAPTER 19.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO AN ACT MADE AND PASSED IN THE ELEVENTH YEAR OF THE REIGN OF KING WILLIAM THE THIRD, INTITLED "AN ACT FOR SUPPRESSING AND PUNISHING OF ROGUES, VAGABONDS AND COMMON BEGGARS AND OTHER LEWD, IDLE AND DISORDERLY PERSONS; AND FOR SETTING THE POOR TO WORK."

WHEREAS the execution of an act, made and passed in the eleventh year of the reign of King William the Third, intitled "An Act for the suppressing and punishing of rogues, vagabonds, common beggars and other lewd, idle and disorderly persons; and also for setting the poor to work," is oftentimes rendered very difficult, by reason of the distance of the place where such persons are found and taken up, from the house of correction to which they are directed by said act to be sent in order for punishment; by means whereof such persons often escape without any punishment, and thereby many such disorderly persons are encouraged to come from distant parts into this province, whereby his majesty's good and industrious subjects here are frequently burthened and imposed on by such vagrant, idle and disorderly persons; for the more effectual preventing whereof for the future, —

Be it enacted by the Lieutenant-Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Court of sessions, and one or more justices of the peace out of court empowered to punish vagabonds, &c.

That henceforward it shall be in the power of the court of general sessions of the peace, in any county within this province, and of one or more justices of the peace out of court, at his discretion, either to send and commit to the house of correction all such persons as said court or justice might send or commit thereto by the provision of said act, or otherwise punish them by setting in the stocks, not exceeding three hours, or by whipping not exceeding ten stripes; any law, usage or custom to the contrary notwithstanding. [Passed April 26, 1770.

AN ACT IN FURTHER ADDITION TO AN ACT INTITULED "AN ACT FOR MAKING OF LANDS AND TENEMENTS LIABLE TO THE PAYMENT OF DEBTS."

Preamble. 1696, chap. 10, § 2.

Whereas, in and by an act intituled "An Act for making of lands and tenements liable to the payment of debts," it is provided that where the goods and chattels belonging to the estate of any person deceased shall not be sufficient to answer the just debts which the deceased owed, or legacies given, upon representation thereof, and making the same to appear unto the superior court of judicature, holden for or within the county where such deceased person last dwelt, the said court are impowered to license and authorize the executor or administrator on such estate, to make sale of all or any part of the houses and lands of the deceased, so far as shall be necessary to satisfy the just debts which the deceased owed at the time of his death, and legacies bequeathed in and by the last will and testament of the deceased; and as it has been found by experience that the authority to license the sale of real estates given to the said court by the said acts, having been thereby limited and restrained to that particular county where such deceased person last dwelt, has been found much to retard the settlement of such estates, and greatly to delay the payment of the debts due therefrom, and to occasion many expensive lawsuits; therefore, for the preventing such inconveniences for the future, and for the furtherance of the original intent of the said act, —

Be it enacted by the Lieutenant-Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Superior court empowered to license the sale of real estates, to pay debts of persons deceased, in any county.

[Sect. 1.] That in all cases where the said superior court, by the said act, are impowered to licen[s][c]e and authorize the sale of any real estate, the said court, henceforward and hereby, are fully empowered to give and grant such licen[s][c]e and authority in any term or sitting of the said court in any county within this province, upon application made to the said court for the same; whether the county where such application is made be the same county where such deceased person dwelt, or not.

And be it further enacted,

Inferior courts empowered to license sale of real estate, to pay debts of persons deceased, in their respective counties.

[Sect. 2.] That the justices of any of the inferior courts of common pleas for any of the counties within this province, are also fully impowered and authorized, hereafter, on application to them made, at any session of such court, to give and grant licen[s][c]e and authority for the sale of any real estate, of any person deceased, lying within the county for which such court shall be held, in all such cases where the said superior court by the abovesaid act has been heretofore impowered to grant such licen[s][c]e; and that all executors or administrators who may hereafter obtain such licen[s][c]e and authority, either from the superior court, or any inferior court of common pleas, shall, in executing the same, in all things conform to the directions of the laws of this province which respect the sale of lands under licen[s][c]e of the superior court, mentioned in the act in addition whereto this act is made. [Passed April 26, 1770.

CHAPTER 25.

AN ACT FOR COMPLEATING THE COLLECTION OF A TAX ON THE NON-RESIDENT PROPRIETORS OF GREENWICH, IN THE COUNTY OF HAMPSHIRE, BY AN ORDER OF THE GENERAL COURT HELD AT BOSTON, ON THE ELEVENTH DAY OF FEBRUARY, A.D. ONE THOUSAND SEVEN HUNDRED AND SIXTY-THREE.

Whereas the great and general court, in their session at Boston, on the eleventh day of February, Anno Domini one thousand seven hundred and sixty-three, on the petition of Robert Cutler, agent for the inhabitants of said Greenwich, did order a tax of one penny per acre to be lev[y][i]ed and assessed upon the lands of the non-resident proprietors of said town of Greenwich, for the space of four years then next ensuing, towards the support and for the encouragement of the Rev'd Mr. Cutler, the minister of said town, and that said town should be impowered to appoint suitable persons to assess and collect the same, excepting out of said order certain lands therein particularly described; and whereas the temporary act of the general court, for enforcing and carrying into execution such orders, expired after the assessment and collection of two years' tax[es], and after the third year's tax was assessed, but not collected, so that two years' taxes are wholly in arrear, except some few voluntary payments; and the[i]r[e] being no law now in force to enable said town to assess and collect said tax, for the last two years, contained in said order, and said town have petitioned this court to impower them to compleat the execution of the same, —

Preamble.

1761-62, chap. 44.

Be it enacted by the Lieutenant-Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Assessments and collections to be completed.

That the assessments and collections which were left incompleat and unfinished in manner as is before mentioned, shall be compleat[ed] and finished according to the original intent of said order, and according to the provision and direction of an act now expired, which was made and passed in the second year of his present majesty's reign intit[u]led "An Act to subject the unimproved lands within this province to be sold for payment of taxes assessed on them by order of the great and general court, and votes and agreements of the proprietors thereof, and to enable proprietors of new plantations to levy province and county taxes laid upon them," in the same manner and by the same ways and means as might have been in case said act had remained in force; reserving nevertheless to the non-resident proprietors their heirs or assigns, liberty of redemption of their lands, that may be sold for the nonpayment of the taxes granted as aforesaid, they paying to the grantees or their heirs respectively within one year afterwards, the sums for which the said lands may have been sold, with charges of sale, and cost[s] laid out in making improvement[s] thereon, with the further sum of twelve pounds for each hundred pounds of money produced by said sale, and proportionably for any other sum. [Passed April 26, 1770.

NOTES.— There were two sessions of the General Court this year. On the fifteenth of June the first session was adjourned to be held at Cambridge the next day, and there the Assembly continued in session until the fifteenth of July, when it was prorogued, by Gov. Bernard, to the tenth of January, 1770. The second session began March 15, and was dissolved April 26, 1770.

In conformity with the plan proposed in the preface, p. xx., the foregoing chapters are arranged in the order in which they were originally printed, although not according to the date of final passage in either house. An exception to this rule is the arrangement of the tax acts, which were not included with the printed acts of the sessions, but were issued in separate pamphlets. These have been placed according to the order in which they were entered in the lists of acts transmitted to the Privy Council.

All the acts of the first session this year were signed by the Governor July 15th, although chapter 2 was passed to be enacted on the 5th, chapter 7 on the 8th, chapter 4 on the 13th, and chapters 1, 3, 5 and 6 on the 14th of that month.

Seven acts were passed during the first session, and eighteen during the second session, the engrossments of all of which are preserved except of chapters 8 and 9.

The acts of the first session were duly certified for transmission Oct. 23, 1769; and though no record of the order of reference has been found, it appears from the report of Mr. Jackson, dated Jan. 14, 1771, that they were submitted to him for his opinion thereupon in point of law, by order of the Lords of Trade. His report upon two of these acts is given in the notes to chapters 1 and 2, post. This report was considered at a meeting of the Lords of Trade, Jan. 30, 1771. On the ninth of February, 1770, chapter 1 was laid before the Attorney- and Solicitor-General, agreeably to an order of the Lords of Trade passed the day before. These officers reported Feb. 13, and, two days later their report was considered at a meeting of the Lords of Trade, and a representation thereon to the King was then agreed to and signed.

The acts of the second session were certified for transmission, May 17, 1770, by order of Lieutenant-governor Hutchinson, who, in a letter to Secretary Pownall, dated May 24, promised to forward exemplifications of these acts together with his "remarks" upon them, in accordance with the royal instructions to the Governor. These acts were duly received, and sent to Mr. Jackson in the usual course. On the twentieth of February, 1771, Mr. Jackson reported to the Lords of Trade his "opinion thereupon in point of law." This report and the accompanying acts were read before the Lords of Trade, March 8, 1771; but no further action upon any of them, by the Board or by the Privy Council, has been discovered except what appears in the note to chapter 9, post.

Chap 1. "Jan. 14, 1768. A Petition of Tristram Chency in behalf of the Inhabitants of the Town of Ashburnham — Setting forth — That a Province Tax hath been laid upon them for a number of years past, no part whereof has been paid; That the Land is stubborn, and the Petitioners have been there but a short time, and are unable to raise provisions sufficient for the support of their Families, and many of their Settlers have left the Town to avoid the said Tax. That by reason of the death of their Pastor and the damage done to their Meeting House by a Hurricane they are exposed to a very great expence. And praying Relief.

In the House of Representatives. Read and Resolved That the prayer be granted, and that the several Sum and Sums ordered to be assessed on the new Plantation lately called Dorchester Canada now Ashburnham be removed and carried back to the several Towns in the County of Worcester from whence it came viz! Worcester, Lancaster Mendon, Brookfield, Oxford, Sutton, Rutland Leicester, Westborough, Shrewsbury, Lunenburgh Uxbridge, Harvard, Dudley, Bolton, Sturbridge Leominster, Hardwick, Douglas and Petersham in due proportion as it was taken off and accordingly added to those several Towns in their next years Tax — In Council Read and Concurred, Consented to by the Governor."— Council Records, vol. XXVII., p. 140.

"June 28, 1768. On a Motion that the Assessors of Conway may be empowered to assess the Sum of twelve Pounds thirteen Shillings and five Pence half-penny, on the Inhabitants thereof; the said Sum to be deducted out of the Tax laid on the Town of Deerfield.

Ordered, That Capt. Farley, Major Foster, and Mr. Wood of Boxford, consider the Motion and report. * * * * *

The Committee appointed to consider a Motion in the Forenoon, to empower the Assessors of Conway to assess the Sum of twelve Pounds thirteen Shillings and five Pence on the Inhabitants thereof, reported. Read and accepted:

Whereas the District of Conway, in the County of Hampshire, was incorporated after the Province Tax for the last Year was granted, in which incorporating Act it was enacted, that the said District of Conway should pay their Proportion of all Town, County and Province Taxes already set on or granted to be rais'd, as if that Act had not been made; and in all future Taxes should pay a like Proportion as they paid in the Province and County Taxes laid on the Town of Deerfield in the Year 1767, and that it should be deducted from Deerfield Taxes: And whereas a Doubt arose about the assessing of said Conway's Proportion, and it was by the Assessors of Deerfield and the Assessors of Conway for the Year 1767, agreed, that the said Conway's Proportion of the Province Tax for said Year 1767 was Twelve Pounds thirteen Shillings and five Pence half Penny, and it was by the said Assessors agreed to Petition the General Court at their last Session that the said Sum might be deducted from Deerfield Tax, and laid on the said Conway; but by Reason of the Non-attendance of the Representative of the said Town of Deerfield, the same Petition was not preferred: And whereas the said Sum is not assessed, and cannot now be assessed, either on the Inhabitants of Deerfield or Conway.

Resolved, That the Sum of Twelve Pounds thirteen Shillings and five Pence half Penny, be taken from the Province Tax laid on the Town of Deerfield for the Year 1767, and that the said Sum be added to the next Province Tax which may or shall be laid on said Conway.

Sent up for Concurrence."— House Journal, pp. 81 and 84.

" July 7, 1769. Ordered, That the Committee on the Tax-Bill be directed to lay on the Town of Swanzey, the Sum of Fifty Pounds, in Part of the Money granted to that Town, by Way of Loan, in 1763."— Ibid., p. 55.

" Custom house Boston 15th Decr 1769.

Sir, We beg leave to inform Your Honour that in the course of the last Year we & our Officers were frequently called upon by the Tax Gatherers of this Town for payment of the Province Tax upon our Houses &c. and also for a Tax laid upon the Salaries we receive from the Crown, which is distinguished by the Term Faculty.

We had no objection to the payment of the former, but as we did not consider that our Salaries were subject to such a Taxation in America, the payment of the Bill was delayed from time to time, but one of us being threatened by the Tax Gatherer with compulsive measures, paid his Tax-bill and the rest of us afterwards submitted to make the same payment, but did not acquiesce to the Demand.

We find that our Tax Bills for the present year are higher than the last, by being rated to the Provincial Tax, as well as to the Town & County. We consider the imposing of Taxes by the Provincial Assemblies on the Salaries paid by the King to His Officers in America, as injurious to his Servants and derogatory to the Honour of the Crown, and that our acquiescence under such impositions might be establishing a precedent very detrimental to the service, We have thought proper to lay the matter before you, Sir, that you may take such measures as you may judge proper on the occasion. Ordered, that the Secretary do transmit the said papers together with a copy of the last annual Tax Act of the Massachusetts Bay, to His Majesty's Attorney and Solicitor General, for their opinion, whether the Commissioners of the Customs and their Officers are liable to be assessed in the manner complained of by them."—"Trade Papers," vol. 72, p. 31.

" Complaint has been made to me by three of the Commissioners of the Customs that they are taxed by the Assessors of the Towns where they live for their Salaries I shall take the liberty to transmit to Your Lordship the letter I have received from them. The Tax Acts are passed annually and have varied but little in their form for fifty years past and Income by Commissions of Profit has been subject to Taxes and none of the Officers of the Crown, except the Governor and Lieut. Governor are exempted; But it seems most probable that the Legislators who first framed the Tax Act had nothing more in contemplation than the Commissions of those Officers who received their Salaries from the Government of the Province or who received the profit of their Commissions from their fees as Officers of the Government, but the words are general and I doubt, however reasonable it seems to be, whether the Assembly can be brought to make a special exception of the Commissioners of the Customs in a future Tax Bill, or of the Officers of the Crown in general, but whatever Instructions I may receive upon the subject I shall carefully observe and conform to."— *Extract from Lieut. "I could never give the Commissioners of the Customs any great encouragement to hope for success from their application to be exempt from Taxes but the opinion and report of the Attorney and Solicitor General from a prudential consideration I shall communicate to nobody but to the three Commissioners themselves. Mr Hulton and Mr Burch have been at Portsmouth in New Hampshire for several weeks past and I am informed had some thoughts of removing the Board to that Province, but as soon as the people suspected the design, they discovered such a dislike to it that it was laid aside. Mr Paxton has been sometimes in Town but chiefly at Cambridge. Mr Temple's connexions are such that he has been under no apprehensions of any molestation. I am informed they all intend to be in Town and to hold a Board in a few days. Perhaps the present commotions in the Town on account of the Importation may retard it."—*Extract from a letter of Lieut. Gov. Chap. 3. Samuel Adams was first chosen collector of taxes for the town of Boston in 1756, and held the office, by re-election, every year, until 1765. In the latter year, although again elected collector, at the town meeting in March, he declined to accept the office, and was chosen a representative from Boston, to the General Court, in the month of September following.

Though there seems to have been no law of the province expressly requiring such security, it had been the custom, from a very early period, for collectors of taxes, in Boston, as often as they were chosen, to give bond, with sureties, to the town treasurer, for the faithful performance of their duty. Adams's last bond, given in 1764, was in the penalty of £5000, and, thereon, Robert Pierpont and Benjamin Hallowell were sureties.

It appears that, at the expiration of Adams's term of office, there remained, of the taxes committed to him for several years, a considerable sum uncollected, and unpaid to the town and province treasurers. No authority was given by law, to collectors, to transmit their lists to their successors, for collection; and, except in case of the death of a collector, there was no legal way to avoid responsibility for the whole amount of taxes committed for collection (less the abatements regularly made) except by the interposition of the Legislature. But Adams's constituents, who comprised a majority of the legal voters at the town meetings, deemed it proper that, in the pursuit of his important labors as a representative, he should not be burdened with the additional and harassing duty of collecting arrears of taxes; especially as the law exempting representatives from compulsory service as collectors, seemed to imply that the duties of the two offices might be incompatible. Accordingly, at a town meeting held Mar. 13, 1769, the inhabitants voted to relieve Mr. Adams from further duty as collector, and chose Robert Pierpont, one of his sureties, in his place, and, at the same time, voted to apply to the Legislature for a confirmation of this proceeding. The result was the passage of this act.

Of Adams's services as collector, Hutchinson says, "He was afterwards a collector of taxes for the town of Boston and made defalcation, which caused an additional tax upon the inhabitants;" and, in another place, "The benefit to the town from his defence of their liberties he supposed an equivalent to his arrears as their collector; and the prevailing principle of the party, that the end justified the means, probably quieted the remorse he must have felt, from robbing men of their characters, and injuring them more than if he had robbed them of their estate."— Hist. Mass. vol. 3, pp. 271-5. This charge of "defalcation" is a grave one; and if deserved in this case it is unfortunate for the historian's reputation for candor that he has not supported his charge by a statement of particulars. As the case appears upon the record, no defalcation or other delinquency is shown, in the sense of embezzlement or failure to account for all sums collected. It does, indeed, appear that not all the assessments committed to Adams for collection were collected; but it by no means follows that this failure was the result of collusion or negligence.

The period through which Adams served as collector was one of unexampled pecuniary distress to the people of the province, and of Boston in particular. Circumstances more trying to a collector of taxes who was possessed of humane feelings, and was, at the same time, impressed with a sense of the importance of a faithful performance of his trust, are hardly conceivable; nor is it surprising, when we consider the financial condition of the people of Boston at that time, that the town records show that none of the tax collectors of Boston, during this period, were able, fully, to collect the assessments committed to them.

Hostilities with the French, which continued for nearly seven years of this period, had not only enormously increased the public taxes, but, by reason of the incident embargoes, and captures of our shipping by the enemy, foreign and coastwise commerce was greatly interrupted and serious injury was wrought to the fisheries. So, since, by the policy of the Board of Trade, manufactures had been systematically discouraged, the people were left to depend upon agriculture as the foundation of their subsistence, and as the principal source of whatever profit it was possible to make above a bare living. During this period, too, the stringent measures adopted by the Legislature, for closing the affairs of the Land Bank, distressed many of the more considerable of the debtor class, and brought financial embarrassment and ruin to themselves and to their principal creditors. In the midst of these adversities the great fire of 1760 occurred, in Boston, by which nearly one-tenth of the town was destroyed, and the number of dependent poor was greatly increased. Again, in 1764, before the benefits arising from the remittances received from England, for reimbursing part of the expenses of the war, had been diffused among all classes, the small-pox, which had been constantly dreaded, and never fully eradicated, broke out with alarming violence in Boston. Numbers of the inhabitants fled from this pestilence to the neighboring towns, there to remain until they could return without danger from contagion, or sought a permanent refuge in distant places, beyond the reach of the tax-gatherer.

The importance of the events just referred to is vastly increased when it is remembered that, until the passage of the provincial statute of 1763-64. chap. 18, the law not only restricted the collector, in enforcing his collections, to the single process of distress, but left him remediless in the cases especially provided for by that statute. Indeed, that statute was enacted to provide for the difficulties which the collectors of taxes in Boston encountered during the period we are considering. To crown the list of discouraging circumstances that beset the unfortunate collectors at this time, the parliamentary stamp-act, which was to take effect in November, 1765,— some years before all the arrears of taxes were collected,— rendered it impossible, until its repeal, for a collector to take a valid bond, or to give a sufficient deed of conveyance of land sold by him for taxes; since the person appointed stamp commissioner refused the office, and no stamps were issued.

During the time of Adams's service as collector it was twice found necessary to pass acts (1757-58, chap. 12, and 1764-65, chap. 35) for the relief of bankrupts, or to secure to creditors the property of insolvent or absconding debtors. The lists of debtors proceeded against under those acts, as shown in the notes to the respective chapters (ante, vol. IV., pp. 107and 793) illustrate, forcibly, both in the proportion of debtors belonging to Boston— being about two-fifths of the one hundred and thirty-five persons against whom warrants were issued under the latter act — and in the character and standing of the debtors, the severity of the injury inflicted on the merchants and business men of Boston, by the causes above stated.

The bond given by Adams as collector, was, by order of the town, sued to judgment, on appeal to the Superior Court; and, in March, 1768, an execution was duly issued against him for £1463.3.10 — the amount of taxes uncollected by him; but the levy of this execution was postponed from time to time, agreeably to the vote of the town, until it was virtually superseded by this act, which, probably, also had the effect of staying proceedings upon a warrant of distress, which the province treasurer issued against Adams, for the province's share of the taxes committed to him, and which, against the entreaty of the town, expressed in a formal vote, he had ordered the sheriff to serve.

The persistent purpose — of which this act was the final manifestation — which the town of Boston evinced to protect Mr. Adams from the extreme operation of the laws against defective collectors; their election of him to the House of Representatives while proceedings against him as collector were pending; his poverty, and his reputation for inflexible integrity, even among his political enemies, are all as inconsistent with the charge against him clearly implied in the words used by Hutchinson, as is the passage, by the Legislature, of this act, and its approval by Gov. Bernard, who certainly had no motive for joining in any improper scheme to relieve him from responsibility for a culpable delinquency; and it is only an act of justice to the memory of Adams to say that neither the historian, nor the contemporary records, furnish any evidence to rebut the presumption that his ill success as a collector was excusable, if not unavoidable.

Chap. 5. "—— the principal matters, the supply of the treasury, and the tax, were kept off until the day before the session ended. In the meantime, they [the Assembly] went on, as they judged convenient, with other matters, which appeared to them of great importance. * * *

Upon this message, they resolved, that all private business should subside, and that the house would proceed to the publick business of the session.

Having completed their supply and tax bills, and made choice of an agent for the province, and settled his instructions, they passed on the report of a committee appointed to prepare an answer to the two messages from the Governor, which, as appears by their journal, was unanimously accepted, when eighty-three members were present." — *Hutchinson's Hist. In Council, Read and Concurred, Consented to by the Lieut. Governor." — Ibid., vol. XXVIII., p. 219.

Chap. 8. One of the royal instructions issued to the several governors, as has been intimated in a former note (1768, chap. 1, note), expressly required that, during the absence of the governor, with leave, one-half of the usual annual allowance to the governor should be abated, and paid to the lieutenant-governor; but the representatives had uniformly disregarded this instruction as wholly unauthorized, and as an infringement upon the rights of the people. A compliance with it, therefore, was not expected by Hutchinson at this time, even to the extent of a grant for his support of full one-half of the allowance customarily made to the governor. The following messages which passed between the Lieutenant-Governor and the House, and the correspondence between the Lieutenant-Governor and the Secretary of State, show why the bill was assented to by Hutchinson notwithstanding its nonconformity to the terms of the royal instructions.

Apr. 11, 1770. The Secretary went down to the House of Representatives with the following Message from his Honor the Lieutenant Governor vizt

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives —

The Kings Instructions to the Governors of this Province relative to a Salary and the engagements which have been repeatedly made by the Representatives of the people upon the same subject are so well known to many, and I presume to most of the Members of the House, that it may rather be wondered at that I have been so long silent at your delay to make provision for my support, than that I now take any notice of it. It is near nine months since I came to the Chair, my Expences from various causes have necessarily exceeded those of any Lieutenant Governors my predecessors when they have been in the Chair. If my services have fallen short it is not owing to want of application; my whole time being taken up in Public business to the neglect of all private affairs, nor is it owing to want of disposition, it being my sincere desire and endeavour whilst I have opportunity in this Station to promote the Interest of the Province.

I may not any longer omit recommending to you seriously to consider whether your thus distinguishing me from those who have gone before me and laying me under a necessity of postponing the part I am to take in the business of the General Court, may not hereafter be improved to the disadvantage of the Government. If I had nothing more in view than pecuniary advantage to myself, with less difficulty I might have refrained from sending you this Message. I have higher motives, my Duty to the King and a regard to the public Interest. —T. HUTCHINSON." — Council Records, vol. XXVIII., p. 153.

"Apr. 13, 1770. Mr Hancock and others a Committee of the House of Representatives waited on his Honor the Lieutenant Governor with the following Message viz.t. —

May it please your Honor —

Your Message of the 11 Instant laid before this House has been duly considered, and in answer thereto we would acquaint your Honor, that the House had before assigned Thursday next to take under consideration a Grant to his Majesty for the support of the Lieutenant Governor and Commander in Chief. We conceive that nothing contained in the Message affords sufficient ground for an alteration of that assignment. The House therefore do not think it proper to postpone the Business of the Government now lying before them for the purpose of considering of that Grant. At the time appointed we shall consider the matter with all that attention which the Duty we owe to the King and our regard to the public welfare shall require." — Ibid., p. 162.

"My Lord, The House of Representatives having delayed making any Grant for the support of the Lieut. Governor, I let them know that I must postpone the part I am to take in any of their Acts until they have done it. They passed it over another week contrary to the engagements of former Assemblies when the dispute about a fixed Salary was subsisting. I hear they have made a grant today of £550. only but whether it is intended as a Salary for the nine months I have been in the chair or whether it is intended likewise to look forward I am not yet informed. I have no reason to expect a Salary from them equal to my necessary expences." — Extract from letter of Lieut.-Gov. Hutchinson to Lord Hillsborough, Apr. 19, 1770: "Mass. Bay, B. T.," vol. 81, O. o., 2.

"For near 30 years they have, without any instance to the contrary, made a Grant for the Salary of the Commander in Chief at the opening of the Session; to the Governor at the beginning of the Year to look forward the whole year; to the Lt. Governor twice a year to look forward half a year only. Although this is not agreeable to the letter of the Instruction, yet as all preceding Lieut. Governors had taken it in that manner I could expect no more from them. They had an apprehension that I should receive Instructions to lay before them matters which might occasion a sudden dissolution and therefore refused to make any Grant, although I put them in mind of a Declaration of an Assembly soon after the year 1730, that if any future Assembly should refuse such Grant they would justly incur His Majesty's displeasure. * * * * Three or four days before their dissolution they passed a Bill for granting to me five hundred and fifty pounds only for past and future services. This if it be understood to look forward to June only when there must be a new Assembly amounts to between four hundred and ninety and five hundred pounds sterling per annum. I had ordered the Secretary to lay none of their Acts before me until they had passed this. A dissolution without doing any business at all would have gratified the Leaders because it would have increased the present confusion. They kept the Bill a day or two upon their Table. * * * * * The longer we go on in this way without check from the supreme authority the farther the infection spreads." — Extracts from letter of Gov. Hutchinson, to Hillsborough, Apr. 27, 1770: ibid.

"The Grant to the Lieut. Governor if it be supposed to look forward to June is equal to one half the sum for many years past granted to the Governor." — Remarks to the Board of Trade, by Lieut-Gov. Hutchinson, May 24, 1770: ibid., O. o., 4.

In the third session of the following year (Nov. 13, 1770) a bill, which originated in the House, was passed to been acted by the Council, granting £325. for the support of the Lieutenant-Governor. Hutchinson withheld his assent from this bill, and, while giving no reasons therefor to the Assembly, despatched a letter to Lord Hillsborough, under date of Nov. 20, 1770, in which the following passage occurs: —

"They made a Grant of £325—lawful money for the support of the Lieut. Govr, as a recompence for his past services and likewise to look forward The sum was so inconsiderable that I could not consent to it." — Ibid., O. o., 14.

In his speech at the beginning of the fourth session, Hutchinson, among other matters, informed the Assembly that he had received a commission as governor of the province, but made no request for, or allusion to the subjects of, a grant for his support. The House postponed their answer to this speech for about three weeks, during which time two bills were passed to be enacted by both branches; one, granting £506, in full for his services as lieutenant-governor, and the other, granting £1300 for his support during the ensuing year. These bills were passed April 12; and, five days later, the House was informed by the Secretary that they had not been passed upon by the Governor. Eight days later still, the Secretary replied to an application made to him by the House, that the "bills had been laid before his Excellency, and that he could not say whether his Excellency had pass'd upon them." Thereupon the following messages passed between the House and the Governor, — the message of the House having been prepared by a committee appointed for that purpose the day before: —

"Apr. 25, 1771, Mr Adams and others a Committee of the House of Representatives, waited on his Excellency the Governor with the following message viz.t —

May it please your Excellency

The House of Representatives after enquiry of the Secretary cannot be made certain whether you have yet given your assent to two Bills which were laid before your Excellency early in this Session: The one for granting the Sum of five hundred and six pounds for your Services when Lieutenant Governor and Commander in Chief; and the other for granting the usual sum of thirteen hundred pounds to enable your Excellency, as Governor, to carry on the affairs of this Province.

And as your Excellency was not pleased to give your assent to another Bill passed in the last Session of this Assembly for granting the Sum of three hundred and twenty-five pounds for your Services when in the Chair, as Lieutenant Governor, the House are apprehensive that you are under some restraint: and they cannot account for it upon any other principle but your having provision for your support in some new and unprecedented manner. If the apprehensions of the House are not groundless, they are sollicitous to be made certain of it before an end is put to the present Session and think it their duty to pray your Excellency to inform them, whether any provision is made for your support as Governor of this Province independent of his Majesty's Commons in it."— Council Records, vol. XXVIII., p. 554.

"Apr. 26, 1771. The Secretary went down to the House of Representatives with the following Message from his Excellency the Governor viz^{t}—

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives—

I could not, consistent with my duty to the King, give my assent to the Bill passed the last Session for granting three hundred and twenty-five pounds for my support. Before the close of the present Session I shall assent to or reject the Bills which shall have passed the two Houses, as it shall appear to me the same duty requires of me.

You are sollicitous to be informed whether any provision is made for my support as Governor of the Province independent of his Majesty's Commons in it. By the expressions his Majesty's Commons I suppose you would be understood to intend the House of Representatives. I must observe to you that the King, Lords and Commons our Supreme Legislature have determined it to be expedient to enable his majesty to make a certain and adequate provision for the support of the Civil Government in the Colonies as his majesty shall judge necessary.

I will not enter into a dispute with you upon the propriety of this provision. It may not however be amiss to acquaint you that I have not received the full Instructions and other appendages to his Majesty's Commission, which I have reason to expect. When I shall receive them I will communicate such parts of them to the House of Representatives as I shall think for his majesty's Service.

In the mean time I am the only sufferer by declining or delaying my assent to any Bills for my support, and I think your Constituents will not blame me for being willing to avoid burdening them with this support by the increase of the Tax upon their Polls and Estates, while there is any probability that it may have been provided for in another way.

T. HUTCHINSON."— Ibid. p. 567.

The governor had written to Lord Hillsborough, the day before the Assembly convened, that he had "avoided asking or receiving any Grant from the Government since April last," and that he should continue to do so. [Mass. Archives, vol. 27, p. 141.] But he made no such declaration of his intention to the Assembly.

"There are five Bills to which I refused my assent. My reasons for not assenting to the two for the Governor's support are contained in my Answer to the Message of the House to me upon the subject."— Extract from letter of Hutchinson to Hillsborough, May, 1771: "Mass. Bay, B. T.", vol. 81, O. o., 15.

The next year another allowance of £1300 for the Governor's support, was granted by the Assembly at its first session, in a bill which, on the 13th of June, was passed to be engrossed, in the House, and, subsequently, passed to be enacted in the Council. This bill failed for want of the Governor's assent and the subject again came up in the Legislature of 1772; whereupon the following messages ensued:—

"June 9, 1772, M^{r} Hancock and others a Committee of the House of Representatives waited on his Excellency the Governor with the following Message Viz^{t}—

May it please your Excellency.

The House of Representatives beg leave to acquaint your Excellency that a motion was made on the first Friday of this Session to assign a time for the consideration of a suitable Grant for the support of his Majesty's Governor of the Province. But it being suggested to the House that your Excellency was not pleased the last Year to give your consent to a Bill which passed both Houses of Assembly in their first Session for granting the sum of Thirteen hundred pounds for the Support of your Excellency, the House thought proper to direct the attendance of the Secretary to give information touching this matter; who expressly said that your Excellency did not give your consent to s^{d} Bill

This House is wholly at a loss to account for that measure; unless provision is made for the support of your Excellency otherwise than by the Grants and Acts of the General Assembly of the Province.

By the Royal Charter it is incumbent upon the General Assembly to make adequate provision for the support of his Majesty's Government of this Province, and every Act for the making such provision is to be originated by the House of Representatives.

The support of his Majesty's Governor of the Province is an important part of the support of his Majestys Government here.

If provision is made for the support of your Excellency otherwise than by the Grants and Acts of the General Assembly, it is absolutely requisite that this House should be acquainted with it. They therefore pray that your Excellency would be pleased to inform them, whether provision is made for the support of your Excellency as Governor of this Province in any way and manner other than has been heretofore used and practiced, to wit, by the Grants and Acts of the General Assembly; and if it is so, in what way & manner that provision is made."— Council Records, vol. XXIX., p. 247.

"June 13, 1772. The Secretary went down to the House of Representatives with the following Message from his Excellency the Governor Viz^{t}—

By inspecting the Journal of the proceedings of the House of Representatives in April 1771, you will find that, in Answer to a Message from the House, I then observed that his Majesty has been enabled by an Act of Parliament, to make a certain & adequate provision for the support of the civil Government in the Colonies as his Majesty shall judge necessary.

I am now able to acquaint you that his Majesty has been graciously pleased to make provision for my support in the station in which he has thought fit to place me, and as this is judged to be an adequate support, I must conclude it cannot be his Majestys pleasure that, without his special permission, which has not yet been signified to me, I should accept of any Grant from the Province in consideration of the ordinary services of Government done or to be done by me. T HUTCHINSON."

— Ibid., p. 265.

"June 17, 1772. In the House of Representatives. Ordered that Mr Hancock, Mr Ingersoll, Capt Heath, Colo Murray and Mr Phillips be a Committee to wait on the honble Board with the following Message.

May it please the Honble Board

The House of Representatives early in this Session thought it necessary previous to their making a Grant for the support of his Majestys Governor of the Province, to order a Message to his Excellency requesting that he would be pleased to inform them whether provision was made for that purpose otherwise than by the Grants and Acts of the General Assembly, to which he was pleased to return an answer, and as it is the opinion of this House, that the Subject matter of his Excellency's answer very nearly affects the Constitution of this Province, they have directed that Copies of the said Message and Answer be laid before the Honble Board that they if they please may take them into consideration and act thereon as they may judge best." — Ibid., p. 268.

"July 13, 1772. Major Hawley and others a Committee of the House of Representatives waited on his Excellency the Governor with the following Message Vizt —

May it please your Excellency —

The House of Representatives, after the most deliberate consideration of your Message of the 13th of June, are of Opinion that the making provision for your Excellencys support in the station in which his Majestys has been pleased to place you as Governor of this Province, independent of the Grants and Acts of the General Assembly and your Excellencys receiving the same, is an infraction upon the Rights granted to the Inhabitants of the Province by the Royal Charter and in derogation of the freedom of the Civil Constitution. This House is ready with chearfulness to make the usual annual Grant and other ordinary provision, provided your Excellency will recieve the same for your whole support as Governor of the Province. —

Your Excellency has been pleased to signify to the House your Opinion, that you cannot without his Majesty's special permission recieve any Grant from the Province for your support as Governor. If your Excellency is fully determined in this opinion, We pray that you would make application to his Majesty that he would be graciously pleased to give further Orders, whereby you may without any restraint receive your support from this Government according to ancient and invariable usage." — Ibid., p. 331.

Upon receiving his commission as governor, if not before, Hutchinson took possession of the house provided by the province for the residence of its governors. The province-house was out of repair; and the following votes, and communications between the Governor and the Representatives, show that, notwithstanding their suspicions that the Governor was expecting to receive his support from the royal treasury, the Legislature evinced a disposition to make necessary repairs; but that, as soon as it was certainly known that the Governor had consented to receive a salary from the crown, his applications for expenditure, even for the preservation of this public estate, were firmly refused.

"Apr. 19, 1771. The Secretary went down to the House of Representatives with the following Message from his Excellency the Governor vizt — Gentleman of the House of Representatives — As my own House in Boston is situated remote from the centre of the Town I was urged by many Gentlemen to remove into the Province House for the convenience of the Inhabitants in general who have frequent occasion to visit me. I was sensible that it was much out of Repair, but I had no doubt that the Province would at least make it tenantable, and I was pleased to find that the House of Representatives very soon appointed a Committee to examine into the state of it, and to make Report; but I am obliged to put you in mind, that many months have since passed and nothing farther hath been done. The state of the House is notorious and remarked by all who come into it or pass by it. The Council early in the Winter advised to small expence to stop the leaks and prevent particular parts of the Buildings from total ruin, which has saved to the Province ten times the Sum expended; but unless a more thorough Repair is made, I do not think it will be possible for me to continue my Family in it: I am sure it will not be for the Interest nor for the reputation of the Province that it should remain in its present state. I must therefore desire you to take this matter into your consideration and make such provision as may be necessary. T. HUTCHINSON."
— Ibid., vol. XXVIII., p. 525.

"April 19, 1771. His Excellency's Message of this Forenoon was read again according to Order: Whereupon a Motion was made that a Committee be appointed to repair to the Province House, view the State thereof, and report. And the Question being put, pass'd in the Negative.

Upon a Motion the foregoing Vote was re-consider'd, and Col. Bowers, Mr. Phillips, Brigadier Ruggles, Capt. Brown and Capt. Heath, were appointed a Committee to repair to the Province House, view the State thereof, and report." — House Journal, p. 227.

"Apr. 23, 1771. The Committee appointed to repair to the Province House in Boston, and view the State thereof, reported, that the said House is out of Repair, and that Repairs are necessary. Accepted.

It was mov'd that a Committee be appointed to order the necessary Repairs for the Province House, and the Question being put, pass'd in the Negative.

It was then mov'd that a Committee be appointed to consider what Repairs were immediately necessary to be made on said House, make an Estimate of the Expence thereof, and report, and the Question being put, pass'd in the Affirmative.

Ordered, That Mr. Bigelow of Worcester, Mr. Phillips, Mr. Nye, Mr. How and Mr. Bigelow of Weston, be a Committee for that Purpose, and that the Committee sit forthwith." — Ibid., p. 237.

"Apr. 25, 1771. The Committee appointed to consider what Repairs are immediately necessary to be made on the Province House, and to Estimate the Expence of such Repairs, reported, That for the Preservation of said Building from Ruin, it was necessary that the Roof and East End thereof be speedily repaired, and that the Expence of such Repairs would amount to about Thirty Pounds.

It was mov'd that convenient Repairs be made on the Seat where his Excellency now dwells, and the Question being put, pass'd in the Negative.

It was then mov'd that such Repairs be made on the Province House as the Committee have now reported to be necessary, and the Question being put, pass'd in the Affirmative. And Mr. Speaker, Mr. Hancock, and Mr. Hall, were appointed a Committee to take the Care of the same."—Ibid., p. 247.

"I urged them to repair the Governor's House which is in a very bad condition but they have declined it some of their Leaders intimating that if I would carry the Court to Boston they would make it a Palace, but while they dispute His Majesty's authority to cause the Court to be held at any place except Boston I may not ask his leave to hold it there." —Extract from letter of Gov. Hutchinson to Lord Hillsborough, May, 1771: "Mass. Bay, B. T.," vol. 81, O. o., 15.

"July 13, 1772. The Secretary went down to the House of Representatives with the following Message from his Excellency the Governor Viz^{t}.—

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives —

I think it incumbent on me to put you in Mind of the ruinous state of the Province House with the Yards, Outhouses and appendages. I imagine it must cost double the sum to repair it the next Year as will be sufficient at present, and it is most probable that I shall not be able to keep my Family there another Winter. It would be most agreeable to my inclination to reside wholly at my House in the Country, and it is for the convenience of the Inhabitants of the Town of Boston and other persons who occasionally come there and have public business to transact, that I spend so much of time in Boston. When the House provided for the Governor is not in a tenantable repair, I think there can be no exception if I change the place of my residence. T. Hutchinson."
— Council Records, vol. XXIX., p. 330.

"July 14, 1772. M^{r} Hancock and others a Committee of the House of Representatives waited on his Excellency the Governor with the following Message Viz^{t} —

May it please your Excellency

In answer to your Message of Yesterday this House beg leave to observe, that they are not unapprized, that the Province House is out of repair, and that expence might be saved by making such repairs as are necessary as soon as may be. But that Building was procured for the residence of a Governor, whose whole support was to be provided for by the Grants and Acts of the General Assembly, according to the tenor of the Charter. And it is the Opinion of this House that it never was expected by any Assembly of this province that it would be appropriated for the residence of any Governor for whose support adequate provision should be made in another way. —

Upon this consideration we cannot think it our duty to make any repairs at this time.

Your Excellency may be assured that this House is far from being influenced by any personal disrespect: Should the time come, which we hope for, when your Excellency shall think yourself at liberty to accept of your whole support from this Province, according to ancient and invariable usage, we doubt not but you will then find the Representatives of this people ready to provide for your Excellency a House not barely tenantable but elegant. In the mean time as your Excellency receives from his Majesty a certain and adequate support, we cannot have the least Apprehension, that you will be so far guided by your own inclination, as that you will made any Town in the Province the place of your residence, but where it shall be most conducive to his Majesty's Service & y^{e} good & welfare of y^{e} People." — Ibid., p. 337.

"Feb. 19, 1773. The Secretary went down to the House of Representatives with the following Message from his Excellency the Governor viz^{t} —

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives —

The Province House is in a much more ruinous state than when I recommended to you to make provision for the repair of it the last Session of the General Court.

The present inconveniences I submit to by having continued to reside in it I hope will have some weight with you, but the dishonor which must reflect upon the Province from its appearing to be unfit for any person to dwell in, I hope will have much greater weight with you and induce you to provide for its thorough repair.

I am well assured that his Majesty does not expect from me that any part of my support should be applied to the repairs of this House and I have reason to think that if you shall continue in your refusal, which I hope you will not, provision will be made for the decent residence of the Governor; — and I do not thus repeatedly press you to make this provision for the sake of my own future convenience, but from a real regard to the honor and the interest of the Province. T. Hutchinson."
— Ibid., p. 509.

"Feb. 25, 1773. Cap^{t} Darby and others a Committee of the House of Representatives waited on his Excellency the Governor with the following Message viz^{t} —

May it please your Excellency

The House have with great attention considered your Excellency's Message of the nineteenth instant and beg leave to say, that they are not unacquainted with the present state of the Province House, and are sensible that it might be repaired at a less expence now than in future.

The Governor of the Province when this Building was purchased by the Government for his residence, was constitutionally dependent upon the free grants of the Representatives of the people for his support; but as the connection between the Governor and the people in this respect, is now to the great grief of the Inhabitants of this Province so materially altered this House conceive that they are not only not bound in honor or justice but that they cannot consistent with the duty they owe their Constituents proceed to make the repairs which your Excellency desires at this time.

The House are so far from being influenced by any the least personal disrespect, that they beg leave to assure your Excellency, if the time was come, as they wish it soon may, when your Excellency shall think best to receive your whole support from this Province, it would give them great pleasure to provide your Excellency a convenient and elegant House, such as should be honorable to the Province and suitable to the dignity of the Chief Magistrate of this Province." — Ibid., p. 526.

Chap. 9. "This Act causes so great a multiplication of Oaths that I was ready to wish it might not be revived, but there would be danger of the People upon the Borders of the other Governments acquiring a relish again for Paper Money and I thought it advisable to consent to the Bill." — Lieut.-Gov. Hutchinson, to the Lords of Trade, May 24, 1770: "Mass. Bay, B. T.," vol. 81, O. o., 4.

"I have likewise perused and considered an Act passed in the said Province in the same year 1770 intitled: —

An Act for effectually preventing the Currency of the Bills of Credit of Connecticut, New Hampshire and Rhode Island within this Province Which I should be unwilling to report to Your Lordships altogether proper in point of law, inasmuch as it imposes an oath on the Members of His Maj. Council, as well as on all Officers Civil and Military. Yet as the like Law has passed before in that Province and has continued unrepealed to the end of its term, probably because the Oath is not made a qualification of the Members of the Council, and as the intention of the Act is certainly wise and well founded, it will rest in your Lordships wisdom to determine how far it may be proper to continue an indulgence upon the subject of an Act, which I am of opinion is not repugnant to the Laws of this Kingdom and which furnishes no new precedent." — Report of Richard Jackson to the Lords of Trade, Feb. 20, 1771. ibid., O. o., 11.

"Friday March 8th 1771

At a Meeting of His Majty's Commissrs for Trade and Plantations

Present

Lord Greville. Mr Whately

* * * * * * * * * * *

Their Lordships also read and considered several Laws passed in the Province of the Massachusetts Bay, together with Mr Jackson's Report thereupon, and some doubts arising as to the propriety of one of the said Acts entituled 'An Act for effectually preventing the Currency of the Bills of Credit of Connecticut New Hampshire and Rhode Island within this Province,' it was agreed to take the same into further consideration on Wednesday next. * *

Wednesday March 13th 1771. Their Lordships also further considered a Law of the Province of Massachusetts Bay 'for preventing the circulation in that Government of the paper currency of the Neighbouring Colonies' and it was ordered, that the Draught of a letter to the Governor on the subject of the said Law should be prepared." — "Trade Papers," vol. 73, pp. 65 and 68.

"Sir, Amongst the laws signed by you after Sir Francis Bernard had left the Province, there is one for preventing the Currency in the Province of Massachusets Bay of the Bills of Credit of Connecticut, New Hampshire & Rhode Island, which Law, tho' highly commendable in its object does nevertheless propose a method for the attainment of that object the propriety of which method We cannot but entertain some doubt.

Your observation that it is liable to objection as it multiplys oaths, is certainly a just one, but the material objection arises, we conceive, out of the nature of these oaths by which a new Test for admission into Offices is established and therefore it may well be questioned whether the Legislature in adding other Tests than those which are required by the Charter, have not exceeded their authority more especially as this Law is made to take effect without the King's consent to it, first obtained.

We have not however thought fit from the general opinion we entertain of the utility of the law, to propose its disallowance, and the rather as we observe that its duration is limited to three years, trusting that, if at the expiration of that time the continuance of any such regulation shall be necessary, the object may be provided for by other measures less liable to doubt and objection."— Lords of Trade to Gov. Hutchinson, Mar. 27, 1771: "Mass. Bay, B. T.", vol. 86, p. 306.

"My Lords, I am honoured with your Lordships letter of the 27th of March relative to a law to which I gave my assent for preventing the currency of the Bills of Connecticut &ca within this Province.

I beg leave to observe to Your Lordships that this Law is nothing more than a Clause of a Law which was passed in the Year 1749 for changing the Currency of the Province from paper to silver. It was drawn by me being then Speaker of the House and the first draught had not this clause. The Bill was rejected the principal Opposers urging that there was not sufficient provision for preventing the currency of the Bills of the other Governments and the persons upon whose aid I depended to carry the bill through, assured me they would not afford it unless I could bring in a clause which would be effectual for this purpose, I knew that penalties to be recovered by conviction in the Common law Courts would signify nothing when the general bent of the people was against them. I could think of no other way to make the Law execute itself but this and by means of it I carried the Bill through. I was in hopes that when the People had once been made sensible of the benefit of a stable medium of trade they would not wish to return to one which was depreciating and uncertain and therefore this provision was temporary, for four years only. At the expiration of this term, although the people in general had lost their attachment to paper money yet the borderers on the other Governments continued to hanker after it, therefore it was judged necessary by a new law to make a further temporary provision of the same nature and by subsequent laws it has been continued down to the present day.

The ill tendency of multiplying Oaths was all the exception which occurred to me until I received your Lordships letter. I am now convinced of the force of Your Lordship's further objection, especially as such a precedent is liable to be improved in order to exclude persons from Office who have not some special qualifications, as well as for a penalty merely for the sake of deterring from particular offences I may not however omit observing to Your Lordships that the Currency of no Colony has been so fixed as that of this Province for above 20 years past and it is in fact the standard for the other New England Governments and prevents the mischiefs to which their depreciating currencies are incident; that whilst their paper bills continue our people will retain more or less affection for them and if the restraint be taken off their Bills will again creep in among us and we shall be in danger of returning to a bad currency not only to our own hurt but to the hurt of the Traders in Great Britain who have commerce with us.

If I should remain Commander in Chief of the Province until the present Law expires or is near expiring I shall very readily conform to such directions as may be given me with respect to the continuance or discontinuance of it." — Gov. Hutchinson to Lords of Trade, June 11, 1771: ibid., vol. 81, O. o., 26.

Whereas in and by a Law of this State made and passed in the year of Our Lord One thousand Seven hundred and Seventy, entitled, An Act to impower the Inhabitants of the Town of Newbury Port, belonging to the several religious Societies within the same, to raise Money for defraying Ministerial and necessary Charges, it is, among other things, enacted, that the Proprietors of the respective Meeting-Houses in said Town of Newbury-Port, determine how much each Pew or part of a Pew in any Meeting House within said Town shall pay towards defraying Parish Charges, whereby some Proprietors of Pews in said Town are obliged to pay towards the support of the Ministry in places where they do not attend Public Worship, contrary to the intent and meaning of said Act. "The Secretary delivered the following Message from his Honor the Lieutenant Governor to the two Houses respectively viz^t^ —

Gentlemen of the Council, and House of Representatives —

Burglaries and Thefts have been so frequently committed within these few years past in the Town of Boston especially that it seems absolutely necessary for us to make further provision for the punishment of those offences.

Our Laws which respect Burglary are very incorrect and are so construed that they fail of the Effect which it is probable the Legislators intended they should have.

The punishment of Larceny or Theft is inconsiderable and there is no room to doubt that bad people frequently come into this Province from other Governments, where the offence is punished with Death, meerly for the sake of committing it here, at the risque only of a small Fine or light corporal punishment. I cannot therefore avoid recommending to you to take these Laws into your consideration and make such amendments or alterations as shall appear to be necessary.

Cambridge 27 March 1770. T. HUTCHINSON

In the House of Representatives. Ordered that Col^o^ Williams of Hatfield, Maj^r^. Hawley and M^r^ Leonard with such as the hon^ble^ Board shall join be a Committee to take this Message into consideration and report. In Council, Read and Concurred and Samuel Danforth and William Sever Esq^rs^ are joined in the affair." — Council Records, vol. XXVIII., p. 101.

"Burglary by an Act of the Province 4 W. & M. for the first and second offence was considered as a trespass only. By an Act of Geo. I. Burglary was made Capital but Clergy is not expressly taken away. The benefit of Clergy was never claimed until about 5 or 6 years ago. Since that in divers Instances the Court have allowed Clergy and no Offendor has suffered death Burglary by the first Statute being made a Trespass, the Court consider the second Statute as creating a new felony, in which case by the rule of Law, Clergy must be allowed unless expressly taken away. The general term or expression with a felonious intent would not be sufficient because Larceny or Theft by the Province Law is only a trespass and the Offendor liable to a small fine only and light Corporal punishment." — Lieut.-Gov. Hutchinson to the Lords of Trade, May 24, 1770: "Mass. Bay, B. T.," vol. 81, O. o., 4.

In the foregoing remarks by Hutchinson to the Lords of Trade, his statement in regard to the benefit of clergy, was made solely with reference to convictions of burglary, under the provincial statute, 1715–16, chap. 1. The benefit of clergy was allowed, even by the colonial Court of Assistants, on conviction of manslaughter, and by the Superior Court of the province on conviction of manslaughter, bigamy, and perhaps other felonies. The application to the act of 1715–16, of that rule of construction by which the benefit of clergy was held not to be denied by the act because not expressly taken away, seems not to have occurred to the lawyers of the province until sometime after 1754, when Michael Fowler was executed, in Hampshire County, for burglary. Owing to the imperfection of the records of the Superior Court it is impossible to ascertain precisely when this claim was first allowed in a case of burglary; and Hutchinson's statement must, therefore, be accepted as the nearest approximation to the time now possible. In 1763, Philip Robinson, who was convicted of burglary in Suffolk, was pardoned; and, after that, the juries seem to have intentionally acquitted persons indicted for burglary, of the breaking and entering, and to have convicted them of larceny — the former offence being punishable, whenever benefit of clergy was allowed, simply by branding, while the latter was punishable by whipping, a payment to the owner of treble the value of the property stolen and an alternative sentence of servitude for a term of years, in case of inability to pay the fine; besides the costs of prosecution in all cases—see 1692–3, chap. 18, § 3.

Chap. 17. "Jan. 25, 1768. In the House of Representatives. Ordered That Col° Ward and Cap^{t} Brown of Leicester with such as the hon^{ble} Board shall join be a Committee to bring in a Bill for altering the times of sitting of the Courts of Common Pleas and General Sessions of the peace in the County of Worcester and to enable the Superior Court to hold Court another term in said County.

In Council Read and Concurred and Timothy Paine Esq^{r}. is joined in the affair." — Council Records, vol. XXVII., p. 162.

"Feb. 3, 1768. In Council, Ordered that Nathaniel Ropes John Bradbury and Jerem^{h} Powell Esq^{rs} be a Committee to consider of the expediency of altering the times for holding the Superior Court of Judicature, Court of Assize &c in the Counties of York and Cumberland, and in what manner and Report." — Ibid., p. 182.

"This Act is owing to the growth of the Province and the increase of law business which makes it necessary to hold the Superior Court twice a year where it used to be but once. This is made for the sake of two Courts or Terms in Hampshire and Worcester Counties where there used to be but one And it was found necessary to make some alteration in the other Terms to conform to those." — Lieut.-Gov. Hutchinson to the Lords of Trade, May 24, 1770: "Mass. Bay., B. T.," vol. 81, O. o., 4.

The Petition of a Committee in behalf of the Inhabitants of the Second Precinct of the Town of Hingham humbly Sheweth.

That the Said Inhabitants by Reason of the badness of the Roads, the difficulty of the Season and their distance from the place where their Town Meetings are always held the most of them living more than five and many Six or Seven and Some nine miles as the Road goes are Often deprived of the Priviledge of having a Voyce in the Affairs transacted at the Annual Meeting in March, and they are obliged to Assemble Oftner than would be Necessary if they were Seperated into a District or deprive themselves of the Priviledge; That they have been deprived of the Tax Raised on a Considerable part of the Real Estate within Said Precinct towards the Support of the Schools, and also for the Repairs of Highways which are naturally so Rough as to require a greater Expence for Repairs than Perhaps all the Other Roads in the Town. And that they are also Obliged (altho Consisting of more than One hundred and thirty Families) to Travel to the Centre of the first Parish for the Banns of Matrimony Certificates, Records &c: which is a very great Burthen, and that undoubtedly Some necessary Records are neglected which in time may prove very detrimental and many more Difficulties might be mentioned. — Wherefore your Petitioners humbly pray that your Excellency and Honors would be pleased to Sett off all the Lands lying in Said Precinct into a distinct and Seperate District, and that the Inhabitants may be vested with all the Priviledges of a Town that of Sending Representatives to the General Assembly only excepted; Notwithstanding that they may yet enjoy the Priviledge of joinging with the Town in the Choice thereof; And that they may also enjoy their Right in the Town Wharfe So Called; and in the Powder House, Arms and Ammunition &c; and that they have a Right of Taxing the One half of the Grist Mill at Straits pond So Called; or Otherwise as to your Excellency and Honours Shall Seem meet;

And we beg leave further to Observe that we presented the foregoing Petition in June last & it past both Houses & the Town Clerk was Serv^d with a Coppy, but by Reason of the Dissolution, of the General Court the Matter was not brought to an Issue; Wherefore we humbly pray that the Same may now be Considered and Acted upon as to your Excellency and Honours Shall Seem Meet —

And your Petitioners as in Duty bound Shall ever pray &c.

" To his Honor Thomas Hutchinson Esq^r Lieutenat Governor and Commander in Chief of the Province of the Massachusetts Bay the Hon^bl his Majesties Council and House of Representatives in General Court Assembled. —

The Respondants to a Petition of the Second Parish in Hingham beg leave to Observe that your Petitioners in the first place Say 'by Reason of the Badness of the Roads the Dificulty of the Season and their distance from the Place where Town Meetings are Always held the most of them living more then five some Six or Seven & Some nine miles as the Road goes are often Deprived of the Priviledge of having a Voice in the Affairs Transacted at their Annual Meeting in March and that they are Obliged to Assemble Oftener then they would if they were made a District.' As to the Roads they have been Repair'd by the United Assistance of the whole Town And Are now very Passable and are not Dificult to travel in Even with Carriages. As to the Distance from the Place where Our Town Meetings Are Always held it is true the Centre of the Second Parish is about five Miles from the Centre Meeting-House in the Town where Town Meetings have been held As the whole was there best Accomodated being Near y^e Real Centre of the Town And such of their People who are at the Greatest distance as the Road goes (or as the Highway is) are the most Indifferant with respect to being set off for the way by them Generally Used to Assemble at Town Meetings is but Little further then they would have to Travel if they were made a District The Petitioners say they must Assemble oftener while united this cannot be considered as Very great Burthen seeing we have but Two Town Meetings in a year (unless something Very Perticular Viz: March & May the Latter they Ask to Attend And the former being at a Very Lisure Season of the year 'The Petitioners Complain that they have been deprived of the Tax Raised on a Considerable part of the Real Estate within Said Parish Towards the Support of the Schools, Repairs, of Highways &c' with Respect to the Schools the Case is truly is this for many years Past the Inhabitants of Each Parish have been Allowed to draw Out of the Treasury the whole of the money Raised for the use of the Schools which they Placed therein And Improve it for the Purpose to which it was Appropriated in a manner they should think best Comported with their Circumstances while the first Parish have kept the Grammer School which by Law the Town is Obliged to do and in the Country is Looked upon as a Burthen the Doors of which have at All times been Open to y^e^ Grammer Scholars of both the Other Parishes by the free and united Consent of the whole As to their Roads we are Constrain'd to Observe that we look upon the Representation given of y^e^ Badness of them to be Greatly Exaggerated by the Petitioners for it is Concived by many that they do not want Greater Expence of repairs yearly then an Equal proportion with the Other Roads in the Town Notwithstanding that the Town Ever hath taken part of the Roads in the Second Parish & made them without any of their assistance and more Lately since the Highways have been Repair'd by a Tax the whole they asked for hath been done for them to the amount of Four or Five Pounds Lawfull money in a year.—

The Petitioners further Complain that they have to travel to the Centre of the First Parish for Banns of Matrimoney &c this we leave to Operate as it Stands seeing the Clerk is Chosen by the united Suffarages of the whole therefore remaining Quite an uncertainty to which Parish for y^e^ future we may be Obleged to Travel. —

Upon the whole we Humbly Submit the Observations by us made to the Wisdome and Justice of your Honor & Honors And if you should think so widely Different from us as to Judge it Expedient And for the Benifit of this People to Cause a Division of the Town of Hingham (which is now Supposed to be less then Five miles Square) Notwithstanding the many disadvantages that must arise thereby to Divide Old Towns for the Reasons Offered by your Petitioners Your Respondants must Submit to it — should that be the Case we beg leave further to Observe as to the Bounds they Ask for (upon Supposition they don't Intend to Include a Number of Families and their Homesteads which was reannexed to the Old Parisha* A D 1747) their Joining with ous in the Choice of a representative to the General Court their holding their right in the Powder House Arms & Amunition And the Sole Right of Taxing One half the Mill at Streights Pond so Called we Acquiesce in but as to their Enjoying their Right in the Town wharf we view in a very different Light for it is Built upon a Spot of Ground of Eight or Ten Rods (the Only Spot the Town hath at the Cove so Called) which Nature made fit for a Landing place and for that Purpose it hath been Improved from the first Settlement of the Town now should they Continue to hold their right in the Same they would Enjoy a Certain Priviledge without their Bounds while they Ask to hold All within should they Ask then that the Expence of Building be refunded to them we say it hath been Already for the wharf and the Landing place afors^d^ hath Let for more money then the Building of it Cost but if there had been none refunded we should Judge the asking for it anreasonable request as the first motion for Building the wharf was to secure the Gristmill Adjoining thereto and in that they will Continue to Enjoy their former benifit — And we ask that they be held to take their Just Proportion of the Public Taxes for the future according to the Last Valuation and the Same proportion of the Present Poor and in case any who have now removed from the Town of Hingham and have not gained a Legal Settlement Else where should any of them return that they pay their Proportion of that Expence as Afore^d^ — All which is Humbly ℔'

We the Subscribers Who are Inhabitants of the Second Parish in Hingham & Petitioners that the Same may not be made a Destrect, beg Leave to offer the following Reasons for our Dessenting from the other Part of the Parish, that is —

1^st^—The Parish is Small.

2—The fishery fails Which is a Considerable Part of our Dependance

3—I^t^ is Represented to be nine miles to Tend Publick Meetings, we are the Partey and by going four we Cann attend metings, for it is that Dist^e^ to our own meeting house—

5 We Are Threatend that we shall not Draw our Proportion of the School money, as has been for years Past by Reason the Inhabitants Living So Scattering that Small Children may have the benefit of Schools

6 It is our minds that Halfe the Parish would Chuse to Continue as we are.

7 And We are Perswaded that it will Create Charge Which our Present Circumstances will not admit of 1769-70, chap. 5, §§ 6, 7 and 8.

pounds to be thence issued for discharging the public debts, and drawing the same into the treasury again," among other things, did grant unto his most excellent majesty a tax of ninety-two thousand five hundred pounds, to be levied on polls, and estates both real and personal, within this province, according to such rules, and in such proportions on the several towns, districts, parishes and other places within this province, as should be agreed on and ordered by the general court or assembly at their sessions in May last, and to be paid into the publick treasury on or before the thirty-first day of March, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and seventy-one; and further, by the same act, provided and enacted "that if the general court, at their session in May, one thousand seven hundred and seventy, and some time before the twentieth day of June in said year, should not agree and conclude upon an act apportioning the sums which by said act were engaged to be paid in said year, that then in such case each town, district and parish and other place within this province shall pay, by a tax to be levied on the polls, and estates both real and personal, within their limits, the same proportion of said sum as the same town, district or other place was taxed by the general court in the tax then last preceeding;" and the province treasurer was thereby fully impowered and directed, some time in the month of June in the same year, one thousand seven hundred and seventy, to issue his warrants, directed to the assessors or selectmen of each town or district within this province, requiring them to assess the polls, and estates both real and personal, within their several towns and districts, for their respective parts and proportions of the sums before mentioned agreed and directed to be assessed, to be paid into the treasury at or before the last-mentioned time; and whereas the court did not in their sessions in May last, nor at any other time before the twentieth day of June last past, agree or conclude upon any act apportioning the sums which by said act are engaged to be paid into the province treasury this year, and thereupon the province treasurer, pursuant to authority granted him by said act, did, in the month of June last past, issue and send forth his warrants, directed to the assessors or selectmen of each town or district, for their respective parts or proportions of the sum so directed and agreed to be assessed and paid into the treasury on or before the thirty-first day of March, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-one; and whereas, by the said act it is provided and directed that the assessors and persons assessed shall observe, be governed by, and subject to, all such rules and directions as shall have been given in the then last preceeding tax act; and whereas the circumstances of the inhabitants of this province are such that the assessing, levying and paying into the treasury so large a sum this present year must necessarily reduce them to great and needless distress; and whereas many of the possessors of the government securities, for the redemption of which the aforesaid sum of ninety-two thousand five hundred pounds is to be applied, are willing to continue their money upon loan, payable at a future period, which, with the tax of twenty-five thousand pounds now agreed to be assessed and levied this present year, will be sufficient to redeem the government securities, with the interest thereon; and this court, in consideration thereof, have determined to supply the treasury of this province in another manner, with the sum of seventy-six thousand pounds, part of the said sum of ninety-two thousand five hundred pounds, and that only the sum of twenty-five thousand pounds, part of the said sum of ninety-two thousand five hundred pounds, together with the other sums before mentioned, shall be levied and assessed on the inhabitants of this province, this present year; and that the act aforesaid so far as respects the assessing, levying and paying in the said sum of ninety-two thousand five hundred pounds, and the warrants, aforesaid, issued and sent forth for that purpose, should be wholly superceeded and repealed, —

Be it therefore enacted by the Lieutenant-Governor, Council and House of Representatives, [SECT. 1.] That the two last paragraphs in the above-mentioned act, so far as respects the assessing and levying the said sum of ninety-two thousand five hundred pounds on the polls, and estates real and personal, within this province, be and hereby are superceeded and repealed; and that the selectmen and assessors of the several towns and districts within this province, to whom the treasurer has directed his warrants as aforesaid, are hereby directed and required to surcease any further proceeding in obedience to, or by virtue of, such warrants for assessing and levying the same, and shall be and hereby are excused and indemnified in omitting to assess the same.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 2.] That if in any of the towns or districts within this province, the assessors shall have so far proceeded already as to assess the same, in such case said assessment is hereby declared to be null and void.

And for the ordering, directing and effectually drawing in the sum of twenty-eight thousand two hundred and ninety-four pounds one shilling, and to the end that the same may be apportioned, assessed and levied in the easiest manner we are able, for the benefit of his majesty's subjects, and also that his majesty's government within this province may have the better and more speedy effect of said grant, we, his majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the representatives in general court assembled, pray that it may be enacted, —

And be it accordingly enacted by the Lieutenant-Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

[SECT. 3.] That each town, district, parish or other place within this province, be assessed and pay, as such town, district, parish or place's proportion of the said sum of twenty-eight thousand two hundred and ninety-four pounds one shilling, the several sums following; that is to say, —

And be it further enacted,

Treasurer to issue his warrants to the selectmen or assessors.

[SECT. 4.] That the treasurer do forthwith send out his warrants, directed to the selectmen or assessors of each town, district, parish or other place within this province, that are taxed, requiring them, respectively, to assess the sum hereby set upon such town, district, parish or other place, in manner following; that is to say, to assess all rateable polls above the age of sixteen years, within their respective towns, districts, parishes or other places, or next adjoining to them, belonging to no other town or place, at three shillings and fourpence; and proportionably in assessing the additional sum paid out of the treasury, to the representatives for their travel and attendance aforesaid; also in assessing the several fines and other sums set on particular towns by this act, and mentioned in the preamble of the same (excepting the governor, lieutenant-governor and their families, the president, fellows, professors, Hebrew instructor and students of Harvard College, settled ministers and grammar-school masters, who are hereby exempted as well from being taxed for their polls, as for their estates being in their own hands, and under their actual management and improvement; as also the estate pertaining to Harvard College); and other persons, if such there be, who, through age, infirmity or extreme poverty, in the judgment of the assessors, are not able to pay towards public charges, they may exempt their polls or estates, or abate part of what they are set at, as in their prudence they shall think fit and judge meet.

Rules for assessment.

[SECT. 5.] And the justices in their general sessions, in the respective counties assembled, in granting a county tax of assessment, are hereby ordered and directed to apportion the same on the several towns, districts, parishes and other places in such county, in proportion to the province tax; and the assessors of each town in the province are also directed, in making an assessment, to govern themselves by the same rule; and the incomes of all estates, both real and personal, lying within the limits of such town, district, parish or other place, or next unto the same, not paying elsewhere, in whose hands, tenure, occupation or possession the same is or shall be found, and also the incomes or profits which any person or persons, except as before excepted, do or shall receive from any trade or faculty, business or employment whatsoever, and all profits which shall or may arise by money, or commissions of profits, in their improvement, at twelvepence per pound; and to abate or multiply the same, if need be, so as to make up the sum set and ordered hereby for each town, district, parish or other place to pay, and in making the said assessment, to estimate houses and lands at the amount of six years, yearly rent, whereat the same may be reasonably set, or let for, in the place where they lye, the said houses and lands to be taxed to such persons as shall appear to have been the actual tenants thereof upon the first day of September last: saving all agreements between landlord and tenant, and where no agreement is, the landlord to re-imburse one-half of the tax set upon such houses and lands (new cleared lands for tillage not to be rated until the first crop be taken off); and to estimate negro, Indian and molatto servants proportionably as other personal estate, according to their sound judgment or discretion; as also to estimate every ox of four years old and upwards, at forty shillings; every cow or heifer of three years old and upwards, at thirty shillings; and every horse and mare of three years old and upwards, at forty shillings; and every swine of one year old and upwards at eight shillings; goats and sheep of one year old and upwards, at three shillings each; the live-stock above mentioned to be taxed to their respective owners or occupants, by the assessors of the town in which the owners or occupants dwell: likewise requiring the assessors to make a fair list of said assessment, setting forth, in distinct columns, against each particular person's name, how much he or she is assessed at for polls, and how much for houses and lands, and how much for personal estate, and income by trade or faculty, and if as guardian, or for any estate, in his or her improvement, in trust, to be distinctly expressed; and the list or lists, so perfected, and signed by them, or the major part of them, to commit to the collector or collectors, constable or constables of any such town, district, parish or other place, and to return a certificate of the name or names of such collector or collectors, constable or constables, with the sum total to each of them committed, unto himself, some time before the last day of December next.

Lists to be committed to constables or collectors.

[Sect. 6.] And the treasurer, for the time being, on receipt of such certificate, is hereby impowered and ordered to issue forth his warrants to the collector or collectors, constable or constables of such town, district, parish or other place, requiring him or them respectively to collect the whole of each respective sum assessed on each particular person, and to pay in their collection, and to issue their accompts of the whole, at or before the thirtieth day of April, which will be in the year of our Lord, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-one.

Treasurer to issue his warrants to constables or collectors.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 7.] That the assessors of each town, district, parish or other place, respectively, in convenient time before their making of the assessment, shall give seasonable warning to the inhabitants, in a town meeting, or by posting up notifications in some place or places in such town, district, parish or other place, or notify the inhabitants some other way, where such seasonable warning or notification has not already been given, to give and bring in to the assessors true and perfect lists of their polls and rateable estate they were possessed of, on the first day of September last, and income by trade or faculty, and gain by money at interest, which they are to render to the assessors, on oath, if required; and if they refuse to give in an account of the money at interest, on oath, the assessors are impowered to doom them; and if any person or persons shall neglect or refuse so to do, or bring in a false list, it shall be lawful to and for the assessors to assess such person or persons, according to their known ability in such town, in their sound judgment and discretion, their due proportion of this tax, as near as they can, agreeable to the rules herein given, under the penalty of twenty shillings for each person that shall be convicted by legal proof, in the judgment of said assessors, in bringing in a false list; the said fines to be for the use of the poor of such town, district, parish or place where the delinquent lives, to be levied by warrant from the assessors, directed to the collectors or constables, in manner as is directed for gathering the town assessments, to be paid into the town, district or parish treasury, for the use aforesaid: saving to the party aggrieved at the judgment of the assessors in setting forth such fine, liberty of appeal therefrom to the court of general sessions of the peace within the county, for relief as in the case of being over rated. And if any person or persons shall not bring in a list of their estate as aforesaid to the assessors, he or they so neglecting shall not be admitted to make application to the court of general sessions, for any abatement of the assessment laid on him or them.

Notice to be given to the inhabitants to bring in a true list of polls, and estate in possession the first day of September last.

[SECT. 8.] And if the person be not convicted of any falseness in the list, by him presented, of the polls, rateable, estate or income by trade or faculty, business or employment, which he does or shall exercise, or in gain by money at interest or otherwise, or other estate not particularly assessed, such list shall be a rule for such person's proportion to the tax, which the assessors may not exceed.

And forasmuch as, oftentimes, sundry persons, not belonging to this province, bring considerable trade and merchandize into the same, and by reason that the tax or rate of the town where they come to is finished and delivered to the constable or collectors, and, before the next year's assessment, are gone out of the province, and so pay nothing towards the support of the government, though, in the time of their residing here, they reaped considerable gain by trade, and had the protection of the government, —

Be it therefore enacted,

Transient traders to be rated.

[SECT. 9.] That when any person or persons shall come and reside in any town within this province, and bring any merchandize, or trade to deal therewith, the assessors of such town are hereby impowered to rate and assess all such persons, according to their circumstances, pursuant to the rules and directions of this act provided, though the former rate may have been finished, and a new one not perfected, as aforesaid.

And be it further enacted,

Merchants to be rated for carrying on trade in any town besides where they dwell.

[SECT. 10.] That when any merchant, trader or factor, shall set up a store, or traffick, or carry on any trade or business, in any town within this province, not being an inhabitant of such town, the assessors of such town where such trade and business shall be carried on as aforesaid, be and hereby are impowered to rate and assess all such merchants, traders and factors, their goods and merchandize, for carrying on such trade and business and exercising their faculty in such town, pursuant to the rules and directions of this act: provided, before any such assessors shall rate such persons, as aforementioned, the selectmen of the town where such trade is carried on shall transmit a list of such persons as they shall judge may and ought to be rated, within the intent of this act, to the assessors, of such town or district.

Selectmen to transmit a list of such persons before they are rated.

[SECT. 11.] And the constables or collectors are hereby enjoined to levy and collect all such sums committed to them, and assessed on persons who are not of this province, or are resident in other towns than those where they carry on their trade, and pay the same.

And whereas, it has been the practice of some of the inhabitants of the town of Boston to remove to some other town in this province, and there reside for some months, to avoid paying their part of the taxes in the town of Boston, to which they really belong, to the great injury of the said town, —

Be it therefore enacted,

Inhabitants of Boston, who remove out of town and return in a year, to pay their tax in Boston.

[SECT. 12.] That when any inhabitant of the town of Boston shall remove to any other town in this province, and shall, in one year after, remove back to said Boston, and shall have been taxed in the said town, shall be subject to pay the said taxes in like manner as he would have been had he not have removed from said Boston (saving so much as he shall be taxed in the town removed to), anything in this act to the contrary notwithstanding. [Passed November 17.

CHAPTER 31.

AN ACT FOR CHARGING THE COUNTY OF HAMPSHIRE WITH THE COST AND EXPENCE OF ERECTING AND MAINTAINING A BRIDGE, OVER WARE RIVER, IN THE ROAD IN THE DISTRICT OF WARE, IN THE SAID COUNTY OF HAMPSHIRE, LATELY LAID OUT, LEADING FROM THE GREAT ROAD IN THE SAID WARE, CALLED THE BAY ROAD, TO THE GREAT ROAD IN WESTERN, IN THE COUNTY OF WORCESTER, CALLED THE POST ROAD FROM SPRINGFIELD TO BOSTON; THE SAID ROAD, LATELY LAID OUT, BEING PARTLY IN THE SAID COUNTY OF HAMPSHIRE, AND PARTLY IN THE SAID COUNTY OF WORCESTER.

Preamble.

WHEREAS, by order of the justices of the court of general sessions of the peace for the said county of Hampshire, and by order of the justices of the court of general sessions of the peace for the said county of Worcester, a road has been lately laid out and established, communicating with the great roads above mentioned, whereby the steep, long and very difficult hill, called Coy's Hill, in the said great road, called the Bay Road, is avoided,—which will very much facilitate the travelling from Hadley to Boston, especially with carriages; but as that part of the said road, lately laid out as aforesaid, which lies in the said district of Ware, in the said county of Hampshire, crosses Ware River, which river, where the said road crosses the same, cannot be forded in many seasons of the year, and therefore a bridge, over the said river, in that part thereof, is absolutely necessary for obtaining the great advantages to the public which were proposed by the laying out the said road; and as the inhabitants of the said district of Ware, by reason of their extream and well-known poverty, are altogether unable either to erect or maintain such a bridge, —

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Expense of building a bridge over Ware River, to be paid by the county of Hampshire.

That from and after the last day of May in this present year, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-one, the erecting, maintaining and upholding of a cart-bridge, over Ware River, in the said road lately laid out, as aforesaid, in the district of Ware aforesaid, shall be and hereby is made a proper county charge of the said county of Hampshire; and the justices of the court of general sessions of the peace for the said county of Hampshire are hereby impowered and required, in their general sessions, from time to time, to make such orders as shall be necessary and sufficient for the erecting, maintaining and upholding such bridge, and to order the assessing the charges and costs thereof on the inhabitants of the said county of Hampshire, and levying the same, in like manner as, by law, they may other proper and lawful county charges. CHAPTER 35.

AN ACT FOR BUILDING AND MAINTAINING A LIGHTHOUSE OR HOUSES ON THATCHER'S ISLAND [OR] [ON] THE MAINLAND OF CAPE ANN.

WHEREAS the headland of Cape Ann projects itself into the main ocean in such manner as to form two deep bays; one, to the northward, commonly called Ipswich Bay, and another, to the southward, called the Massachusetts, or, more commonly, Boston Bay; that there are two very dangerous ledges of rocks which lay off from the headland, which, for want of some guide, frequently prove fatal to vessels; and it being generally thought that a lighthouse, or houses, erected on Thatcher's Island, or the mainland of Cape Ann, would be very serviceable to the navigation and commerce of this province, and be a means of preserving the lives and estates of a great number of his majesty's subjects, by directing the distressed, in stormy and tempestuous weather, into a safe harbour; therefore, — Preamble.

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives, [SECT. 1.] That there be a lighthouse or houses erected at the charge of the province, either on Thatcher's Island or the mainland of Cape Ann (as shall appear most convenient to a committee appointed by this court), to be kept lighted from sun-setting to sun-rising; that from and after the building of the said lighthouse or houses, and kindling a light or lights therein, there shall be paid to the receiver of impost, by the masters of all ships and vessels belonging to or entering any of the harbours in the province, to whom the said light shall be useful, the like duty or light-money as, by an act of this province, passed in the first year of King George the First, intit[u]led "An Act for building and maintaining a lighthouse upon the Great Brewster, called Beacon Island, at the entrance of the harbour of Boston," the ships and vessels entering into or going out of the harbour of Boston Lighthouse to be built either on Thatcher's Island or the mainland. Light-money, the same as by the act of King George the First, 1715-16, chap. 4.

are held to pay; and in case any vessels belonging to any of the harbours above referred to shall arrive at the harbour of Boston, and there pay the light-money to the impost officer, the said officer to give his certificate to his deputies that he has received the said light-money, so that it shall not be demanded again.

— not to be paid more than once.

And be it enacted,

[SECT. 2.] That the commissioner or receiver of impost be and hereby is [e][i]mpowered, by himself, or his deputy by him appointed, to receive the said duties, and to recover the same, and give a certificate therefor, in the same way and manner as by the aforerecited act is provided.

Receiver of impost to give a certificate, in case.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 3.] That no ship or vessel belonging to the aforesaid ports (coasters excepted) shall be cleared by the naval officer, until a certificate be produced that the duty of the lighthouse be paid; and the ship or vessel, with the master, shall stand charged with the duty thereof till paid to the commissioner of impost.

Naval officer not to clear vessels until he receive a certificate.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 4.] That the person appointed by this court to keep the said lighthouse, or houses, shall be under the same rules and directions with respect to his duty, and also under the same penalty for neglecting the same, and the fines shall be recovered in the same way and manner, as in and by the aforerecited act is provided.

Lighthouse keepers subject to the same penalties as provided by another act.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 5.] That a committee of this court be appointed to build the said lighthouse, or houses, of such dimensions, and in such manner, as they may be directed by the said court. [Passed and published April 26, 1771.

Committee to be appointed.

NOTES. — There were four sessions of the General Court this year. These were held at Cambridge, against the nearly unanimous protest of both the Council and the House, and contrary to the general wish of the people. No acts were passed during the first two sessions, which were chiefly spent in a controversy between the Lieutenant-Governor and the Assembly, on the question of the legality of assembling the Legislature at any other place than in the town-house in Boston — the Representatives having resolved, at the first session, and reaffirmed it at the second session, that, so long as the Assembly was constrained to remain at Cambridge, it was "by no means expedient to proceed to business."

Opposition to convening the Assembly at Cambridge was manifested throughout the province as soon as it appeared that such was the intention of the Lieutenant-Governor; and, after writs had been issued for convening the General Court, an objection was made in the Board of Overseers of Harvard College, — which had been designated as the place of meeting, — to the use of their halls for that purpose. In the following letter to Lord Hillsborough, dated May 3, 1770, Hutchinson gives an account of this proceeding: —

"My Lord, At a Meeting of the Overseers of Harvard College on the 1st Instant, it was moved by one of the Ministers of Boston that inasmuch as I had issued Writs for calling an Assembly to meet at the College which he looked upon to be an Invasion of their rights, therefore measures should be taken by a Remonstrance or in some other way to assert their right and to prevent the Court from being held there. This was seconded by another of the Ministers and after some debate I represented to them the imprudence and indecency of this motion, that whatever the pretence might be of maintaining their right, the construction would be that they were engaging in the Dispute between the Kingdom from which they had received such great Benefactions and the Colonies and were obstructing measures which were judged proper for me to take, that indeed there was no other place in Cambridge where the Assembly could so conveniently meet as in the publick Rooms of the College, but at all events, they should meet in Cambridge, because I knew it was His Majesty's pleasure they should meet there: Before another Session I would represent to His Majesty's Secretary of State that it was not agreeable to the Overseers of the College that the Assembly should meet there, for they had generally expressed themselves to be of that mind, and I doubted not I should have Orders to prorogue it to some other Town, seeing without the use of the College Buildings they could not conveniently sit at Cambridge. I advised them not to insist upon the Question being put, but, it being pressed by the movers, I proposed the previous Question. The Board of Overseers consists of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor & Council and the Ministers of Boston and five other Towns together with the President of the College. One half of the Council and one half of the Ministers present were for the Question and it lay with me to give my voice against it. It plainly appeared that this was a piece of management of the Representatives of Boston to embarrass the public business one of their Ministers in the Debate having inadvertently mentioned that they had let him know their opinion upon the point.

I gave them no room to expect I should be at liberty to carry the Court to Boston.

I have troubled Your Lordship with this detail in compliance with my promise and because I humbly apprehend that it may be convenient to have liberty to meet the Court or Assembly at Salem, Concord or other place than Cambridge until it shall be thought proper for it to be held at Boston again and that directions may be given on this head; for notwithstanding the frivolous exceptions taken by the Assembly to the Governor's being held to follow his Instructions, it makes a great odds in any unpopular matter, when he is able to say that he knows what he does is agreeable to His Majesty's pleasure, or that he is pursuing the Instructions or orders which he has received, and the clamour would have been ten times as great upon the late removal of the Court, if I had done it merely from my own opinion of the utility of the measure." — "Mass. Bay, B. T.," vol. 81.

The House having resolved, under protest, to proceed to business, nineteen acts were passed during the third session, which continued from the 26th of September to the 20th of November. These were duly certified for transmission, in December, — apparently before the 21st, the date of Hutchinson's letter to Secretary Pownall, which accompanied them. The package containing this letter, the acts, and the remarks of the Lieutenant-Governor upon them, was conveyed by Sir Francis Bernard's lady, who returned to England, a passenger in the Tweed.

All the acts of this session were printed, — the tax act separately; but the engrossments of the following chapters are missing: 2, 5, 7, 8, 10, 11, 12, 13 and 15. These appear to have been read in the Council, Feb. 7, 1771. They were then sent to the Board of Trade, where, thirteen days later, they were read, and ordered to be transmitted to Mr. Jackson, for his opinion thereupon in point of law. By the 10th of May, they had been returned to the Board, accompanied by Mr. Jackson's report. On that day, they were again read, as also was the report, in which Mr. Jackson expresses the opinion that these acts "are proper in point of law," and only hints the slight objection which appears in the note to chapter 2, post.

At the fourth session, which continued from April 3, to April 26, 1771, sixteen acts were passed, all of which were printed. The engrossments of chapters 21 and 32 are missing. These acts were certified for transmission, May 17, 1771. They were accompanied by a letter from the Governor to Secretary Pownall, dated May 16, as follows: —

"Sir, Under cover with this you will receive the several Laws which passed the last Session of the Court, all which relate to our interior affairs and seem to require no remarks nor explanation, unless it should be thought necessary for me to apologize for my consenting to so many New Towns without excepting a Privilege of sending Representatives. They are all made out of new Territory which never was before incorporated and my consent is warranted by the practice of my Predecessor in consequence of directions he received. As there is a prospect of many such Townships being incorporated every year the House of Representatives will soon swell to an enormous size. The Journal of the House of Representatives is not yet printed. As soon as it is out of the Press I will transmit it. I am, Sir,

Your most obed^{t} humble Servant

Tho: Hutchinson." — Ibid., O. o., 16.

The package containing these papers is endorsed "Rec^{d} July 12. Read Dec. 12, 1771.— 16 Acts." This memorandum appears to have been made in the office of the Board of Trade; for they were not delivered to the clerk of the Privy Council, in waiting, until the fifth of September. Twenty days later they were referred to the committee on plantation affairs, by whom they were sent back to the Board of Trade, on the fourth of October. They next appear in the latter Board, Dec. 18th; when they were read, together with Mr. Jackson's report, dated Dec. 13th, in which he expresses the opinion "that the said Acts are proper in point of Law." They were again read and considered by the Board, Feb. 27, 1772, when there were ordered to be prepared the draught of a report to the committee of the Council, and the draught of a letter to the Governor, containing the Board's observations on chapter 25, which are given in the note to that chapter, post. On the 4th of March, 1772, these draughts had been prepared and were signed by members of the Board.

At the third session a bill granting £325 for the support of the Lieutenant-Governor, was reported in the House. The enacting clause of this bill contained the words, "in General Court assembled." On the next day, in a message to both Houses, the Lieutenant-Governor gave notice that he could not give his assent to any bill in which the enacting clause varied from the form prescribed in his instructions; namely, "'By the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,' and no other." — [See note to act 1769–70, chap. 8, ante.]

The Lieutenant-Governor expected that permanent provision for his support would be made by act of parliament; but this he deemed it discreet to withhold from the Assembly, and the only objection he offered to the bill making the above-named grant, was the insertion of the additional words in the enacting clause.

What other bills, if any, containing this altered clause, were passed at this session cannot be discovered from the archives. Only one of the engrossed acts that are preserved, shows that it originally contained the objectionable words, which, however, were cancelled before the act was signed and sealed.

In his character as historian the Lieutenant-Governor subsequently animadverts on the conduct of the House in insisting "upon a point so frivolous and unimportant in itself, and supported by such feeble pretences," which he adds, "put a stop to the chief business of the Assembly a whole week, and the members of the first characters for knowledge in the law were much engaged in it." This looks like an adroit shifting of responsibility.

Some account of the royal instruction which the Lieutenant-Governor made a pretext for objecting to the additional words, has been already given in the marginal note to the act of 1742-43, chap. 1, ante. As there stated, the purpose of this instruction appears to have been to deprive of all appearance of royal sanction, any possible claim to autonomy by the provincial legislature, — a claim which could be more confidently asserted if the Privy Council should assent to acts, in the enacting clauses of which the only authority professed was that of the General Court.

Hutchinson gives other conjectural reasons for this instruction; but his inferences are clearly drawn from false premises. He supposes, for instance, that the words "His Excellency," which, he intimates, were introduced in the time of Gov. Bellomont, were for certain reasons, objectionable; when in point of fact, this title appears in the enacting clauses of several acts passed in the administration of Sir Wm. Phips, and the title itself, which was first given to Sir Edmond Andros, continued to be used in the preambles and bodies of acts, wherein the governor was referred to, even after it had disappeared from the enacting clause. This title which, it is to be observed, was first given, successively, to two knights, and then to an earl, holding the office of governor, survived the Revolution, and continues to be the title of the chief executive of the Commonwealth, upon whom it is expressly conferred by the Constitution.

The instruction, moreover, was not first issued to Shirley, as Hutchinson intimates, but to Dudley, and, thereafter, it was regularly repeated to each succeeding governor.

The words which the House inserted, no doubt with the approval, if not at the suggestion, "of the members of the first character for knowledge in the law," seem entirely proper, and are, now, imperatively required by chap. 6, art. 8, of the second part of the Constitution of this Commonwealth. Nor was the use of these words unprecedented; for, before 1742 there were but five acts, in the enacting clause of which these words do not appear, and even after that date, certainly as many as ten acts were passed with enacting clauses containing these words, and four others where the objectionable words, though not in the principal enacting clause, were retained in the subsidiary clauses before certain paragraphs or sections; and still one other act (1742-43, chap. 6) which contains both the words "in General Court assembled," and "by the authority of the same." All these acts, it may be added, received the assent of the executive, and the approval of the Privy Council. Indeed, if these words had been retained in the clause as amended through the exertions of Gov. Shirley, there is no reason to doubt that the amendment would, nevertheless, have been deemed by the Privy Council a substantial compliance with his instructions.

Whether intended to have such an effect or not, this controversy helped to divert the Assembly from pushing inquiries on the subject of the Lieutenant-Governor's receiving his support from the crown, which was so soon to agitate the province and to aid in precipitating the Revolution.

Chap. 1. The Lieutenant-Governor, in his remarks to the Lords of Trade, observes "The Tax Act, so called, is in the usual form," and then adds, "So is the Act for making a District by the name of Southwick." — Dec. 21, 1770: "Mass. Bay, B. T.," vol. 81, O. o., 7.

Chap. 2. "This Act is in the usual form except that in the former Acts the Naval Officer used to be required not to grant a pass at the Castle to any Ship or Vessel until &c. whereas it is now expressed that he shall not clear any Vessel &ca. This alteration was occasioned by particular persons who were angry at the exchange of the Garrison at the Castle but being of no consequence I thought it deserved no notice for the Province Law establishes a fee at the Naval Office." — Ibid.

§ 15. "There is a seeming indecorum in a clause in the Impost Act, requiring the Naval Officer (who does not depend on the Government of the Province) not to grant clearances, till the Duties paid, which yet I think amounts to no substantial objection, because this Direction I understand relates only to a fee given him by the Province on this Occasion, which they may give on what terms they please." — Extract from report of R. Jackson, Apr. 6, 1771: ibid., O. o., 12.

Chap. 7. "Gentlemen of the House of Representatives. —

In order to conform to the Laws of the province and to maintain the public Faith, it was necessary the Treasurer should Issue his Warrants for the Assessment of the whole province Debt the current year. If these warrants have not been so far executed as to render any alteration impracticable and you shall be of opinion that the burthen will be too great for the people to bear, I am willing to consent to an Act for affording the necessary Releif by easing the present year of part of this Tax and chargeing the same Sum upon a future year." — *Extract from Lieut.-Gov. "Nov. 5, 1770. In the house of Representatives. Chap. 8. "July 5, 1771. In Council, Read and Concurred." — Council Records, vol. XXIX., p. 124.

"This Act became necessary from the alteration made in the funds for Government securities by what is called the Tax Act passed the same Session. The whole of the Province Debt which before lay upon one year is now charged upon three years. The Creditors of the Government wish to have it continued for a much longer term as they cannot find so good security for their principal and a certainty of their interest being regularly paid in any other way so that no body complains and I was the rather induced to consent to this alteration because if the whole had been charged upon one year it would be necessary to convene the General Court when perhaps there will be no other occasion for it whereas the Taxes may now be levied of course and there will be no pretence for calling the Court in order to an alteration." — Lieut.-Gov. Hutchinson to the Lords of Trade, Dec. 21, 1770: "Mass. Bay, B. T.," vol. 81, O. o., 7.

Chap. 9. "Are you willing the Act for Limitation of Suits at Law, which has been repeatedly suspended, should now take Place? To omit the mention of many other Laws, which I believe you judge necessary to be continued or revived." — Message of Lieut.-Gov. Hutchinson, to the House, June 7, 1770: House Journal, p. 23.

"There was an Act for limitation of personal actions passed near twenty years ago. It has been repeatedly suspended before it could have any operation. This Act being very conformable to the Statute of Limitations in England, it now seems to be resolved shall not be suspended and if the People will not expect and prepare for it they must take the consequences. It is a most salutary Law and I am humbly of opinion that an Instruction not to consent to the Repeal or Suspension of it without special license would be a great kindness to the people for without this they will notwithstanding all the present professions neglect preparing for it and force a suspension whereas if there be an Instruction they will despair of it and govern themselves accordingly. — This is not a Temporary Law but placed among them through inattention which must be corrected." — Lieut.-Gov. Hutchinson to the Lords of Trade, Dec. 21, 1770: "Mass. Bay, B. T.," vol. 81, O. o., 7.

Chap. 10. "The substance of this Act has been in force many years. There is some small alteration intended in favour to the Baptists." — Ibid.

"Their old certificate law being out of date, a new one was framed, which changed their title to Antipædobaptists, and changed the time of giving in certificates to the first of September; which were to be signed by three or more principal members, and the minister, if there be any. The word Congregation was to be used instead of the word Church; and the parishes were empowered to vote the Baptists clear, if they pleased, without certificates. But the word Conscientiously was still retained, and the certificates were required to be given in annually to parish assessors.

Mr. Davis, clerk of their committee, now called them together; and, upon examination, they declared themselves not satisfied with this law." — Backus's History of the Baptists, 2 ed., vol. 2, p. 156.

For further proceedings on the petitions of the Baptists, at this and the next session, see the note to 1768, chap. 5. (ante, vol. IV., pp. 1039-45.)

Chap. 11. "The Revival of this Law for one year only does not agree with the letter of one of the Royal Instructions, but this Instruction by preceding Governors has always been understood to extend to such Acts only as have not before had his Majesty's approbation. The trade which it is intended to regulate is become of little importance. If His Majesty's Proclamation for restraining all persons from trading with the Indians unless licensed by the Governors had been in force by an Act of Parliament the revival of this Act would have been unnecessary and improper." — Lieut.-Gov. Hutchinson to the Lords of Trade, Dec. 21, 1770: "Mass. Bay, B.T.," vol. 81, O. o, 7.

Chap. 12. "There are very few persons who can be affected by this Act but the tendency of it is to promote justice as far as the Act extends." — Ibid.

Chap. 13. "This Act has been frequently revived for a short term after attempts to lessen the Fees of Officers. It happens that there is a standing Law which establishes better fees and this Law is a suspension of the operation of the other. The House rather than the standing law should take place revived the other but they will do it for a short time only flattering themselves that they shall be able to establish even less fees than the Temporary Act allows." — Ibid.

Chap. 14. "Apr. 3, 1770. A Petition of Elias Willard and others — Setting forth — That they have purchased and settled upon the Lands called the Ministers Grants and other Grants of Lands adjoining to the same without the Bounds of any Town, and are not in circumstances to make a Society by themselves: And praying that they may be annexed to the District of Lenox, there to do duty and receive privilege. —

In the House of Representatives. Read and Ordered that the Petitioners notify the District of Lenox and each of the Non Petitioners who are Proprietors of said Ministry Lands by serving the Clerk of said District and each of the said non petitioners with a Copy of this Petition to shew cause, if any they have, on the third Wednesday of the next May Session of the General Assembly why the prayer should not be granted. In Council, Read and Concurred." — Council Records, vol. XXVIII., p. 122.

"Oct. 27, 1770. a petition of Elias Willard and others, praying to be Annexed to the District of Lenox, as Entd the 3d day of April last.

In Council, Read again and no objection Appearing against the prayer of the within petition: Ordered that the said petition be revived and that the petitioners have leave to bring in a Bill for the purposes therein mentioned. In the House of Representatives, Read and Concurred." — Ibid., p. 339.

In the House of Representatives, Read and Resolved that the Petitioners notify the Proprietors of the Tract of Land called the Lisburne propriety of their Petition by serving the Clerk of the said Proprietors with a Copy of the same attested by the Secretary, that the said Proprietors may shew cause, if any they have, on the second Wednesday of the next sitting of this Court, why the prayer thereof should not be granted. In the House of Representatives, Read & Concurred & Major Hawley, Doctor Tufts and M^r^ Bigelow of Worcester, are joined."— Ibid., p. 245.

"June 17, 1772. The Committee appointed the 6^th^ Instant on the Petition of William Harkness and others, owners of certain lotts and Tracts of Land in severalty lying within that tract of Land in the Town of Pelham called the Lisburn propriety, praying that a certain act or Law of this Province made and passed in the Year 1770 intituled 'an Act for enabling the proprietors of a Tract of Land called the Lisburn propriety to raise money for making recompence to sundry proprietors who had their supposed Rights cut off, in part by the late running of the Lines of the Towns of New Salem and Shutesbury and for paying other proprietary debts and charges and for enabling them to levy and collect the same,' might be repealed — having considered the said Petition and Answer, and fully heard the parties, Reported sundry Facts together with their Opinion that the Act aforesaid be repealed, and the sufferers left to their remedy at Law."

The Council accepted this report, and ordered a bill to be brought in, accordingly. The House concurred, but ordered the bill "to lie, for a full House."

Chap. 25. "Sir, We have read and considered the Laws passed by you in April June and July 1771 and have the satisfaction to find that they do not in general contain any matter that appears to us to be exceptionable; We observe however that amongst these Laws, there are two [1770-71, chap. 25, and 1771-72, chap. 2.] by which several Acts heretofore existing are repealed; that these Laws are made to take effect, before the King's pleasure be known, and that in one of them the Acts repealed are described by general Words of reference without any recital either of their Titles or Dates, The Inconveniencies which resulted from the want of some restriction in both the Cases to which the foregoing observation applies, have been the foundation of very positive and explicit Instructions on those heads to all His Majesty's Governors in America; and as they are inserted in Your General Instructions, Articles 6 and 7 It is our duty upon this occasion to point them out to you not doubting that for the future you will think fit to take such steps as may prevent the like irregularities" — *Lords of Trade to Gov. "My Lords, The mail by the March packet arriving yesterday, I have the opportunity of acknowledging the receipt of Your Lordships letter of the 4^th of March.

I must confess my inattention in one point, not observing that the Title and Date of a Law or Laws repealed was not inserted. I have in a multitude of instances caused this and many other inaccuracies in Bills to be corrected after they have been presented to me. The two Houses will not employ a proper person or persons to draw or revise their Bills but leave it to any Member who obtains leave to bring in a Bill and seldom observe the form of a Committee

With respect to the other point I beg leave to observe to Your Lordships that I had my Instruction upon my mind and conceived that I was not departing from the spirit and intention of it. I imagined it did not extend so far as to prevent an alteration or amendment of any Clause or part of a Law Such alterations, amendments and additions have been constantly practised ever since the Instruction was first given. When they cannot well be expressed without periphrasis or great circumlocution I have thought it best for the sake of brevity and perspicuity to repeal any former law or laws and at the same time re-enact all parts of them except such as the proposed amendment made it necessary to omit. My Predecessors have been occasionally in this practice & I remember some of them have asked my opinion upon it when I was of the Council & I gave it with candour.

In the latitude with which the Instruction is construed the Assembly have been very backward in passing any other than temporary Laws. When it is more straight they will be apt to be still more backward. A great deal of time will be spent in the revival of an infinite number of laws from time to time and it will become necessary to meet the Assembly for that purpose when otherwise it would not be convenient Having given these reasons for my conduct in this instance, if they have not that weight with Your Lordships which they had with me I shall give up my own opinion and govern myself by that of Your Lordships." — *Gov. Hutchinson to the Lords of Trade, Mar. 11, 1772: ibid., vol. 81, O. o., 38.

his Majesty's Council, and the Honble House of Representatives in General Assembly at Cambridge on the Third Day of April 1771 —

Humbly shews John Worthington and Joseph Hawley Esqrs Benjamin Day, David Field, Elisha Porter, John Ingersoll, and William Billing Gentlemen, all of the County of Hampshire in the Province aforesaid — That the said County of Hampshire is particularly and distinguishly burthened with County Bridges by reason that there are many Rivers crossing the publick Roads in new Townships, the Inhabitants whereof are extremely poor and unable to make the necessary Bridges over such Rivers, the number of Bridges maintain'd by the said County not being less than Seven or Eight, and that there is a Bill now depending in this Honble Court to charge the County with another Bridge over Ware River, and the said Bridges are so large as that the Prime Costs of erecting the said Bridges at a moderate Computation will exceed One Thousand Pounds Lawful Money so that the Burden Occasioned by the Towns in the said County by making and supporting the said Bridges which are frequently broken by the Ice in high Freshets is much beyond any of the like kind in any other Part of the Province. — They also beg leave to shew that most of the said Bridges are not only necessary for the Inhabitants of the said County but very necessary for the Province in General as they are in Roads as Publick and generally travelled as any in the Province at the like Distance from the Capital — And as the Goverment have lately made the Sum of One Hundred Pounds Lawful Money by the Sale of an Island in Connecticut River between the Towns of Northampton and Hadley within the said County of Hampshire which Island has arisen in ye sd River within the memory of man, and so this Increase of the Estate of the Province has wholly grown out of the Loss of the Inhabitants of ye sd County — The said Petitioners therefore humbly Supplicate your Excellency and Honors would grant the Sum made by the Sale of the said Island to the said County of Hampshire the better to enable the said County to support the Charge and Expence of maintaining the said Bridges.—And they as in Duty bound shall ever pray

May it please your Excellency & Honours

We, whose names are hereunto Subscribed being a Committee legally chosen by the Inhabitants of Marblehead To petition the Great & General Court of this Province, To build one or more Lights on some part of the Cape Ann Shore, Would humbly present To your Excellency & Honours, Our Petition for that purpose, wherein we beg leave to Shew — That the Headland of Cape Ann Projects itself into the main Ocean in Such a manner, as to form two deep Bays, one to the Northward, commonly called Ipswich Bay; & another to the Southward, called the Massachusetts, or more commonly Boston Bay. — That there are in these two Bays the following Seaport Towns viz Newbury Port, Ipswich, Gloucester, Manchester, Beverly, Salem, Marblehead, Boston, — Plimouth, & divers smaller ones lying between Boston & Plimouth — That all Merchant Ships coming from abroad & all Fishing Vessells coming from the Banks to any of the aforementioned Ports, do generally endeavour to fall in with, & make the aforesaid Headland of Cape Ann —

That all ye Vessells employed in bringing wood, Lumber, Lime &c from the Eastern parts of this Province To any of the Towns afores^d must of necessity pass very near the Headland afores^d in their passages backwards & forwards — That there are two very dangerous Ledges of Rocks, w^ch lay right off from the Headland afores^d One commonly called the Salvages The other, Thatcher's Island Ledge; w^ch frequently prove fatal to Vessells, by their running upon them, in dark Nights — That in great Storms when the Wind is Easterly, Vessells have, very often in long nights, been driven by distress of weather, past The headland afores^d into one or other of s^d Bays, & not being able by reason of ye darkness to See the Land at the Time they have passed by, (whence they might have judged whereabouts they were) have afterwards been driven ashore, where they have either miserably perished, or been greatly damaged — That at other times when the Gales of wind have not been so severe, but that Vessells might venture to run for the Land, They have either mistook the Headland afores^d for some other part of the Bay; Or some other part of the Bay for said Headland; w^ch has proved equally fatal — That all Such misfortunes might in most cases be for the future escaped, If there should be some distinguishing Lights erected upon some proper part of the Shore of the Headland afores^d by w^ch it might be certainly known — That the Coasting Business to & from the Eastern parts of this Province would be thereby carried on, w^th more safety & expedition; And all Mariners & Fishermen coming into any of the Ports afores^d from the sea would then have a sure & certain land mark for w^ch they might venture to run by night, equally as well as by day — Wherefore, In behalf of the Inhabitants of Marblehead afores^d We humbly pray your Excellency & Honours To take the matter into consideration, & order & do therein, as to your Excellency & Honours Shall seem best; And We your Petitioners as in duty bound Shall ever Pray —

The Petition of James Kirkwood Humbly Sheweth,

That in the month of December 1771 your petitioner undertook to go to Thatchers Island to take care of, and look after two Light houses that had been Lately Erected on said Island for the benefit of navigation, the Island being at some distance from the Main Land and much exposed to hard Gales of Wind & Extream Cold in the Winter which together with the Light houses & dwelling House not being quite finished made it a very uncomfortable habitation, and attended with great difficulty as the Lighthouses stand at a great distance from one another (thô very properly placed for the Safety and benefit of Trade.

That the ruffness of the way makes it very difficult and dangerous passing and repassing from one Light House to the other especially a nights in the Winter Season, being Obliged to do it at ten at night and two in the morning to the endangering of their Livès and Limbs.

That it is a full mile from said Island to the main Land, and sometimes for Three and four Weeks they have not daired to venture ashore by reason of the Boisterousness of the Sea, so that at such times (though they should be in the utmost distress) they can't get any assistance or Supplies from the Shore.

That your pet^r and the two men employed in taking care of said Lights were hardly sufficient, when they were all Well for so difficult a task and when any of them were laid up, and no other assistance could be had their Duty was very fatiguing.

That there is due to one of his Assistants for his Service from the 11^th Decem: 1771 to 11^th June 1773 being Eighteen months at five Dollars ℔ month the Sum of Twenty seven pounds. And for the other Assistants Service from 1^st July 1772 to the 1^st of June 1773 at four Dollars ℔ month the sum of Thirteen pounds four shillings amounting in the whole to the sum of Forty pounds four shillings. —

And whereas sundry disorderly and evil-minded persons have, of late years, unnecessarily departed from the ancient cartway, and drove their loaded teams in different places over the said beach and meadow, to the great hurt and damage of said proprietors, —

Be it therefore further enacted,

Loaded teams to be driven in the ancient way.

[SECT. 4.] That from and after the publication of this act, whoever shall presume to drive, or suffer to be drove, their loaded team or teams over said beach or meadow, in any other than the ancient known and common way over the same, shall forfeit and pay the sum of ten shillings, to be recovered and applied in manner as is expressed in this act.

CHAPTER 5.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO THE SEVERAL ACTS OR LAWS OF THIS PROVINCE, IMPOWERING THE SELECTMEN OR OVERSEERS OF THE POOR OF TOWNS TO BIND POOR CHILDREN APPRENTICES.

Whereas the acts or laws of this province, heretofore made, impowering the selectmen or overseers of the poor of the several towns in this province to place and bind poor children apprentices, do not impower them to bind and place any poor children apprentices other than such as belong to, and are chargeable for support on, the particular towns for and by which such selectmen or overseers are chosen; and whereas it often happens that poor children and minors do come, or are brought into, and found dwelling in, towns to which they do not belong, and thereby much charge and expence is occasioned and incurred, either for the removal of such children and minors to the places where they belong (either within or without the province), or for their support in the places where they are found, when, at the same time, they might be placed and bound apprentices in the towns where they are found dwelling, as much to their own benefit, and the benefit of the public, as in any other place, — Preamble. 1740-41, chap. 20. 1741-42, chap. 4.

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That from and after the first day of August, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-one, it shall be lawful for the overseers of the poor of any town or district within this province where any poor children or minors, whether male or female, shall come, be left, or found dwelling, whose circumstances shall be such as to require that such town or district should incur any immediate expence, either for their support [or] in order to their removal; and such overseers are hereby fully impowered, with the assent of two justices of the peace for the county in which such town or district lyes, from time to time, to place and bind apprentices, any such poor children or minors (although such poor children or minors are not by law the proper charge of such town or district), for their support in case they should stand in need: provided, such poor children and minors shall be, at the time of placing and binding them apprentices, in other respects, in such circumstances as that, if they belonged to such town or district where they shall be found, they would be subject and liable, by virtue of any act or law of this province heretofore made and yet in force, to be placed and bound apprentices by such overseers of the poor. Overseers, with the consent of two justices, empowered to bind poor children.

Provided, also,—

[Sect. 2.] That the males shall not be bound for a longer term than until[l] they [shall] come to the age of twenty-one years, and the females shall not be bound for a longer term than until[l] they shall Ages ascertained.

To be instructed in reading, writing and ciphering.

Provided,

Towns not to be subjected to their support.

[SECT. 3.] That no proceedings of the selectmen or overseers of the poor in binding out any such children or minors as apprentices, nor their serving an apprenticeship, either in the same, or in any other town or district, shall be construed or understood to subject the town or district to which such selectmen or overseers shall belong, or the town or district wherein such apprentices[hip] shall be served, to the support of such children or minors, in case they shall afterwards stand in need; but the inhabitants of the town or district to which any such child or minors doth or shall properly belong previous to his or her being bound out, shall, when known, be liable and held to afford such relief as by law they would have been subject to in case this act had never been made. Be it enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That the inhabitants of said town, such of them as have undertaken to settle such rights, and to contribute any part or proportion towards the building a meeting-house and settling a minister and making roads, as aforesaid, together with such of the original purchasers of said lands who have not engaged a sufficient number of settlers in proportion to their original share in said town, be, and they are hereby, empowered, at a meeting, to be called for that purpose agre[e]able to the direction[s] of an act of this province made in the twelfth year of the reign of her late majesty, Queen Anne, intitled "An Act directing how meetings of proprietors of lands lying in common may be called," to chuse a clerk, treasurer, assessors, collector and committee, and any other officer or officers that proprietors of common lands may chuse; the votes always to be collected according to the interest; and at such meeting, at or any future meeting, called agre[e]able to the directions of the act aforesaid, may agree upon and grant any sum or sums of money they may think proper for any of the purposes aforesaid, to be assessed on the several original purchasers, or their assign[e]s, of the lands there, as aforesaid, according to their several interests therein and the contracts and obligations they have made thereabout.

And to the end that the proportions of the several purchasers aforesaid, in said lands, and the assignees to whom they have, respectively, conveyed any part of the same under contract of doing any share of the settling duties aforesaid, may be the better known in said town, —

Be it enacted,

Original purchaser to file an account of his share, with the clerk.

[Sect. 3.] That each and every of the original proprietors aforesaid, their agents or attornies, shall file, with the clerk of the said town, within three months after his choice and acceptance of said office, an account of each original proprietor's share, and a list of the names of the several persons to whom he has conveyed any part of his lands there under contract of doing any settling duties there, with an account of what proportion of such duties each assignee has engaged to perform; and that such account and list shall be the rule by which the assessors shall proceed in making such assessments against any persons [as] [or] assignees of said original purchasers; and if any such original purchasers the[i]r[e], their agents or attornies, shall not make return, to such clerk, of such a number of assignees engaged to do and perform such duties of settlement as shall be his proportion of duties, according to his share of said lands there, the assessors shall assess what remains, on his own lands, till such original purchaser[s], his agent or attorney, shall make further return, to such town clerk, of any other or new assignee of any of his lands who shall have engaged the performance of any part of his duty of settlement, in which case such part, for the future, shall be set upon such assignee.

And be it further enacted,

Injustice occasioned by false returns, how to be remedied.

And to prevent any injustice to any of the inhabitants of the said town, or other proprietors of lands there, by means of any false return against him, by any original purchaser, as his assignee liable and subject, by contract, to do any duty of settlement, which he has not undertaken, and thereby being subjected to an unreasonable assessment upon him in consequence of any such false return, —

Be it enacted,

Entitled to treble damage, in case.

[SECT. 5.] That if any such original purchaser shall falsely return any person as his assignee of any lands in said town, and as liable and engaged to do any duty of settlement on his behalf, which such person is not liab[e]l[e] or engaged to perform, and such person shall, by such means, be subject[ed] to any unjust assessment, against the true design of this act, and shall actually suffer any damage or loss thereby, he shall be and is hereby intitled to treble [the] damages he shall so suffer; to be recovered, with costs, against such original purchaser, by action of debt, to be brought by virtue of this act.

And be it further enacted,

CHAPTER 10.

AN ACT TO SUPPLY THE TREASURY WITH THE SUM OF EIGHT THOUSAND FIVE HUNDRED POUNDS.

Preamble.

WHEREAS there was no provision made by this court at their last session, for support of government for the then ensuing year, and whereas the treasurer has represented to this court that he has a sufficiency in the treasury for that purpose, which is not appropriated, —

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

CHAPTER 11.

AN ACT FOR CONTINUING AN ACT INTITLED "AN ACT FOR ESTABLISHING AND REGULATING THE FEES OF THE SEVERAL OFFICERS, WITHIN THIS PROVINCE, HEREAFTER MENTIONED."

Whereas the act intitled "An Act for establishing and regulating the fees of the several officers, within this province, hereafter mentioned," made in the fifth year of his present majesty's reign, is near expiring, and having been found useful and beneficial, — Preamble. 1764-65, chap. 26.

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

That the act aforesaid be continued, with all and every article, clause, matter, and thing therein contain'd, and shall be in force from the end of the present session of the general assembly, to the end of the next session of the general assembly, and no longer. CHAPTER 12.

AN ACT FOR CONTINUING AN ACT INTITULED "AN ACT FOR GRANTING UNTO HIS MAJESTY SEVERAL RATES AND DUTIES OF IMPOST AND TONNAGE OF SHIPPING."

Whereas the act intitled "An Act for granting unto his majesty several rates and duties of impost and tonnage of shipping," made in the eleventh year of his present majesty's reign, will expire at the end of the present session of the general court, — Preamble. 1770-71, chap. 2.

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

That the act aforesaid be continued, with all and every article, clause, matter and thing therein contained, and shall be in force for the term of one year from the twenty-seventh day of April, 1772, and no longer. [Passed April 25, 1772. Continuation.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO AN ACT, MADE IN THE FIFTH YEAR OF THE REIGN OF HIS PRESENT MAJESTY, INTITLED "AN ACT TO PREVENT THE DESTRUCTION OF OYSTERS IN THE SEVERAL BAYS AND RIVERS, HEREAFTER MENTIONED, WITHIN THIS PROVINCE."

Whereas it has been the practice for some years past for persons to come, with their vessels and boats, into the rivers and bays lying either in the towns of Wellfleet, Freetown, Swanzey, Dartmouth, Barnstable, Yarmouth, and in other of the bays, ports and rivers within this province, then and there to rake the oyster-beds, carry away from thence large quantities of oysters, by means whereof said beds are almost destroyed, to the great prejudice both of the English and Preamble. 1764-65, chap. 25. Recital.

Indian inhabitants living in or near the towns aforesaid; which recited act is found insufficient to prevent the destruction of oysters in the district of Wellfleet, in the county of Barnstable, within the bay commonly called Billingsgate Bay, by reason that many persons in the district of Wellfleet, and in the towns adjacent to Billingsgate Bay make it a constant practice to take, rake and sweep the oyster-beds lying within said Billingsgate Bay, principally in said district of Wellfleet but partly in the township of Eastham, at unreasonable times, for the sake of gain, by carrying oysters to Boston and other ports, in hot weather, — in which season the oysters so taken are not so wholesome, but it more especially prevents their growth by taking them in the time of their spawning — so that the valuable branch of business of taking oysters in the bay aforementioned is in great danger of being spoiled, and the oyster-beds totally ruined, to the great detriment of the district of Wellfleet and town of Eastham, to the prejudice of the public in general; for prevention whereof for the future, —

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Forfeiture, in taking oysters within the time limited.

[SECT. 1.] That if any person or persons shall, after the first day of May, and before the twentieth day of September, annually, during the continuance of this act, presume to take any oysters in Billingsgate Bay, before mentioned, in any part thereof, or to take or sweep said oyster-beds, within the times herein prohibited, he or they shall forfeit, for every offence, the sum of ten pounds, to be recovered by action of debt, or presentment of a grand jury, in the county of Barnstable; one half thereof to him or them that shall sue for the same, or inform the grand jury, and the other half to his majesty, for the use of this government.

— how to be recovered and applied.

Be it further enacted,

Forfeiture, for selling oysters so taken.

[SECT. 2.] That if any person or persons shall sell or dispose of any oysters taken contrary to this act, shall, for every offence, forfeit forty shillings, to be recovered by action of debt, or presentment of a grand jury, in any court of this province where the offence is committed; the last-mentioned forfeiture to be disposed of in manner as aforementioned.

Provided, always,

Proviso.

[SECT. 3.] That nothing in this act shall be construed to hinder and obstruct any of the inhabitants of the town of Eastham or district of Wellfleet, in taking oysters in said bay, to eat, fresh, in their own families, within the times mentioned in this act.

Continuation.

[SECT. 4.] This act to continue and be in force from the first day of May, 1772, to the first of November, 1775. [Passed April 25, 1772.

CHAPTER 14.

AN ACT TO DETERMINE THE SHARE WHICH THE POLLS IN THE DISTRICT OF GREENFIELD SHALL PAY OF THE SUMS TO BE ASSESSED, IN THE SAID DISTRICT, FOR THE TIME THEREIN LIMITED.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the inhabitants of the district of Greenfield are apprehensive that an assessment upon the inhabitants of the said district, agreeable to the general law of this province respecting the proportion of taxes on polls and estates, for want of a true and just valuation, will be very unequal and oppressive, and has for years past been found productive of many evils to said district; for remedy whereof, —

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

That the assessors of the district of Greenfield, for the time being, be and hereby are authorized and directed, from time to time, to assess on the inhabitants of said district, liable by law to be taxed, in the following manner, until a new valuation of the estates in this province shall be compleated, and a tax shall issue thereon; viz., that one moiety of all the taxes that shall hereafter be laid on said district, shall be assessed on the polls, the other, on the estates, real and personal, of the inhabitants of said Greenfield; the assessors observing the same rules and directions, in all other respects, as, by law, is already provided; and that every thing the said assessors shall do, agreeable to this act, shall be deemed good and valid, to all intents and purposes, with the restrictions above specified; any law or usage to the contrary notwithstanding. [Passed April 25, 1772. Specially empowered to tax, until a new valuation.

CHAPTER 15.

AN ACT TO PREVENT ANY PERSONS OBSTRUCTING THE FISH IN THEIR PASSING UP SPRUCE CREEK, SO CALLED, IN A BRANCH OF PISCATAQUA RIVER, THAT FLOWS INTO THE TOWN OF KITTERY, AND TAKING AND CATCHING THEM THEREIN WITH SEINES.

Whereas the method for taking and catching fish in a certain branch of Piscataqua River, flowing into said Kittery, called Spruce Creek, with seines, hath by experience been found greatly tending to obstruct the fish in their passing up into said creek, and thereby depriving the poorer sort of people of the necessaries of life; for remedy whereof, — Preamble.

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That no person or persons whatsoever, from the first day of May next, during the continuance of this act, shall presume to take, kill, or hale ashore, any fish, with seines, in the said creek or any part thereof, upon pain of forfeiting, upon each and every offence, on due conviction thereof, the sum of thirty shillings, to be recovered by action, bill or plaint, before any of his majesty's justices of the peace for the county of York; the one half of the said forfeitures to be to and for the use of the said town of Kittery, the other half to him or them who shall sue for the same. Forfeiture, for taking fish contrary to this act.

[Sect. 2.] This act to continue and be in force for the space of three years from the first day of May next, and no longer. [Passed April 25, 1772. Continuation.

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Continuation.

That the act aforesaid be continued, with all and every article, clause, matter and thing therein contained, and shall be in force for the term of one year from the twenty-eighth of April, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-two, and from thence to the end of the then next session of the general court, and no longer. CHAPTER 22.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO AN ACT ENTITLED "AN ACT FOR THE SETTLEMENT OF THE BOUNDS, AND DEFREYING OF THE PUBLICK AND NECESSARY CHARGES ARISING WITHIN EACH RESPECTIVE COUNTY IN THIS PROVINCE," MADE AND PASSED IN THE FOURTH YEAR OF THE REIGN OF KING WILLIAM AND QUEEN MARY.

Preamble. 1692-93, chap. 27.

WHEREAS, in and by an act intitled "An Act for the settlement of the bounds, and defreying the publick and necessary charges arising within each county in this province," it is, among other things, enacted that the votes for a county treasurer shall be "in writing, and sealed up by the constable, by him to be kept and returned unto the next quarter sessions to be held for said county, there to be opened and sorted, by such as the court shall appoint, in the presence of the justices;* the person having the majority of the said votes shall be treasurer of such county for that year, and be sworn before said court"; and whereas divers and great inconveniencies have frequently arisen in consequence of the returning of the votes, for a county treasurer, being only by the constable of the then year; for remedy whereof, —

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Justices' and grand jurors'

year, living in the same town, and they shall have the same power to return the votes of the several towns in the respective counties in this province for a county treasurer, as by said law the constables had and now have. power to return votes.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 2.] That the votes for county registers, collected and sealed up according to the law now in being, shall be returned from the several towns in each county, to the courts of general sessions of the peace in said counties, respectively, in the same manner as is provided for by this act, for the return of the votes for county treasurers. [Passed April 25, 1772. Each town to return votes for county register, to the court of general sessions.

NOTES. — There were two sessions of the General Court, this year, both held at Cambridge.

Between the date of issuing writs for the new Assembly, and the first day of the session, Gov. Hutchinson wrote to Lord Hillsborough suggesting that but for the uninterrupted practice, for eighty years, to the contrary, "it would have been well warranted and it would have strengthened Government if the Governor could have continued a House of Representatives that should be well disposed", — by omitting to issue the customary annual writs for the choice of representatives, since he could "find no Clause in the Charter which makes a new House of Representatives necessary every year."

At the first session, which began May 29th and ended July 5th, nine acts were passed, the engrossments of three of which — chapters 2, 3 and 4 — are missing. The second session began April 8th, and was dissolved April 25, 1772. During this session thirteen public acts were passed, of which none of the engrossments have been found. At this session, also, a private act was passed, the engrossment of which is preserved. It bears the following title: —

"An Act to change the Christian name of William Clark Tyler from William Clark to Royall." — [Passed April 25, 1772.

All the public acts of this year were printed.

The acts of the first session were duly certified for transmission July 9, 1771, and these, together with the Governor's letter accompanying his "remarks," and dated July 16, had been received by the Board of Trade sometime before the fifth of September, following, on which day, it appears, they were sent by the latter to the Privy Council. On the 25th, they were referred, in regular course, to a committee, and by this committee they were referred back to the Board of Trade, Oct. 4, 1771. They, together with the acts of the last session of the previous year, appear to have been read by the Board, Dec. 12, 1771, and immediately referred to Mr. Jackson, for his opinion thereon, who, on the next day, reported "I am humbly of opinion that the said Acts are proper in point of law." Mr. Jackson's report was received Dec. 18th, and was read and considered at a meeting of the Board, Feb. 27, 1772, when the draughts of a report to the lords of the committee of the Privy Council, and of a letter to Gov. Hutchinson, on chapter 25 of 1770–71, and chapter 2 of this year, were ordered to be prepared. This report of the Board of Trade, which is dated Mar. 4, 1772, concludes as follows: "We see no reason why Your Lordships may not if you think fit recommend to his Majesty, for his Majesty's Royal Confirmation such of these Laws as have not expired by their own limitation."

The acts of the second session were certified for transmission May 7, 1772, and, together with Gov. Hutchinson's letter dated May 8, which accompanied his remarks, were received by the Board of Trade on the seventeenth of June. They were read the next day, and immediately ordered to be delivered to the clerk, in waiting, of the Privy Council. On the 19th, they were referred to the committee on plantation affairs, by whom they were considered, July 1st, and, the same day, referred back to the Board of Trade. The Board of Trade received them July 6th; and, on the 29th, the order of the Privy Council referring them back, was read, and the acts, and this order, were ordered to be sent to Mr. Jackson, for his opinion thereupon. Mr. Jackson's report bears date July 14, 1772, which is fifteen days earlier than the date of the order of reference to him. There seems to be no error in this date, inasmuch as it is confirmed by the endorsement of the date of the reception of Mr. Jackson's report, by the Lords of Trade, which is July fifteenth. This report was read at the Board, March 18, 1773, when it was ordered that chapters 20 and 21 "should be taken into further consideration on Tuesday next." Accordingly, on that day, these acts were again considered, and chapters 20 and 21 specially referred to Mr. Jackson for reconsideration. This order, the letter accompanying it, and the report of Mr. Jackson, are given in full in the note to chapter 21, post.

To more effectually accomplish the purpose of the act of 1770–71, chapter 25, this act was passed, repealing all former laws relative to the holding and sitting of the Inferior Court of Common Pleas, and Court of Sessions, in Berkshire County, and establishing, for the future, the same times and places that were intended to be fixed in the act of the previous year, besides providing for an extraordinary session for the current year, at Great Barrington, on the first Tuesday of September. — See, ante, note to 1770–71, chap. 25.

The territory to which this act applies was the fourth of ten tracts or lots of the public domain, sold, June 11, 1762, and was purchased by Noah Nash, of Hatfield, for himself and his associates. Hence it derived the name, "Number Four," by which, as well as "Williamsburgh," it was known previous to its incorporation. In 1765, the Legislature ratified the proceedings of past meetings of the proprietors, and gave the latter authority to convey lands, and to take other measures looking to a speedy settlement of the lands as a township.

The petition for incorporation has disappeared from the public files; but a fuller account of previous and subsequent proceedings relating to the establishment of the town will appear in the note to 1778–79, chapter 23, post, by which its name was changed to Windsor.

To His Excellency Thomas Hutchinson Esq Governor in Chief, the Honble the Council & House of Representatives in General Court Assembled —

The Petition of the Freeholders & other Inhabitants of the Town of Boston in Town Meeting Assembled March 19, 1771 —

Humbly sheweth — That considering the many & fatal accidents that happen by the explosion of Magazines of powder in large & populous Citys your Petioners apprehend their lives and property, to be very insecure from the powder house being situate where it now is, more especially as they are informed it has at times contained several thousand, casks of gun powder

That they are apprehensive not only on account of what the Town may suffer if so terrible a Catastrophy should be realized but for the Community in general as near the whole quantity of powder in the Province would be thereby lost and perhaps at a time when we are upon the eve of a war —

Your Petitioners would therefore intreat that the Honble Court will be pleased to take this petition into their wise consideration, & order the removal of the powder of that magazine to a place or places of greater safety & as in duty bound &c —

Chap. 10. "Gentlemen of the House of Representatives —

Upon inquiry into the state of the Treasury I find there are surplusses of Funds which have been established for the payment of Sums borrowed for the charges of Government in past years and these, together with other unappropriated stock, are more than equal to the sum which is necessary to satisfy the present demands upon the Treasury and to provide for the service of the advancing year.

"Apr. 23, 1772. The Secretary went down to the House of Representatives with the following Message from his Excellency the Governor viz^{t}.

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives —

The Secretary has laid before me a Resolve of the House concurred by the Board for applying the sum of Six thousand seven hundred pounds to answer the present demands on the Treasury. There has been an Instruction from the Crown to the Governors of this Province for more than forty years, not to consent to any Resolves for supply of money for the service of the Government, but that all such supplies be made by an Act or Acts. As no possible advantage can arise to the Province by this new method of Supply, I must recommend to the House to conform to what has been the practice ever since I have had any knowledge of the public affairs of the Province. "I find upon inquiry into the state of the Treasury there are surplusses of former funds sufficient to defray the ordinary charges of Governmt at least for one year to come when they are appropriated to that purpose which I will recommend to the Assembly that I may keep off the dispute about the Tax in which the people in general are warmly though very erroneously engaged and I hope by giving them time they will grow more calm as they have done in other instances and that truth will finally prevail." — Extract from letter of Gov. Hutchinson to Lord Hillsborough, Mar. 12, 1772: "Mass. Bay, B. T.," vol. 81, O. o., 41.

This chapter, "I do not conceive to come within the spirit of His Majesty's 14th Instruction which has been construed by my predecessors to extend to such Laws as have not from time to time been continued and received His Majesty's approbation and to no other. Chap. 15. "To His Excellency Thomas Hutchinson Esqr Governor and Commander in Chief in and over his Majestys province of the Massachusetts Bay in New England The Honourable his Majestys Council and House of Representatives In general Assembly 1772 — and province aforesaid Shews That whereas a certain Branch of Piscataqua River flowing into said Kittery known by the name of Spruce Creek hath till of Late Years afforded Considerable quantities of Shad Elwives and other Small fish which after Spawning used to frequent said Creek and have been caught by the poorer Sort of people in said Kittery in the narrow Channels thereof at Low Water by small dip nets in such plenty that they were a greater part of thier Sustenance for Six Weeks at a Season of the year when other Provisions are generally Scarce But by the late Use of Seins the Number of said fish hath been gradually diminished and what hath been taken Engrossed by a few of the Richer part of the people and the poor deprived of the Supply of food they usually obtained from thence and the price raised to treble what they commonly Sold for when caught by dip nets the Scarcity and high price of said fish your Petitioners can ascribe to no other probable Cause but the novel Invention and use of said Seines which obstruct the Course of said fish up the said Creek and frighten away the multitude below. Another bad Consequence from said fish being caught by Seines is that the poor cannot advance the money necessary to purchase Seins when they can easily get dip nets, Besides the Engrossers of said fish having no Occasion to consume them in their families commonly barrel up and send them out of Town to market Wherefore your Petitioners humbly pray that the use of any Seines in said Creek for the future may be intirely prohibited in such a manner as your great Wisdom may Suggest and your Petitioners as in Duty bound shall ever pray.

"To his Excellency the Governor of the Province of the Massachusetts Bay the Honb[le] his Majestys Council for said Province & the Honb[le] House of Representatives for Said Province in general Assembly Convend the 28th Day of March 1772 —

The Petition of the Subscribers Inhabitants of the Town of Kittery in the County of York, living at and near a place in Said Town called Spruce Creek Humbly Shew —

That whereas they are Given to understand that a Petition of Some of the Inhabitants of Said Town is preferred to Your Excellency and Honours to have a Prohibition laid, on Seining of Shad and alewives in the Said Creek called Spruce Creek, upon which they would be glad to observe. that to have the Fishing in Said Creek put upon some Regulation Your Petitioners are in no manner averse — But they Humbly Concieve that to absolutely Prohibet catching the Said Fish in Scienes, and at the same time to permit the Catching of them in wares and Hedges, as the manner has been of late — would be Inequitable, as these wares and Hedges are Usually made and Continued on the Flats,or shallows, which are claimed as the Property of the Propriators of the Land Contiguous and adjoining — their being but one Small Sciene made use of by a party that has no place Conveinant to Set up a ware or Hedges for the cetching Said Fish — that the distruction of the Fish is much more made by these wares than by Seining — as they are usually kept up all the fishing Season, and take all the Fish that come within them every Tide, — whereas Seining is generally made in the middle of the River and is only occasionally done to Catch Bait to Carry on the Cod fishery — that your Petitioners cannot but be apprehensive that the Prayer of the Said Petition before Referr[d] to, notwithstanding the pretences therein made for the Public Good, is Principally intended for the Emolument of Individuals and therefore Your Petitioners Humbly hope the Prayer thereof will not be Granted —

Chap. 18. By recommendation of the king, the settlement of differences which had long existed respecting the boundary between the territories of Massachusetts Bay, New York and Connecticut, was left to the respective governments immediately interested. Commissaries appointed for that purpose, in 1768, agreeably to this recommendation (see chapter 23 of the acts of 1767-68, and the notes thereto), failed to conclude the treaty which they attempted to negotiate, and efforts were this year resumed, which resulted in a settlement of the controversy.

The letter of Governor Tryon proposing to renew negotiations, is dated "Fort George, New York 6 Novemr 1771." This was communicated to the Assembly by Governor Hutchinson on the eighth of April, 1772, and on the twenty-third of the same month, William Brattle, Joseph Hawley and John Hancock were chosen, by joint ballot, commissaries under this act. Further particulars of proceedings relating to this controversy, and its settlement, are reserved for the Appendix, of which it is proposed to devote a chapter to this subject.

And praying that they may be made a separate Precinct, or that they may be otherwise relieved.

"June 29, 1771. The following Report was offered to the Court by the Committee appointed the 12 instant, for the purpose therein mentioned viz^{t} —

The Committee to whom was referred the Petition of Benjamin Pemberton Esqr and others of the first and second Parishes in Roxbury, have considered the same together with the answers thereto; they have also fully heard the parties and now beg leave to report certain facts, the truth of which was not disputed by either of the parties. In the first place it appears that the East Parish in said Roxbury consists of 147 Families containing 287 Polls; 22 of which Polls are Episcopalians and 70, others are hired Men &c The West Parish consists of 102 Families, containing 163 polls besides 7 Families containing ten polls from Newton who attend Worship with them. The proposed new parish includes 35 Families containing 61 polls now belonging to the said West Parish 31 of which Families have desired to be set off and made a separate Parish — The said proposed new Parish also includes 23 Families containing 41 Polls from the East Parish, 6 of which Families containing 10 polls desire also to be set off; the rest, at least fifteen of the said East Parish within the proposed lines are utterly against it, as appears by a writing under their hands — There are also 20 persons who live in the middle of the West parish that have petitioned against a division, and it appears that these 20 pay more towards the parish Tax than all the rest of said Parish will do, after a division of the Parish, if that should take place.— A number of persons living in the upper part of the West Parish seemd disposed to consent to a division according to the proposed Plan — Mr Pemberton and his associates having made an offer to pay to the remaining part of said West parish five hundred pounds Sterling upon such division taking place. The number of Families, Polls &c abovementioned were taken from the rate List or state Bill for the year 1770 and includes all, whether Widows, Episcopalians, hired Servants or others liable to be taxed. Upon the whole the Committee are humbly of opinion that the said Petition be dismissed. Signed JAMES OTIS Jr^{s} Order —

In Council, Read and accepted and Ordered that the said Petition be dismissed, accordingly. In the House of Representatives, Read and Concurred." — Ibid., p. 97.

"Apr. 9, 1772. A Petition of John Barrett, Esq; and others, Overseers of the Poor of the Town of Boston, praying to be incorporated, for Reasons set forth in the Petition.

Read and Ordered, That Major Hawley, Major Godfrey and Mr. Dennie, bring in a Bill for the Purpose of the Petition."— House Journal, p. 123.

The bill of this act, as originally drawn, contained the following final section: —

"And Be it further enacted, —

That the Governor of the Province be, and he hereby is, authorized & impowerd to give a Charter of Incorporation under the provincial Seal to the Overseers of the said Town of Boston for the time being, and their successors in said office Accordingly."

This was in conformity to the precedent established by the act to incorporate the Marine Society of Boston (1753–54, chap. 16); but the Governor refused to assent to the bill unless this "clause was taken out." His reasons for this objection will appear in the note to the next chapter, the bill of which was changed in like manner.

Chapter 21 having been first reported the previous year, and forwarded by the Governor, for submission to the Privy Council, before he would give his assent thereto, the fate of the present act was made dependent upon the fate of that; and as both were considered together, by the Board of Trade and the Privy Council, their action upon chapter 20 will also appear, in full, in the next note. Furthermore, it will be there seen that, notwithstanding the omission of the clause authorizing the Governor to give a charter, he seems to have supposed that he was at liberty to "delay giving a charter until he had opportunity of knowing the King's pleasure." This may not, necessarily, have involved the claim of a right to exercise the royal prerogative notwithstanding the legislative act; for as keeper of the province seal, he might refuse to affix it to the engrossed bill, until the king's pleasure had been communicated to him. It is certain, however, that the corporators proceeded at once to organize under their respective acts, as if fully incorporated.

Chap. 21. The following extracts from the records of the Marine Society, at Salem show its condition before it was incorporated, and its organization under the charter: — attend, shall forfit and pay, the succeeding night's meeting One Shilling and Four Pence lawful money, for the use of the box; and the charge of such porter shall be paid by the society.

"LAWS

"That for establishing a marine Corporation I refused because a Bill for establishing a Society for propagating the Gospel among the Indians had lately been disallowed by His Majesty after it had received the Governor's assent one reason of which disallowance I imagined to be the tendency of such an Act to call in question the power of the Crown by the Governor to grant Charters of Incorporation without the aid of the General Assembly. I do not [doubt?] that the persons interested in the Bill would not be content with such a Charter.

I have reason to think these three Bills [i.e., the bill above mentioned, another to prevent the importation of negro slaves, and another for rendering the militia law more effectual], will be again offered to me in another Session I having intimated that I would transmit them to England to know His Majesty's pleasure concerning them." — Extract from letter of Gov. Hutchinson to Lord Hillsborough, May, 1771: "Mass. Bay, B. T.," vol. 81, O. o., 15.

"I was in doubt whether to give my assent to a Law of this nature [chapter 20, of this edition], but having sent a Copy of the next Law (Chap. 4) [chapter 21, of this edition] to England that I might know his Majesty's pleasure I conceive myself now at liberty to assent to each of them. The following observations may be worth considering before they receive his Majesty's approbation.

If there is nothing in the Constitution to abridge or restrain the Prerogative which is in the Crown of creating Corporations it may be more eligible to make them in that way than by a Legislative Act. The frequent passing such Legislative Acts will strengthen the exception that is taken to this part of the Prerogative. These Bills when they were laid before me had each of them a clause impowering the Governor to give a Charter under the Seal of the Province. I refused to assent to the Bills until the clause was taken out. I shall now delay giving a Charter with the Law to support it, until I have opportunity of knowing the King's pleasure.

It is further observable with respect to Chap. 3d that the Corporation consists of 12 persons called Overseers of the Poor who are annually elected by the Inhabitants of the Town of Boston at a Town meeting and that the sum which they may be possessed of is very large. Although I was in doubt when I gave my assent yet I considered the Bill in the same light as if there had been a suspending Clause, for it can have no great effect until His Majesty's pleasure may be known and my dissent would have stirred the ill humours of the Town of Boston without any real service arising from it." — Gov. Hutchinson to the Lords of Trade, May 8, 1772: ibid., O. o., 37.

"The Acts for incorporating the Overseers of the Poor of the Town of Boston' [chap. 20] and for 'incorporating Jonathan Gardner junr and others therein named into a Society by the name of the Marine Society at Salem' [chap. 21] though certainly proper legislative Acts are similar to some that Your Lordships and Your Predecessors have objected to in other Colonies because they were passed for a purpose which the power of the Crown was by itself competent to effect To which I beg leave however to add that the Government of the Province of the Massachusetts Bay in this respect differs from the Royal Governments, that the Governor though appointed by His Majesty nevertheless derives his power immediately from the Charter, which in many respects qualifies the power usually intrusted to his Majesty's Governors in other Colonies, besides which I observe the Act for incorporating the Overseers of the poor of the Town of Boston contains matter which the power of the Crown does not extend to." — Extract from report of R. Jackson, July 11, 1772: ibid., O. o., 65.

"Sir, I am directed by the Lords Commissioners for Trade and Plantations to send you the two inclosed Acts [Chaps 20 and 21] passed in the Province of Massachusetts Bay and to desire you will reconsider the same, and report to their Lordships your opinion, whether by the principles and provisions of the Charter of the Province of Massachusetts Bay, the power of granting Patents of Incorporation is or is not thereby vested in the General Court." — Secretary Pownall to R. Jackson, Apr. 19, 1773: ibid., vol. 86, p. 322.

"In obedience to Your Lordships commands signified to me by Mr Pownall in his Letter of the 19th April 1773 inclosing two Acts [chaps. 20 and 21] passed in the Province of the Massachusetts Bay in April 1772, Intitled,

'An Act for incorporating the Overseers of the Poor of the Town of Boston'

'An Act to incorporate Jonathan Gardner Junr and others therein named into a 'Society by the name of the Marine Society at Salem in the County of Essex in the 'Province of the Massachusetts Bay in New England' and desiring I would reconsider the same and report my Opinion whether by the Principles and Provisions of the Charter of the Province of Massachusetts Bay the power of granting Patents of Incorporation is or is not thereby vested in the General Court.

I have reconsidered the said Acts and have perused the said Charter and am of opinion that the power to incorporate, not by Patent but by Act of Legislature is vested in the General Court, under the negative of the Governor by the Principles and Provisions of the said Charter, inasmuch as the said Charter does not only grant full powers of Legislature to the General Court, of which the power to incorporate is a part, but has obviously in view the old Charter which it recites and under which this power was exercised frequently, for the constituting of Townships as it was evident it must still continue to be by somebody under the new one." — *Report of R. AN ACT IN ADDITION TO, AND EXPLANATORY OF, THE SEVERAL LAWS ALREADY MADE RELATING TO THE REMOVAL OF POOR PERSONS OUT OF THE TOWNS WHEREOF THEY ARE NOT INHABITANTS.

1766-67, chap. 17, § 1.

Recital.

WHEREAS, in and by an act made in the fourth year of the reign of their majesties, King William and Queen Mary, intituled "An Act for regulating of townships, &c.," it is, among other things, enacted, "That any persons orderly warned to depart any town whereof he is not an inhabitant, and neglecting so to do by the space of fourteen days next after such warning given, may, by warrant of the next justice of the peace, be sent and removed, from constable to constable, unto the town where he properly belongs, or had his last residence;" and, by another act, passed in the seventh year of his present majesty's reign, relative to the removal of poor persons out of the towns whereof they are not inhabitants, it is, among other things, enacted, "That when and so often as any such person or persons are to be sent or conveyed out of this province, it shall and may be lawful, for any justice of the peace of the county from whence the person or persons are to be sent or conveyed, and he is hereby impowered, to grant a warrant for sending such person or persons out of the province, either by land or water, as he shall think will be most convenient or least liable to charge;" and whereas, the courts of general sessions of the peace for several counties have lately construed the aforementioned acts in such a manner as to adjudge that the removal of any person, from the town of which he is not an inhabitant, by virtue of a warrant from a justice of the peace residing in the same town, is illegal; whereby a number of towns in the province, more especially the town of Boston, have been put to much inconvenience and charge, and the expence of the province is likely to be greatly encreased; for prevention [w][t]hereof, —

Justices empowered to remove persons.

CHAPTER 6.

AN ACT FOR INCORPORATING THE PROPRIETORS OF BOSTON PIER, OTHERWISE CALLED THE LONG WHARF, IN THE TOWN OF BOSTON.

Preamble.
5 Pick., 131.
7 Cush., 195.
3 Gray, 173.

WHEREAS the proprietors of Boston Pier, otherwise called the Long Wharf, in the town of Boston, have, by their petition preferred to the great and general court in their present session, set forth that, in the year 1715, the said wharf was, by deed under the hands and seals of the then proprietors, divided into twenty-four shares, in which deed it was, among other things, agreed to keep the said wharf in good and sufficient repair; and that, if any particular proprietor should neglect or refuse to repair their respective parts, it should be done by the proprietors' committee, and the cost and charge be deducted out of such particular proprietor's share of the common wharfage; and that, by said deed, they warranted to each proprietor his share as then allot[t]ed, "so nevertheless as always to be and continue subject to the rules and regulations for the management and improvement of the whole wharf or pier, and upholding the same in good order and repair, and in such method and manner as are already, or shall further be, agreed upon by the major part of the proprietors, and entered in their book;" that, in consequence of such agreement, the said pier or wharf has been kept in repair by the income thereof, ever since; but that, within a few years past, it was greatly gone to decay, and in danger of being utterly lost; whereupon the proprietors agreed to build a stone head, further out towards the channel, in order to secure the whole interest, which they have in a great measure effected,—the said head still lying in common and undivided; but that the cost and charge of such work will amount to much more than the income of said wharf will defr[e][a]y, or reimburse, in many years to come; and that, in consideration of the premises, the proprietors of the said wharf did, at a meeting, duly warned, on the 29th of April, 1772—at which meeting the proprietors of seventeen shares and three-quarters were present—unanimously appoint a committee to prepare and prefer a petition to the great and general court, praying that they may be incorporated, in order more effectually to transact the business of the propriety, and empowered to subject the respective interests of the several proprietors, when it shall be found necessary, for defr[e][a]ying the charges of additions or repairs, which have been or hereafter may b[e][y] voted and ordered at any legal meeting, —

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Proprietors of Boston Pier incorporated for the purposes herein mentioned.

[Sect. 1.] That the proprietors of Boston Pier, otherwise called the Long Wharf in Boston, be created, made, erected and incorporated into a body politic for the purposes hereafter mentioned, by the name of the Proprietors of Boston Pier, or the Long Wharf in the town of Boston in New England; and that they, their heirs and assigns, have a perpetual succession by the said name, and by that name may sue or be impleaded, and manage, lease, bargain, sell or otherwise dispose of such part of the said propriety, whether divided or undivided, as shall be found necessary for defr[e][a]ying the cost [of] such additions or repairs as have been already voted and ordered, or hereafter may be voted and ordered, at any meeting of the proprietors, duly warned, for transacting the business of the propriety.

Provided, —

Proprietors' interest not to be sold unless the income of the wharf is insufficient.

[Sect. 2.] That no part of the said interest shall be sold, unless the income of the said wharf shall be deem[e]d insufficient, within the course of the then current year, to defr[e][a]y the cost of the work that may have been, by the proprietors, voted and ordered to be carried on and effected.

Be it further enacted,

Twenty-four shares, only, allowed to vote.

[Sect. 3.] That there shall be no more than twenty-four votes allowed in the said propriety, agre[e]able to the number of shares into which the said wharf was originally divided, notwithstanding any after divisions of the same; and that the proprietors of at least two third parts of the whole interest shall be always present, either in person, or by proxy, to constitute any meeting for the transacting of business (the whole number being previously warned, in such manner as they may agree), and that the votes of those present shall be estimated or reckoned according to their respective shares or interests.

Two-thirds of the whole interest to be always present at the meeting.

Provided, nevertheless, —

Proviso, in case two-thirds of the proprietors should not attend upon due notice.

[Sect. 4.] That if the proprietors of two third parts of the interest shall not appear at any meeting duly notified, another meeting shall be notified for the same purpose or purposes, with intimation that, if there shall not then be a full meeting, the proprietors who may be present will proceed upon the business of the meeting; and the votes and doings of the major part of those present shall be effectual, to all intents and purposes, as if the proprietors of two third parts of the interest had been present.

And be it further enacted,

Job Prince, the proprietors' clerk, empowered to notify a meeting on the first day of August.

[SECT. 5.] That Job Prince, who, at a meeting of the proprietors on the 29th day of April last, was chosen their clerk, be and hereby is empowered and directed to notify a meeting of the said proprietors to be held, at Boston aforesaid, on the first Wednesday in August next; which notification shall be inserted in two of the Boston newspapers that are usually circulated in the province; at which meeting the proprietors may determine and vote what monies shall be raised, when the same shall be paid in, and in what way and manner the same shall be levied and collected, in order to carry on and compleat such new work and repairs as have already been, or may then be, determined and voted to be effected.

And be it further enacted,

Proprietors' interest to be sold, when the income is not sufficient to pay the expense.

[SECT. 6.] That when the income of the said wharf shall be insufficient to defr[e][a]y the expence[s] of any work or repairs, then, and not otherwise, the proprietors may subject the interest itself in said wharf to be sold for that purpose. AN ACT FOR ANNEXING CERTAIN LANDS LYING IN THE TOWN OF HARWICH, IN THE COUNTY OF BARNSTABLE, CALLED POATNAMICUT, WITH THE INHABITANTS THEREON, TO THE TOWN OF EASTHAM IN THE SAME COUNTY.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it has been represented to this court by a number of the inhabitants of that part of Harwich called Poatnamicut, that it is with great difficulty they enjoy town privileges there, and that they can more commodiously enjoy such privileges in the town of Eastham; and the said town of Harwich having consented that the inhabitants aforesaid, including the estate and dwelling-house of Eleazer Rogers, should be annexed to Eastham, and the town of Eastham has consented to receive them, —

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives.

[Sect. 1.] That all the lands in Harwich, in the county of Barnstable, called Poatna[nna][mi]cut, begin[n]ing at the north bound, at the precinct line of said Eastham; then run[n]ing, southerly, as that precinct line runs, to the road that leads from Eastham to Chatham; thence, still southerly, by said Chatham road, to a hill called Stoney Hill, a little way southward of the now dwelling-house of Jesse Rogers; thence, south-easterly, to a rock below the bank at the head of the great bay, a little to the southward of a cedar swamp, including the estate and dwelling-house of Eleazer Rogers, whether he be within said line or not; thence, from said rock, as the channel now runs, to Po[a]t[et]n[u][a]mic[a][u]t Harbour, which is another bound between Eastham and Harwich, — be and are hereby annexed to the town of Eastham, in the same county, together with all the inhabitants that now do or that shall hereafter dwell thereon, and on the said Eleazer Rogers's estate; and they hereby are and shall be subjected to do duty, and intitled to receive privilege, equal with other inhabitants of the said town of Eastham, to all intents and purposes whatsoever. Bounds of the lands in Harwich, annexed to the town of Eastham.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That the inhabitants annexed, as aforesaid, shall pay their proportion of all such province, county and town, taxes as are already set on them by the town of Harwich, and of all debts that are now due, if any, from the said town, in like manner as though this act had not been made. [Passed July 14. Inhabitants annexed, to pay their proportion of all taxes already set on Harwich.

CHAPTER 8.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO AN ACT INTITLED "AN ACT TO PREVENT FRAUD IN CORD-WOOD EXPOSED TO SALE."

Whereas in and by an act made and passed in the fourth year of her late majesty Queen Anne, intitled "An Act to prevent fraud in cord-wood exposed to sale," it is enacted "That all cord-wood exposed to sale shall be four feet long, accounting to half the carf; and the cord being well and close laid together, shall measure eight feet in length, and four feet in heig[h]th;" notwithstanding which, great frauds and abuses have for several years past, and still are, daily committed, in bringing to many towns in this province, and there exposing to sale, great quantities of firewood, commonly called cord-wood, not more than three feet, or three feet and an-half long, whereby the inhabitants of such towns, and especially the poor thereof, are greatly injured and defrauded, there being no penalty annexed by said law to such persons as are guilty of the breach thereof; for remedy whereof, and for preventing the like abuses for the future, — Preamble. 1705–6, chap. 8, § 1.

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That if any firewood, or wood designed for fewel[l], commonly called cord-wood, which be less in length than four feet, in- Wood, not four feet in length, to be forfeited.

cluding half the carf as aforesaid, shall, after the first day of August next, be brought by water into any towns of this province for sale, such wood shall be forfeited; two third parts thereof to the use of the poor of the town, and the other third part thereof to the sealer of wood who shall seize the same accordingly.

And be it further enacted,

Selectmen to appoint measurers and sealers of wood, under oath.

[SECT. 2.] That, in every town or district within this province where wood is usually sold by the cord, the selectmen shall, annually, or as occasion shall require, nominate and appoint some meet persons to by measure[r]s and sealers of wood, who shall be sworn, in like manner as other town officers, to the faithful and diligent discharge of their office; and the selectmen shall, from time to time, appoint such fees or allowance for their service as [as] they shall judge reasonable.

And be it further enacted,

Wharfinger or carter forbid to cart wood, except for their own use, that is less than four feet in length and measured by the officer, on penalty of six shillings.

[SECT. 3.] That no wharfinger or carter, shall, by himself or any for or under him, cart or carry any firewood, or wood commonly used or intended for fewel[l], from any wharf or landing-place in any town in this province, except for the proper use and consumption of such wharfinger or carter, that shall not be four feet in length, including half the carf, and until it hath been first measured by the officer appointed by the selectmen, as aforesaid, on penalty of forfeiting and paying six shillings for every load of wood so carried off; and every wharfinger shall be chargeable to the officer or person appointed to measure wood, as aforesaid, for his fees, if demanded, and be compelled by law to pay him the same.

And whereas frequent complaints are made that such of the inhabitants of the town of Boston as are poor, and usually purchase their firewood and charcoal in small quantities, are greatly defrauded in their measure, and not having the quantity bought; for preventing whereof, and for ascertaining the quantity of wood and charcoal bought, —

Be it enacted,

Carts and sleds to be marked and numbered, and registered by the town clerk.

[SECT. 4.] That each cart or sled employed by any wharfinger or common carter belonging to the town of Boston, be so marked and numbered by the sealer of wood, on some proper part of such cart or sled, as that it may thereby be known and seen what quantity of wood such cart or sled will contain and carry; and the marks and number of each cart or sled shall be registred by the town clerk of said town: and no wharfinger or carter, aforesaid, shall presume to carry any wood, unless for his own fire, in any cart or sled that shall not have been so marked, numbered and registred, and that shall not have, at the time of such carrying, the marks and number remaining visible thereon.

Provided, nevertheless, and it is the true intent and meaning of this act, —

Penalty for carting more than six feet of wood at a time, in the town of Boston.

[SECT. 5.] That when any person purchases a quantity of firewood for his own burning, and lands it [in][on] any wharf or landing besides a common wharfinger's, he may employ any cart or carts to carry off the same: saving only that such carter shall not carry within the town of Boston more than six feet at a time, under the penalty of six shillings for each offence; and no greater quantity than six feet shall, within the town of Boston, be carried at any one time; and every person offending in either of the particulars aforesaid shall forfeit and pay the sum of six shillings for each offence. And if any dispute shall arise between the buyer and seller as to the quantity of wood delivered, and the quantity bought or agreed for, and if on cording and sealing the same, at the place of delivery, it shall appear there is not the quantity of wood delivered which was bought or agreed for, the seller shall pay the buyer the costs of carting and sealing the wood the second time, as also the sum of four shillings for each offence.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 6.] That all baskets used and improved in measuring [of] charcoal brought into any town for sale, shall contain two bushels, and be of the following dimensions; viz[t]., seventeen inches and an-half deep, — measuring from the top of the basket to the highest part of the bottom, — and nineteen inches in breadth in every part thereof; and that the basket[s] be well heaped, and also be sealed by the sealer of the town where the person so using and improving the same shall usually inhabit or reside: and every person who shall measure [the] charcoal in any basket of less dimensions, or not sealed, as aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay for each offence the sum of three shillings, and the said basket shall be destroyed.

Dimensions of the baskets to be used in measuring of charcoal.

To be sealed.

Penalty, if neglected.

Provided, nevertheless, —

[Sect. 7.] That no person shall be obliged to measure charcoal where the quantity shall be agreed upon by the buyer and seller.

Proviso, in case of agreement between buyer and seller.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 8.] That the selectmen of any town where coal is usually sold, or the major part of them, be and hereby are fully empowered to appoint, as occasion shall require, such meet person as they shall judge proper, for seizing and securing all baskets improved for measuring coal, that are not of the dimensions aforementioned, and sealed as aforesaid, and prosecute such person or persons as shall be guilty of the breach of this act. All fines and forfeitures arising on the breach of this act (those forfeitures hereinbefore mentioned, which are otherwise appropriated being excepted) may be recovered by action, bill, plaint, information, or presentment of the grand jury, in any court of record, or before any of his majesty's justices of the peace, according to the nature of the offence: one moiety thereof shall be for the informer, and the other moiety for the use of the poor of the town where the offence shall be committed; saving to any person aggrieved by any judgment or sentence for a breach of this act, his right and liberty of appeal to the court, proper to try the same on appeal, in the county where the offence shall be committed. [Passed July 14.

Selectmen, empowered to appoint persons to prosecute offenders.

Forfeiture, how to be recovered.

AN ACT FOR CONFIRMING THE TITLES AND QUIETING THE POSSESSIONS OF THE PROPRIETORS OF THE TOWN OF TOWNSHEND.

Whereas the great and general court or assembly of this province, did, on the fourth day of December, 1719, grant a new township at a place called Turkey Hills, then called Northtown, now Townshend, which at that time was a frontier town, of six miles square; and said court did, on the seventh day of December, 1719, appoint and fully impower William Taylor, Samuel Thaxter, Francis Fullam, Esqrs., Capt. John Sheple and Mr. Benjamin Whittemore, a committee to allot and grant out the lands in said new town; which committee did afterwards, agreable to the order of said court, allot and grant out said new township, and make return of their proceedings into the secretary's office, as appears by the return of the committee, under

Preamble.

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Committee and proprietors' doings herein, confirmed and made valid.

That said committee's proceedings allotting out and granting said lands in said Northtown, with the records and transfers of lots in said town which were delivered up to said proprietors by order of the general court in October the 16, 1728, be and are hereby confirmed, with the said proprietors' proceedings thereon ever since; and are hereby made valid, in the law, to all intents and purposes whatsoever. AN ACT FOR INCORPORATING THE PLANTATION CALLED NARRAGANSET NUMBER ONE, IN THE COUNTY OF YORK, INTO A TOWN BY THE NAME OF BUXTON.

Preamble.

WHEREAS, it ha[s][th] been represented to this court that the plantation called Narraganset Number One, lying on the east side of Saco River, in the county of York, is competently filled with inhabitants, who labour under great difficulties and dis[couragements] [advantages] by means of their not being incorporated into a town, —

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives, Bounds of Buxton.

[SECT. 1.] That the said Narraganset Number One, bounded, southeasterly, at the heads of Bid[d]eford and Scarborough; south-westerly, by Saco River; northwesterly, by Pearsontown, so called; and northeasterly, by Gorham, — be and hereby is incorporated into a town by the name of Buxton; and that the inhabitants thereof be and hereby are invested with all the powers, privileges and immunities which the inhabitants of other towns in this province, by law, enjoy.

And be it further enacted,

Jeremiah Hill, Esq., empowered to call a meeting to choose officers.

[SECT. 2.] That Jeremiah Hill, Esq[r]., be and hereby is directed to issue his warrant to some principal inhabitant of said town, requiring him to warn the inhabitants thereof to meet at such time and place as shall be therein set forth, to chuse all such officers as towns are, by law, impowered to chuse in the month of March, annually; at which said meeting all the then present inhabitants shall be admitted to vote. AN ACT IN ADDITION TO, AND IN EXPLANATION OF, AN ACT INTITLED "AN ACT FOR INCORPORATING THE SOUTHERLY PART OF RUTLAND AND THE NORTHERLY PART OF LEICESTER, IN THE COUNTY OF WORCESTER, INTO A DISTRICT BY THE NAME OF PAXTON."

Preamble. 1764–65, chap. 18, § 1.

Whereas, in and by an [an] act made and passed in the fifth year of his present majesty's reign, intitled "An Act for incorporating the southerly part of Rutland and the northerly part of Leicester, in the county of Worcester, into a district by the name of Paxton," among other things, it is enacted that certain lands and farms, together with all the lands that lie between the said farms, be incorporated into a district, provided such lands lying between the said farms do not extend so far north as the northerly line of [the] said farms; and whereas one James Brown, at the time of [the] said acts being passed, was the owner and possessor of lands lying between the farms aforesaid, — which lands one Seth Metcalf now is, and for a long time past has been, s[ie][ei]zed and possessed of; and whereas, the town of Rutland and the said district of Paxton, have severally claimed the jurisdiction of the said Seth Metcalf and his farm, owing to their different interpretation of the act aforesaid, and have taxed his poll and estate, in all the assessments made both in the said town and district for several years past, and have obliged him to pay the same, whereby much difficulty hath arisen, and may arise hereafter, to [the] said town and district, as well as to the said Seth Metcalf; for the prevention thereof for the future, —

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

James Brown's farm, in the district of Paxton.

That the said James Brown's farm aforesaid, now owned and possessed by said Seth Metcalf, is and shall be adjudged to be within the jurisdiction of said district of Paxton, and not within the jurisdiction of Rutland; and that the said Seth Metcalf, and any other person or persons who may dwell thereon, shall, in future, do duty and be intitled to receive privilege in the said district of Paxton accordingly. AN ACT TO ENABLE THE PROVINCE TREASURER TO ISSUE HIS WARRANTS TO THE ASSESSORS OF THE SEVERAL TOWNS, DISTRICTS AND OTHER PLACES WITHIN THIS PROVINCE, AGREABLY TO THE VALUATION AND APPORTIONMENT AGREED UPON BY THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES AT THE SESSION OF THE GENERAL COURT IN MAY, ONE THOUSAND SEVEN HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-TWO.

Preamble. 1770–71, chap. 8, § 6.

Whereas, by an act of the great and general court made and passed in the eleventh year of his majesty's reign, the treasurer of the province is directed and empowered to issue forth his warrants directed to the selectmen or assessors of each town and district within this province, requiring them to assess the polls, and estates both real and personal, within their several towns and districts, for their respective parts and portions of twenty-seven thousand and five hundred pounds, in case the general court at their session in May, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-two, and some time before the twentieth day of June following, should not agree and conclude upon an act apportioning the said sum of twenty-seven thousand and five hundred pounds, — and the general court not having passed any act for that purpose; and whereas, the house of representatives have, at the present session of the general court, agreed upon and ordered a new valuation and apportionment of what each town, district and other place assessed shall pay to each thousand pounds, as recorded in the journals of the house,*—

* On the 29th of May, 1772, a committee was appointed by the House to fix the proportion which each town should pay of the tax to be assessed this year, in accordance with the provisions of the valuation act of the previous year — 1771-72, chap. 3. This committee, which was composed of representatives from all the counties, made a report on the 2d of July, which was debated on the two following days, — the House, on the last day, having resolved itself into a committee of the whole. The report of the committee of the whole, that the report of the committee on valuation be referred to the next session, was not accepted, and the report of the latter committee was further considered, July 6th, when it was rejected, and the committee, some vacancies in which were supplied, was ordered to sit again. On the 11th of July, the committee made a second report, upon which an order passed allowing the members of the committee from each county to withdraw, and report such amendments, affecting only their respective counties, as should appear to them reasonable. This was accordingly done, and after all proposed amendments had been voted upon, and the amendments that were adopted had been incorporated, the following proceedings were had: —

Preamble. 1692–93, chap. 25. 7 Mass., 54. 127 Mass., 463.

WHEREAS the ministers of the Church of England, within this province, have no power by law to join persons in marriage who do not belong to the towns in which such ministers themselves dwell, —

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Ministers of the Church of England may join persons in marriage that belong to other towns, besides that in which they reside;

[Sect. 1.] That from and after the [20th] [twentieth] day of March [1773] [one thousand seven hundred and seventy-three], it shall be lawful for any minister of the Church of England to join any person in marriage, that may lawfully enter into such a relation, who usually and frequently attend the worship of God with such minister on Lord's Days, the ministerial taxes of which persons he has a right by law to receive, although such persons do not belong to the town in which such minister himself dwells: provided, they produce a certificate to such minister of their having been published agre[e]able to the laws of this province.

[And] be it further enacted,

— may join in marriage persons that do not attend their ministry, in cases.

Preamble.

And whereas the treasurers of the counties, who, only, are appointed to sue for and recover the fine of fifty pounds forfeited by such as presume to join persons in marriage contrary to the laws of this province, have been negligent of their duty, and more effectual provision is necessary to be made, —

Be it further enacted,

[Sect. 3.] That every justice, minister, or other person, who shall solemnize marriages contrary to this or any former act, now in force, shall not only be liable to the suit or action of the parent, guardian, or others whose immediate care and government either of the parties were under at the time of such marriage, for the recovery of damages, but such parent, guardian, or others whose immediate care and government either of the parties were under, or either of the selectmen of the town where such offence may be committed, shall have, and there is hereby given them, as full and ample power to sue for and recover the fine aforesaid as the county treasurers, respectively, now have; the same to be recovered in like manner, and to be applied to the same purpose, as is by law already provided. Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives, Method for regulating executions.

CHAPTER 34.

AN ACT FOR CONFIRMING THE TITLES AND QUIETING THE POSSESSIONS OF THE PROPRIETORS OF THE TOWNS OF LUNENBURGH AND FITCHBURGH.

Preamble,

— referring to a committee of the general court, in 1719, that allotted a township called Turkey Hills, now Lunenburg and Fitchburg.

WHEREAS the great and general court or assembly of this province did, on the fourth day of Decem[be]r, seventeen hundred and nineteen, grant a new township at a place called Turkey Hills, then called Southtown, now Lunenburgh and Fitchburgh, which, at that time, was a frontier town of six miles square, and said court did, on the seventh day of December, seventeen hundred and nineteen, appoint and fully impower William Taylor, Samuel Thaxter, Francis Fullam, Esqrs., Capt. John Sheple and Mr. Benjamin Whittemore, a committee to allot and grant out the lands in said new town; which committee did afterwards, agre[e]able to the order of said court, allot and grant out said new township, and make return of their proceedings into the secretary's office, as appears by the return of the committee, under their own hands, on the proprietors' book; but the plan of each lot, with the then possessors' and proprietors' names that had the land confirmed to them, is not to be now found in the secretary's office, nor elsewhere, but is supposed to be burnt among the files when the late court-house in Boston was consumed by fire: by which means the property of some hundreds of the good people of this province is rendered precarious, as the same lands have been brought to, out of a state of nature, and been improved, between forty and fifty years, and have passed, by sales, through a great number of hands, — so that, without the interposition of this court, the present possessors, and others, are in danger of the greatest difficulties, distresses and losses, relative to their properties in said towns; for the preventing of which, —

The returns of said committee, being burnt,

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

— their proceedings confirmed.

That said committee's proceedings, in allotting out and granting said lands in said new township, — now Lunenburgh and Fitchburgh, — with the records and transfers of lots in said towns, which were delivered up to said proprietors by order of the general court, be and are hereby confirmed, with the said proprietors' proceedings thereon ever since, and are hereby made valid in law, to all intents and purposes whatsoever. [Passed February 16; published March 6, 1773.

CHAPTER 35.

AN ACT TO ENABLE THE TOWN OF WESTMINSTER TO COLLECT CERTAIN TAXES.

Whereas the general court, at their session in the year one thousand seven hundred and sixty, ordered a tax of one-half penny per acre, for four years then next ensuing, be granted upon all the lands of the non-resident proprietors of the town of Westminster, for defreying ministerial charges; and whereas the assessors of said proprietors of Westminster have made said tax, and, as has been represented to this court, have legally published the same, and some persons who were owners of said lands at said time neglect or refuse to pay the said taxes, — Preamble.

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That the selectmen of the town of Westminster for the time being, be and hereby are impowered and directed to sell so much, and no more, of the delinquent non-resident proprietors' lands as neglect or refuse to pay the tax aforesaid, as shall be sufficient to pay and satisfy said tax, and other intervening charges; they posting up a notification of the sale of the same, in some public place in the town of Westminster aforesaid, and in the shire town in the county of Worcester: and also the said selectmen shall be obliged, for the notification of the non-resident proprietors of said lands in Westminster, to adverti[z][s]e in two of the Boston newspapers, three weeks, successively, the time and place of the intended sale, three months, at least, before the said lands are sold; and it shall and may be lawful for said selectmen, at a public vendue, to sell said lands as aforesaid, and to execute an absolute deed or deeds in law for conveyance of said lands of the proprietors aforesaid, to the person or persons who will give most for the same: provided, said selectmen proceed to make such sales within three days after the time set for said sales, and shall not make any adjournment of said vendue after said three days; which deed or deeds shall be good and valid, to all intents and purposes, in the law, forever: reserving, nevertheless, to any of the said non-resident proprietors, their heirs or assigns, liberty of redemption of their lands so sold, they paying to the purchasers of said lands, or their heirs, respectively, within one year afterwards, the sum or sums for which said lands were sold, with charges of sale and charges laid out in making improvement thereon, with the further sum of twelve pounds for each hundred pounds of money produced by said sale, and, proportionably, for any other sum. Selectmen of Westminster, empowered to sell delinquent non-resident proprietors' lands. Notice of sale to be given. Liberty of redemption of lands sold.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That the said selectmen shall pay the money arising by the said sale, to the treasurer of said town for the time being; and the said treasurer is hereby directed to dispose of the same as the said town has or may direct. [Passed March 4;* published March 6, 1773. The town to dispose of the money.

"My Lords, In pursuance of Your Lordships Order of the 19th of May 1773 we have taken into our consideration an Act passed in the Province of the Massachusetts Bay in February 1773 intitled

'An Act to regulate the sale of Goods at public vendue and to limit the number of Auctioneers.'

We have also consulted Mr Jackson one of His Majesty's Counsel at Law upon the said Act who has reported to us that he is of opinion the same is expedient in all parts except that it places the power of licensing in the Selectmen when it is more fit that such power should be entrusted to His Majesty's Governor by whom it is more likely to be impartially executed.

This objection in which we concur with Mr Jackson does appear to us of so much weight against the Act in question that however expedient it may be in other particulars We are of opinion that it will be advisable for Your Lordships to recommend to His Majesty to signify His Majesty's Royal disallowance of this Act." — Lords of Trade to Lords of the Council, Mar. 3, 1774: "*Mass. Be it further enacted,

Members of the church, how to be ascertained.

[Sect. 3.] That no person shall be deemed or considered as a member of the Church of England, so as to be exempt from taxes as aforesaid, unless the minister or missionary of said church within the said town, and the church wardens, shall certify to the town clerk, or treasurer of said town, some time in the month of October, annually, that such person or persons are professed members of the Church of

Be it enacted,

CHAPTER 51.

AN ACT TO PREVENT THE DESTRUCTION OF ALEWIVES AND OTHER FISH IN IPSWICH RIVER, AND TO ENCOURAGE THE INCREASE OF THE SAME.

Preamble.

WHEREAS, heretofore, great variety of fish, particularly shad and alewives, used to pass up Ipswich River, so called, to cast their spawn in the natural ponds emptying into the same; but for a long time, excepting a few years past, the passage of the said fish up the said river, by mill-dams across the river and its branches, has been almost totally obstructed, to the great damage and distress of the inhabitants, especially the poor, of divers towns in the county of Essex and Middlesex, through which the said river and its branches run, as well as to the prejudice of the cod-fishery on the coasts of the province; and whereas the laws now in force relating to opening and keeping open passages for fish in rivers and streams, within this province, are, by experience, found to be ineffectual for opening a sufficient passage for the said fish, up the river aforesaid, —

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That the owner or owners, occupier or occupiers, of the dam across Ipswich River, commonly called Warner's mill-dam, and also the owner or owners, occupier or occupiers of the dam of Farley's Mill[s], so called, be, and they are hereby, required, henceforward, at their own cost and charge, in proportion to their several interests, to make and keep open a passage for the fish, through their respective dams, from the twenty-third day of April, to the thirteenth day of June, annually; and that the said passage be made within four feet of the northerly end of each of said dams, five feet wide, to extend from the under side of the cap-piece, which cap-piece shall be level with said dam, and as low as the upper side of the mud-sills of the same; and that, during the said time, the bottom of the said passage be covered with flat stones or gravel in such manner as that the bottom be not raised higher than the sills; and that nothing shall be kept, put or placed on the upper side of either of said dams, nor anything put or placed below either of them, within six feet of the sluice-way, on the southerly side of them, except a brace on the southerly side of each of said sluice-ways, to guard the said cap-pieces.

Passage for fish to be made, and kept open for a certain time, in Warner's and Farley's mill-dam.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That the owner or owners, occupier or occupiers of the floom at Isaac Dodge's Mills, so called, in said town, be, and they are hereby, required, henceforward, during the time aforesaid, annually, to keep open a passage, the wedth of his waste-gate, thro' the said floom, in the same manner as the proprietors of Warner's and Farley's Mills hereinbefore required and enjoined, where the waste-gate now is, on penalty that the owner or owners, occupier or occupiers, of either of the aforesaid mills, neglecting to observe the directions of this act in any of the instances before mentioned, shall, for every such offence, forfeit the sum of twenty pounds, to be recovered of them, or either of them, by action of debt in any of his majesty's courts of record proper to try the same, in the county where the offence shall be committed, to be disposed of as follows; viz[t]., one moiety to him who shall sue for the same, the other moiety to the poor of the town where the offence shall be committed.

Passage to be kept open by the proprietors of the flume at Isaac Dodge's mills in the same manner as at Warner's.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 3.] That the sluices or passages through, or by, all other mill-dams now erected, or that shall hereafter be erected, upon the said river, or by any stream or streams run[n]ing from any natural pond into the same (provided the said mill-dam be below the same ponds) shall be open, and kept open, according as is already directed by the laws of this province now in force; and that the owner or owners, occupier or occupiers, of such mill-dam shall make, maintain and keep open said sluices or passages at their own cost and charge, in the same manner as heretofore in this act is provided with regard to the passages thro'[ugh] Warner's and Farley's mill-dam, and under the same penalty for every neglect, to be recovered and disposed of in the same manner.

Sluices or passages to be kept open.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 4.] That every person who shall, after the twentieth day of April which will be in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and seventy-three, presume to take any fish of any kind, in said river, or its branches, or any of the ponds emptying themselves into the same, with seines or drag-nets of any kind, shall forfeit, for every such offence, the sum of twenty pounds, to be recovered in any of his majesty's courts of record proper to try the same; one moiety to him who shall sue for the same, the other moiety to the poor of the town where the offence shall be committed.

Fish not to be taken with drag-nets, on penalty.

And whereas it has been found by experience that saw-dust, floating in streams where fish pass, obstruct[s] their passage, —

Be it further enacted,

Saw-mills not to work during the time of keeping open the passages aforesaid, on penalty.

[SECT. 5.] That none of the saw-mills on the said river, or any of the streams run[n]ing from natural ponds into the said river, shall be suffered to go, between the last day of April and the first day of June, annually, during the continuance of this act, for cutting any wood or timber; and every owner or occupier of such mill, who, within the term aforesaid, shall use or suffer the same to be used or employed for such purpose, as aforesaid, shall incur the penalty of twenty pounds, to be recovered and disposed of in the same manner as aforesaid.

[SECT. 6.] This act to continue and be in force until the fifteenth day of April, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-six, and no longer. [Passed and published March 6, 1773.

Notes. — There were two sessions of the General Court this year. The first session, which was convened at Cambridge, May 27, was adjourned by the Governor, June 13, to meet at the court-house at Boston, on the sixteenth of the same month, where it continued until its prorogation on the fourteenth of July. The second session was held at Boston, beginning Jan. 6, 1773, and continuing there until March 6, when the Assembly was dissolved.

Twenty-five public acts and one private act were passed at the first session, the engrossments of all of which are preserved, and all were printed except the private act the title of which is as follows:—

"An Act for changing the Christian name of Willard Wheeler from Willard to William Willard." — [Passed July 14, 1772.

Twenty-seven acts were passed at the second session, of which the engrossments of the following are not in the secretary's office: chapters 28, 30, 33, 38, 39, 44, 45, 47 and 50.

The acts of the first session were duly certified for transmission, July 20, 1772. The letter of Governor Hutchinson, which accompanied the certified copies of acts and his remarks thereon, is dated Aug. 10, 1772. The remarks on each act appear in the notes to the respective chapters, given below. These papers appear to have reached the Board of Trade on the seventh of December, and to have been immediately transmitted to the Privy Council, for, on the 8th, they were referred by the latter to the committee on plantation affairs. They seem to have been returned to the Board of Trade, for, at a meeting of the Board, Dec. 10, at which the Earl of Dartmouth was present, they were read, and an order was thereupon passed that they be delivered to the clerk of the Privy Council, in waiting. They next appear in the council-chamber on Dec. 19th, when they were considered by the committee on plantation affairs, and were formally returned to the Board of Trade, where, it would seem from an endorsed memorandum, they were received the twenty-third of December. On the 25th of January the Board read the orders of the Privy Council and of its committee on plantation affairs and referred these acts to Mr. Jackson for his opinion thereon. Mr. Jackson reported, under date of March 26, 1773, that he was "humbly of opinion that the said Acts are proper in point of Law." This report and the acts were read by the Board, June 28, 1773, after which no trace of any action upon them has been discovered.

Of the acts of the second session, one — chapter 44 — was forwarded by Governor Hutchinson in advance of the general certificate. It is certified under date of March 12th, and his letter transmitting it, which is given in full in the note to that chapter, post, is dated March 26, 1773. It appears that this act was received by the Privy Council, from the Board of Trade, May 17th, and on the 19th referred back to the Board of Trade, with directions to report thereon to a committee of the Privy Council; that the Board of Trade received this order and this act, June 1, 1773, and that, on the fourteenth of June, the Board ordered the act to be referred to Mr. Jackson. On the third of March, 1774, the Board reported that they had considered the act, and had consulted with Mr. Jackson, and advised the committee to recommend to the king to signify his disallowance of it. The act was accordingly disallowed by an order in council, April 13, 1774, which is given in full in the note to that chapter, post.

All the acts of the second session, except chapter 44, were forwarded, by packet, sometime before April 17, 1773, at which date Governor Hutchinson wrote to the Lords of Trade, transmitting a duplicate copy of chapter 44 together with his remarks on all the acts of this session. The acts were received by the Board of Trade as early as the second day of June, and by them delivered to the clerk of the Privy Council, in waiting, June 26, and referred back to the Board, June 30, 1773. On the 26th of October, these acts were read at the Board, and ordered to be sent to Mr. Jackson for his opinion, who reported, on the 24th of November, on all the acts except chapters 42, 44 and 46, that he was "humbly of Opinion that the same are proper, in points of Law." His criticisms upon these excepted chapters will be found in the notes to those chapters, respectively, post. This report was received by the Board, on the same day, but seems not to have been read until Jan. 14, 1774. It was again read, together with the acts of this session, Feb. 14th, when the draughts of reports were ordered to be prepared. The draught of their report on chapter 44, which has been mentioned, is given in full in the foot-note to that chapter, ante. A second draught of a representation upon the remaining acts, was prepared, March 17th. This draught was transcribed and signed, March 21st, although the representation itself bears date ten days later. So much of it as relates to the disallowance of chapter 46 is given in the foot-note to that chapter, ante. The order in Council of June 1, 1774, disallowing that act has not been discovered.

Chap. 4. "To His Excellency Thomas Hutchinson Esq Governor in Chief, the Hon^ble the Council and House of Representatives in General Court Assembled —

The Memorial of the Selectmen of the Town of Boston Humbly sheweth — That in and by an Act passed in the 4^th. of William and Mary intitled an Act for Regulating of Townships &^c. it is among other Things Enacted 'That any Persons orderly warned to depart any Town whereof he is not an Inhabitant, and neglecting so to do by the space of fourteen Days next after such warning given, may by Warrant of the next Justice of the Peace be sent and conveyed from Constable to Constable unto the Town where he properly belongs or had his last Residence' — And by another Act passed Anno Regni Georgeii &^c. relating to the removal of Poor Persons &^c it is enacted 'That when and so often as any such Person or Persons are to be sent or conveyed out of this Province, it shall and may be lawful for any Justice of the Peace of the County from whence the Person or Persons are to be sent or conveyed, and he is hereby impowered to grant a Warrant for sending such Person or Persons out of the Province, either by Land or Water as he shall think will be most convenient, or least liable to Charge' — That in conformity to the Clauses of the above recited Acts, the Persons appointed by them to warn Strangers to depart the Town or Province, have upon such Persons refusal to depart, applyed to one or other of the Justices of this County residing in Boston for a Warrant to convey such Strangers from Constable to Constable into the Town or Province where they properly belonged, and such removals having been deemed legal the charge arising thereupon has been defreyed agreable to said Acts — But your Memorialists beg leave to Represent, that the Court of General Sessions of the Peace for this County have of late construed said Acts in a different manner, by adjudging that a removal by virtue of a Warrant from a Justice of the Peace of this Town is not a legal removal as said Justice is somewhat interested therein, and that it properly lays with one of His Majestys Justices of the Peace of a Neighbouring Town to grant said Warrant — That in consequence of this novel construction of said Acts this Town has already been put to considerable charge & difficulty, which from its peculiar situation and circumstances, and the great number of Vagrants and other poor Strangers which dayly flow in upon us, is like greatly to increase unless some relief can be afforded by the Honble Court — Your Memorialists therefore humbly pray that leave may be given to bring in a Bill explanitory of those Acts, or that you would grant such other relief as your wisdom may point out and as in duty bound &c

Chap. 6. "An incorporating Act." — Ibid.

In 1673, the Council of the colony, in anticipation of invasion by the Dutch, recommended to the consideration of the selectmen of Boston the project of building a sea-wall, or wharf, of wood and stone, from the water-battery, or "sconce," at the foot of Fort Hill, northerly, to Mr. Scarlett's, afterward Hancock's, wharf, near the foot of Fleet Street, thus inclosing the principal cove in front of the town, with a barrier against the fire-ships of the enemy. The inhabitants, having had this project submitted to them by the selectmen, at a town meeting, declined to undertake it in their corporate capacity, but voted to authorize the selectmen to dispose of the flats within the proposed wall "for the better security of the town, as they may judge best."

Accordingly, arrangements were made by the selectmen, with Captain Thomas Clarke and about forty-eight associates, by which the latter were to undertake the work, in consideration of a grant of the flats upon which the wall should stand, with the right to build wharves and warehouses from the wall for the distance of two hundred feet towards the town, and to reap the profits arising from dockage, anchorage and fishing within the inclosure, and also to enjoy, exclusively, all other incidental privileges; with a reservation, however, to the abuttors on the shore, of the right of free egress and regress, and the use of their wharves and docks; but the privilege of extending their wharves was restricted to such owners of wharves, on the cove, as should contribute towards building the wall; and the limit of such extension was fixed at a "circular line" at the distance of about one hundred feet beyond the wharves of "Governor Leverett and Mr. Alford."

The wall was to be twenty-two hundred feet in length, and to be carried up six feet in height "with all expedition," and afterwards to be raised to the height of fourteen or fifteen feet, so as to serve as a breastwork and for cannon. It was to be twenty feet wide at the top, and to be "made substantial and uniform," and to be provided with gates or gaps for the passage of vessels.

The original undertakers were joined by some sixteen other subscribers, and completed their work in about seven or eight years. In May, 1681, they were so far incorporated, as to be authorized by the Legislature to make orders or by-laws, and to appoint managers or directors, who, in turn, were empowered to hear and determine controversies among the proprietors, and to impose fines upon their members, to an amount not exceeding twenty shillings, and to sue, in the courts of Suffolk County, delinquent members, and any person who should do damage to the wall. There being no occasion to use the wall as a fortification, it fell into decay in the course of a few years.

In 1702, the General Court appointed a committee to survey, and consider the state of, this wall, or "outwharves"; but nothing was effectually done to repair the structure until 1708. In October of this year, while war was waging with the French and Indians, and shortly before preparations were begun for the projected expedition against Canada, the selectmen of Boston applied to the General Court, praying that the undertakers "be obliged forthwith to repair the wall, or to resign their right by a prefixed time," and also asking for a survey to "regulate," under the sanction of the Legislature, "and according to a true proportion," the bounds of the flats between adjacent abuttors on the cove, some of whom had extended their side bounds without converging in a radius to the curve of the shore, — thus conflicting with the claims of their neighbors, and "tending to create perpetuall jars and lawsutes." In response to this petition the General Court passed a resolve, Nov. 6, 1708, appointing the petitioners a committee, "to consider what is necessary for repairing the wall or outwharf before the Cove in Boston," and authorizing them to cause a new survey to be made of the flats, which they were to apportion, equitably, among the abuttors, but "reserving to the town that the flats that lie before their highways be continued their full breadth, to the circular line." This line they were to cause to be staked out, and to make return of their doings, at the next session of the General Court. Although the Council passed an order, in February of the next year, "for the regulation of the Cove in Boston," the House refused to concur, on the ground that "they had not now time to consider thereof"; and this seems to have been the last legislative proceeding upon this petition.

Meanwhile, proposals were made to the inhabitants of Boston, by Oliver Noyes and five associates, for building a wharf from the lower end of King Street, to low-water mark. The selectmen who were appointed a committee to consider these proposals reported, at a subsequent town meeting, that the proposed undertaking "will be the means to have the outwharves brought into good repair — the doing of which with the planting of gunns as proposed may be a great safety to this town in case of the attack of an enemy, and will be of publick and generall good to this town," provided certain conditions, specified in their report, were complied with. The inhabitants accepted this report, and authorized the selectmen to execute proper written instruments for conveying to the undertakers the flats and privileges asked for by them, which was accordingly done, May 13, 1710; and the first meeting of the proprietors was held on the 27th of June following. The proposal of the undertakers was, virtually, to extend King Street, now State Street, to low-water mark, — a distance of some sixteen hundred feet. They were to construct a sewer for part of this distance, and to leave a covered gap, beyond, for the passage of boats and lighters across the line of the wharf, all of which they were forever to maintain. The public were to enjoy, in addition to the right of way along the whole wharf, free use of the end of the wharf for "planting guns," whenever such a course should be deemed expedient. The wharf was to be carried out to a point two hundred feet beyond the circular line, by May 13th, 1714. On the 7th of April, 1715, the proprietors executed a deed of allotment of their propriety, into twenty-four shares, corresponding to portions of the wharf severally allotted to them, in two divisions, in each of which the numbers ran from 1 to 24; and this allotment continued to be the basis of apportionment until the establishment of a capital stock, divided into shares. The number of separate proprietorships in this original allotment was twenty-one.

In 1772, the holders of a majority of the shares presented to the Legislature the petition which is given in full in the supplementary note to this chapter on p. 288, post.

Chap. 25. Before the year 1761, the chief travel from the north to Salem, which was the principal seaport of Essex County, was over highways which had been laid out inland to avoid bridging or ferrying the numerous creeks and estuaries with which the sea-coast was indented. The main road from Ipswich to Boston ran, in a general south-westerly direction, through Danvers; a branch diverging at the part of Danvers now Peabody, to the town of Salem and thence to Marblehead beyond.

In 1755, some inhabitants of Danvers conceived the plan of damming the tide-water of Crane River which was the estuary that separated Skelton's Neck in Danvers from the ancient farm of Governor Endicott, in order to run grist-mills continuously through the year, and so better accommodate the farmers of several adjacent towns who had usually brought their grists to the mills of Danvers. To reach these new mills a new road was laid out from the main highway at a point remote from the centre of the town. Against this, many of the inhabitants who preferred another way from a point on the same highway nearer the centre of population, earnestly protested. The objection to the new way was as much on account of an apprehension that it would divert custom from the traders established on the old road as because it would unnecessarily increase the distance from the centre of the town to the new mills, and largely add to the town charges for maintaining highways.

After the new mills had been erected and the way thereto constructed as located, the inhabitants in that vicinity applied to the selectmen of the town for the location of a private way from the new mills across the Endicott farm to the shore of Waters's or Cowhouse River — which was another considerable estuary separating the Endicott farm on the south from the North Fields in Salem — and so across the river to the opposite shore. This location was granted under the act providing for laying out private ways (1713-14 chapter 8); but as Waters's River was a navigable stream and as the bridging of it in this manner encountered violent opposition from a large part of the inhabitants, it was deemed advisable to apply to the Court of Sessions for a new location of the way, as a public highway, from the beginning of the way laid out to the new mills, in 1755, to the dam at the mills, and thence over said dam and across the Endicott farm and the new bridge, which had been hastily erected over Waters's River, and so on to the North Bridge in Salem, following the line of the ways already laid out. A petition was accordingly presented for this purpose to the Court of Sessions at Newbury on the last Tuesday of September, 1760. A committee appointed to view the premises and report upon the necessity and convenience of the way prayed for, reported favorably, and the prayer of the petitioners, reinforced by urgent petitions from several other towns, was granted, May 22, 1761. In the mean time the inhabitants of Danvers who were opposed to the new way applied to the General Court to be relieved from the expense of maintaining this bridge and for an order to the Court of Sessions for a temporary stay of proceedings. This seems to have produced no other result than a vote by the Representatives for an order of notice on the petitioners for the way, and for a stay of proceedings until the further order of the General Court; which vote was not concurred in by the Council.

On the 9th of December, 1761, certain of the parties who had contributed to build the bridge applied to the Court of Sessions for reimbursement of the expense which they had incurred in that undertaking, over and above the subscriptions received by them, which deficiency amounted to about £125. This claim was made on the ground that the bridge had become a public highway free to all travellers, and therefore that there was no other method of securing to the builders a return of their outlay. This petition was followed by an application on behalf of the inhabitants of Danvers for relief in keeping the way and bridges in repair, and, though a committee appointed by the court reported that the county defrayed two-thirds of the expense of maintaining Lynn Bridge, and one-half the expense of maintaining Ipswich Bridge, another committee subsequently appointed did not report in favor of granting anything from the county treasury towards building this bridge, notwithstanding both committees expressed the opinion that the bridge was of public utility.

The bridge had been so slightly constructed that it was several times made impassable by storms; and, it was so badly injured by a great storm early in 1765 that it was found necessary to entirely rebuild it. Soon after this last storm a town meeting was held to consider what course the town would take in regard to rebuilding the bridge. On the 15th of January, 1766, the principal inhabitants of Danvers presented a memorial to the General Court, asking for "such relief in the premises as the equity and justice of their case calls for." A month later, notice on this memorial was ordered to be published in two of the Boston newspapers, and it came up for consideration at the following session, and, on the 13th of June, the further consideration of the subject was referred to the second Wednesday of the next session, in order that the memorialists might, in the mean time, apply to the Court of Sessions for a discontinuance of the way. In July, this court laid a fine upon the town for not repairing the bridge, and in September following, a town meeting was duly notified and held, in which twelve votes were passed, the principal purpose of which was to choose a committee to apply to the Court of Sessions for a discontinuance of the way. The committee thus chosen accordingly presented a petition, at the September term, praying for a discontinuance of the way over the bridge; but the petition was dismissed. The memorialists now renewed their application to the General Court. Their memorial was revived and recommitted, and the committee reported that the bridge should be discontinued. An order was thereupon passed that a committee of both branches repair to Danvers, view the bridge, consider the expediency of maintaining it, and how it should be supported, and report at the next May session. This committee reported, June 11, 1767, that the bridge "is of general utility and peculiarly beneficial" to certain towns and proprietors mentioned and that it ought to be kept up and maintained by a tax to be assessed one-half upon the inhabitants and proprietors of lands between Porter's Corner in Danvers and the drawbridge over the North River in Salem; one fourth part by the town of Danvers; one sixteenth part, each, by the towns of Topsfield and Wenham; and one eighth part by the town of Marblehead, and that a bill be brought in accordingly. The House refused to accept this report and passed an order that the bridge be discontinued, but the Council refused to concur in this order.

Thus the matter stood for four years, when the bridge having been damaged by another great storm the inhabitants of Danvers applied to the General Court for aid in rebuilding it. The subject was referred to a committee, April 10, 1771. No further action having been taken, the petition of the agent for the town of Danvers was, the next year, revived and recommitted, and on the 17th of April, 1772, the committee reported that a bill be brought in authorizing the collection of tolls for the maintenance of the bridge. This report was rejected, and the petition was recommitted, and a new report was made, the same day, that the bridge be discontinued. This report was also rejected, and the petitioners were granted leave to withdraw. On the fifth of June, 1772, the inhabitants of Danvers made a new application for relief, and the inhabitants of the Neck at the same time presented the following petition, which is preserved in the first volume of records of the proprietors of the Neck of Land: —

"Province of the Massachusetts Bay in New England.) To his Excellency Thos. Hutchinson Esqr. Governour of Said Province, To the Honourable his Majesties Council, & house of Representatives, in General Court Assembled, Wednesday ye Third Day of June A D 1772. —

The Petition of Benja Porter & Others, humbly Sheweth your Petitioners are Inhabitants of the South Parish in Danvers being on a Neck of Land which is the Northerly or Northeasterly Corner or Skirt of Said Parish where a Number of us were excited (Some years ago) to Settle with Just Vews to Promote our own, & the general Intrest of the Community which Purposes at first we had a Glowing Prospect fully to have answer'd, & in order to fecilitate the above Purposes & Designs it was thought propper that a Highway Should be Laid out for your Petitioners more Conveniently Passing and Repassing to & from the place of Publick Worship, in the South Parish aboves[d]. also to fecilitate the intercourse of your Petitioners & others whose buisiness frequently calls them to the Mills, in this Place with the markets of the Town of Salem, & Marblehead &c. and accordingly a Highway was some years ago Laid out by the Select Men of the Town of Danvers, & established by the Honourable Court of Sessions, & a Bridge Built over Waters's River So Call'd which has Occationed (in the Humble Opinion of your Petitioners) many needless Disputes in the Town of Danvers which Disputes have been Stired up as we conceive by some few men who Live on the old Road, in the South Parish Aboves[d]. and are concerned in the Retailing & Shop keeping Buisiness &c.and who conceit they Sell some few goods &c. the Less by Reason Some Part of the Travelling, is conveniently & Necessarily turn'd the New way and whereas the Inhabitants of the Town of Danvers by their Agent Preferred a Petition to the great & General Court, at their last Sessions Praying that the Town of Danvers may be relieved of the great Charge of Building & keeping in Repair the said way & Bridge, and as we understand the said agent urged for a Toll to be laid on said Bridge, which would be a great Burthen on your Petitioners

On the second of July, 1772, both these petitions were referred to a committee who, on the same day, reported "that the petitioners have leave to bring in a bill for the purpose of their petitions." Accordingly the present chapter was reported and passed.

This act continued in force until March 7, 1840, when it was repealed by chapter 21, of the acts of that year. In 1791 the bridge was rebuilt with stone, towards which the county contributed £170; and the highway was altered and widened in 1802.

Chap. 26. "June 24, 1772. A Petition of Jonathan Randall and five other Persons Inhabitants of Bridgwater and Braintree — Setting forth — That there has been for many Years past a dispute subsisting respecting the Line between the Counties of Suffolk and Plymouth commonly called the Colony line, and that different Lines have been established by the Superiour Court at different times, which has thrown many Families, whose Estates are bounded on that line, into great confusion. That there are two Law Suits now depending respecting the said Line & that there is no prospect of an end being put to further Suits without the interposition of this Court. And praying that a Committee may be appointed (not Inhabitants of either of the said Counties) to run the Line aforesaid and that it may, by an Act of this Court, be established.

In the House of Representatives, Read & Ordered that Colo. Walker Doctor Tufts and Captn. Greenleaf with such as the honble Board shall join be a Committee to take this Petition into consideration and report. In Council Read and Concurred and Artemas Ward & Caleb Cushing Esq^rs. are joined."— Council Records, vol. XXIX., p. 289.

"July 2, 1772. A Petition of Jonathan Thayer and others. Setting forth — That they are the owners of a great part of the Grant made by the General Court to the Town of Boston bounding Southerly on the Colony line, and the Grant made to Lieu^t. Peregrine White, by the Colony of New Plimouth, bounding Northerly on said Colony line; and, as said Grants are opposite each to the other, it is disputed by the Petitioners where said Colony line runs which divides said Grants. That said dispute has occasioned many Law Suits and two are now depending in the Superiour Court in the County of Suffolk. And praying, in order to put an end to the said dispute, that a Committee may be appointed (who are not Inhabitants of either of the Counties of Suffolk, Plymouth and Bristol) to ascertain the said line, and that it may be established by an Act or Law of the Government.

In the House of Representatives, Read and Ordered that Col^o. Walker, Doct^r. Tufts and Cap^t. Greenleaf with such as the hon^ble Board shall join be a Committee to take this Petition into Consideration and report. In Council Read & Concurred and Artemas Ward and Caleb Cushing Esq^rs. are joined." — Ibid., p. 307.

"July 7, 1772. The Committee appointed on the Petitions of Jonathan Randall & others and of Jonathan Thayer and others made the following report viz^t.

The Committee appointed to consider the petition of Jonathan Randall and others and the petition of Jonathan Thayer and others, have attended the service and fully heard the parties and are of opinion that a Committee with a skillful Surveyor be appointed to repair to Bridgwater and run the Line of New Plymouth Colony, so called, from Accord Pond to Angle Tree, and that said Committee notify all Persons whose Interest may be affected by the running of said line, by giving notice of the time and place of their Meeting for that Purpose in two of the Boston News Papers three Weeks successively, at least one Month before the time of their Meeting, and that said Committee make report of their doings thereon to this Court on the second Wednesday of the next sitting of the same. And that all Lawsuits commenced & now depending by reason of the uncertainty of said line be staid in the mean time. — All which is humbly submitted —

ARTEMAS WARD Ch^n. Order

In Council, Read and accepted and thereupon Ordered that Artemas Ward Esq^r. with such as the Hon^ble House shall join be a Committee for the purposes therein mentioned, to make report of their proceedings to this Court on the second Wednesday of the next Session for their consideration; And that all Law suits commenced and now depending by reason of the uncertainty of s^d. line be staid in the mean time. In the House of Representatives, Read & Concurred & Col^o. Whitcomb and Maj^r. Fuller are joined.

In Council. Ordered that John Child jun^r. of Holden, & in case he cannot attend then Daniel Clap of Rutland be the Surveyor for the purpose abovementioned. In the House of Representatives, Read & Concurred. Consented to by the Governor." — Ibid., p. 310

"Jan. 14, 1773. The following Report was made by the Committee appointed for the purpose therein mentioned viz^t —

The Committee appointed by this Court the last Session to run the line from Accord Pond to Angle tree, have attended that service, having first duly notified all parties concerned of the time and place of meeting, proceeded to Hingham at the time appointed with M^r. John Child the Surveyor appointed by this Court to run said line and there heard the parties: Then your Committee repaired to a monument of Stones standing on the westerly side of said Pond nearly opposite to the center thereof, which monument all parties agreed to be the monument from which your Committee should take their departure; that being done your Committee agreed to run a certain point, namely, West twenty two degrees and an half South to the Bay Road so called in Bridgwater, which point they run, measuring at certain stations the distances they run from the line made by Col^o. Thaxter and Cap^t. Thomson in seventeen hundred and thirteen and the distance from the Line made by Col^o. Thaxter in seventeen hundred and twenty five; When your Committee had run to the Bay Road aforesaid, they rode to the Tree called Angle Tree standing between Attleborough and Wrentham, which Tree was the only tree any person would undertake to shew to your Committee as Angle tree. From which Tree your Committee agreed and run East twenty degrees and a quarter north down to the Bay Road aforesaid, observing the distance they run from sundry monuments said to be made by Col^o. Thaxter and Cap^t. Thomson in the line run in seventeen hundred and thirteen. By means of which your Committee find to run from the Monument aforesaid at Accord pond West twenty degrees and an half South will lead on to many of the bounds said to be made by Col^o. Thaxter and Cap^t. Thomson on the line run in the year Seventeen hundred and thirteen and strike the Tree aforesaid called Angle tree. And your Committee are of opinion that the return of the doings of the Committee in the year sixteen hundred and sixty-four is vague and uncertain, and that the line run in Seventeen hundred & twenty five is inconsistent, And your Committee are further of the opinion the line run in the year Seventeen hundred and thirteen is the only line that has been properly run out and marked — All which is humbly submitted.

ARTEMAS WARD Ch^n. Order

In Council. The aforewritten Report being read, Ordered that James Otis, Walter Spooner and Caleb Cushing Esq^rs. with such as may be joined by the hon^ble House be a Committee to take the same into consideration hear the parties, who are now attending for that purpose and report what they think proper this Court should do thereon.

In the House of Representatives, Read and noncurred and Resolved that the consideration of the aforewritten report be referred to Wednesday the 27 instant at eleven o'Cclock A M, the parties then to be heard in person or by Council before the whole Court upon the subject matter of said Report. In Council, Read and Concurred, Consented to by the Governor." — Ibid., p. 378.

"Jan. 27, 1773. William Brattle Esq^r. from the Board went down to the House of Representatives with a Message proposing that the hearing which was to have been on this day upon the Petition of Jonathan Thayer and others and the Petition of Jonathan Randall and others be postponed to Wednesday the 10th day of February next, if the General Court be then sitting, if not, to the second Wednesday of the next Session of the General Court.

Mr. Hancock from the House of Representatives came up to the Board with a Message to acquaint them that the House agreed to their proposal. — Ibid., p. 419.

"Feb. 9, 1773. In the House of Representatives. Resolved that the hearing before this Court on the Petitions of Jonathan Thayer and others and Jonathan Randall and others which was to have been had on the morrow, be referred till Wednesday the 16 instant, if this Court shall then be sitting, otherwise till the second Wednesday of the next sitting of the General Court, by reason of the indisposition of the Counsel of one of the parties. In Council, Read and Concurred Consented to by the Governor." — Ibid., p. 473.

"Feb. 19, 1773. The following Order passed on the Report of Artemas Ward Esqr. and others of runing the line from Accord pond to Angle Tree vizt.

In Council. A hearing being had on the subject matter of the foregoing report, Ordered that William Brattle, James Otis and Samuel Dexter Esqrs. with such as the honble House may join be a Committee to consider and report what they may judge proper for this Court further to do thereon. In the House of Representatives, Read and Concurred, and Colo. Gilbert Mr. Bridgham, Capt. Greenleaf and Dr. Holton are joined.

In Council. Ordered that Caleb Cushing Esqr. be of the Committee in the room of William Brattle Esqr. who is absent. In the House of Representatives, Read and Concurred." — Ibid., p. 507.

The next proceeding in this matter was an order of the House, on the 24th of February, to request the Council to send down the petitions of Randall and Thayer, and the accompanying papers, which was accordingly done the same day; and, on the 3rd of March, the bill of this act was read in the House and referred to a committee, and two days later passed to be enacted there.

"This Act was intended to set aside Orders of the General Court which had been construed in the Courts of Judicature, to determine both Property and Jurisdiction, and as first drawn it not only declared, that this Act, nor no former Order of the General Court should affect Property bounded upon the line, between the two Colonies, but it finally passed in this form, and now extends to those former Orders, no farther, than they respected Jurisdiction." — Gov. Hutchinson to the Lords of Trade, Apr. 17, 1773: "Mass. Bay, B. T.," vol. 82, P. p , 14.

Chap. 27. "Boston ss, To the Honble. His Majestys Justices of the peace within the Town of Boston, and the Gentlemen Selectmen of said Town. —

The petition of Subscribers freeholders & Inhabitants of said Town of Boston. —

Sheweth,

That by the late great Fire which happened in Boston on the third day of February Current most of the dwelling houses and Buildings in Paddys Alley so called were Consumed, as also several other houses, whereby the lands whereon they stood are become void, and vacant, that said lane was very narrow, but from its situation was extremely beneficial and useful to the Inhabitants, great numbers of whom were necessarily obliged to pass and Repass the same every day, there being scarce any street in Town more improved by the Inhabitants then this lane was, that it is still absolutely necessary to have a street or passage way there, otherwise such of the Inhabitants who were burnt out but are still able to Rebuild will not do it, and as the greatest part of the lands from Middle street to Ann street are by this fire become vacant, a very Commodious street may be laid out, Your petitioners therefore pray your Honors to take the premisses into your immediate consideration and that you will take such Methods in laying out a street there, as the Law of the province directs and Impowers your honors in such Cases to do, and that you'l please to do it as soon as may be for that the season of the year for Rebuilding is now advancing fast, and a delay herein may be very prejudicial to those who intend to rebuild. —

And your petitioners shall ever pray &c. —

"The Justices of Peace for the County of Suffolk dwelling in Boston in the said County and the Selectmen of said Town having received a Petition from a considerable number of the Inhabitants thereof, setting forth — That the greatest part of the Lands from Middle Street to Ann Street are by the Fire which happened in Boston on the third Day of February 1767. become desolate & vacant — that Paddys Alley so called which runs through those Lands, tho'. very narrow, was from its situation extremely beneficial and useful to the sd. Inhabitants there being scarce any Street in Town more improved by them than said Alley was, and that it is still absolutely necesary to have a Way there — therefore praying that they would take the Premisses into consideration, and lay out a commodious Street there, whereby such of the Inhabitants aforesaid as were burnt out, but are still able may be encouraged to Re-build —

And we have laid & set off all the Lands of every Person whomsoever included & falling within the Lines & Boundaries afores[d] into the same new Street which is particularly represented & delineated in the foregoing Plan to remain & continue a part and parcel thereof for ever — In Witness whereof we hereto set our Hand, this 16th Day of April Anno Domini 1767 —

"To His Excellency Thomas Hutchinson Esqr Governor and Commander in chief in and over His Majestys province of the Massachusetts Bay in New England; To The Honourable His Majestys Council; and To The Honorable House of Representatives in General Court Assembled February the 11th 1773.

The petition of Andrew Tyler of Dedham in said province Clerk, Executor to the last Will and Testament of Mrs Meriam Tyler late of Boston Widow deced, for and in behalf of himself and the other Heirs to the said Meriam Tyler Humbly sheweth

That the said Meriam Tyler died possess'd of a large Brick dwelling House with the Land adjoining situate in Ann Street in said Boston, Butting Easterly on said Ann Street, Southerly on Paddys Alley so call'd, Westerly on Land now or late belonging to Wm Scott, and Northerly on Land of Jonathan Williams. Your petitioner further sheweth that in the Fire which happened in February 1767 Sundry Houses were Burnt in said Alley, and the House and Fence of the said Meriam Tyler was damaged, in consequence of which the then Select Men with the Justices of said Boston Widened the said Alley, runing a Line through the said Meriam Tylers Land which takes off almost the whole thereof to the very great detriment and near total destruction of said Estate, in such manner as to lay near all the back part of said large House open to said Alley which renders it in a manner uninhabitable. Your petitioner further sheweth that he hath applied to the present Gentlemen Select Men of said Boston for Redress and they are pleas'd to say that the said Line so run as aforesaid is a very great hardship on your petitioner and the other heirs, and is of little or no benefit to the Town or the Abutters, inasmuch as the said Alley in that part is much wider than it is or can be in many other parts, especially at the entrance on said Ann Street where the Ell part of said House leaves an opening of only Five or Six feet into the said Alley: the said Select Men further say that were they impowered they should be dispos'd to run the said Line anew, to the relief of your petitioner and more to the advantage of said Town and all concern'd provided your petitioner will consent to the taking down the said Ell part of the House. Your petitioner further sheweth that he will consent to the taking down said Ell part of the House provided the Line be run from the Southeast corner of the Main House so as to make said Alley of equal wedth from Front to Rear of said Land; and provided that he be paid for the said Ell part of the House and the Land that shall be then taken from it, as the same shall be apprais'd by a Jury agreable to the Law of the province in that case provided, consideration also being had to the Repairs that will in that case become necessary on that side of the said House from which the said Ell part shall be so taken. Your petitioner further sheweth that the Lands taken into said Alley as aforesaid have not yet been apprais'd as the Law directs so that the difficulty of altering on that Account is obviated.

Your petitioner Therefore prays, That your Excellency and Honours will empower the said Select Men or other persons to make such alterations in said Alley as shall seem meet to them; or Grant him and the other heirs such Relief as in your known Wisdom and goodness you shall think fit; And Your petitioner as in Duty bound shall ever pray

Chap. 30. The petition of Benjamin Beal and others, which appears in the note to 1768, chapter 5, ante, was sent to the printers inadvertently. The proceedings upon that petition were as follows: —

"Feb. 5, 1773. A Bill for making Provision for assessing and collecting Monies on Lands of the Proprietors of Ashfield. Read with Amendments, and pass'd to be engross'd."— Ibid., p. 210.

The disallowance of the act of 1768, which rendered further proceedings upon the petition of Beal and others unnecessary, still further complicated the difficulties involved in the attempt to deal unjustly with the Baptists by obliging them to contribute to the support of a ministry chosen by a minority of the proprietors of Ashfield, and made it incumbent upon the Legislature to provide some relief both for the Orthodox and the Baptists of that unfortunate town. One measure of relief was the present chapter. The Governor having refused to assent to an act confirming the titles of lands sold for the payment of taxes, which was passed to be enacted July 13, 1772, a more equitable arrangement was finally reached by resolves which will appear in the note to the act of 1773-74, chapter 24, post. The act last mentioned supplied some defects in the present act and was the last important step in the progress of the Baptists towards the enjoyment of equal religious privileges with their Orthodox brethren.

The next proceeding that has been discovered of record is the following. The petitions referred to have not been found: —

"Jan. 15, 1773. A Petition of David Ingersol, Esq; and others, Inhabitants of Part of Great Barrington, praying to be incorporated into a seperate District. As also the Petition of a Number of others, lying without the said Town of Great Barrington, praying to be set off with them. A bill for incorporating the west part of the town of Great Barrington into a separate district was read a first time, Jan. 18; read a second time, and committed to Mr. Ingersoll and Mr. Pickering, for amendment, Jan. 20; read a third time, and recommitted, Jan. 22. In the Council it was read twice and passed to be engrossed, Jan. 23. The engrossed bill was brought down to the House, Jan. 25, by Samuel Dexter, with a proposed amendment which was not agreed to, and another amendment was offered by the House. There is no record in the House Journals of the passage of the bill to be enacted, which fact however is recited in the vote of Council of Feb. 2, concurring therein.

Chap. 42. "This Act had passed the Representatives, and a Reduction had been made of several of the Fees of Justices of the peace, Clerks of the Courts &c, and the Fees of Grand and Petit Jurors had been increased but upon its being intimated that the Governor would refuse his Assent, to such a Bill, the Consequence of which, would be, that a standing Law, passed in the fourth year of King William and Queen Mary, which had for divers years past been suspended, by temporary Acts would take place, in which Case the Fees of all Officers would be much higher than at present for this reason alone it was determined to amend the Bill in the House and to make the Fees, the same, as in the last Act, only increasing those to Jurors. The Fees are now the same, as in the former Act, except in one Instance, to the Clerks of the Inferior Courts, and this Variance was occasioned by inattention, in comparing the Bill with the former Act."— *Gov. "Jan. 22, 1776. In the House of Representatives — Whereas a Certain Act entitled an Act for establishing and regulating the Fees of the several Officers within this Province hereafter mentioned, made and passed at the Session of the Great & General Court of this Colony, begun & held at Boston in the County of Suffolk upon Wednesday the sixth day of January 1773, expir'd on the last day of October last, and at present there is no Act or law of this Colony now in force, for establishing and regulating the Fees of the several Officers in the said Act mentioned, excepting a Certain Act made and passed in the fourth Year of the Reign of William and Mary — King and Queen — intitled an Act for regulating Fees; which last mentioned Act, has by divers temporary Acts from time to time been supperceeded and suspended as insalutary, and the fees thereby settled and established appear to be in many Instances extravagant and unreasonable.—

It is therefore Resolved that henceforward, until the further Order of the General Court — it shall be lawful for all Officers named and mentioned in the Act first abovementioned to take and recieve for the several services therein specified, such and no higher fees, than the fees or sums of money specified in the said first mentioned Act, and be subject to the pains and penalties there provided for Offences against the same.— In Council Read & Concurred. "My Lords, As the several Laws which have passed the last Session of the Assembly will make a very bulky Pacquet, I doubt the expediency of sending them by way of Jersey if a Vessel now bound there should be delayed until they can be prepared, but as I thought one of them not altogether unexceptionable I therefore transmit it by the first opportunity that if His Majesty shall not think fit to allow it I may have the earliest notice of the disallowance. It is intitled An Act to regulate the sale of Goods at Publick Vendue and to limit the number of Auctioneers. The preamble I believe is true and it shews the necessity of a regulation and all my difficulty arose from the power of licensing being given to the Select Men of the several Towns which I think ought to have been given to the Governor or to the Governor with the advice of Council, as I believe the practice has been in some of the other Colonies. This was moved by some in Council but did not obtain. By giving my assent a stop will be put to great abuses from a number of auctioneers now in the Town of Boston under no regulation or restraint and if the objection which I have mentioned shall be judged sufficient to hinder the Royal allowance or approbation and I am enabled to give the reason of the disallowance, there will be a greater probability of a more proper provision in another Session than there would have been if I had refused my assent and I think little or no inconvenience can arise from the continuance of the Act in force a few months only.

Any permanent additional powers to the Select Men of Towns I conceive cannot be for His Majesty's service nor for the true interest of the Province."— Gov. Hutchinson to the Lords of Trade, Mar. 26, 1773: "Mass. Bay, B.T.," vol. 82. P.p., 8.

After careful search no entry of the order in council disallowing this act has been found in the Privy Council register, although the adoption of such an order appears certain, not only from the endorsement of the fact upon the copy of the act lodged with the Board of Trade, but by the following letter from Dartmouth to Gage, and the proclamation which Gage thereupon caused to be published, and which is given below: —

Chap. 51. "To his Excellency the Governour, the honourable his Majesty's Council, & the honourable House of Representatives of the Province of the Massachusetts-Bay, in General Court assembled, the 6th of January 1773 —

The Petition of the Subscribers hereto Humbly sheweth,

That the Great & General Court of the said Province at their Session in May 1769 passed an Act, entitled 'An Act to prevent the Destruction of Alewives & other Fish in Ipswich River, & to encourage the Increase of the same'; setting forth in the Preamble of it that heretofore great Variety of Fish, particularly Salmon, Bass, Shad & Alewives used to pass up said River to cast their Spawn in the natural Ponds emptying into the same, but that the Passages for them had been almost totally obstructed by Mill-Dams across the said River & its Branches: and therein made Provision for opening proper Passages to renew the Course of said Fish up said River. Which Act has been already found to answer, in a great Measure, the End for which it was made; very considerable Numbers of Alewives having been since observed to pass up the Branch of said River leading into Middleton Pond to cast their Spawn, & innumerable Multitudes of the young Fry to pass down. Many of the young Fry have also been seen passing down from other Ponds into which a few Alewives have been put at the Time of spawning; particularly from the Ponds in Danvers, Topsfield, & Wilmington. And their Numbers will most assuredly be increasing annually, if the Passages for them are kept open agreeably to the Provisions of said Act. The Cod-fish also & Haddock have been taken in the Bay in much greater Plenty than before the passing the said Act; this many of us can testify of our own Knowledge, & others of us believe from well-grounded Reports.—

Wherefore your Petitioners pray your Excellency & Honours that it may be enacted that the said Act, which was to be in Force no longer than till the fifteenth day of April next, may be made perpetual; or otherwise continued in Force for six or nine Years longer: By which Time your Petitioners apprehend it will be abundantly manifest that the giving the Fish a free Course in said River & its Branches must prove of vast utility to the Publick, & be particularly beneficial to the Inhabitants of the County of Essex. Or if your Petitioners should, contrary to former well-attested Facts, or more recent Experience, & the Nature of Things, be disappointed in their reasonable Expectations: Yet they cannot but think it well deserving of a further Trial: And less than six Years more they are clearly of Opinion will not be sufficient to ascertain the Point in Question.

The Reason of your Petitioners' requesting a Continuance of the Act for so long Time is — That from the best Observations which have been made, it is supposed the Alewives will not enter & frequent any Pond unless they are first carried & put into it; and that the young Fry after going down to the Sea, do not return under three Years.

Your Petitioners also beg Leave to mention to your Excellency & Honours, that some of them have seen, & others of them been credibly informed that some Works have been erected at Warners Mill-Dam in said Ipswich, about the Fish-Passage, whereby it is apprehended the Fish are obstructed, because they have thereby to struggle against the Violence of the Stream for a Length of about thirty Feet, when as the proper, original Thickness of the Dam is but about fifteen Feet: Which Works your Petitioners apprehend it necessary to have, & pray that they may be, removed: And that nothing be suffered to be put within four Feet of the southern Side of said Passage, either on the upper or lower Side of said Dam, (or of any other Dams on said River) higher than the Mud-Sill; except a Brace from the Cap-Piece to secure the Dam. And also that some further Provision may be made to secure to the Fish a Passage down to the Sea.

Notwithstanding the Committees of the Towns of Topsfield & Boxford have consulted with the Proprietors of the Mill-Dams across said River in the Town of Ipswich, & a Majority of those Committees consented to the Terms proposed among them respecting the Fish Passages in s^{d} Dams, as tho' an Act framed according to those Terms would be sufficient; yet your Petitioners are of Opinion that nothing materially short of the Provisions of the Act already made will effectually secure to the Fish a free & sufficient Passage thro' said Dams. Wherefore your Petitioners, as before, pray the same Act may be continued in Force."— Mass. Archives, vol. 87, p. 552.

"To His Excleney Thomas Hutchinson Esq^{r}. the Hon'b^{le} His Majesty's Council and House of Representatives of the Massachu^{tts}. Bay in General Court Assembled this 6th Day of Jan^{y}; A D. 1773.

The Memorial of the Town of Ipswich Most Humbly Sheweth

That this Great & Hon^{ble} Court were pleas'd to pass an Act Intituled an Act to prevent the Destruction of Alewives and other Fish in Ipswich River, which Act took place the 20th Day of April 1770 & was to Continue untill the 20th day of April 1773: Among other things it is thereon Enacted, that the Proprietors of the three dams Across the river within this Town Should Open Passages ther'o their respective dams six feet wide and to Extend from the Top of s^{d} dams, down to the mud sell, for the space of Fifty five days: & the saw Mills Situate at s^{d} dams, were Ordered to Stand still the same space of time, by reason whereof: your Memorialists from time to time have Suffered very Considerable Damage — Yet as they were sensible of the Importance of preserving and Encouraging Fish; were Content to undergo the disadvantages arising from said Act, in hopes it would have answer'd the desired Effect.— And Although we find little or no Alteration as to the Increasing of Fish in this River since the passing the said Act: Yet being Willing that every thing should be done that was Necessary for the fish to have a passage up the said River: This Town thought it prudent to Appoint a Committee to take this Matter into consideration Who having View'd the several Mills after deliberate & Mature Advisement made their report to this Town which was Unanimously Accepted by them and as this report is Agreeable to the Sentiments of the Town — They Therefore Most Humbly Pray your Excleney & Hon^{rs}; that an Act or Law of this Province may be made confor^{ble}, to the said report as they are fully satisfied it will Answer all the Ends propos'd without Distressing the Inhabitants of this Town — and as in Duty Bound your Memorialists will Ever pray —

In the name and by order of the Town —

DAN^{L} ROGERS To^{n} Clerk."— Ibid., p. 559.

The following is the report referred to in the foregoing memorial: —

"The Committee appointed by the Town of Ipswich the 28th of December last, to take under Consideration the Fish Ways in Ipswich River, having viewed the several Dams, & Passages for Fish, beg leave to Report. —

That, whereas the great & general Court past an Act intitled an Act to prevent the Destruction of Alewives, & other Fish in Ipswich River, and among other Things, it is enacted, that the Proprietors of Warner's & Farley's Mill-Dam shall keep a Passage through their respective Dams, six Feet wide, to extend from the Top of said Dams as low as the Mud-Sell, from the twentieth Day of April to the fifteenth Day of June in Order for a Passage for said Fish; which is a very great Damage to the Town of Ipswich as well as to the Proprietors of s^{d} Mills, as by far the greatest Part of the Town are dependent on these Mills to grind their Grain, and although by Reason of its being wet Seasons for three years, past, we have not greatly suffered, yet should it be so dry in that season of the year as it often is, the Mills could not possibly go to any Effect. — It is also a great Damage to the Proprietors of the Mills, as the cutting off the Cap of the Dams weakens them to a great Degree, and both Warners and Farley's Dams have been greatly damaged by it, and it is evident to us that the Cap remaining can be no Obstruction to the Fish, and the Passages being six Feet, is not only a needless Waste of Water, but in our Opinion is a real Disadvantage to the Fish going thro'; and would propose that the Ways thro' said Dams extend from the lower side of the Caps of s^{d} Dams to the mud Sells, and but three feet wide so as to leave half of the former Gate for an Eddy at the Entrance of the Passage, which we conceive to be of great Service to assist the Fish in going up. —

And as it is further enacted in the afore-said Act, That the Floom at Choate's Mill (so called) be six feet wide in the same Manner as at Warner & Farley Mill where the waste Gate now is. — But as the Dam across the main River at these Mills is almost entirely formed by Nature being a gradual Ascent of Rocks, & more than twenty Feet of it nothing but a Mud-Sell let into the Rocks for the Convenience of putting up Plank to raise the Water in a dry Time, by the Salt Water which flows over this Dam about one foot & an half in a Common Tide; It is therefore very evident to us that there not the least Necessity for any Passage at this Gate, as there is nothing in Nature to obstruct the Fish from going over this Dam, and is their natural Course, but we would enjoin it upon the Proprietors of this Dam not to put up any Thing on said Dam during the Time that shall be allowed for the fish to run. —

And as it is further enacted in the above recited Act, that the Saw Mills standing on said Ipswich River shall not be suffered to go during the Term aforesaid. — We would beg Leave to observe that the saw Mills in the River within the Bounds of Ipswich are very peculiarly situated, viz, Those at Warner's & Farley's Dam being on the opposite Side of the River where the Passage is cut thro' for Fish, and the Flooms of said Saw-Mills tending towards the Shore doth in a great Measure prevent the saw Dust from floating to the other side of the River, where the Fish naturally go, and the River at the Tales of those Mills is 160 Feet wide. And that saw Mill at the lower Falls is a considerable Distance from the main River where the Fish naturally go, and the Floom at this Saw Mill is 200 Feet from the opposite side, and leads into a large Cove where the saw Dust lodges intirely free from the main Current of the River: — We would further observe that from the best Information we can obtain there never was any Objection to the Saw Mills going 'till the late Act referred to above: And now notwithstanding the Proprietors have strictly adhered to the Law and the Mills have stood Still during the Term afore-said for three years Successively, yet there is few or no Fish gone up this River as we can learn, and added to the other Reasons that have been given that the Saw Mills may go, we would Observe, that these Mills are often stop'd in the Winter by the Ice, and the Season of the Year that they are stop'd by this Act, is the Principal Time for them to be improved, and the greatest Part of the Town are dependent on the said Saw Mills for their Boards, Rails &c, and some Instances can be produced where People could not till so much of their Ground as was necessary for them to do, for want of fencing Stuff, wholly by Reason of the Saw Mills standing still; wherefore we would propose, which is of greatest Importance to the Publick, the Improvement of those Mills, or the Damage arising from the bare Possibility of the Saw Dust obstructing the Fish: — On the whole we are of Opinion that there is no Necessity for the Saw Mills standing still any Part of the Time described in the Act referred to above. —

We would also further Observe that from the best Intelligence we can get, that the alewives are never known to run for more than thirty Days together in one River, Wherefore we think that the Time for the Passage to be kept open is longer than is any ways needfull

"Jan. 21, 1773. A Petition of Caleb Warner and others, owners of Mills in Ipswich in the County of Essex — Setting forth — That the Act passed by the General Court at their Session in May 1769 requiring them to keep open a passage in the Mill dams for the Fish to pass up Ipswich River into the Ponds to Spawn, has occasioned great loss and damage to them, and that no profit or advantage has arisen to any one Town thereby. And, as the said Act is near expiring, praying that no other Act touching the said Fish way may pass, but what is conformable to an agreement lately made with the Committees of the several Towns concerned in the Fish.

In the House of Representatives — Read and Ordered that Major Fuller Colo. Gerrish and Capt. Barney with such as the honble Board shall join, be a Committee to take this Petition and all the papers relating thereto into consideration vizt. the Petition of Benjamin Pickman Esqr. and others, the Petition of Robert Hooper Esqr. and others, the Memorial of the Town of Ipswich.

In Council, Read and Concurred, and William Brattle & Samuel Phillips Esqrs. are joined." — Council Records, vol. XXIX., p. 395.

On the 18th of February this committee reported to the Council a bill to prevent the destruction of alewives and other fish in Ipswich River, which was refused an engrossment, and an order was passed for the appointment of a committee to bring in a bill for continuing the act of 1769-70, chapter 6. The House refused to concur in this order; but, after a delay of nearly two weeks, appointed a committee to bring in a bill for continuing the said act, for one year. The committee immediately brought in a bill substantially agreeing with the bill reported Feb. 18, whereupon, on the fifth of March, the House reconsidered its vote for reviving the act of 1769, and granted leave for the introduction of the bill last reported, which was passed to be enacted on the same day.

"A Law to prevent Obstructions for the Passage of Fish." — Gov. Hutchinson to the Lords of Trade, Apr. 17, 1773: "Mass. Bay, B. T.," vol. 82, P. p., 14.

Chap. 52. "The several Acts revived by this Law have already received his Majesty's allowance, and most of them have been, in force many years. The Practice of reviving a great number of Laws by one Act, has long prevailed. It is liable to this Inconvenience that any part of an Act which may be exceptionable, cannot be disapproved by the King, without disapproving the whole, which might distress the Province. If exception be taken to any temporary Law, it therefore seems to be convenient, that previous to the expiration of it, the Governor should be instructed, not to assent to the Revival." — Ibid.

Supplementary note to chapter 6. — In answer to the following petition, the bill of this chapter was read a first time in the House, June 18th, and passed the usual stages, to enactment, without opposition:

"To his Excellency Thomas Hutchinson Esq^r. Governor & Commander in chief of his Majestys Province of Massachusetts Bay in New England, the hon^ble his Majestys Council, and the hon^ble House of Representatives in General Court assembled the 27^th day of May 1772 —

Humbly Shew your Petitioners, Subscribers hereunto, That they were unanimously appointed a Committee by the Proprietors of Boston Pier, or long Wharf so called in Boston at their Meeting on the 29^th day of April last, at which Meeting the Proprietors of Seventeen Shares & Three Quarters were present, to prepare & prefer a Petition to this hon^ble 'Court, praying that the said Proprietors may be incorporated in order more effec-'tually to transact the business of the Propriety, and impowered to subject the respective 'Interests of the several Proprietors to the disposal of the Proprietors by their Votes at 'any legal Meeting duly notified for the Purpose, when it shall be found necessary in 'order to make good the Engagements of the Proprietors for defreying the Charges of 'Addition or Repairs which have been, or hereafter may be Voted and Ordered at any 'legal Meeting.'

Your Petitioners therefore beg leave to represent to Your Excellency & Honours That in the Year 1715 The said Wharf was by deed under the hands & Seals of the then Proprietors divided into twenty four Shares, in which deed it was among other things agreed to keep the said Wharf in good & sufficient repair: and that if any particular Proprietor should neglect or refuse to repair their respective parts, it should be done by the Proprietors Committee, and the cost & charge be deducted out of such particular Proprietors share of the common wharfage, and that by said deed they warranted to each Proprietor his share as then allotted 'so nevertheless as always to be and continue subject to the 'Rules & Regulations for the management & improvement of the whole wharf or pier, 'and upholding the same in good order & repair, and in such methods and manner as are 'already or shall further be agreed upon by the major part of the Proprietors and entered 'in their Book'

That in consequence of such agreement the said Pier or Wharf has been kept in repair by the Income thereof ever since; but that within a few Years past it was greatly gone to decay and in danger of being utterly lost: whereupon the Proprietors agreed to build a Stone Head further out towards the Channel in order to secure the whole Interest, which they have in a great measure effected, the said Head still lying in common & undivided; but that the cost and charge of such Work will amount to much more than the Income of the said Wharf will defrey or reimburse for many Years to come.—

Wherefore Your Petitioners pray That the Proprietors of the said Wharf may be incorporated, more especially for the purposes beforementioned & as expressed in their Vote of the 29^th of April last: and Your Petitioners shall as in duty bound ever pray &c.

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Justices and selectmen, empowered.

And whereas, it is represented that about midway where said street is proposed to be laid out the lands are vacant, and that it will be much more convenient and commodious if said street was, thereabouts, in some parts of it, of greater wedth than twenty feet, —

Be it further enacted,

[SECT. 2.] That if said justices and selectmen, or a major part of each, shall judge it more convenient to have said street of a greater wedth than twenty feet in or near the middle part of it, where the lands are vacant, they are hereby directed and empowered to lay out the same accordingly, the act aforesaid notwithstanding; and in all other things the justices, selectmen, jury, and all persons interested or concerned, are to proceed according to the directions of the aforementioned act. CHAPTER 12.

AN ACT FOR REGULATING LAMPS ALREADY SET UP, OR THAT MAY HEREAFTER BE SET UP, FOR ENLIGHTNING THE STREETS, LANES, ALLEYS OR PASSAGEWAYS IN THE TOWN OF BOSTON, AND TO PREVENT THE BREAKING OR OTHERWISE DAMNIFYING THE SAME; AND ALSO ESTABLISHING THE METHOD FOR PAYING THE EXPENCES THAT MAY ARISE IN SUPPORTING AND MAINTAINING SAID LAMPS.

Whereas the enlightning of streets, lanes, alleys and passageways, in large and populous towns, by lamps hung up in the night-time, is not only ornamental, but very advantageous to all such persons as have occasion to pass in and thro' the same about their lawful business, and tend[s] greatly for the safety and preservation of the inhabitants, by the discovery and prevention of fires, burglaries, robberies, thefts and other lesser breaches of the peace, —

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Selectmen empowered to affix lamps in such parts of the town of Boston as they shall judge proper:

[SECT. 1.] That from and after the publication of this act, it shall and may be lawful for the selectmen of the town of Boston, for the time being, or a major part of them, or such persons as they shall think fit to appoint for that purpose, under them, to set up and affix such and so many lamps, and in such streets, lanes, alleys and passageways in said town, for enlightning the same, as the town, or such persons as they may appoint, shall, in their judgment, think necessary, and for the common benefit. And the better to preserve and regulate such lamps, said selectmen are hereby empowered to appoint and contract with any meet person or persons for the lighting, cleaning, snuffing and repairing the same, and give such directions, from time to time, relative to said lamps, and lighting and regulating the same, as they shall think best.

— to agree with meet persons to take care thereof.

Preamble.

And whereas many of the inhabitants of the said town of Boston, have, by a generous subscription, raised a sum of money sufficient for purchasing such a number of lamps as will be necessary for illuminating the streets, &c., in that metropolis; and as the destroying or breaking the same will not only be injurious to the encouragers of so laudable a design, but to the public[k] in general, —

Be it therefore further enacted,

Fine for breaking or otherwise damnifying lamps, &c.

And if any person or persons shall, accidentally or undesignedly, break, throw down, or otherwise damage any post, iron or furniture of such lamp, he shall pay so much as, in the judgment of the selectmen of said town, for the time being, shall fully repair the damage done, into the hands of the selectmen, or to such person as they may appoint to receive the same; and if any such person or persons shall refuse to pay said selectmen, or the person they shall appoint in manner as aforesaid, the treasurer of the town of Boston is hereby empowered to prosecute any person or persons, for said damages, before any one of his majesty's justices of the peace in said county of Suffolk, who is hereby empowered to hear and determine the same: provided, the double damages do not exceed forty shillings: if more, then to be recovered in any court proper to try the same; and, upon conviction, to give judgment for double damages and for costs of prosecution, and award execution accordingly. And if any person or persons, sentenced to pay the aforesaid fine of twenty pounds and costs, shall refuse to pay the same, he or they shall be punished for the offence by being imprisoned not exceeding six months, or by whipping not exceeding twenty stripes.

And be it further enacted,

Selectmen empowered to take down or remove lamps, &c.

[Sect. 2.] That the treasurer do forthwith send out his warrants, directed to the selectmen or assessors of each town, district, parish or other place, within this province, that are taxed, requiring them, respectively, to assess the sum hereby set upon such town, district, parish or other place, in manner following; that is to say, to assess all rateable polls above the age of sixteen years, within their respective towns, districts, parishes or other places, or next adjoining to them, belonging to no other town or place, at two shillings and twopence; and proportionably in assessing the additional sum paid out of the treasury to the representatives, for their travel and attendance aforesaid (excepting the governor, lieutenant-governor and their families, the president, fellows, professors, Hebrew instructor and students of Harvard College, settled ministers and grammar-school masters, who are hereby exempted as well for being taxed for their polls, as their estates being in their own hands, and under their actual management and improvement; as also the estate pertaining to Harvard College); and other persons, if such there be, who through age, infirmity or extreme poverty, in the judgment of the assessors, are not able to pay towards public charges, they may exempt their polls or estate, or abate part of what they are set at, as in their prudence they shall think fit and judge meet.

Treasurer to issue his warrants to the selectmen or assessors.

[Sect. 3.] And the justices in their general sessions, in the respective counties assembled, in granting a county tax of assessment, are hereby ordered and directed to apportion the same on the several towns, districts, parishes and other places in such county, in proportion to the province tax; and the assessors of each town in the province are also directed, in making an assessment, to govern themselves by the same rule; and the incomes of all estates, both real and personal, lying within the limits of such town, district, parish or other place, or next unto the same, not paying elsewhere, in whose hands, tenure, occupation or possession the same is or shall be found, and also the incomes or profits which any person or persons, except as before excepted, do or shall receive from any trade or faculty, business or employment whatsoever, and all profits which shall or may arise by money, or commissions of profits in their improvement, at one shilling per pound; and to abate or multiply the same, if need be, so as to make up the sum set and ordered hereby for each town, district, parish or other place to pay; and in making said assessment, to estimate houses and lands at the amount of six years' yearly rent whereat the same may be reasonably set or left† for in the place where they lie; the said houses and lands to be taxed to such persons as shall be the actual tenants thereof upon the first day of September next: saving all agreements between landlord and tenant, and where no agreement is, the landlord to reimburse one-half of the tax set upon such houses and lands (new cleared lands for tillage not to be rated until the first crop be taken off); and to estimate Indian, negro and molatto servants proportionably as other personal estate, according to their sound judgment or discretion; as also to estimate every ox of four years old and upwards, at forty shillings; every cow or heifer of three years old and upwards, at thirty shillings; and every horse and mare of three years old and upwards, at forty shillings; and every swine of one year old and upwards, at eight shillings; goats and sheep of one year old and upwards, at three shillings each; the several beasts aforementioned to be taxed to their respective owners or occupants, by the assessors of the town in which the owners or occupants dwell: likewise requiring the assessors to make a fair list of said assessment, setting forth, in distinct columns, against each particular person's name, how much he or she is assessed at for polls, and how much for houses and lands, and how much for personal estate, and income by trade or faculty, and if as guardian, or for any estate, in his or her improvement, in trust, to be distinctly expressed; and the list or lists so perfected, and signed by them, or the major part of them, to commit to the collector or constable or constables of any such town or district, parish or other place, and to return a certificate of the name or names of such collector, constable or constables, with the sum total to each of them committed, unto himself, some time before the first day of December next.

Lists to be committed to constables or collectors.

[SECT. 4.] And the treasurer, for the time being, on receipt of such certificate, is hereby impowered and ordered to issue forth his warrants to the collector or constable or constables of such town, district, parish or other place, requiring him or them, respectively, to collect the whole of each respective sum assessed on each particular person, and to pay in their collection, and to issue their accounts of the whole, at or before the tenth day of March, which will be in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and seventy-four.

Treasurer to issue his warrants to constables or collectors.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 5.] That the assessors of each town, district, parish or other place, respectively, in convenient time before their making of the assessment, shall give seasonable warning to the inhabitants, in a town meeting, or by posting up notifications in some place or places in such town, district, parish or other place, or notify the inhabitants some other way, to give and bring in to the assessors true and perfect lists of their polls, and rateable estate they shall be possessed of on the first day of September next, and income by trade or faculty, and gain by money at interest, which they are to render to the assessors, on oath, if required; and if they refuse to give in an account of the money at interest, on oath, the assessors are impowered to doom them; and if any person or persons shall neglect or refuse so to do, or bring in a false list, it shall be lawful to and for the assessors, to assess such person or persons, according to their known ability in such town, in their sound judgment and discretion, their due proportion of this tax, as near as they can, agreeable to the rules herein given, under the penalty of twenty shillings for each person that shall be convicted by legal proof, in the judgment of said assessors, in bringing in a false list; the said fines to be for the use of the poor of such town, district, parish or place where the delinquent lives, to be levied by warrant from the assessors, directed to the collectors or constables, in manner as is directed for gathering the town assessments, to be paid into the town, district, or parish treasury, for the use aforesaid: saving to the party aggrieved at the judgment of the assessors in setting forth such fine, liberty of appeal therefrom to the court of general sessions of the peace within the county, for relief as in the case of being overrated. And if any person or persons shall not bring in a list of their estate, as aforesaid, to the assessors, he or they so neglecting shall not be admitted to make application to the court of general sessions, for any abatement of the assessment laid on him or them.

Notice to be given to the inhabitants, to bring in a true list of polls, and estate in possession the first day of September next.

[SECT. 6.] And if the person be not convicted of any falseness in the list, by him presented, of the polls, rateable estate, or income by trade or faculty, business or employment, which he does or shall exercise, or in gain by money at interest or otherwise, or other estate not particularly assessed, such list shall be a rule for such person's proportion to the tax, which the assessors may not exceed.

And forasmuch as, oftentimes, sundry persons, not belonging to this province, bring considerable trade and merchandize into the same, and by reason that the tax or rate of the town where they come to is finished and delivered to the constable or collectors, and, before the next year's assessment, are gone out of the province, and so pay nothing towards the support of the government, though, in the time of their residing here, they reaped considerable gain by trade, and had the protection of the government, —

Be it therefore enacted,

Transient traders to be rated.

[Sect. 7.] That when any person or persons shall come and reside in any town within this province, and bring any merchandize, or trade, to deal therewith, the assessors of such town are hereby impowered to rate and assess all such persons, according to their circumstances, pursuant to the rules and directions of this act provided, though the former rate may have been finished, and a new one not perfected as aforesaid.

And be it further enacted,

Merchants to be rated for carrying on trade in any town besides where they dwell.

[Sect. 8.] That when any merchant, trader or factor, shall set up a store, or traffick, or carry on any trade or business, in any town within this province, not being an inhabitant of such town, the assessors of such town where such trade and business shall be carried on as aforesaid, be and hereby are impowered to rate and assess all such merchants, traders and factors, their goods and merchandize, for carrying on such trade and business, and exercising their faculty in such town, pursuant to the rules and directions of this act: provided, before any such assessors shall rate such persons, as aforementioned, the selectmen of the town where such trade is carried on shall transmit a list of such persons as they shall judge may and ought to be rated, within the intent of this act, to the assessors of such town or district.

Selectmen to transmit a list of such persons before they are rated.

[Sect. 9.] And the constables or collectors are hereby enjoined to levy and collect all such sums committed to them, and assessed on persons who are not of this province, or are residant in other towns than those where they carry on their trade, and pay the same.

And whereas it has been the practice of some of the inhabitants of the town of Boston, to remove to some other town in this province, and there reside for some months, to avoid paying their part of the taxes in the town of Boston, to which they really belong, to the great injury of the said town, —

Be it therefore enacted,

Inhabitants of Boston who remove out of town and return in a year, to pay their tax in Boston.

[Sect. 10.] That when any inhabitant of the town of Boston shall remove to any other town in this province, and shall, in one year after, remove back to said Boston, and shall have been taxed in the said town, shall be subject to pay the said taxes, in like manner as he would have been had he not have removed from said Boston (saving so much as he shall be taxed in the town removed to), anything in this act to the contrary notwithstanding. CHAPTER 15.

AN ACT FOR ALTERING THE TIME OF HOLDING THE SUPERIOR COURT OF JUDICATURE, COURT OF ASSIZE AND GENERAL GOAL DELIVERY, AT CHARLESTOWN, IN AND FOR THE COUNTY OF MIDDLESEX.

Preamble. 1769–70, chap. 17.

WHEREAS the time appointed by law for holding the superior court of judicature, court of assize and general goal delivery, at Charlestown, in and for the county of Middlesex, is found to be inconvenient,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Superior court at Charlestown to be on the first Tuesday of April, annually.

[SECT. 1.] That the time for holding the said superior court of judicature, court of assize and general goal delivery, at Charlestown, in and for the county of Middlesex, shall henceforth be on the first Tuesday of April, annually; and all officers and other persons concerned are required to conform themselves accordingly

[SECT. 2.] That all writs, plaints, processes, appeals, recognizances, warrants or other matters or things whatsoever, which now are or at any time before the said first Tuesday of April shall be issued, taken or depending in the said county of Middlesex, which were to have been returned or proceeded on at the time heretofore appointed, by law, for holding the said court at Charlestown, shall be valid and stand good to all intents and purposes in the law, and shall be returned and proceeded on at the time appointed by this act for holding the same. CHAPTER 16.

AN ACT TO ENABLE PERSONS TO BRING FORWARD AND MAINTAIN ACTIONS OF DEBT IN THE EXECUTIVE COURTS WITHIN THIS PROVINCE, UPON JUDGMENTS RECOVERED IN THE NEIGHBOURING GOVERNMENTS, AND UPON JUDGMENTS RECOVERED BEFORE JUSTICES OF THE PEACE IN THIS PROVINCE.

Preamble. 9 Mass., 465.

Whereas it frequently happens that persons against whom final judgments of court are recovered in the neighbouring governments remove with their effects into this province without having paid or satisfied such judgment, and, upon actions of debt upon such judgments brought in the executive courts in this province, the record of such judgments cannot be removed into the said courts in this province, and it has been made a doubt whether, by law, such judgment can be admitted as sufficient evidence of such judgments, whereby honest creditors are often defrauded of their just demands by negligent and evil-minded debtors; for the prevention whereof,—

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Judgment recovered in any of the neighboring colonies to be prosecuted in this province.

[Sect. 1.] That where any person or persons heretofore have recovered or hereafter shall recover a judgment or judgments in any court in any or either his majesty's neighbouring colonies in America, and the person or persons against whom such judgment or judgments has been or shall be recovered has removed or shall hereafter remove into or reside within this province, or where such person or persons against whom such judgment or judgments have been or may be recovered in the colonies aforesaid, have heretofore acquired or hereafter shall acquire any real or personal estate within this province, that then and in every such case it shall and may be lawful for such creditor or creditors who have so recovered or shall hereafter recover a judgment or judgments as aforesaid, to bring forward, support and maintain an action or actions of debt upon such judgment or judgments so recovered, or that shall be recovered in the neighbouring colonies as aforesaid, in any executive court within this province, proper to try the same, in such way and manner as he or they might have done if such judgment or judgments had been originally recovered in the executive court in this province where said action of debt shall be brought.

And be it further enacted,

A copy of the record of the proceedings in the neighboring colonies to be sufficient evidence in any court in this province. 15 Gray, 353.

[Sect. 2.] That upon a plea of null tiel record or any other plea or pleas which may and shall be made in such action or actions of debt so to be brought upon such judgment as aforesaid, a true copy of the record and proceedings of the said court or courts in the said neighbouring colony or colonies, according to the custom and usage of the colony where said judgment or judgments were or shall be recovered, attested under the hand of the clerk of the court where said judgment was or shall be recovered — or under the hand of the justice, where the judgment was or shall be recovered before a justice of the peace of such government — shall be to all intents and purposes as good and sufficient evidence of such judgment, and have the same effect and operation, as if the original judgment and proceedings had been rendered and had in the court where such action of debt shall be brought and depending.

Preamble.

And whereas it may frequently happen that persons against whom judgments have been or hereafter shall be recovered before his majesty's justices of the peace in this province, have removed or hereafter may remove and depart from the county in which such judgments were or shall be recovered, into some other county in this province, without paying or any wise satisfying such judgments; and whereas it is often necessary that actions of debt upon judgments heretofore recovered or that hereafter may be recovered before justices of the peace in this province should be brought and prosecuted in the inferior courts of common pleas in this province, for which there is no provision in the law, —

It is therefore hereby further enacted,

Provision, in case of debtors removing from the county, where judgment has been recovered, to another county.

[SECT. 3.] That when it shall happen that any person or persons against whom a judgment has been or shall be had and recovered before any of his majesty's justices of the peace within this province, and the person or persons against whom such judgment has been or shall be recovered as aforesaid, and does and shall dwell and reside in any other county in this province, then and in every such case it shall and may be lawful for the justice before whom such judgment was or shall be recovered as aforesaid, to direct any execution or executions issuing upon such judgments, to the proper officer of such county where such person or persons against whom such judgment has been or shall be recovered as aforesaid, does or shall dwell or reside; and such officer to whom such execution or executions shall be directed as aforesaid, shall be and hereby are fully authorized, impowered and directed to execute and return such writs of execution accordingly.

Action to be recovered in the inferior court, upon judgment recovered before any justice of the peace.

[SECT. 4.] And when it shall be necessary for any person or persons in this province to bring forward and prosecute any action or actions of debt in any of his majesty's inferior courts of common pleas in this province, upon a judgment recovered before any justice of the peace in this province, it shall and may be lawful for such person to prosecute and maintain same actions of debt in said inferior courts; and a copy of such judgment attested under the hand of the justice by whom such judgment has been or shall be rendered, shall be as sufficient evidence of such judgment, and have the same effect, to all intents and purposes, as if the original record of said judgment was then before the same court; any law, usage or custom to the contrary notwithstanding. [Passed March 4, 1774.

Whereas the inhabitants of a new plantation, commonly called Freetown and Jeremy Squam Island, in the county of Lincoln, have represented to this court the great difficulties they labour under in their present situation, and have earnestly requested that they may be incorporated into a township, — Preamble.

[Passed March 5,† 1774. Thomas Rice, Esq., empowered to issue a warrant for calling the first meeting.

CHAPTER 22.

AN ACT FOR INCORPORATING THE PLANTATION CALLED NEW GLOCESTER, INTO A TOWN BY THE NAME OF NEW GLOCESTER.

Whereas it has been represented and made to appear to this court, by the proprietors of the plantation called New Glocester, in the county of Cumberland, that they have fulfilled the conditions upon which the said plantation or township was granted, and praying that they may enjoy the common privileges and advantages of other towns, — Preamble.

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That the plantation commonly called and known by the name of New Glocester, in the county of Cumberland, bounded according to the alteration from what was originally made, and as fixed upon by a committee of the general court in November, one thousand seven hundred and sixty-two, which is as follows; viz[t]., Bounds of New Gloucester.

WHEREAS, by one law of this province, made and passed in the fourth year of his present majesty's reign, intitled "An Act to enable the proprietors of the plantation called Yokun ‡ Town and Mount Ephraim, in the county of Berkshire, to grant taxes on their land, and bring forward the settlement of said plantation," it is enacted, "That the purchasers of said plantation of Yokun Town and Mount Ephraim, shall be and accordingly are incorporated into one distinct propriety, and are vested with the same powers and privileges as, by the law of this province, proprietors in common are vested with, so far as is necessary for the calling meetings, granting taxes upon the lands of said purchasers in said plantation, assessing, collecting and disposing of the monies so raised, laying out, making and repairing necessary ways, and for carrying forward the settlement of the said plantation agreable to the order of the general court;"

and whereas, afterward, the said new plantation was, by another law of this province, incorporated into a town by the name of Richmont, and, by the same law, it was provided and enacted "That all taxes to be raised within said town, for settling a minister, building a meeting-house or meeting-houses, laying out, making or repairing roads, be levied upon the several proprietors of said plantation, according to their interest, agreable to the act first aforesaid, until the further order of the general court; and whereas, since the making the law last aforesaid, the westerly part of Richmont hath by one law of this province, made in the seventh year of his present majesty's reign, been incorporated into a distinct town by the name of Richmont, and sundry taxes have been agreed upon and assessed, agreable to the acts aforesaid and for the purposes aforesaid, on the proprietors of the lands in said Richmont, part of which remains uncollected; and whereas, in order to compleat building a meeting-house and settling a minister, in said Richmont, it will be necessary to raise and collect further sums of money upon the proprietors of said Richmont, and the same cannot be collected without the further aid of the general court, —

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

That the lands in said Richmont, of the several proprietors there who have not paid, or hereafter shall not, by the time set and agreed upon by said proprietors, pay their respective proportions of such assessment, which heretofore have been, or hereafter shall be made upon them for the purposes aforesaid, pursuant to the votes of said proprietors, and the laws aforesaid, shall, for the payment thereof, be subject to be sold by the assessors there, or the major part of them, who made or shall make such assessment, in the same manner as the lands of proprietors in new plantations were liable to be sold by virtue of an act, made in the second year of his present majesty's reign, intitled "An Act to subject the unimproved lands within this province to be sold for the payment of taxes assessed on them by order of the general court, and votes and agreements of the proprietors thereof, and to enable proprietors to levy province and county taxes laid on them." [Passed March 5, 1774.

CHAPTER 24.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO ONE ACT OR LAW OF THIS PROVINCE, MADE AND PASSED IN THE THIRTEENTH YEAR OF HIS PRESENT MAJESTY'S REIGN, INTITLED "AN ACT TO MAKE PROVISION FOR THE ASSESSING THE MONIES UPON THE LANDS OF THE PROPRIETORS IN THE TOWNSHIP OF ASHFIELD, IN THE COUNTY OF HAMPSHIRE, WHICH ARE DUE FROM THE SAID PROPRIETORS, TO DEFREY THE CHARGES HEREAFTER MENTIONED, AND TO PROVIDE A METHOD FOR THE COLLECTING AND LEVYING OF THE SAME."

Preamble. 1772–73, chap. 30.

Whereas, by the preamble of the act intitled "An Act to make provision for the assessing the monies upon the lands of the proprietors in the township of Ashfield, in the county of Hampshire, which are due from the said proprietors, to defrey the charges hereafter mentioned, and to provide a method for the collecting and levying the same," it is evident that it was the intention and design of the makers of the said act, to make provision for the defreying the charges and expences necessarily incurred by several persons employed by the proprietors or owners of lands in the said Ashfield, in attending upon and applying to the general court for relief from the perplexities and difficulties in which the said proprietors had been involved by divers means, and from divers causes, mentioned and expressed in the said act, but it appears, upon a careful inspection of the enacting clauses of the said act, that the said provision was not made, to the great grievance of the persons so employed by the said proprietors; and whereas it hath been lately discovered that at the times when the said proprietors held their meetings at which they did chuse and appoint the said persons to attend and apply to the general court for the relief and help aforesaid, they, the said proprietors, had not, by law, any right or power to call and hold any meetings for such or any other purpose whatsoever, which was not then known by the said proprietors, but they supposed that they had good and lawful authority to call and hold meetings for that purpose; and whereas the said persons employed, as aforesaid, to apply to the general court, who have spent much time and money in travelling to, and attending on, several sessions of the general court, to sollicit and procure the relief aforesaid, are unable to bear the cost and expence thereof without the assistance and contribution of their fellow-proprietors, who have shared with them in the benefit of the relief granted to the said proprietors by the general court, —

* The act recited was passed in the sixth year of Geo. III.

Preamble.

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives, [SECT. 1.] That Jedediah Foster, Esq., William Williams, Esq., and Mr. Thomas Denny, who, by the said act, were appointed and empowered to enquire and determine what sums of money were due from and to diverse persons and on diverse considerations, mentioned in the said act, and to assess the same upon the lands in the said Ashfield which have been laid out and brought to severalty, are hereby fully authorized and empowered, also, to enquire and determine what is justly due from the said proprietors to the said persons employed by the said proprietors, as aforesaid, and who did in fact attend upon and apply to the general court for the relief aforesaid, for their service and expence therein; and also what Mr. Obadiah Dickinson, of Hatfield, shall reasonably deserve to have of the said proprietors, for his trouble and expence in making application to this court and attending on the same for the purpose of procuring this act; and to assess all such sums of money as they, the said Jedediah Foster, William Williams and Thomas Denny, or any two of them, on such enquiry, shall judge and determine to be due to the persons employed and empowered by the said proprietors, as abovesaid, and to the said Obadiah, for all and every the services abovesaid, upon all the lands in the said Ashfield which have been laid out and brought to severalty (excepting the public rights, and the lands in the said Ashfield which were owned by the people, in the said Ashfield, who were, in the judgment of the said Jedediah Foster, William Williams and Thomas Denny, or any two of them, of the Baptists perswasion on the thirtieth day of May, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-one, — that being the last time when any persons were appointed by the said proprietors to the services abovesaid); and also to levy and order the payment of such monies so assessed, to the said persons improved and employed, as abovesaid, by the said proprietors, and to the said Obadiah, respectively, in the same way and manner as, in and by the act aforesaid, it is provided and directed that the said Jedediah Foster, William Williams and Thomas Denny, the Jedediah Foster, Esq., William Williams, Esq., and Mr. Thomas Denny's power continued, to adjust and determine what is due from the proprietors to Obadiah Dickinson and others, for sundry services done by their order.

Public rights and lands belonging to Baptists exempt from tax for such services.

Committee empowered to assess, levy and committee above named, shall assess, levy and order the moneys which they were by the said act authorized to assess; and that the treasurer who may hereafter be chosen by the said proprietors shall make payment of the said monies, pursuant to the said committee's orders, without any such consent or agreement of the said proprietors, previously had and obtained therefor as is expressed and provided in the said act, as a condition of his paying the monies which the said committee, by the said act, were impowered to assess and order.

order the money to be paid, by the treasurer, to whom due.

Provided, always, —

[Sect 2.] That the said committee, before the allowance of the charges and demands of the persons imployed as abovesaid, or of the said Obadiah, or any of them, shall give reasonable notice and opportunity to the said proprietors to make before them their objections and exceptions to all accounts and demands which the persons employed as abovesaid, and the said Obadiah, shall make and lay before them, against the said proprietors; the said notice to be given either by posting up notifications, or in and by the public newspapers, or any other way or manner as to the said committee shall appear sufficient and effectual.

Committee to give notice to the proprietors of all demands, that they may have opportunity to object thereto.

And whereas, in and by the aforesaid act, it is enacted and provided in the words following; to wit, "That all such sums of money as shall be assessed and levied in manner aforesaid, shall be paid by the collector of the said proprietors, and by the said committee, respectively, into the hands of the treasurer of the said proprietors, to the use of the said proprietors, and shall be by him paid out, to such persons to whom the said committee, or the major part of them, shall judge to* the same to be due, upon orders from the said committee, or the major part of them, to be therefor drawn on the said treasurer in case the said proprietors, at any legal proprietors' meeting, hereafter to be called and held, shall, by a major vote, agree and give their consent thereto: provided, always, that the said Baptists shall not have any voice or vote respecting the payment or disposition of the monies which shall be assessed and levied by the said committee for the payment of the said Mr. Sherwin's salary, nor upon the question whether those monies shall be ordered out of the said treasurer's hands, by the said committee"; — but the case, in fact, at the time of the making and passing the said act, was and still is such, that the said proprietors had not, and still have not, any treasurer or any other officer, excepting a collector, appointed by the said committee, under and by virtue of the said act; and there then was not, and still is not, any act or law of this province impowering the said proprietors to call or hold any meeting for the choice of any officer or officers, or for the transacting any business whatsoever by major vote; so that, unless further provision should be made for the said proprietors by this court, the said act already made and designed for their relief will be wholly abortive and ineffectual,—

Baptists not to have a voice respecting the disposal of the money assessed for Mr. Sherwin's salary, &c.

Former act declared insufficient for the purposes intended.

Be it therefore further enacted,

[Sect. 3.] That the proprietors and owners of lands in the said Ashfield which have been laid out and brought to severalty, excepting such owners of such lands there, who, on the said thirtieth day of May, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-one, were of the denomination of the people called Baptists, shall be and hereby are enabled and impowered to procure the calling and holding a meeting of such proprietors or owners of such lands, in the same manner and way as is prescribed and directed in and by one act or law of this province, made and passed in the twelfth year of her majesty Queen

Proprietors and owners of lands in severalty, except Baptists, empowered to call a meeting, as directed by a former act.

AN ACT TO ENABLE THE TOWN OF STOUGHTON AND THE DISTRICT OF STOUGHTONHAM TO SELL CERTAIN LANDS LYING WITHIN THE SAID DISTRICT OF STOUGHTONHAM, CALLED MINISTRY LANDS, LYING NEAR A PLACE CALLED COW HILL.†

Preamble. WHEREAS it has been represented and made to appear to this court that, at a meeting of the proprietors of the town of Dorchester, February the 11th, 1705–6, it was voted that seventy-five acres of land should be laid out for the use of the ministry, forever, for the benefit of those ministers that shall be ordained in that place, from time to time; viz[t]., in the land belonging to said Dorchester, beyond the Blue Hills, as appears by said Dorchester records; which land the said proprietors have laid out in a remote part of their land adjoining southerly on the county line, and now lieth in the [said] district of said Stoughtonham, near a place known by the name of Cow Hill, as appears by the plan thereof; and whereas, it has been represented to this court that, if said land were sold for the most it would fetch, and the money arising by the sale thereof were improved for the uses aforesaid, and no other, it might be of great advantage to the ministers now settled in said town and district, or that shall be hereafter settled, as well as to the inhabitants of said town and district, —

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

A committee of Stoughton and Stoughtonham empowered to sell seventy-five acres of land, and give deeds. [SECT. 1.] That the said town of Stoughton and district of Stoughtonham be and hereby are impowered to make sale of the said seventy-five acres of land, for the most it will fetch; and that Elijah Dunbar, Esq[r]., Abijah Upham, and Christopher Wadsworth, of said Stoughton, and Samuel Bird, and Joseph Hewins, Esq[r]., of said Stoughtonham, be a committee to sell said land, and to give a deed or deeds of sale of the same to the purchaser or purchasers thereof, in behalf of said town and district, and receive the money therefor, or take sufficient bonds for the same on lawful interest for one year next coming, with sufficient sureties; and that said committee account with the town of Stoughton and district of Stoughtonham for said money or bonds when thereto required.

* The words "and undivided" are not in the title of the act referred to.
† The engrossed act was never sealed.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That the neat proceeds arising from such sale shall be put out to lawful interest, on good security, by the selectmen of the said town of Stoughton and district of Stoughtonham, for the time being, or the major part of them, for the use and benefit of the Congregational ministers that are or shall be regularly settled within the limits mentioned in said grant, forever; the interest thereof to be paid to each of them, in equal proportion, annually, during the term of their ministry: the said bonds or securities to be lodged in the hands of the treasurer of the town of Stoughton, and the said ministers to draw the interest arising therefrom, annually, by order of the selectmen of the town of Stoughton and district of Stoughtonham, or the major part of them. [Passed March 5, 1774.

Net proceeds of such sale to be put out to interest by the selectmen, for the use of Congregational ministers of the town and district.

AN ACT FOR DIVIDING THE TOWNSHIP OF SPRINGFIELD, AND ERECTING THE WESTERN PART THEREOF INTO A SEPERATE TOWN BY THE NAME OF WEST SPRINGFIELD.

Whereas, by reason of the great extent of the township of Springfield, the remote settlements, disputes, controversies, and different interests of the inhabitants thereof, the difficulty and often impracticability of their assembling in town meetings, for elections and other necessary purposes, by reason of the great river Connecticut almost equally dissecting the township, it is necessary that there be a division thereof, Preamble.

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives, [Sect. 1.] That that part of the township of Springfield lying on the west side of Connecticut River, and the inhabitants there, be constituted and erected into a distinct town by the name of West Springfield, and be invested with all the powers, privileges, and immunities which, by the laws of this province, towns have and enjoy. Erected into a distinct town by the name of West Springfield.

Provided,—

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That it shall not be lawful for the said town of West Springfield, or any parish or precinct there, at any time hereafter to assess or tax the lands or estates, of any inhabitant or inhabitants of the town of Springfield, situate or lying in that part of the great and general field, so called, on the west side of Connecticut River, which is and lyes southward of a line running from the ferry over said river, at the Upper Wharf, so called, to the pond called Turtle Pond, in said field, and thence to the west end of the hill called New-Field Hill, and thence to the ferry over Agawam River near Moses Leonard's dwelling-house, for any rates, duties or charges whatever, the same being within the nominal limits of the said town of West Springfield, notwithstanding: and that all lots, lands and estates whatever, lying within the said great and general field southerly of the line aforesaid, and every part and parcel of the same — the owner and proprietor or proprietors whereof shall, for the time being and at any time hereafter, be an inhabitant or inhabitants of the said town of Springfield — shall stand chargeable and taxable, and be charged

Lands lying in the general field on the west side the river, not to be taxed by West Springfield;

To have their proportion of public lands and stock, excepting public buildings, &c.

Proviso, in case the whole money granted for building a bridge over Chicopee River should not be expended.

Proviso, to prevent future dispute about ministerial lands.

And, to prevent disputes and controversies which may hereafter arise respecting that part of the said ministry lands which, formerly, by order of the general court, was allotted, divided, and set off in severalty to the said first, second, and third parishes, for the use of the ministry in those several parishes, respectively, and for many years has been and now is in the actual and several possession and enjoyment of the said three parishes, respectively, or the several ministers thereof,—

[Sect. 5.] That nothing in this act contained shall change, alter, or affect the present rights or limits of the several parishes in said undivided town, or either of them, or their respective interests or estates in the ministry lands as heretofore established, or any division or partition thereof heretofore made.

And be it further enacted,

Selectmen of Springfield to call a meeting of the inhabitants of West Springfield, for the choice of town officers, &c.

[Sect. 6.] That the present selectmen of the town of Springfield, or the major part of them, be and hereby are impowered and required, within reasonable and convenient time, to issue their warrant, directed to some constable or constables of the said town of Springfield living on the west side of Connecticut River, requiring him or them to warn and give notice to the inhabitants of the said town of West Springfield, qualified by law to vote in town meetings, to meet and assemble some time in the month of March next, on such day and at such place in the same town as they by their warrant shall appoint, to choose all necessary town officers, and that the inhabitants so notified and assembled be and hereby are impowered and required to choose such town officers accordingly; and all disputes and controversies respecting the qualifications of voters in this or any other meeting of the same town, before the making any assessment therein, except the meeting for the choice of representative[s], shall be adjudged and determined by the same list and assessment, and in the same manner, by which the same might have been determined if no division of the town had been made. CHAPTER 27.

AN ACT FOR ERECTING THAT PART OF THE TOWNSHIP OF SPRINGFIELD CALLED STONY HILL, INTO A SEPERATE DISTRICT BY THE NAME OF LUDLOW.†

Preamble.

Whereas, by reason of the remote situation of the inhabitant[s of that part of Springfield‡] called Stony Hill, from the center of the town and parishes of which they are now parts, and their incapacity thereby of receiving any adv[antages from a longer union ‡] and connection therewith; and they have represented to this court that they are of [a] sufficient number[s] and estates to support the charge[s of a district, and hav‡]e prayed that they may be accordingly erected into a district, —

And the[e] freeholders and other inhabitants of the said district of [Ludlow] shall be notified of the time and place of such election, in like manner as the inhabitants of said Springfield, by a warrant from the selectmen of Springfield, directed to the constable of said district, requiring him to warn the inhabitants thereof to meet and assemble in the meeting for that purpose, at the time and place therein appointed; and that the pay of such representatives be borne by the said district, and the towns of Springfield and Wilbraham, in such proportion as they, respectively, pay to the province tax.

And be it further enacted,

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 4.] That if the said west line of the before described tract of land now erected into a district, should not extend so far as to include and contain the farms of Zachariah Warner, Zachariah Warner, jun[r]., Oliver Chapin and Ezekiel Squire, that their said farms and lands situate in said place called Stony Hill, be made part of, and annexed to, said district to all intents and purposes, and that the same, with the inhabitants thereof, have and receive all the privileges, duties and burthens of the said district, in as full manner as tho[ugh] the same were contained within the limits and boundaries first described.

And be it further enacted,

AN ACT TO PREVENT NEAT CATTLE, HORSES, SHEEP, GOATS AND SWINE FROM GOING AT LARGE UPON THE ISLAND OF CHABEQUIDICK AT CERTAIN SEASONS OF THE YEAR; AND FOR PREVENTING OTHER TRESPASSES BEING DONE ON ANY OF THE INDIAN LANDS ON SAID ISLAND, FOR THE FUTURE.

Preamble.

WHEREAS there are certain lands and meadows within the township of Edgartown, in the county of Dukes County, on the island of Chabequidick, that are owned by the Indian inhabitants of said island; and it being represented to this court, by said Indians, that they are greatly injured by reason of their wood being cut and carried off from said island, for market or otherwise, by some of the Indian proprietors thereof, as well as by some of their English neighbours, and also by neat cattle, horses, sheep, goats, and swine, going at large on said island at certain seasons of the year; and as the said Indians are unable to fence their fields, by reason of the scarcity of wood on said island, their crops of corn are much exposed and many times are almost wholly destroyed; for remedy whereof,—

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Neat cattle, &c., not to go at large on the Indian land between the 10th day of April and 30th day of October, on penalty.

And be it further enacted,

Penalty on those who shall cut or carry away wood, timber, &c., from any of the Indians' lands.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 3.] That the guardians, for the time being, that may be appointed by this court, from time to time, to take the care and oversight of said Indians, are hereby impowered and required to see to the due observance of this act, at the charge of the Indians, proprietors of said island, and to prosecute all breakers of the same; and all forfeitures arising for any breach of this act, to be applied to and for the use of the Indian proprietors inhabiting on said island, at the direction of said guardians. Guardians to take care this act be duly observed.

[Sect. 4.] This act to continue and be in force for and during the term of three years, and no longer. [Passed and published March 9, 1774. Continuation.

NOTES. — There were but two sessions of the General Court this year, and both were held at Boston. The first session was prorogued June 29th, and the second, March 9, 1774. All the public acts of this year were printed, — chapter 14, separately. The engrossments of chapters 2, 3, 4, 7, 9, 10, 11, 14, 16, 18, 20, 24, 30, and of the private act, have not been preserved.

The title of the private act is as follows: —

"An Act to enable Bunker Sprague of Malden in the County of Middlesex to take the name of Ebenezer Harnden." — [Passed June 29.

All of the engrossed acts of the second session that are preserved, are without the province seal; and, as the extant acts of the next year are similarly defective, it is likely that the seal was not applied to any act after March, 1774.

It does not appear at what date the acts of either session were certified for transmission; but Gov. Hutchinson's letter accompanying his remarks on the acts of the first session (it appears, by his letter-book, that he sent duplicates, on the thirteenth of September) is dated Aug. 7, 1773. It reached the Plantations Office, Sept. 21, and from that office it was received by the clerk of the Privy Council, in waiting, Sept. 23, and, together with the acts, was laid before the Council, Oct. 8. On the same day, the acts were ordered to be sent to the Board of Trade, where they were received, Oct. 11. On the twenty-sixth, the Board referred them to Mr. Jackson, for his opinion thereon, whose report on all except chapter 5, bears date, Feb. 22, 1774, and his report on chapter 5, bears date, April 13, 1774. The latter report was read and considered, by the Board, April 21, and the former report was read at the Board, Jan 26, 1775.

Governor Hutchinson's letter accompanying the acts of the second session and his remarks thereon, is dated April 5, 1774. It reached the Board of Trade, May 24, and was delivered to the clerk of the Privy Council, in waiting, May 31. The next day it was laid, together with the accompanying papers, before the Council, and by them referred to the Board of Trade, where it was received on the third of June. On the sixteenth, the order of the Council referring them, was read, and the acts were ordered to be sent to Mr. Jackson, for his opinion, &c. Mr. Jackson's report, which is dated July 21, was received by the Board, August 22, but seems not to have been considered until Oct. 25, when that and the acts were read, and an order passed that the draught of a report to the Lords of the Committee of the Privy Council, upon these acts, be prepared.

As no further proceedings upon these acts have been discovered, it is presumed that they were suffered to "lie by" during the progress of more important and exciting events which were impending in Massachusetts before these acts had reached England, and which actually occurred before they had been finally acted upon.

The following communications which passed between the Governor and the House of Representatives show the jealousy with which the Governor had come to regard the innovations attempted by the popular party. How the proposed change could have affected the relations between the province and the crown is not obvious. It certainly could not have formed the basis of a claim to autonomy or independence. On the other hand it is equally clear that the Governor's interpretation of his instructions not to assent to any bill of an unusual or extraordinary nature was strained to meet this case, since the operation of the bill was not affected by the formal introduction of the regal style: —

* The engrossed act was never sealed.

"June 28, 1773. The Secretary has laid before me a number of Engrossed Bills, in which you have made an alteration in the usual form of inserting the year of the King's Reign.

I am not only averse to innovations, unless a manifest reason can be given, but I am also restrained by my Instructions from consenting to any Bill of an unusual and extraordinary nature without a suspending clause. I know of none for the alteration proposed and must desire you therefore to reconsider this matter, and to cause your Bills to be prepared in a form, which has not only been constantly practiced in this Government, but I have reason to think, in most parts of his Majesty's Dominions. T. Hutchinson

Mr. Gorham and others a Committee of the House of Representatives waited on his Excellency the Governor with the following Message viz^t—

May it please your Excellency

The House have read your Message just now laid before them, and cannot but wonder that you should consider the Bills that have passed the two Houses as of an extraordinary nature, merely because the words expressive of the year of the Kings Reign are in plain English instead of the Roman Language as usual; or that your Excellency should think yourself restrained by an Instruction from consenting to them.

It is immaterial to the House; and therefore if your Excellency thinks proper to order the Bills to be laid before us, we will, to gratify your Excellency, recede from that which you are pleased to stile an innovation." — Council Records, vol. XXX., p. 95.

"June 29, 1773. The Secretary, by order of the Governor, laid before the two Houses the several Bills that had been passed by them and laid before his Excellency; and an amendment in each of them was agreed to by both Houses, agreable to his Excellency's Message of yesterday." — Ibid., p. 103.

"It may be proper to observe that all these Laws were laid before me with the date of the year in this form. In the thirteenth year of King George the third. When I took notice of it as an Innovation, the House thought it immaterial whether Latin words were used or English words which conveyed the same ideas, but the English words did not convey the same ideas and the alteration was proposed to the House meerly to get rid of Magnæ Britannæ or any words which imply it which have always been used. The House in general I suppose were not acquainted with the design of the Person who proposed the alteration." — Gov. Hutchinson to the Lords of Trade, Aug. 7, 1773: "Mass. Bay, B. T.," vol. 82, P. p., 16.

"In the Parchment engrossed Bills to each Law is prefixed the Regal Stile and the year of the King's reign. For many years it has been the Practice of the Secretary's Office to send home the printed Bills as they are prepared to be bound up in the Law books and the Stile does not there appear. About thirty years ago the Stile always was written at large Anno Regni Regis Georgii Magnæ Britanniæ Franciæ &c to the end of it. Meerly to save trouble in writing it was afterwards abbreviated and after Georgii was added &c and so Secunde or Tertii. The last Session before this, a Member of the House who does nothing without design moved that the stile might be altered from Latin to English and accordingly all the Laws came to me engrossed with this stile — In the thirteenth year of George the third. I refused to assent to any unless they would alter the stile and make it as formerly Rather than lose the Bills they conformed. This Session they sent them in Latin but left out the words et cætera. The design was so evident that I immediately declined my assent to any Bill unless it conformed to the King's stile as had been usual and I am of opinion it is best they should be held to express the Stile at length instead of substituting &c in the place of Magnæ Britanniæ Franciæ & Hiberniæ." — Gov. Hutchinson to the Lords of Trade, Apr. 5, 1774: ibid., P. p., 58.

The Governor seems not to have noticed that when, in the acts of the first session, the English words were replaced by the Latin formula, one act, at least (chapter 12), from which "etc." was omitted, had received his signature. The following is the Governor's reference to the subject, as historian: —

"Mr. Adams's attention to the cause in which he was engaged would not suffer him to neglect even small circumstances, which could be made subservient to it. * * * * * * * The year of the king's reign, and the royal style, had always been prefixed to the laws of the province in latin, as they are to acts of parliament; and in this style the royal authority over the whole dominions is expressed; but in all the bills prepared in the house this session, the prefix was altered from the old form in latin, to these English words, 'In the thirteenth year of king George the third.' The governor informed the house, by message, that he would not consent to any alteration in the style, it being something of an unusual and extraordinary nature. They, thereupon, desired the bills again, to restore the old title; but gave him a very disingenuous answer; wondering that he should consider the bills as of an 'extraordinary nature, merely because words are in plain English instead of the Roman language;' and, by the body of the people, his refusal, no doubt, was considered to proceed from mere humour." — Hutchinson's Hist. of Mass. Bay, vol. 3 p. 413.

Chap. 1. "Nov. 19, 1770. The House was mov'd that a Message be prepared to his Honor the Lieutenant-Governor to acquaint him, that as by late Advices from London, there is a Prospect of War with Spain, which probably may bring on a general War, it is the Desire of this House that his Honor would please to fill up the Vacancies in the several Regiments of Militia in the Province with proper Officers, and direct that the present Laws for regulating the same be duly executed: And to assure his Honor that the House will be ready to join with him in enacting such further Law as may be judged necessary.

pare a Message to his Honor the Lieutenant-Governor relating to the State of the Militia of the Province,' reported.

May it please your Honor,

The House of Representatives have heretofore view'd with Concern the deplorable State of the Militia of this Province. But have hitherto refrained from any public mention of it least some Misconstruction should be put upon it.

But by the last Advices from Great-Britain, the Nations of Europe appear to be upon the Eve of a general War; and perhaps America may be the Object in the Eye of some of those Nations.

And when some of the Regiments within this Province are destitute of Field-Officers, and many Companies without Captains or Subalterns, the Arms of the Militia we fear are deficient, and military Discipline too much neglected.

Duty to his Majesty, and a Regard to our own Safety constrain us to Address your Honor, praying that you would be pleased (as soon as may be) to fill up the Vacancies in the several Regiments (wherever such Vacancies are) with such Persons as to your Honor shall seem meet: And that your Honor would be pleased to use your Endeavours that the several Officers carefully Discharge the Trust reposed in them. And should any Amendments in, or Addition to the Laws for regulating the Militia of this Province be thought needful, at the next Session of the General Court the House of Representatives will chearfully do all in their Power towards putting the Militia on a respectable Footing."— Ibid., p. 174.

Nothing further seems to have been done with regard to amending the militia laws, until Jan. 16, 1773, when a committee was appointed to bring in a bill for the better regulating the militia. This committee reported a bill, to the House, Jan. 28, which, after several amendments, was passed to be enacted, Feb. 10. This bill, which is now lost, made provision for supplying the militia with cannon and gun-houses, but it failed to receive the assent of the Governor. In the mean time a message was sent to the House and acted upon as follows: —

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives,

I have almost compleated the Settlement of the several Regiments of Militia in the Province, and am in Hopes that I shall be able, early in the ensuing Summer to begin to review them. The Reputation, which a Company of the Train under the Command of Major Paddock, in Col. Erving's Regiment, has very justly acquired, encourage me to form several other like Companies in the Regiments near the Sea; and I doubt not it will, in Time, be thought proper to separate such Companies from their respective Regiments, and to form one intire Regiment of the Train of Artillery.

I expected to be able to furnish several of these Companies out of the Stores at Castle-William, but the Store-Keeper upon Examination informs me that all the Cannon there, of a proper Size for Field Pieces for such Companies, are defective and not to be trusted to. The Officers of those Companies think the Expence of providing them greater than it is reasonable for them to be burthened with, and yet it is inconsiderable for the Province to pay, compared with the Utility of such an Improvement in the Militia. I therefore recommend to you to take this Matter into your Consideration, and to make such Provision as it shall appear to you that his Majesty's Service and the Interest of the Province require. T. HUTCHINSON.

Read and Ordered, That this Message be considered at Three o'Clock.

* * * * * * * * * * *

His Excellency's Message of this Forenoon was read according to Order, and committed to the Committee appointed to bring in a Bill for better regulating the Militia of the Province."— Ibid., p. 166.

Feb. 25, 1773. Upon a Motion, Ordered, That Capt. Doolittle, Mr. Allen and Capt. Derby, be a Committee to consider and report what is proper to be done with the Arms at Castle-William."— Ibid., p. 258.

"Mar. 4, 1773. The Committee appointed to enquire into the State of the Province Arms at Castle-William, reported.

Accepted, and Ordered, That his Excellency the Captain General be requested to give Order that such Artillery-Companies as he may think proper to raise, be furnished with Fire-Arms out of those at Castle William; and that Capt. Heath, Col. Thaxter, and Mr. Gorham, prepare a Message to his Excellency for that Purpose, and report."— Ibid., p. 285.

"Mar. 5, 1773. The Committee appointed Yesterday to prepare a Message to his Excellency the Governor, reported.

Read and accepted. Ordered, that Capt. Heath, Mr. Hancock, Mr. Ellis, Col. Gilbert, and Capt. Greenleafe, be a Committee to wait on his Excellency with the same, viz.

May it please your Excellency,

In your Message of the 19th of January, your Excellency was pleased to acquaint the House of Representatives, that the Reputation which a Company of the Train under the Command of Major Paddock, in Col. Erving's Regiment, had very justly acquired, had encouraged your Excellency to form several other like Companies in the Regiments near the Sea; and recommended to the House to make such Provision for such Companies, as his Majesty's Service and the Interest of the Province should require. In Consequence of your Excellency's Message, the two Houses passed a Bill for the better regulating of the Militia, in which among other Things, Provision is made for providing such Companies with Cannon and Gun Houses; which Bill the House cannot but flatter themselves, will obtain your Excellency's Assent. The House still disposed to promote and encourage a Military Spirit, so essential to his Majesty's Service in the Safety of this Province, (being apprehensive that the uniforming and arming of such Companies, will be attended with considerable Expence to the Privates) take the Liberty to Address your Excellency, and to desire that you would be pleased to give Order, that such Artillery Companies, as your Excellency shall think fit to raise, may be furnished with so many of the Province Arms, on Condition that the Officers of such Companies become accountable that said Arms shall be kept in good Order at all Times, and to return them when called for by the Captain General. * * * * * * * *

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives,

All the Military Stores under my Care are properly the King's Stores and to be applied for his Service in the Protection and Defence of the Province as the Captain General shall think proper or as his Majesty shall think fit to direct.

I have not in my Possession a greater Number of Small Arms than may be necessary for His Majesty's Service at Castle William. Whilst they are there, under the immediate Charge of the Store-Keeper, I know that they are always kept in good Order and fit for Service. If delivered out and left in the Hands of the Officers of the Militia I shall be uncertain what Condition they are in. For these Reasons I must decline complying with your Desire. T. Hutchinson."—Ibid., pp. 288 and 289.

"June 24, 1773. Upon a Motion, the Question was put, Whether it is expedient that twelve Field Pieces be provided for the Use of the Militia of the Province, to be distributed as the Commander in Chief shall think proper? And pass'd in the Affirmative. Whereupon, Ordered, That Capt. Heath bring in a Bill for that Purpose."—Ibid., p. 82.

"An Act for furnishing the Militia of this Province with 12. brass field pieces.

I recommended to the Assembly to make this Provision but did not intend an Act for the purpose and the restraint of not sending them out of the Province is unnecessary seeing the Militia to whose use they are assigned cannot be sent out without the consent of the General Court."—Gov. Hutchinson to the Lords of Trade, Aug. 7, 1773: "Mass. Bay, B. T.," vol. 82, P.p., 16. See, also, supplementary note on p. 383, post.

Chap. 2. June 1, 1773. Upon a Motion, Ordered, That Mr. Hancock bring in a Bill for Explanation of an Act for laying out a new Street leading from Middle-Street to Fore*-Street in Boston.

Mr. Hancock reported a Bill accordingly, which was read. Whereupon, Ordered, That the said Bill be read again To-morrow at Nine o'Clock."—House Journal, p. 23.

Chap. 7. "Province of the Massa Bay } To his Excellency Thomas Hutchinson Esquire Captain General and Governor in Chief of the Province aforesaid — The Honble his Majesty's Council and Honble House of Representatives in General Court Assembled at Boston June 1773 —

The Memorial of John Kirtland of Murrayfield in the County of Hampshire as Agent for and in behalf of such of the Inhabitants of said Murrayfield as Live in the Easterly part thereof — Humbly Shews

That in the year 1762 this Great and General Court Sold at Publick Vendue to the Honble John Chandler Esqr & others all the Lands in said Murrayfield (Excepting what was before granted out to particular Persons) for a certain Price and on certain Conditions of Settlement as by the Records of this Honble Court appears, That there was then about Seven Thousand five hundred Acres part of the said Township granted out to particular Persons all lying Eastward of a large mountain called Moose Hill that runs North and South through the said Township. That the said Colo. Chandler & others the Purchasers of the Unappropriated Lands there, had on their said Lands (under Contracts of performing Setlers Duties there) about forty persons, all of which excepting one, were West of the line that the said Purchasers made the divisional line of said Town. — That in the year 1765 on the application of the said Purchasers of said Unappropriated Lands to this Honourable Court, and not of the Inhabitants or any of them, the said Lands including said Grants & the Inhabitants thereon were Incorporated & Erected into a Town with the Powers & Immunities of other Towns in the Province. — That in the year 1767 a House for Public Worship was set up by said Purchasers in said Town on the West side of said Moose Mountain meerly to accommodate their Setlers the Inhabitants on that part of the Town and where all the Setlers under said Purchasers excepting one then dwelt. —

That in the year 1765 Eight or nine Families were Setled on the Grants aforesaid and the number of them now Setled on said Grants is increased to about Thirty five.

That since the year 1767 — the said Town have laid out considerable Monies towards finishing the Meeting House set up as aforesaid: That in the year 1770 — the said Town Setled a Minister and gave him Seventy Pounds for a Settlement and Engaged to give him Sixty pounds per Annum Salary. That there are to this day but Six Families in said Town Setled East of said divisional line, under the said Purchasers all the Rest being on the Old Grants aforesaid; That the Building said Meeting House and Setling said Minister answer for said Purchasers towards a fulfilling in part the Conditions of their Grant from the Province, and to the Setlers under them, it Answers as a Performance in part of their Setling Contracts with said Original Purchasors but answers no purpose of Advantage whatever to any of the People Setled on the East side of said Mountain as they cannot without insupportable Expence and Labour attend Public Worship among them, they all of them living from five to Eight Miles distant from the said Place of Public Worship beyond said Mountain.

That by the Kind application of these Original Purchasers (in favour of their Tenents or under Purchasers) to this Honourable Court and procuring the Incorporation aforesaid they have brought the Setlers on the Grants aforesaid (as they are the minor part in said Town) Subject to a Proportion of the expence of fulfilling their Duty in part to the Province in Regard to their Lands in which these Setlers have no Interest and with whom most of them never Consented to be any way Concerned, and in the Year 1768 when the first Tax of Eighty pounds was made for Town charges, many of the Setlers under the Purchasers being turned off their Lands, two-fifths of the burthen of said Tax actually fell upon the Setlers on the Grants.

That these Memorialists under these Circumstances Sollicited the Town that as they paid their proportion to these Expences, of Setling a Minister and pay their proportion of his yearly Salary that they might have a Proportionable part of the Preaching on their side of the Mountain where they could Enjoy it, which the Town granted them for the Space of Three Years, but since July last have wholly Denied to do for the future.

Your memorialists beg Leave to observe to your Excellency and Honors that as the Tract of Land Sold to those Gentlemen was very large, much more than an Ordinary Township they have always been at a Loss for the Reason that induced your Excellency and Honors to make those Grants (without the Knowledge and Consent of the Proprietors & Setlers) part of the Same Town with the Western part of said Purchass tho' they were never at a Loss for the Reasons that Induced said Purchasers to apply for it.

That this Act of Incorporation so Extended has not only thus Unequally burdened the present Setlers of said Grants in the Respects before mentioned but also in this Respect that it is a great Discouragement to the further Sale or Settlement of such of the said Lands as yet remain unsold.

The said Memorialists the Inhabitants on the East side of said Mountain in said Murrayfield under these Difficulties are Constrain'd humbly to Implore your Excellency and Honors that there may be a Division of the said Town of Murrayfield by the following Line vizt beginning at the South west corner of Ingersolls grant so called thence extending on the West line of said grant till it comes to the Second Division Lot No. one, owned by said John Chandler Esqr from thence a streight line to the South East corner of Lot

N°. Sixteen and from thence running on the East line of said Lot and on the East Line of lots, N°. fifteen, twenty eight, and Twenty nine to Chesterfield Southwest corner and that the Inhabitants and Lands in said Township East of said Line may be Erected into a Seperate Town or District with the Powers and Priviledges that other Towns in this Province Enjoy

And they as in duty bound shall ever pray &c

Chap. 10. "To His Excellency Thomas Hutchinson Esqr, Captain, General, and Commander in Cheif, in and over His Majestys Province of the Massachusetts Bay — The Honorable His Majestys Council, and House of Representatives, in General Court Assembled May 1773 —

The Petition of a Number of the inhabitants of the Town of Boston — Humbly Sheweth

That the Law of the Province, fixing the number, & regulating the conduct of Auctioneers in this Town, was made, we apprehend, to releive the trade of the Town, from the late growing evil of a multiplicity of Auctions; which threatned its destruction. A principal part of the evil complained of, we apprehend, was occasioned, by the Auctioneers selling goods, in large & small quantitys, at private Sale; to the very great damage of all persons concerned in trade —

The Law above referred to, limits the number of Auctioneers to four, and impowers the Selectmen to appoint them, under particular regulations, but leaves the Auctioneers at liberty to sell goods at private as well as at public Sale; and we know, that it is their intention, to conduct in this respect, as they have hitherto done; in which case, it is our opinion, that the Trade of the Town will be in a much worse state than it was before the Law aforementioned was made —

We therefore humbly pray your Excellency and Honors, that an addition may be made to the Law, that as the Auctioneers thereby have an exclusive right to all the public Sales in this Town, they may be restricted from selling Goods in large or small quantitys, at private Sale. And your petitioners, as in duty bound, shall ever pray —

"To His Excellency the Governor, The Honorable Members of his Majestys Council, and The Honorable Representatives of the Province of the Massachusetts Bay in General Court Assembled.

The Petition of William Hunter of Boston in the said province late Auctioneer

Most humbly sheweth —

That some years ago, the Petitioner became a Settler in Boston aforesaid, and entered into the Business of an Auctioneer, at a time, when only two persons followed the same Calling. That your Petitioner has given the most convinceing proof of his Integrity and dilligence in the said Business and was, and is, at all times ready to give the Town, any security, for conforming to such Laws as are established for its Government.

That by the late Act of the Honorable Court, your Petitioner is deprived of the means of getting Bread for himself and Family, as his Wounds in the last War, have rendered him incapable of following the Sea, to which he was bred.

Therefore The Petitioner most humbly prays your Excellency and Honors, to take his Case into Consideration, and to make such alterations in the Law regarding Vendues, as may leave him at liberty to reEnter into his former Business, as the only means by which he can procure a livlihood. That, in the opinion of the Committee it is highly reasonable that such Persons as are now, or may hereafter be licensed, in the Town of Boston to sell at public Auction should as well in consideration of such exclusive privilege as to put an end to the evils which the Act lately passed 'to regulate the sale of Goods at public Vendue and to limit the number of Auctioneers' was intended to prevent, be effectually restrained from disposing of such Goods and Merchandize as are usually imported from Great Britain and Ireland, at private sale.

The Committee are further of opinion that it will be of no disadvantage to the Province in general, nor to the Trade of the Town of Boston and most likely to satisfy all Persons who deem themselves aggrieved by the Act aforesaid, that the selectmen of said Town be impowered to grant Licenses to such persons in addition to those already licensed within the same, to exercise the business of selling at public Auction as said Selectmen shall judge reasonable and most for the benefit of the public, so that the number do not exceed ten in any one year — And that a Bill be brought in, in addition to the Act aforesaid for the purposes above mentioned. — Which is humbly submitted

"To His Excellency Thomas Hutchinson Esqr Governor, The honorable his Majesty's Councill, & the honorable the House of Representatives of this Province, in General Court assembled

The Memorial of Isaac Smith and others a Committee of the Merchants trading in Brittish Goods in the Town of Boston humbly sheweth that Whereas your Memorialists, in Concert with their Constituents, did at the last Session of this Honourable Court present a petition praying that such Restrictions might be laid on the Auctioneers in Respect to private Sales of Brittish Goods & Merchandize as your Excellcy: and Honors might think fit — and whereas their said petition was by a Vote of the honourable Court refer'd over to this Session — We your Memorialists with all due Defference to the Wisdom of this honorable Court, beg leave to observe that the Subject of our said petition involves in it nothing less than the very Mercantile Existence of the Importers and Venders of Brittish Goods in this and every trading Town thro this Province; the Ability of the Merchants to pay their proportion of Taxes towards the Support of Government; and even the Subsistance of a vast Number of Tradesmen and their Families who depend on their Employ for the necessaries of Life — and so is of the most interesting Importance —

And whereas an imperfect View of the Case or any Misapprehensions, arising from the Ex-Parte Representation of the Auctioneers, may have the most fatal Effects — We would humbly request; that our said petition may be revived and that this further Restriction be laid, vizt that the public Sales be limited to one Day in a Week & that, previously to passing on the same, we may be heard (in behalf of our Constituents the Body of the Merchants aforesaid) before a Committee of this honourable Court upon the Subject — And your Memorialists as in Duty bound shall ever pray

"To the Honorable the Committee of His Majesty's Council and House of Representatives —

The answer of the Auctioneers in the Town of Boston, to the Memorial of The Importers of British Goods, &c.

May it please your Honors,

Before we go into an Examination of the Considerations offered by the Committee of Importers, to induce your Honors to favor the Prayer of their Petition and Memorial, it will be necessary to observe — That the Act of the General Court limiting the number of Auctioneers in this Town, and giving the Select-men an Imprimatur on their Books and Business, was introduced and enacted upon the Petition, and at the Request, of the Importers of British Goods; and by them then represented as a necessary Restriction in favor of Trade, in which we took no part: — So that if the Auctioneers now enjoy any exclusive Priviledge, it is under the Provision and limitation of the Laws of the Province, and at the express desire of the Persons now complaining. — Whether the limitation of Auctioneers in this Town, or elsewhere, to any particular number whatever, either has been, or ever will be, of any advantage to a trading Community; or whether like most other Restrictions on Trade & Commerce, it will not be found highly detrimental and injurious, is not our Province now to inquire, it is sufficient for us to acquit ourselves of having contributed to the measure. —

That the legislative Body in every well governed Country have an undoubted right to make and establish Laws for the regulating, encouraging, promoting and extending Commerce is agreed on all hands; and that the English Constitution (to which ours bears a near analogy) is admirably calculated for these great Purposes is acceded to. The British Legislature have on all occasions exerted their Authority to this end; but they have ever been slow in granting the Prayer of Petitions similar to this now depending: — In support of this we would only beg leave to adduce one Instance to our purpose, — A number of years ago the Shopkeepers of the Cities, Towns and Boroughs of Great-Britain preferred a Petition to Parliament praying, that a certain sett of Men known by the name of Chapmen or Pedlars might be suppressed, urging for reasons, that these Men carried about large quantities of Merchandize for Sale, and undersold them, which threatned the total ruin of their Trade; and further alledged that these Men were of no benefit to the Nation, inasmuch as they paid no national Taxes. — A long Debate was had upon the matter in Parliament, and finally it was adjudged contrary to the nature of the British Constitution to trample on the Liberty of one Subject to the Emolument or agrandizing of another, and finally an Act was passed that they should be licensed Yearly, and pay the Sum of Forty Shillings Sterling to the Crown

The Committee of the body of Importers lay down as the Basis of all their Arguments this Proposition, namely, — 'That in a Commercial Country, every particular Branch of Trade established for, and conducive to, the general Interest of the Community, justly intitles its Supporters to the special care and attention of the Legislature,' and then add, 'That the Importation of British Goods is what gives life and spirit to every other branch of Trade and Commerce among us.' — In answer to which we shall only say, that admitting the Proposition in its full latitude, it can never be construed to extend to the abrogating, or even curtailing the Rights and Priviledges of any other part of the Community, whether Traders, Husbandmen or Manufacturers; and therefore we hope and assuredly trust, That a Petition of the Importers of British Goods, however dignified in Persons, Estates or Profession, must and ever will require (before so respectable a Committee) the same Test of Truth, and the same support and Foundation in Reason, as the Petition of any other Subject whatever, and will be attended to so far only, as its Tendency to the general good shall be discoverable.

They next alledge, — 'That the allowing of Private Sales by Auctioneers has an inevitable Tendency to establish a Monopoly in their hands, for the benefit of a few Merchants and Manufacturers in England, to the exclusion of the regular Importers of British Goods in America,' — whereas the reverse of this is true, A monopoly has in our Apprehension, always been supposed to mean a restriction or limitation of any particular branch of Trade or Commerce to a Person or Corporation, in exclusion of other Subjects of the same State alike intitled without such Restriction to the use of such particular Trade. — If this Definition be just, we would ask who are striving for a Monopoly (ever odious in a free State) the Petitioners who now pray an Abridgment in us, of a Right we enjoy in common with them, and other our Fellow-Subjects, or we who contend only for the enjoyment of a common Priviledge and Advantage, namely, the buying and selling, for the benefit and support of ourselves and Families. — If a Monopoly or the shadow of one is in the hands of the Auctioneers, it consists in the exclusive liberty we enjoy under the late Laws of the Province of selling Goods at Public Vendue; and this if any how detrimental to Trade in general, or subversive of the rights of the Subject (which by the way we by no means allow) is surely attributive to the Seekers of that Law — The Merchants rather than to the Auctioneers, who never took any part or ever wished either its Promotion or Continuance. — We are, and have, and trust always shall be ready and willing to share in common with our Fellow-Citizens, not only the right of Private and Public Sales, but every other branch of Business — And we think the Insinuation that the Business we carry on under the Sanction of the Laws of the Province, is in any respect comparable to the Trade of the East-India Company, as unfriendly and injurious both to the Community and to us, as it is inapplicable to their present purpose; and we cannot help saying, that as such an Insinuation could answer no good end, it savors too much of the poor, tho' too common expedient, of obviating a merited and expected Charge by making the first Complaint, and this the Importers themselves apprehend, when in their next Paragraph they endeavour to remove the objection, 'That they are seeking their own private good, and labouring only for their own Emolument.'

They next say, 'The Trade of the Town has long been carried on to the satisfaction of the Mother-Country' — That Innovations are dangerous,' &c. — this we do not dispute, nor indeed is it we, but they who desire an alteration of its course — Auctioneers have existed as long as the Importers of British Goods, tho' they have never flourished and grown rich. — But, say the Importers in their next Paragraph, 'The Auctioneers almost universally make their Remittances in Cash or Bills of Exchange, whereas the Merchants export the Produce of the Country,' &c. — To this we beg leave to say — that neither Merchants or Auctioneers will ever remit the Debts they owe in England, or elsewhere, in Cash or Exchange, so long as Remittances can be more beneficially made in the Produce of the Country, or any other Merchandize; nor on the other hand will such Produce or Merchandize be sent, while a better Profit can be made by remitting Cash or Exchange; and we are astonished the Merchants should suppose such Reasons as these could possibly be construed to operate more in their favor than ours, or be even mentioned by them, as giving weight to their Petition — But to put an end to this Objection of theirs in a a word, we do affirm, that the Sum total of the whole Remittance that has ever been made to England by all the Auctioneers in this Town united together during the whole course of their Business, does not amount to more than Seven hundred and eighty-five Pounds Sterling, a mere Fraction when compared with the Sums annually remitted by the Importers of British Goods, or as Shakespeare, we think, more beautifully expresses it, — 'A Mote in the Mind's Eye.'

Their next Paragraph is as extraordinary as the foregoing, namely, That the Purchasers of Goods do not bring all the Money they can possibly collect and scrape together to them, but sometimes carry a small part of it to the Auctioneers, and this they do notwithstanding it is against their Interest. If this Paragraph is attended to, we apprehend it will demonstrably prove the rise of this very urgent application against the Auctioneers, and furnish a Clue sufficient to unravel this mighty Embarrassment on Trade, — The Importers of British Goods, either by very large Capitals, or their very extensive Credit in England, it is probable, will soon be enabled to manage and regulate as they please, the whole British Trade, and confine all Importations of British Goods to themselves, and by this means be able to make what Profits and Estates they please, while the rest of the Community must be contented to act as their Factors and Servants, provided these Importers can remove a few Clogs and Incumbrances out of their way, the principal of which are the Auctioneers in Town, who having in general no Capitals of their own, and depending on the quickness of their Sales for a Living, are obliged to sell for a small Profit, and thereby, induce Country Traders to apply to them, rather than to the Merchant who expects greater Profit; — this we very readily admit is detrimental to the great Gains of the Importers and Wholesale dealers, but we contend that it is highly beneficial to the Community in general.

In answer to the fears and apprehensions of the Petitioners, 'That Fraud and Embezzlement will be encouraged, by the Private Sales of the Auctioneers,' we beg leave to say, That we humbly apprehend, neither the Petitioners, or any one else have ever had any just reason to suppose the Auctioneers of this Town more likely to encourage Fraud or Embezzlement of any kind than the Importers. — It is true while Public Sales were permitted in the Night-time, as well Auctioneers as Buyers were liable to Impositions, but since that matter has been regulated by the Legislature, no danger can accrue. — Our Private Sales are under the same Restrictions, and subject to the same Regulations by Law, as the private Sales of all other Traders; and we flatter ourselves they will never be thought to need any other, by the Legislature or any other candid and disinterested Persons.

We readily admit, 'That Trade is the great mean of Wealth, and that Wealth is essentially necessary to a vigorous and successful Opposition to arbitrary Power,' but we contend, that the more generally the Wealth of the Community is diffused, the better enabled will it ever be to exert its whole Strength upon every occasion; and that nothing can be more alarming to a Free People, than to see the Riches of the State running in a narrow Channel, and into a few hands, because by such means the wealthy few are frequently enabled to arrogate to themselves the Power, as well as the Wealth of the State.

The regard the Petitioners really have for the Community will much better appear from their Actions than their Professions; we do however most chearfully allow, they have often deserved well of their Country, but as we have already said, we hope and trust this will never entitle them, either with your Honors, or any one else, to any undue Advantages or extraordinary Priviledges.

They next go on to pray a further and more grievous Burthen may be laid on the Auctioneers, namely, 'That in addition to their being excluded from all right of Private Sales they should be limited and restricted in their Public Sales to one day in a week,' (directly counteracting the Divine Command, 'Six Days shalt thou labour, and do all thy work;') 'and that an Act might be passed for this purpose and be made Perpetual, or at least extend to a very distant day' — In answer to which we cannot help saying, the Petitioners would have discovered more Humanity, and more of a benevolent Spirit, if they had directly prayed that we and our Families should be literally starved, unless we would consent to become the menial Servants or Slaves to the Importers of British Goods — It reminds us of that old, tho' true Adage, 'That the love of Riches, increases with the increase of Riches;' and we believe we may safely affirm, That Commerce in every Age and Country has sustained more detriment from the endeavors of those, who having gained immense Riches in Trade, have become jealous of their less successful Brethren, than by any other means whatever: — To this Jealousy and this narrow Policy is owing the Existance and vast Wealth of all the great Trading Companies in Europe, who, if they benefited the Community by first extending the limits of Commerce, have always amply compensated themselves by their exclusive and exorbitant Gains.

May it please your Honors.

Having now gone thro' all the Arguments the Petitioners have offered, shall only add, — That as on the one hand we wish for no exclusive Right or Priviledge above our Brethren, so we hope and trust we shall not be especially restrained from the enjoyment of a common Benefit. — That if we are restricted from our private Trade, we can by no means support ourselves or Families, and how much less if our Public Sales should be also limited.

—That with all our advantages so much complained of and so earnestly petitioned against, our Gains bear no Proportion to those of the Importers of British Goods.—That if Goods sent to Auction must always be sold by inch of Candle or the stroke of the Mallet, the necessitous part of the Community who are obliged to sell off their Goods & Effects for ready Money would very often suffer vastly more in their Estates than they now do, while their Goods have the advantage of a private as well as a Public Sale.—That the Act limiting the number of Auctioneers being made to continue only for two Years (one of which is past) no great Injury can be sustained by the Merchants, if their present reasoning is well grounded, because there is no danger the Act, if really injurious to the Trade of the Province, will ever be revived or continued.

May it therefore please your Honors.

For these and other reasons too tedious to enumerate, and which your Wisdom will easily discover, we most humbly pray your Honors would not favor the Prayer of their Petition, but report a dismission thereof. Confiding in the Justice of our Cause, and the unbiassed Integrity of our Judges, we cannot be apprehensive of the Injury intended us, and most chearfullly submit to the Decision of the distinguished Guardians of the natural and constitutional Rights and Liberties of the Subject.—

An Act for regulating Lamps already set up, or that may hereafter be set up for enlightening the Streets, Lanes, Alleys or Passage Ways in the Town of Boston.

Which likewise appears to me to be improper, as it gives the Select Men of Boston, Powers that may be used for purposes of Oppression, against such Persons as they may conceive a dislike to—the Act empowering the Select Men to set an arbitrary Value on any accidental damage done to any Post Iron or other Furniture thereof; and in case of non-payment to recover double the damage and Costs of Prosecution.

There is another Objection to this Act of the same sort, it impowers the Select Men to compel the Owner of a sign or Post which they shall judge to intercept or lessen the light of a Lamp to remove such Sign or Post—it is obvious that any Post or Sign may be so deemed—that this Power may not improbably be used very partially and to serve mischievous purposes especially as the Removal is to be at the Expence of the Owner and there is no Appeal given—I cannot therefore but advise your Lordships to report this Act as fit to be repealed unless your Lordships should judge that it may be better corrected by an Act for that purpose."—*Extract from the report of R. The date of these instructions was Mar. 6, 1771, and, in compliance therewith, the Governor refused his assent to a tax act on the fourth of July of that year. The present act is in the usual form, and makes no exception in favor of the officers of the customs. As this instruction was, in substance, renewed to Governor Gage, and as no evidence has been discovered that it was suspended, or that Hutchinson had permission to disregard it in this particular instance, it is exceedingly difficult to suggest any plausible explanation of his conduct in signing this bill.

The following are the proceedings on the tax bill of 1771: —

"July 4, 1771. The Secretary went down to the House of Representatives with the following Message from his Excellency the Governor viz^t.

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives —

The Secretary has laid before me an Engrossed Bill intitled 'An Act for apportioning and assessing a Tax of fifteen thousand pounds' &c

I find that this Bill is of the same tenor with the Acts which of late years have been annually passed by the General Court. By virtue of those Acts the Assessors in several Towns have taxed the officers of the Crown who have been resident in such Towns for the profits which they receive from their Commissions, although their offices have no peculiar relation to this Province. I doubt whether this could be the intent of the former Acts, but as this construction has been put upon them, I cannot sign another Act in the same form, being expressly forbid by his Majesty's 27^th Instruction from giving my Consent to such an Act upon any pretence whatsoever. I cannot doubt of your being of the same sentiment with me that such a general clause as is now in the Bill which impowers the assessors to Tax all Commissions of profit, needs some qualification, and that it should extend no farther than to Commissions which peculiarly relate to this Province, otherwise any of his Majesty's Servants who may occasionally reside here for a short term may be taxed for the profit which they receive from their Commissions and places in Great Britain and every other part of his Majesty's Dominions. T. HUTCHINSON." — Council Records, vol. XXIX., p. 119.

"July 5, 1771. Mr. Hancock and others a Committee of the House of Representatives waited on his Excellency the Governor with the following Message viz^t —

May it please your Excellency

The House of Representatives have taken into consideration your Excellency's Message of this day. The reason you are pleased to assign for withholding your assent to the Tax Bill is surprizing and alarming. We know of no Commissioners of his Majesty's Customs, nor of any Revenue his Majesty has a right to establish in North America: We know and feel a Tribute levied and extorted from those, who if they have property, have a Right to the absolute disposal of it.

By the Royal Charter it is expressly granted that the General Assembly shall have full power and authority to impose and levy proportionable and reasonable assessments, Rates and Taxes upon the Estates and Persons of all and every the Proprietors and Inhabitants of this Province: Hence it plainly appears that the power of raising and levying Taxes is vested in the General Assembly; and that power which has the sole right of raising and levying Taxes, has an uncontroulable Right to order and direct in what way and manner and upon whom such Taxes shall be raised and levied. Therefore for your Excellency to withhold your assent to this Bill merely by force of Instruction is effectually vacating the Charter and giving Instructions the force of Laws within this Province. And we are constrained to say that your Excellency's present determination is to be governed by them tho' this should be the consequence. We must further observe that such a doctrine, if established, would render the Representatives of a free people, mere Machines; and they would be reduced to this fatal alternative either to have no Taxes levied and raised at all, or to have them raised and levied in such way and manner and upon those only whom his Majesty pleases.

As to the operation of Law mentioned in your Excellencys Message the Law of this Province, at least in this respect, has rightly operated as it ever ought to, and we know no reason nor any semblence of reason why the Commissioners, their superior or subordinate officers who are equally protected with the other Inhabitants, should be exempted from paying their full proportion of Taxes for the support of Government within this Province." — Ibid., p. 125.

"I shall only observe upon your Message presented me this day in Answer to my Message to you of yesterday, that whatever may be the Rights of the General Assembly in matters of Taxation, the Crown hath certainly reserved to itself the Prerogative of disallowing every Law of what nature soever; and as the disallowance of a Tax Act, after it is in part executed, would cause great perplexity, I think that his Majesty's Instruction pointing out to you, through me his Servant, those parts of your Tax Acts which he disapproves of, should be considered as an instance of his tenderness and paternal regard to his Subjects and that it is not liable to the least exception. I shall transmit my Message and this your extraordinary Answer to be laid before his Majesty." — Extract from Gov. Hutchinson's speech to the House, July 5, 1771: ibid., p. 129.

The committee appointed upon the petition of the inhabitants of the town of Taunton, praying for a settlement of the bounds between Taunton and Middleborough, having reported April 19, 1771, they, —

"At the same time laid before the Court an Account of their time and expences in the above affair; upon which the following Order passed viz^t. In Council, Read and sent down.

"June 1, 1771. The House according to Order enter'd into the further Consideration of the Circumstances of such Towns as have return'd no Members to represent them in this Assembly.

Chap. 23. The preamble of this chapter recites that "the westerly part of Richmont hath by one law of this province, made in the seventh year of his present majesty's reign, been incorporated into a distinct town by the name of Richmont." This appears to be a mistake. The easterly part of Richmont was, in that year, incorporated into a district by the name of Lenox (1766–67, chapter 11), but the plantations of Yokum and Mount Ephraim had been incorporated, the year before, into a town by the name of Richmont (1765–66, chapter 16).

The separation of the district of Lenox from Richmont, did indeed leave to the latter the westerly part of the town, but it is not accurate to say that the territory so left was then re-incorporated by the old name.

Chap. 24. In the note to 1772–73, chapter 30, ante, reference was made to the resolves of the Legislature for equitably adjusting the conflicting claims of certain proprietors and purchasers of lands, in Ashfield, sold for the non-payment of taxes. These resolves, and the proceeding upon which they were founded are given below.

Neither these resolves, nor the act above mentioned, having been found sufficient to settle all disputes, partly on account of the illegality of the meetings of the proprietors at which their agents were chosen, and partly for other reasons which appear in the preamble, further legislation was deemed indispensable, and the present chapter — the final action of the General Court towards repairing the injury inflicted by their own unjust legislation — was enacted.

"June 14, 1771. A Petition of Obadiah Dickinson and others a Committee of the proprietors of Ashfield in the County of Hampshire — Setting forth — That the proceedings of the said Proprietors respecting the sale of some of the delinquent Proprietors Lands are by some supposed to be not strictly legal, and if the same should not be established the Propriety will be thrown into the greatest confusion: And praying that a Committee may be appointed to examine the whole proceedings of the said Proprietors and report what shall appear to them upon such examination; and in case their proceedings shall be found not to occasion any other or further wrong to those delinquents whose Lands have been sold than might have happened by a sale of the same in every respect conformable to the said acts, that then their said proceedings may be established; the want of entire conformity to Law notwithstanding.

In Council, Read and Ordered that William Sever and Timothy Woodbridge Esq^rs. with such as shall be joined by the hon^ble. House be a Committee to take this Petition into consideration and report what they think proper this Court should do thereon.

In the House of Representatives, Read and Concurred and Colonel Gilbert, Col^o. Williams of Hatfield and M^r. Ingersoll are joined. In Council, Ordered that Caleb Cushing Esq^r. be of the Committee abovementioned in the room of William Sever Esq^r. who is absent.

"June 24, 1771. The Committee appointed the 21 instant on the Petition of Obadiah Dickinson and others a Committee of the Proprietors of Ashfield, made the following Report viz^t — The Committee of the two Houses appointed to take under consideration the Petition of the Proprietors of the Town of Ashfield, and to report facts relative to the proceedings of said Proprietors; the said Committee have attended that service, but find the length of time, the many and various matters that have been transacted and the perplexities into which the said Proprietors are thereby involved, and the Committee not being furnished with the Records of the Clerk of said Proprietors, renders it impracticable for the Committee in any perfect manner to ascertain the numerous facts that appears necessary for the Court to be acquainted with in order to take measures for the removing the difficulties which the said Town of Ashfield labours under, and which will enevitably prove the ruin of that place unless prevented by the interposition of the General Court — Wherefore the Committee beg leave to report it as their opinion that a Committee of both Houses be ordered in the recess of the General Court to repair to the Town of Ashfield and that the Proprietors of said Town be ordered to call a meeting of the Proprietors to assemble within the Town of Ashfield at the same time that the Committee shall attend the service, and that timely and sufficient notice be given both to resident and nonresident Proprietors of the time and place of said meeting by posting up a notification on the fore-side of the meeting house in said Ashfield fourteen days before said meeting and by publishing the same in three of the Boston Weekly News papers twenty days before said meeting of the time, place and occasion of said meeting that the Committee may make a perfect enquiry into the proceedings of the Proprietors and the grievances complained of by the Petitioners; and that the cost and charge of the said Committee be paid as this Court shall hereafter order; That the Committee make report of the facts, and circumstances of said Town of Ashfield on the third Wednesday of the next sitting of the General Court and what they shall judge ought to be done thereon, And that all further proceedings, Actions and Suits relative to the doings of the said Proprietors be staid in the mean time. Chap. 26. "Province of Massachusetts Bay } To his Excellency Thomas Hutchinson Esq Captain General & Governor in Chief in and over his Majesty's Province of Massachusetts Bay The honourable his Majesty's Council and House of Representatives in General Court assembled at Boston y^e 31^st Day of May 1773 —

The Inhabitants of the first Parish in the Town of Springfield in the County of Hampshire, humbly Shew —

That about the Year 1636 a Number of Persons from Boston and the neighbouring Towns, travelled across the Country hither to explore the Lands on Connecticut River; and having found that Tract of Intervale Land that is now called the great Field on the west Side Connecticut River in this Town, from it's Circumstances and Quality strongly inviting Improvement, they determined to settle beside it — and very soon removed themselves and their Families here — Considering however the Situation of these Lands and of those that lie around them, & the most likely Methods of Subsistence & Improvement, in their then very feeble infant State, so far removed into the Wilderness; they determined to fix their Dwellings on the East Side, altho' the Lands which were the grand Inducement to their Migration and Settlement, were on the west Side said River — Accordingly they began the Settlement of this Parish and laid out and divided among themselves in that & a few succeeding Years, the House Lots which have been the House Lots of themselves, their Children, Descendants and Successors, from their Beginning to this Time; and are now the principal of the House Lots of the Petitioners living in the midst of said Parish; and lie abutting on said River, which alone now divides them from the same Field; in which Field the greatest and best Part of their Meadow and Tillage Lands have always heretofore been, and still are to this Day —

That many Years after the first Settlement here on the East Side, some few Persons removed themselves to dwell on the West Side said River, & settled themselves around and in the neighbourhood of said General Field — And in the Year were increased to such a Number, as to be made a Parish distinct from the Inhabitants on the East Side said River, with this special Regulation and Restriction, viz'. That the Lands only which the Inhabitants on the West Side said River owned and improved, should be liable to be taxed, in said second or West Parish — In Consequence of which and subsequent Regulations respecting the Lands in said Field; they have always been taxable and taxed for parochial Dues, only in the Parish where the then present Owner dwelt —

That exclusive of Wilbraham, which is set off from it, the said Town now consists of five Parishes, two on the East, and two on the west Side said River, and the fifth being on the North, & commonly called Chicabee Parish, lies partly on each Side said River making in the whole 803 rateable Polls; 427 of which are on the East, & 376 of them on the West Side said River.

That some Years since, when the Town was in great Peace, the Inhabitants on the West Side said River in said Town, induced only by the Consideration of their Situation and Increase, requested the Town for their Consent to a Division of the same by Connecticut River, which the said Town then declining, they being well united and happy together, the Matter was no farther pursued —

That from our earliest Memory, and as we have heard from our Fathers, the Town of Springfield even from it's Beginning, has been happily distinguished from many others, by the unity and Concord, with which the Inhabitants have managed their public Affairs, till very lately — But that within a very few years past, that Happiness has began to suffer some Interruptions — and some Matters of Dispute have arisen as needless as disagreable particularly to relate of very little Consequence in themselves, chiefly between the Inhabitants on the different Sides of said River — There have been the little Seeds of Contention — which if they have not been industriously cherished, have been unhappily kept alive, and have at last increased to great Discord and Confusion — The Degree to which these Disputes have arisen & the unhapiness of the present State of the Town, we conceive cannot be better communicated to your Excellency & Honors in few Words, than by saying that the Town spent four Days at their last March Meeting, in choosing the ordinary annual Officers of the Town, which they have most commonly chosen in the half of one — nor would they have finished that Business so soon, if they had not fallen on the Expedient they did, to suspend the melancholy Influence of the Animosities that subsisted among them — which Expedient & the Proceedings thereon your Petitioners beg Leave particularly to relate —

The Town, after two or three Days time spent in fruitless Contention in their Meeting; observing, as we conceive, with general Concern, the very unhappy State they were in, and the absolute Necessity they were under of receeding from that Spirit of Contention & Discord — and adopting more moderate Measures; chose a large Committee from the several Parts of said Town 'to consider their State, and the Disputes & Animosities that subsisted between the several Parts, the Matters that lay before the Meeting to be acted upon, and the Imbarrassments that attended the same, and to project some Method for their Removal' — The Meeting being adjourned for that Purpose, the Committee accordingly met, and entered into a very serious Consideration of the matters referred to them, and on such Consideration thereof have reported their Opinion 'That the said Town is in a most unhappy and melancholy State, that considering the Situation and Circumstances of the Town, and the Inclinations & Tempers of the Inhabitants, there is no Prospect they can longer manage their public Affairs to mutual and general Advantage in one intire corporate Body — but that it is quite necessary there should be some Division thereof —

'That no Mode or Terms of Division can be devised which the Generality of the Inhabitants in the several Parts of the Town, would accede to & acquiesce in — 'That it is consequently absolutely necessary for the Peace and Happiness of the whole, that the Mode & Terms of their Division should be referred and submitted to the Determination of judicious & disinterested Persons, from abroad —

'They therefore farther report their Opinion and Advice to the Town that (as the only Expedient to restore Peace or to prevent the various increasing Mischiefs of Discord and Contention among them & so remove the Imbarrassments aforesaid) they should now unitedly agree to petition the General Assembly at their next Sessions for such Division of the Town as may by them be thought best, and that a Committee of the Assembly may then be appointed of judicious & disinterested Gentlemen to repair to this Town, to view the Situation of it's Parts to consider it's Circumstances & to judge at large thereon what Division, and on what Terms and Conditions, shall be made thereof, and to report the same to the End that the Town may by the said Assembly be divided in such manner as may in all Respects be best; and that a Committee of the Town be now appointed to petition therefor accordingly —

'That whereas the Town heretofore voted the Sum of two hundred Pounds towards building a Bridge over Agawam River, and appointed a Committee to build a Bridge in Case &c. as by their Votes appears, and whereas the said Committee have proceeded in said Business and procured great Part of the Timbers for the same, touching which the said Committee are apprehensive great and sharp Disputes & Contentions will arise, unless prevented by some prudent and amicable Composition and Agreement they beg leave to report the following Proposal of an Agreement thereon, which they approve themselves and recommend to the Town for their Acceptance. viz^{t} —

'That of the Stock of Money or Securities for Money in the Treasury of said Town, brought in or due for Lands sold or otherwise (not brought in by Taxes, nor specially appropriated by the Donors to the Support of the Poor, nor otherwise specially appropriated) amounting to about £459-16-7. the Inhabitants on the west Side Connecticut River in said Town should have such Proportion of the same as they are assessed on the last Assessment in said Town; and the Inhabitants on the East Side said River in said Town, shall have the Residue thereof when Division shall take Place between them. That at present the said Committee for building said Bridge should receive of the same, to the amount of two hundred Pounds as Part of the Proportion aforesaid of the Inhabitants on the west Side of said River, to be improved in defreying the Charge and Expence of building & finishing said Bridge, the s^{d} Committee indemnifying the Town from any farther Expence for the same Bridge in future, and that on such proposed Division of the said Town, the Inhabitants on the West Side said River to receive the Residue of the Proportion aforesaid of such Stock in the Treasury; the Remainder thereof to be for the Inhabitants on the East Side, to be disposed of as they shall agree or as shall be ordered for them; the Division of said Stock both at present and hereafter to be made reasonably, having proper Regard to the Quality of said Debts and the Probability of speedy Payment thereof, by a Committee to be appointed for that Purpose —

'That in the mean Time the Grammar School in said Town be kept where it is at present' —

The Town abundantly sensible of the Truth and Justice of the Substance of that Report of their Committee, did at their Meeting afterwards or the Adjournment accept the same — only with this Amendment, that instead of applying directly to this honourable Assembly for a Committee to hear consider & determine of a Division of said Town — they agreed to refer the Matter to an impartial Committee to be appointed by themselves, to repair to said Town, to view the Situation of its Parts, to consider its Circumstances, and to judge at large thereon; what Division and on what Terms & Conditions such Division should be made thereof — And made Choice of Erastus Woolcut Esq of Windsor in Connecticut, William Williams Esq of Hatfield, & Joseph Root Esq of Montague as a Committee for that Purpose —

The same Committee soon afterwards at the Request of the said Town repaired hither, heard all Parties from the several Parishes of the said Town on the Matter & Mode of Division aforesaid — and after full Hearing and Consideration of the same, made their Report in Writing to the Town under their Hands — a Copy of which is herewith humbly presented to your Excellency and Honors —

The said Town afterwards (which your Petitioners are very sorry to be obliged to relate) very inconsistently (as they conceive) with their former Votes, or the pretended Sincerity with which they made their Submission aforesaid to their said Committee; did by a very small Majority, refuse the Acceptance of the said Committee's Report — And so the good Effects that were hoped for from that Submission and Reference, are in Danger to be lost, unless by the Aid of your Excellency and Honors prevented —

Your Petitioners are very Sensible (as the Town by their Vote aforesaid have declared themselves to be) that a Division of the same is absolutely necessary for the Peace and Happiness thereof in future — and they are persuaded, the Town refused to accept said Committee's Report, not from any Change of Sentiments with Regard to the Necessity of a Division, but from Dislike to some Circumstances respecting the Mode and Terms thereof — your Petitioners are also fully persuaded, that said Committee discovered great Judgment Impartiality & Wisdom in their Report, both with Respect to a Division and the Mode and Conditions of it — and that it would finally promote the Interest of all Parties to abide by their s^{d} Submission and to be ready to rest in the Report aforesaid —

They therefore pray your Excellency and Honors Consideration of the Premises, and that the said Town may be divided according to the Report of said Committee, or in such other Manner as your Excellency & Honors shall think best; to prevent farther Contention, Discord & Confusion among this People, and to promote the general Tranquility of the whole —

And they as in Duty bound shall pray —

"Province of the Massachusetts Bay } To his Excellency Thomas Hutchinson Esqr, Govenor in chief in and over his Majestys said Province; the Honorable his Majestys Council, and the Honorable House of Representatives of the said Province; in General Court assembled, January 26th, 1774. —

The Petition of the Inhabitants, of the Third Parish, in the Town of Springfield, in the County of Hampshire, & Province aforesaid. humbly sheweth. —

That, although the Settlement of that Part of said Springfield, now known by the Name of the third Parish, or Long Meadow, began about the same Time as the Settlements in s^d^ Town — yet the Inhabitants of the said Third Parish, for a great Number of years, with chearfulness, & Harmony, attended at the first Parish, to enjoy the Civil and Religious Priviledges of the said Town — That their Numbers increasing, & thereby rendering their Attendance at the first Parish, more and more Burdensome; upon Application to the Town, & the General Court, setting forth, 'the Difficultys they laboured under.' in the year 1713 they were incorporated into a seperate Parish, by the Name of Long Meadow. by which Means they were considerably relieved, by being enabled to transact a considerable part of their Concerns as a Society, among themselves. — since which Time (more than Sixty years) your Petitioners, & their Predcessors, have been obliged to attend at the first Parish, to transact all Town Affairs. — which has been attended with great Expence and Difficulty, considering the Distance, few living less than four Miles, & many seven, or Eight Miles distant, from the usual Place of holding Town Meetings. to this might be added, the great Difficulty of travelling, at that Season of the year, when the most important Part of Town Business is by Law required to be transacted. — & also the extraordinary Time, which is unavoidably taken up, in transacting the publick Business of so large a Town, more than would be necessary, in smaller Societys — They also further humbly shew. that the Town of Springfield, (consisting of Five Parishes,) as they are greatly Scatter,d in their Situation; so they are greatly divided in their Interests. which much retards the Dispatch of publick Business, & prevents that Harmony, and Unanimity, from taking Place in their Publick Meetings, which has been peculiarly enjoyed, by your Petitioners in transacting their Parish Affairs, & which they most heartily wish to enjoy, in all their publick Concerns; but despair of, whilst connected with such a large Body, whose Interest is so different from theirs, in many Cases, as renders it very difficult, if not impossible, to obtain, what they call Justice, from them as a Town. — in particular, they beg leave to mention — That though by Reason of their Situation, the Repairs of High Ways, in the third Precinct, are more expensive in one year, than those in the first Parish are in four or five — yet the Town have always refused, ('tho repeatedly requested) to defray any Part of the Expence of such Repairs. & your Petitioners have always been obliged, to do all Repairs within their Precinct, at their own Charges. — We would also beg leave further to represent, the difficultys, we, in comon with the Town, labour under, by being obliged to transact our Publick Affairs together. We experience the Difficulty, of having suitable Persons appointed to places of trust, in our several Parishes; as their Qualifications are mostly unknown, to the Majority of Voters. — the Difficultys the Select-Men, labour under in managing the Prudentials of the Town; taking Care of the Poor; providing private Schools &c — the great Difficulty of Meeting, if they are chosen out of the several Parishes, being apt to render them remiss in their Duty. or, if chosen near together, the greatest Part of the Town would be deprived, of the Benefit of their Inspection, and oversight — & also we experience the Disadvantage, of having Assessors, who must unavoidably be unacquainted with the Circumstances, and Estate, of the greatest Part of those they assess — Your Petitioners having been long sensible, of these Disadvantages, and Difficultys, which continue to encrease, in Proportion to the Increase of Inhabitants. — & being now about Ninty Familys, & the Inhabitants of the said third Parish daily increasing. — they are desirous of having those Difficultys removed, in the only Manner which appears to remain for their Relief — viz of being incorporated into a Distinct, and seperate District. or Town. — for which Purpose, by an Unanimous Vote of the Inhabitants of said third Parish, application was made to the said Town, at their annual Town Meeting in March 1772, for their Consent. that your Petitioners might be set off as a distinct & seperate Town, or District — under certain Restrictions and Regulations — which was then Voted as petition,d for, (as the Petitioners understood.) — but some Difficultys happening in the construction of the said Vote — & the Circumstances of the Town, still rendering the Disadvantages of an Union with them, greater & greater; your Petitioners again applied to the Town, at a legal Town Meeting on the Seventeenth of January Instant. for their Consent to be set off as a distinct Town or District. — at which Meeting the said Town Voted 'That they consent that the said third Parish, be set off as a distinct Town or District, by the Limits they now enjoy as a Parish,' under certain Restrictions & Regulations therein mentioned — agreable to the Vote of the said Town herewith exhibited. — Your Petitioners therefore most humbly supplicate your Excellency and Honors, that they may be relieved from the Difficultys, they now Labour under, as above specified; (& which prove a great Discouragement from the Settlement of the yet uncultivated Lands in the said Parish,) by granting the Prayer of this Petition. viz: That the said Third Parish of the Town of Springfield, may be incorporated into a seperate & distinct Town, or District, with all the Priviledges, and Immunities of other Towns, in this Province; (that only of sending a Representative to y^e^ Great & General Court excepted in the Choice of whom, they are still willing to join with the said Town of Springfield.) agreable to the said last mentioned Vote, of the said Town of Springfield. — by granting of which Petition, we shall not only be greatly relieved of those Burdens which we have long born — be enabled to transact the Business of the Society, with much less trouble and expence, and more to our own Satisfaction; but also we apprehend the Peace, & Prosperity of the whole Town, will be thereby increased; and no Disadvantage, that we can conceive of, will thereby accrue to the Publick, or any Part of the said Town. — And as in Duty bound will ever pray

"The Comtee of both Houses to whom were referred the Petitions of the Inhabitants of the First Parish in Springfield and the Petitions of numbers of the Inhabitants of the Third and Fourth Parishes in said Town respectively, praying for a General Division of the said Town by Connecticut River under certain Restrictions &c

& The Petition of the Inhabitants of that part of the said Town of Springfield that is called and known by the Name of Stony Hill* praying that they may be made a seperate District, and the Petition of the Inhabitants of the third Parish in said Town commonly called Long Meadow Parish, praying that they also may be made a seperate District, and the Petition from a Number of the Inhabitants of said Long Meadow Parish praying that the Prayer of the Petition of that Parish might not be granted — And the Answer to the Town of Springfield to the three first of said Petitions. Have carefully attended to the said Petitions and Answer & fully heard the Agents for the Petitioners for a general Division of said Town, and the Agent of the Town and their Council respecting such general Division &c And beg leave to Report

That the Petition of the Inhabitants of the Third Parish in said Springfield called Long Meadow Parish be dismiss'd.

That they are of opinion considering the number and circumstances of the Inhabitants of that part of said Springfield called Stony Hill which live within the limits in their petition aforesaid mentioned; that It would not be consistent with the wisdom of the Assembly or the Interest of those People that the Prayer of their Petition should at present be granted At the same time, the Comtee are of Opinion, That as their local Circumstances are such that they can receive little or no Advantage in Regard to public Worship in the first and fourth Parishes to which they belong in said Town, That altho they should continue to be taxed to all Parish charges in common with others in said Parishes, yet that they should for the future and until this Court shall otherwise order be intitled to receive from the Treasurys of said Parishes from Year to Year, so much money as they shall pay into the same respectively to be improved for the purpose of procuring Preaching among themselves, provided they improve the same moneys for that purpose only. — And the Inhabitants of the said Parishes be enabled to raise so much more money than otherwise they need in Order to Supply the Deficiency thereby occasioned of what may be necessary to defrey their respective Parish Charges Annually.

The said Comtee further report That the Town of Springfield be divided into two distinct and Seperate Towns by connecticut River, under the Condition or restriction hereafter mentioned — And that the part of the said Town of Springfield that now is, That lies on the East side said Connecticut River be and remain the Town of Springfield. And that the part of said Town that lies on the West side said River be erected into a distinct and seperate Town with all the Powers and priviledges of a Town, excepting only and providing, with regard to the Lands in the great and general Field so called on the West side sd Connecticut River in said Town that lie Southerly of a line running from the Ferry over said River at the upper Wharf so called, to the Pond called Turtle pond in said Field, and from thence to the West end of the Hill called New Field Hill, and from thence to the Ferry over Agunam River at Moses Leonards, That such part of said Land (so lying in said Field Southerly of said Line) as is or may be owned by any of the Inhabitants on the East side said Connecticut River in said Springfield shall be taxable and taxed for all Province, County, Town and Parish Charges only in said Town of Springfield at all times hereafter.

That in such Division the Inhabitants on each side said River shall divide or Support together the poor of said Town in proportion as they pay to the Charges of said Town in their last Assessment; & pay all the present Debts of the Town in the same proportion And that they shall share between themselves in the same proportion all the Town Moneys Debts and Stock of Ammunition excepting £200 — agreed by said Town to be appropriated to the Building a Bridge on Chicaber River, which sum also if it be not made use of for that purpose in the Space of ten Years shall also be divided in the same proportion. — And that all the Ministerial School Lands belonging to sd. Town of Springfield & lying in the outward Comon so called there both on the East & West Sides of sd Connecticut River be holden or divided between the Inhabitants of the sd two Towns in the same

"An Act for incorporating West Springfield The Governor formerly had an Instruction to make no new Towns unless care was taken that the number of the Representatives * which afterwards was relaxed and extended to Towns only which were made out of old Towns. The Instruction is now wholly withdrawn I have however so far as respects the division of old Towns generally governed myself by the reason of the Instruction and I dont remember any instances of my assent to any Bill without such exception. The Town of Springfield is a very large Town,— Connecticut River as wide as the Thames at London Bridge runs through the middle of it. Now it is divided each Town is larger than by far the greater part of the other Towns in the Province. If I had refused my assent to the Bill there was no probability of another Bill with the usual exception Chapter five [chapter 19] for incorporating Leverett has not so good a claim as this Act. I must acknowledge I gave my assent suddenly and upon further consideration should have refused it. Seeing the increase of weight will in some degree follow the increase of numbers in the House of Representatives it requires some provision to prevent such increase of numbers."— *Gov. Supplementary note to chapter 1. — The following extracts from "The Diary and Letters," &c., of Governor Hutchinson, published since the foregoing notes were prepared, show that this chapter had been laid aside for disallowance, as early as August 17, 1774. They also show that, as late as the 12th of the same month, the field-pieces had not been shipped. This agrees with Hutchinson's statement in his History, that "the person intrusted with this money applied it to other uses, and desired his correspondent in England to send the field-pieces, promising remittance. This caused some delay, or, for some other reason, they were not shipped, until the disorders rose to such heights in the province, that the ministry, receiving information that such pieces were preparing, gave orders to stop them." — (Vol. 3, p. 390, note) : —

"Aug. 12, 1774. M^r^ Pain informed me he had not shipped the field-pieces. He delayed because of a report that they were designed to oppose the King's troops: and L^d^ North, he says, advised to it. Afterwards, from some losses in America, he took up a resolution to give no credit in America, N^o^ nor S^o^ [?]; and as Cushing had made him no remittance, he would not ship them. I told him they were sent for upon my recommendation, and he thereupon agreed to send them to M^r^ Pepperrell, to be delivered upon payment being secured." — Diary, p. 218.

"Aug. 17, 1774. M^r^ Pownall called also. I mentioned to him the affair of the field-pieces. He said the Act for purchasing them was laid by, and would be disallowed: and that the Act for vendue masters was actually disallowed. I told him I hoped both was done before my arrival; otherwise they would be charged to me. The Vendue Bill, he said, was [disallowed] long before." — Ibid., p. 222.

CHAPTER 2.

AN ACT FOR MAINTAINING A LIGHTHOUSE UPON BRANT POINT, AT THE ENTRANCE OF THE HARBOUR OF NANTUCKET.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the inhabitants of the island of Nantucket, at their own cost and charge, have, at different times, erected three lighthouses upon Brant Point, at the entrance of the harbour of Nantucket, the first of which was destroyed by fire, and the second by a violent gust of wind; the third is now standing and is absolutely necessary for all vessels coming in and going out of said harbour, but the inhabitants of said island have hitherto borne all the charge of erecting and maintaining the said lighthouse, which burthen ought, in equity, to be borne by all vessels receiving advantage from that light, belonging to strangers as well as to the said inhabitants who have humbly petitioned this court for relief, —

Therefore be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives, Vessels of fifteen tons and upwards, to pay.

[SECT. 1.] That from and after the first day of August, Anno Domini one thousand seven hundred and seventy-four, all vessels of fifteen tons burthen and upwards, coming in or going out of said harbour of Nantucket, shall pay the sum of six shillings at the time of their first coming in or going out; and no further sum shall be demanded of any such vessel for the space of twelve months next following.

And be it further enacted,

CHAPTER 3.

AN ACT FOR INCORPORATING A TRACT OF LAND IN THE COUNTY OF WORCESTER, KNOWN BY THE NAME OF RUTLAND DISTRICT, INTO A TOWN BY THE NAME OF HUTCHINSON.

Preamble

Whereas the north-westerly part of the township of Rutland, in the county of Worcester, at the session of the general court begun and held on the 28th day of March, 1753, was incorporated into a district by the name of Rutland District, and invested with all the powers and privileges that towns in this province do or may enjoy, that of sending a representative to the general assembly only excepted; and whereas the said district, which is of the contents of six miles square, is now competently filled with inhabitants, who have made it appear to this court that it is very inconvenient for them to join with the town of Rutland and the districts of Oakham and Hubbardston in the choice of representatives (as by law they are now obliged), by reason of their great distance from the place of election, they living, many of them, sixteen miles therefrom, —

Be it therefore enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives,

Incorporated into a town, &c.

[Sect. 1.] That the said Rutland District be and hereby is incorporated into a town by the name of Hutchinson, and that the inhabitants thereof be and hereby are invested with all the powers, privileges and immunities that the inhabitants of towns in this province, by law, do or ought to enjoy.

And be it further enacted,

District officers empowered, until new ones are chosen by the town.

[Sect. 2.] That all the several district officers in said district that have been chosen into, and have actually been legally in, office in said district until the passing of this act, shall be and hereby are impowered to continue and exercise all the powers, in the several offices in said town, that they might, by law, have exercised in said district if this act had not been made, until new officers may be chosen in said town, in the month of March next; and that the selectmen that now are in said district, be and hereby are impowered to call a meeting of the inhabitants of said town in the month of March next, for the choice of all town officers, in all respects as they might have called a meeting of the said district if this act had not been passed. [Passed June 17.

Selectmen empowered to call a meeting.

CHAPTER 4.

AN ACT IN ADDITION TO AN ACT INTITULED "AN ACT FOR THE INCORPORATING THE WEST PART OF THE TOWN OF STOCKBRIDGE, INTO A DISTRICT BY THE NAME OF WEST STOCKBRIDGE," MADE AND PASSED IN THE PRESENT YEAR OF HIS MAJESTY'S REIGN.

Preamble.

12 Mass., 400.

Whereas, in and by the said act, the lines and limits of the said district of West Stockbridge are described as followeth; that is to say, "beginning at the north-west corner of the said town," meaning the town of Stockbridge, "and thence, running southerly, upon the west line of said town, to the south-west corner of the same"; "thence, running easterly, in the south line of said town, one mile and an half; thence, running northerly, in a line parallel with the west line of said town, to the north line of the same"; "and from thence, in the same north line, to the said north-west corner first mentioned": by which it appears that the said district of West Stockbridge is but one mile and an half in width, which is to the great damage of the inhabitants of said district and to others who ought, at that time, to have been incorporated with them; and it being now made evident to this court that it was the intent of the general court, at the time of making and passing the act before mentioned, that the said district should have been two miles and an half in width; wherefore, —

Be it enacted by the Governor, Council and House of Representatives, Bounds described.

That the lines and limits of the said district of West Stockbridge shall be as follows; that is to say, beginning at the north-west corner of said district, which was the north-west corner of the township of Stockbridge, and, from thence, running southerly, upon the west line of said district, which was the west line of Stockbridge, to the south-west corner of the said district, which was the south-west corner of Stockbridge; thence, running easterly, in the south line of said district, which was the south line of Stockbridge, two miles and an half; thence, running northerly, in a line parallel with the west line before mentioned, to the north line of that tract of land which, before the passing of said act, was the township of Stockbridge, and, from thence, in the north line of that tract of land which was formerly the township of Stockbridge, to the north-west corner first mentioned:

Inhabitants entitled to privileges and subjected to duties.

and that all the inhabitants now dwelling, or who may hereafter dwell, within the limits and lines last described, shall be intitled to all the privileges, and subjected to all the duties, that the inhabitants of said district, in and by the act aforesaid, are intitled or subjected to. [Passed June 17.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 2.] That the treasurer do forthwith send out his warrants, directed to the selectmen or assessors of each town, district, parish or other place, within this province, that are taxed, requiring them, respectively, to assess the sum hereby set upon such town, district, parish or other place, in manner following; that is to say, to assess all rateable polls above the age of sixteen years, within their respective towns, districts, parishes or other places, or next adjoining to them, belonging to no other town or place, at one shilling and one penny; and proportionably in assessing the additional sum paid out of the treasury to the representatives, for their travel and attendance aforesaid; and for other sums assessed on several towns and other places over and above their proportion of the province tax (excepting the governor, lieutenant-governor and their families, the president, fellows, professors, Hebrew instructor, students of Harvard College, settled ministers and grammar-school masters, who are hereby exempted as well for being taxed for their polls, as their estates being in their own hands, and under their actual management and improvement; as also the estate pertaining to Harvard College); and other persons, if such there be, who, thro' age, infirmity or extreme poverty, in the judgment of the assessors, are not able to pay towards public charges, they may exempt their polls or estate, or abate part of what they are set at, as in their prudence they shall think fit and judge meet.

Treasurer to issue his warrants to the selectmen or assessors.

Rules for assessment.

[Sect. 3.] And the justices in their general sessions, in their respective counties assembled, in granting a county tax or assessment, are hereby ordered and directed to apportion the same on the several towns, districts, parishes and other places in such county, in proportion to the province tax; and the assessors of each town in the province are also directed, in making an assessment, to govern themselves by the same rule; and the incomes of all estates, both real and personal, lying within the limits of such town, district, parish or other place, or next unto the same, not paying elsewhere, in whose hands, tenure, occupation or possession the same is or shall be found, and also the incomes or profits which any person or persons, except as before excepted, do or shall receive from any trade or faculty, business or employment whatsoever, and all profits which shall or may arise by money, or commissions of profits, in their improvement, at one shilling per pound; and to abate or multiply the same, if need be, so as to make up the sum set and ordered hereby for each town, district, parish or other place to pay; and in making said assessment, to estimate houses and lands to the amount of six years' yearly rent whereat the same may be reasonably set or let for in the place where they lie; the said houses and lands to be taxed to such persons as shall be the actual tenants thereof upon the first day of September next: saving all agreements between landlord and tenant, and where no agreement is, the landlord to reimburse one-half of the tax set upon such houses and lands (new cleared lands for tillage not to be rated until the first crop be taken off); and to estimate Indian, negro and molatto servants proportionably as other personal estate, according to their sound judgment or discretion; as also to estimate every ox of four years old and upwards, at forty shillings; every cow or heifer of three years old and upwards, at thirty shillings; and every horse and mare of three years old and upwards, at forty shillings; and every swine of one year old and upwards, at eight shillings; goats and sheep of one year old and upwards, at three shillings each; the several beasts aforementioned to be taxed to their respective owners or occupants, by the assessors of the town in which the owners or occupants dwell: likewise requiring the assessors to make a fair list of said assessment, setting forth, in distinct columns, against each particular person's name, how much he or she is assessed at for polls, and how much for houses and lands, and how much for personal estate, and income by trade and faculty, and if as guardian, or for any estate, in his or her improvement, in trust, to be distinctly expressed; and the list or lists so perfected, and signed by them, or the major part of them, to commit to the collector or collectors, constable or constables, of any such town or district, parish or other place, and to return a certificate of the name or names of such collector or collectors, constable or constables, with the sum total to each of them committed, unto himself, some time before the first day of December next.

Lists to be committed to constables or collectors.

Treasurer to issue his warrants to constables or collectors.

[SECT. 4.] And the treasurer for the time being, on receipt of such certificate, is hereby impowered and ordered to issue forth his warrants to the collector or collectors, constable or constables, of such town, district, parish or other place, requiring him or them, respectively, to collect the whole of each respective sum assessed on each particular person, and to pay in their collection, and to issue their accounts of the whole, at or before the tenth day of March, which will be in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and seventy-five.

And be it further enacted,

Notice to be given to the inhabitants, to bring in a true list of polls, and estate in possession the first day of September next.

[SECT. 5.] That the assessors of each town, district, parish or other place, respectively, in convenient time before their making the assessment, shall give seasonable warning to the inhabitants, in a town meeting, or by posting up notifications in some place or places in such town, district, parish or other place, or notify the inhabitants some other way, to give and bring in to the assessors true and perfect lists of their polls, and rateable estate they shall be possessed of on the first day of September next, and income by trade or faculty, and gain by money at interest, which they are to render to the assessors, on oath, if required; and if they refuse to give in an account of the money at interest, on oath, the assessors are impowered to doom them; and if any person or persons shall neglect or refuse so to do, or bring in a false list, it shall be lawful to and for the assessors, to assess such person or persons, according to their known ability in such town, in their sound judgment and discretion, their due proportion of this tax, as near as they can, agreeable to the rules herein given, under the penalty of twenty shillings for each person that shall be convicted by legal proof, in the judgment of said assessors, in bringing in a false list; the said fines to be for the use of the poor of such town, district, parish or place where the delinquent lives, to be levied by warrant from the assessors, directed to the collectors or constables, in manner as is directed for gathering the town assessments, to be paid into the town, district, or parish treasury, for the use aforesaid: saving to the party aggrieved at the judgment of the assessors in setting forth such fine, liberty of appeal therefrom to the court of the general sessions of the peace within the county, for relief as in the case of being overrated. And if any person or persons shall not bring in a list of their estate, as aforesaid, to the assessors, he or they so neglecting shall not be admitted to make application to the court of general sessions, for any abatement of the assessment laid on him or them.

[SECT. 6.] And if the person be not convicted of any falseness in the list, by him presented, of the polls, rateable estate, or income by trade or faculty, business or employment, which he does or shall exercise, or in gain by money at interest or otherwise, or other estate not particularly assessed, such list shall be a rule for such person's proportion to the tax, which the assessors may not exceed.

And forasmuch as, oftentimes, sundry persons, not belonging to this province, bring considerable trade and merchandize into the same, and by reason that the tax or rate of the town where they come to is finished and delivered to the constable or collectors, and, before the next year's assessment, are gone out of the province, and so pay nothing towards the support of the government, though, in the time of their residing here, they reaped considerable gain by trade, and had the protection of the government, —

Be it therefore enacted,

Transient traders to be rated.

[Sect. 7.] That when any person or persons shall come and reside in any town within this province, and bring any merchandize, or trade, to deal therewith, the assessors of such town are hereby impowered to rate and assess all such persons, according to their circumstances, pursuant to the rules and directions of this act provided, though the former rate may have been finished, and a new one not perfected as aforesaid.

And be it further enacted,

Merchants to be rated for carrying on trade in any town besides where they dwell.

[Sect. 8.] That when any merchant, trader or factor, shall set up a store, or traffick, or carry on any trade or business, in any town within this province, not being an inhabitant of such town, the assessors of such town where such trade and business shall be carried on as aforesaid, be and hereby are impowered to rate and assess all such merchants, traders and factors, their goods and merchandize, for carrying on such trade and business, and exercising their faculty in such town, pursuant to the rules and directions of this act: provided, before any such assessors shall rate such persons, as aforementioned, the selectmen of the town where such trade is carried on shall transmit a list of such persons as they shall judge may and ought to be rated, within the intent of this act, to the assessors of such town or district.

Selectmen to transmit a list of such persons before they are rated.

[Sect. 9.] And the constables or collectors are hereby enjoined to levy and collect all such sums committed to them, and assessed on persons who are not of this province, or are resident in other towns than those where they carry on their trade, and pay the same.

And whereas it has been the practi[s][c]e of some of the inhabitants of the town of Boston, to remove to some other town in this province, and there reside [for] some months, to avoid paying their part of the taxes in the town of Boston, to which they really belong, to the great injury of the said town, —

Be it therefore enacted,

Inhabitants of Boston who remove out of town and return in a year, to pay their tax in Boston.

[Sect. 10.] That when any inhabitant of the town of Boston shall remove to any other town in this province, and shall, in one year after, remove back to said Boston, and shall have been taxed in the said town, shall be subject to pay the said taxes, in like manner as he would have been had he not have removed from said Boston (saving so much as he shall be taxed in the town removed to), anything in this act to the contrary notwithstanding. [Passed June 17.

Notes. — The General Court was convened at Boston, May 25, 1774, by virtue of writs issued by Governor Hutchinson. Gen. Gage arrived, with his commission as Governor, May 13th, and met the Assembly at the time appointed, but informed them, in his speech delivered on the second day of the session, that he had "the King's particular Commands for holding the General Court at Salem," after the first of the next month and "until His Majesty shall have signified his Royal Will and Pleasure for holding it again at Boston." Fearing a voluntary adjournment by the House, the Governor, on Saturday, the twenty-eighth of May, adjourned the Legislature to Salem, there to meet on Tuesday the seventh of June. Upon reassembling at Salem, the Representatives made it their first business to protest, in five resolves, adopted June 8, against this adjournment, and on the ninth, they prepared their answer to the Governor's speech. The Council also prepared an answer to the same speech, which the Governor resented, as containing unjust reflections upon his predecessors, Bernard and Hutchinson. The session thus inharmoniously begun, continued until the seventeenth of June, when the Governor, having been apprised of the doings of the Representatives, — who, after passing resolves appointing delegates to the Continental Congress at Philadelphia, and making an appropriation to defray their expenses, in which the Council had concurred, were proceeding with other measures which he deemed revolutionary, — issued his proclamation dissolving the General Court. This proclamation was read by the secretary, upon the stairs leading to the Representatives' chamber, which was locked against him.

Eight acts were passed by this assembly, the engrossments of the last three of which, only, are preserved, and of these, the last (chapter 8) is imperfect, and neither of them bears the province seal.

The letter of Governor Gage to the Earl of Dartmouth, transmitting certified copies of the acts of this year, is dated July 27, 1774, but the date of the certificate does not appear. They were received by the Lords of Trade, September 17, and transmitted to the Privy Council, on the fourth of October. October 19, they were referred to a committee of the Privy Council, and ordered to be sent back to the Board of Trade, for consideration, November 15; but did not reach the Board until the seventeenth. The order of the Council was read at the Board, November 28, and they were then ordered to be sent, forthwith, to Mr. Jackson, for his opinion thereon in point of law. Mr. Jackson's report on all of these acts except chapter 5, in which he represents that they "are proper in point of Law," is dated December 10, 1774. This report was received by the Board, December 12, and, together with the acts, was read, December 28, and, again, January 6, 1775.

Mr. Jackson's report on chapter 5, the substance of which is given in the note to that chapter, post, is dated, March 28, 1775. It was received by the Board of Trade, April 6, and read, May 11. No record of further action upon either of these acts, has been discovered.

And I conceive that unless your Lordships should judge the time of passing this Act a time of emergency (within the 4th. section of the 24th. of George 2nd. C. 53) this Act of the Province would be void within a Rigid construction of that Act of Parliament. The Act of Parliament declares, that all Acts of Assembly in the Province of the Massachusetts Bay, among others, for the creating or issuing any Paper Bills or Bills of Credit of any kind or denomination whatsoever shall be void — except Bills for the current service of the year, where Provision is made for their Repayment within two years from the passing the Act now your Lordships will observe, that the Act in question passed the 15th. of June 1774, and the time of Repayment fixed by the Treasurers Obligations is the 20. Gage had signed an Act for issuing Treasurer's Notes for four days more than two years, the time limited by Act of Parliament, by which he was for ever disqualified from holding any place in Governm^t. AN ACT TO CONFIRM AND ESTABLISH THE RESOLVES OF THE SEVERAL PROVINCIAL CONGRESSES OF THIS COLONY.

Preamble.

Whereas this oppressed colony has, for many months past, been deprived of the free exercise of its usual powers of government, which has necessarily occasioned the public business thereof to be conducted by congresses; and as many matters of the greatest importance, for the recovery and preservation of that liberty which God, nature and compact have given to this people, have been resolved, done and transacted by provincial congresses, some of which have not yet had their full effect; and whereas the legality of such resolves, doings and transactions may hereafter be called in question, and may occasion much litigation, unless confirmed and established in some known, constitutional manner, —

Be it therefore enacted by the Council and House of Representatives of this colony, in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same,

Doings of the provincial congresses confirmed.

[Sect. 1.] That all and every the resolves, doings and transactions of the several provincial congresses of this colony, from and after the fourth day of October, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-four, to the twentieth day of July, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-five, be, and they hereby are, confirmed and established as lawful[1] and valid, to all intents, constructions and purposes whatsoever, as fully and effectually as if the same resolves, doings and transactions had been done by any general court or assembly, of this colony.

[Sect. 2.] That whenever any person or persons shall be sued or prosecuted before any superior court of judicature, court of assize and general goal delivery, or before any inferior court of common pleas, or any court of general sessions of the peace, or before any single magistrate, for any thing done in obedience to, or in compliance with, any of the resolves, doings, recommendations, or other proceedings of said congresses, such person or persons shall and may give this act, and the record of the resolves, doings and transactions of the several provincial congresses aforesaid, in evidence under the general issue, and the same, thus given in evidence, shall avail, to all intents and purposes, as if the same were specially pleaded; any law, usage or custom to the contrary notwithstanding.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid,

[SECT. 3.] That the records of the resolves, doings and transactions of the several provincial congresses aforesaid, be immediately lodged, and forever hereafter kept, in the secretary's office of this colony; and that the secretary shall copy and authenticate all such records of said resolves, doings and transactions as shall be demanded of him to be used in any of the courts aforesaid; which copies, so authenticated, shall be received as full evidence in said courts of all such resolves, doings and transactions. [Passed August 23.

CHAPTER 3.

[*AN] ACT DECLARATORY OF THE RIGHT OF CERTAIN TOWNS AND DISTRICTS IN THE COLONY OF THE [*MASSACHUSETTS] BAY, IN NEW ENGLAND, TO ELECT AND DEPUTE A REPRESENTATIVE, OR REPRESENTATIVES, TO SERVE FOR AND [*REPRESENT TH]EM IN ANY GREAT AND GENERAL COURT OR ASSEMBLY AT ANY TIME TO BE HELD AND KEPT FOR THE SERVICE OF THE SAID COLONY.

Preamble.

Whereas there are divers acts or laws heretofore made and passed by former general courts or assemblies of this colony, for the incorporation of towns and districts, which, against common right, and in derogation of the rights granted to the inhabitants of this colony by the charter, contain an exception of the right and priviledge of chusing and sending a representative to the great and general court or assembly, —

Be it therefore e[*nac]ted [*and dec]lared by the Council and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority [*of the same,]

[Sect. 1.] [Tha]t* henceforth every such exception contained in any act or law heretofore made and passed by any [*general ] court or assembly of this colony, for the erecting or incorporating any town or district, shall be held and taken to be altogether null and void; and that every town and district in this colony, consisting of the number of thirty or more freeholders and other inhabitants, qualified by charter to vote in the election of a representative[s], shall henceforth be held and taken to have full right, power and priviledge to elect and depute one or more persons, being freeholders and resident in such town or district, to serve for and represent them in any great and general court or assembly hereafter to be held and kept for this colony, according to the limitations in an act or law of the general assembly [entitled "*An Act ] for ascertaining the number and regulating the house of representatives;" any exception of that [*right and ] priviledge contained or expressed in the respective acts or laws, for the incorporation of such town or district notwithstanding.

And whereas, in and by an act or law of this colony, entitled "An Act for erecting part of the town of Newbury into a new town by the name of Newburyport" it is enacted and provided, that the said town of Newburyport shou[l]d have the right of chus[e]i[*ng ] and [*sen ]ding, from time to time, but one person to represent them in the great and general [*court of this] colony; and that the inhabitants of the town of Newbury, from and [*after] the time of the making and passing the said act, should have a right to chuse and send no more than one person to represent them in the great and general court of this colony, —

Be it enacted and declared by the authority aforesaid, —

[Sect. 2.] That henceforth each of the said towns of Newbury and Newburyport shall have the full power and right of chusing and sending as many persons to represent them, respectively, in the great and general court or [*assembly of ] this colony, as each of the said towns would have had a right to have chosen [*and sent ] to the said general court, by virtue of the above-mention[e]d act or law, entitled "An Act for ascertaining the number and regulating the house of representatives," in case there had not been any restrictions upon the said towns, touching their rights and priviledge of chusing and sending persons to represent them, respectively, in the great and general court or assembly, contained or expressed in the said act for the constituting and making that [part of the *] former town of Newbury now called Newburyport, a distinct town.

And be it further enacted and declared by the authority aforesaid, [SECT. 3.] That every corporate body in this colony which in the act for the incorporation thereof is said and declared to be made a district, and has, by such act, granted to it, or is declared to be vested with, the rights, powers, priviledges or immunities of a town, with the exception above mention[e]d of chusing and sending a representative to the great and general court or assembly, [shall hence *]forth be, and shall be holden, taken and intended to be, a town to all intents [and purposes *] whatsoever. [Passed August 23.

CHAPTER 4.

AN ACT FOR REMOVING FROM THEIR RESPECTIVE OFFICES AND PLACES ALL THE OFFICERS, BOTH CIVIL AND MILITARY, BELONGING TO THIS COLONY OF THE MASSACHUSET[T]S BAY, IN NEW ENGLAND, HOLDING, OR CLAIMING TO HOLD, THEIR RESPECTIVE OFFICES OR PLACES BY OR UNDER ANY NOMINATION, APPOINTMENT OR COMMISSION MADE OR GRANTED BY ANY GOVERNOR OR LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR OF THE PROVINCE OF THE MASSACHUSETTS BAY, IN NEW ENGLAND, EITHER WITH OR WITHOUT THE ADVICE AND CONSENT OF THE COUNCIL OR ASSISTANTS OF THE SAID PROVINCE, OR BY THE MAJOR PART OF THE COUNCIL OR ASSISTANTS OF SAID PROVINCE, IN THE ABSENCE OF THE GOVERNOR AND LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR, BEFORE THE PRESENT MEETING OF THIS GENERAL COURT.

Preamble.

WHEREAS many of the civil and military officers of the said colony of the Massachusetts Bay, in New England, have clearly manifested themselves unfriendly to the rights and liberties of these American colonies, and therefore unfit to hold or exercise the offices and employments to which they have been appointed and commissionated; and whereas it is necessary for the peace and safety of this colony that all such officers should be deprived of their offices, and that other men, who are able, true and real friends to American liberty, should be appointed and commissionated in their stead; and as it would be not only disagre[e]able, but also very inconvenient, either by act or proclamation, singly and by name, to deprive all such unfit persons of their respective offices, and to substitute and commissionate faithful[l] men in their stead, leaving such as are friendly to right and liberty to exercise and discharge their respective offices by virtue of their present commissions,— this court doth judge it expedient that all the officers, both civil and military, belonging to this colony, now holding their offices under or by virtue of any appointment or commission made or granted by any governor or lieutenant-governor of the said province of the Massachusetts Bay, in New England, either with or without the advice and consent of the council, or by the major part of the council, in the absence of the governor and lieutenant-governor, before the present meeting of this general court, should be deprived of their respective offices, and that all such appointments and commissions should, from and after the nineteenth day of September next, wholly cease and determine, —

Be it therefore enacted and declared by the Council and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same,

All offices, civil and military, to cease and determine from the 19th day of Sept., 1775.

That, from and after the said nineteenth day of September, all the nominations, appointments and commissions, at any time before the present meeting of this general court made or granted by any governor or lieutenant-governor of the said province of the Massachusetts Bay, in New England, or by the major part of the council, in the absence of the governor and lieutenant-governor, appointing or commissionating any person or persons to any office, civil or military, shall be utterly null, void and of none effect; and that all the powers and authorities, either civil or military, of all and every person and persons belonging to the said colony of the Massachusetts Bay, in New England, now holding or claiming to hold his or their office or place by or under any nomination, appointment or commission, made or granted by any governor or lieutenant-governor, of the said province of the Massachusetts Bay, in New England, whether with or without the advice and consent of the council or assistants of the said province, or by the major part of the council or assistants of the said province, in the absence of the governor and lieutenant-governor, shall, from and after the nineteenth day of September, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-five, wholly cease and determine. [Passed August 23.

CHAPTER 5.

[*AN ACT] PRESCRIBING THE FORM OF AN OATH TO BE TAKEN BY ALL COMMISSION OFFICERS, BOTH CIVIL AND MILITARY, WHO HAVE BEEN [*COM]MISSIONATED FOR THIS COLONY SINCE THE NINETEENTH DAY OF JULY LAST, OR MAY BE HEREAFTER COMMISSIONATED, UNTILL THE FURTHER ORDER OF THE GREAT AND GENERAL COURT.

Be it enacted by the Council and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same,

All officers, civil and military, to take the oath of office.

[Sect. 1.] That all and every commission officer or officers, civil and military, who have been commissionated since the s[ai]d nineteenth day of July last, or may hereafter be commissionated by the council or assistants of the colony of the Massachusetts Bay, in New England, or the major part of them, or deriving any authority from, by, or under, any commission made or to be made by the said council, shall, untill the further order of the great and general court or assembly, before they proceed in or enter upon the execution of their respective offices, take the oath hereinafter prescribed, to be administered by any two or more of said council or assistants, or such others,

* Engrossment mutilated.

as shall be by the said council, or assistants, or the major part of them, thereunto appointed; that is to say, —

Form of the oath.

You, A. B., being appointed to the office of , do solemnly swear, that you will honestly, faithfully, and impartially execute all the duties of the said office, according to the best of your skill and abilities. So help you God.

And be it further enacted and declared by the authority aforesaid, [SECT. 2.] That all commission officers, civil and military, who have been, or may be commissionated in manner as aforesaid, having taken the said oath in manner as above prescribed, shall be, and are hereby authori[z][s]ed, impowered, and required, to proceed in the execution and exercise of their respective offices; and that every act and thing, which shall be done by such officers, respectively, in the execution of such commission and office, shall be to all intents and purposes, valid and effectual in law, without his or their taking or subscribing any other oath, or declaration whatsoever, any law, usage, or custom whatsoever, in any wise to the contrary hereof, notwithstanding. [Passed August 23.

Be it enacted by the Council and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same,

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid,

[Sect. 2.] That the treasurer do forthwith send out his warrants, directed to the selectmen or assessors of each town or other place, within this colony, that are taxed, requiring them, respectively, to assess the sum hereby set upon such town or other place, in manner following; that is to say, to assess all rateable polls above the age of sixteen years, within their respective towns or other places, or next adjo[ur][i]ning to them, belonging to no other town or place, at five shillings and fivepence (excepting the president, fellows, professors, Hebrew instructor and students of Harvard Colle[d]ge, who have their usual residence there, and settled ministers, who are hereby exempted, as well for being taxed for their polls, as their estates being in their own hands, and under their actual management and improvement, and in the parishes where they are settled; as also the estate belonging and pertaining to Harvard College); and other persons, if such there be, who, thro' age, infirmity or extreme poverty, in the judg[e]ment of the assessors, are not able to pay towards public charges, they may exempt their polls or estate, or abate part of what they are set at, as they on their oaths shall think to be just and equitable.

[Sect. 3.] And the justices in their general sessions in their respective counties assembled, in granting a county tax or assessment, are hereby ordered and directed to apportion the same [o][i]n the several towns and other places in such county in proportion to this tax; and the assessors in each town in this colony, are also directed, in making a town tax or assessment, to govern themselves by the same rule; and the incomes of all estates, both real and personal, lying or being within the limits of such town or other place, or next unto the same, not paying elsewhere, in whose hands, tenure, occupation or possession the same is or shall be found, and also the income or prof[f]its which any person or persons, except as before excepted, do or shall receive from money at interest more than he or she pays interest for, or from any trade or faculty, business or employment whatsoever, and all prof[f]its which shall or may arise by money, or commissions of prof[f]its, in their improvement, at so much on the pound as together with what is set on the poll will make up the sum set and ordered hereby for each town or other place to pay; and in making said assessment, to estimate houses and lands and other real estate at the amount of six years' yearly rent whereat the same may reasonably be set or let for in the place where they lay, exclusive of necessary and ordinary repairs; the said houses and lands to be taxed to such persons as shall be the actual tenants thereof (new cleared lands for tillage not to be rated until[l] the first crop be taken off); and to estimate Indian, negro and m[o][u]latto servants proportionably as other personal estate, according to the sound judgment and discretion of such assessors; as also to estimate every ox of four years old and upwards, at forty shillings; every cow or heifer of three years old and upwards, at thirty shillings; and every horse or mare of three years old and upwards, at forty shillings; and every swine of one year old and upwards, at eight shillings; and every goat and sheep of one year old and upwards, at three shillings; the several beasts aforementioned to be taxed to their respective owners, by the assessors of the town in which the owners dwell, and all money at interest, either within or without the province, at three times the yearly lawful interest thereof, and also the extraordinary incomes that do or may arise by any trade, business, employment or commissions of prof[f]it, at three times the sum of such extraordinary incomes: likewise requiring the assessors to make a fair list of said assessment, setting forth, in distinct columns, against each particular person's name, how much he or she is assessed at for polls, and how much for houses and lands, and how much for personal estate, and income by trade and faculty, and if as guardian, or for any estate, in his or her improvement, in trust, to be distinctly expressed; and the list or lists so perfected, and signed by them, or the major part of them, to commit to the collector or collectors, constable or [c*]onstables, of any such town or other place, and to return a certificate of the name or names of such collector or collectors, constable [o*]r constables, with the sum total to each of them committed, unto himself, some time before the first day of December next.

[SECT. 4.] And the treasurer for the time being, on receipt of such certificate, is hereby impowered and ordered to issue forth his warrants to the collector or collectors, constable or constables, of such town or other place, requiring him or them, respectively, to collect the whole of each respective sum assessed on each particular person, and to pay in their collection, and to issue their accounts of the whole, at or before the first day of April next, which will be in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and seventy-six.

Provided, nevertheless, —

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 5.] That the several officers and soldiers now in the army shall be considered as resident in the several towns to which they belonged at the time of their engaging in the army, their absence notwithstanding; and the assessors of the several towns and other places in this colony shall consider such officers and soldiers as resident in such town, and tax them accordingly.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 6.] That all such of the late inhabitants of any town in this colony, bordering on the sea, excepting the towns of Boston and Charlestown, who have removed from such towns to other towns in this colony, since the first day of December last past, or who may hereafter remove, shall be assessed to this tax, for their rateable polls and rateable personal estates, by the assessors of the several towns from whence they removed, and not by the assessors of the several towns to which they have removed.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 7.] That the assessors of the several towns and other places, in this colony, to which any of the late inhabitants of the said towns of Boston and Charlestown have removed since the said first day of [of] December last past, shall assess the whole sum set upon such town or other place, on the polls and rateable estate in such town, exclusive of the polls and rateable personal estate of such of the said late inhabitants of the said towns of Boston and Charlestown as have removed from thence since the said first day of December last.

[Sect. 8.] And the assessors of each town or other place, in this colony, where any of the said late inhabitants of the said towns of Boston and Charlestown shall be found resident on the thirty-first day of October instant, shall assess such inhabitants in a sep[e][a]rate list or assessment, according as such assessors shall judge just and reasonable, for their polls and rateable personal estate and the business they carry on, according to the rule heretofore given in this act for the taxing the other inhabitants of this colony; and the said assessors shall certify the colony treasurer thereof, and of the names of the collector or collectors, constable or constables, to whom[e] they shall have committed such several assessments, and the sum total thereof; and the said treasurer shall issue his warrants to such collectors or constables, requiring them, respectively, to levy and collect the sums of such assessment, and to pay the same into the colony treasury in the same manner and by the same time as is hereinbefore ordered and directed.

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 9.] That the assessors of each town or other place, respectively, in convenient time before their making the assessment, shall give seasonable warning to the inhabitants, in a town meeting, or by posting up notifications in some place or places in such town or other place, or notify the inhabitants some other way, to give and bring in to the assessors true and perfect lists of their polls, and the rateable estates which they were possessed of on the first day of September last, and income by trade or faculty, and gain by money at interest, which they are to render to the assessors, on oath, if required; and if they refuse to give in an account of the money at interest, on oath, the assessors are impowered to doom them; and if any person or persons shall, upon such notice given, neglect or refuse to give in to the assessors the lists of their polls and rateable estate which they were possessed of on the said first day of September last, or shall bring in a false list and shall be convicted thereof before the said assessors, it shall be lawful[l] to and for the assessors, to assess such person or persons, according to their known ability in such town, in their sound judgment and discretion, their due proportion of this tax, as near as they can, agre[e]able to the rules herein given. And if any person or persons shall not bring in a list of their estate, as aforesaid, to the assessors, he or they so neglecting shall not be admitted to make application to the court of general sessions, for any abatement of the assessment laid on him or them.

[Sect. 10.] And if the person be not convicted of any falshood in the list, by him presented, of the polls, rateable estate, or income by trade or faculty, business or employment, which he does or shall exercise, or in gain by money at interest or otherwise, such list shall be a rule for such person's proportion to the tax, which the assessors may not exceed,

Provided, nevertheless,

[SECT. 11.] That nothing in this act shall extend or be construed to extend so as to require any assessors to assess any person or persons, not belonging to this colony, in the service of the United Colonies, who may be found resident in any town in this colony, either for their polls, or the rateable estate, real or personal, which they had in their possession on the said first day of September by virtue of any commission, office or employment of the United Colonies, or the particular service of this colony or any persons belonging to this colony, for any estate, real or personal, occupied or possessed by him or them to the use of this colony by virtue of any order or appointment of the Congress, or general court, or any committee of correspondence or inspection, or selectmen of any town. CHAPTER 7.

AN ACT FOR ENCOURAGING THE FIXING OUT OF ARMED VESSEL[L]S TO DEFEND THE SEA-COAST OF AMERICA, AND FOR ERECTING A COURT TO TRY AND CONDEMN ALL VESSEL[L]S THAT SHALL BE FOUND INFESTING THE SAME.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the present administration of Great Britain, being divested of justice and humanity, and strangers to that magnanimity and sacred regard for liberty which inspired their venerable predecessors, have been endeavouring, thro'[ugh] a series of years, to establish a system of despotism over the American colonies, and by their venal and corrupt measures have so extended their influence over the British parliament that, by a prostituted majority, it is now become a political engine of slavery; and whereas the military tools of these our unnatural enemies, while restrained by the united forces of the American colonies from proceeding in their sanguinary career of devastation and slaughter, are infesting the sea-coast[s] with armed vessel[l]s, and daily endeavouring to distress the inhabitants by burning their towns and destroying their dwellings, with their substance, plundering live stock and making captures of provision, and other vessel[l]s, being the property of said inhabitants; and whereas their majesties, King William and Queen Mary, by the royal charter of this colony, for themselves, their heirs and successors, did grant, establish and ordain that, in the absence of the governor and lieutenant-governor of the colony, a majority of the council shall have full power, by themselves, or by any chief commander or other officer or officers, to be appointed by them, from time to time, for the special defence of their said province or territory, to assemble in martial array, and put in warlike posture, the inhabitants of their said province or territory, and to lead and conduct them, and with them to encounter, expulse, resist and pursue, by force of arms, as well by sea,

* Signed November 1, according to the record.

as by land, within or without the limits of their said province or territory; and also to kill, slay, destroy, and conquer, by all fitting ways, enterprizes and means, whatsoever, all and every such person and persons as should at any time thereafter attempt or enterprize the destruction, invasion, detriment or annoyance of their said province or territory; and to take and surprize by all ways and means whatsoever, all and every person and persons, with their ships, arms, ammunition and other goods, as should in a hostile manner invade or attempt the invading, conquering or annoying, of their said province or territory; and whereas it is expressly resolved by the grand Congress of America, "That each colony, at their own expence, make such provision, by armed vessel[l]s or otherwise, as their respective assemblies, conventions or committees of safety shall judge expedient and suitable to their circumstances and situations, for the protection of their harbours, and navigation on the sea-coasts, against all unlawful invasions, attacks and depr[a][e]dations from cutters and ships of war," and it is the duty and interest of this colony to exert itself, as well for the purpose of keeping supplies from the enemy as for those mentioned in the paragraphs of the charter and resolve now recited; therefore, for the more effectually carrying into execution the pur[*poses aforesai]d, —

Be it enacted by the Council and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority [of] the same,*

CHAPTER 10.

AN ACT FOR FORMING AND REGULATING THE MILITIA WITHIN THE COLONY OF THE MASSACHUSETTS BAY, IN NEW ENGLAND, AND FOR REPEALING ALL THE LAWS HERETOFORE MADE FOR THAT PURPOSE.

Whereas it is not only the interest but the duty of all nations to defend their lives, liberties and properties, in that land which the Supreme Ruler of the universe has bestowed on them, against the unlawful attacks and depredations of all enemies whatever, especially those who are moved by a spirit of avarice, or despotism; and whereas the honorable American Congress have recommended to the United Colonies to put the militia into a proper state for the defence of America; and whereas the laws now in force respecting the regulation of the militia have been found insufficient for the purposes aforesaid, — Preamble.

* [Sect.] 1.

Note. — In numbering the sections of this chapter the division of the engrossed act has not been strictly followed, as the numbers there given are placed opposite the first line of the enacting clauses of the respective sections, and, moreover, are not, in all cases, denotative of clearly distinct sections. It has, therefore, been deemed best to give in the margin the numbers of the sections in the engrossment. The word [Sect.] not appearing in the engrossment, nor in the contemporary impression, is, in each instance, enclosed in brackets. Another impression of this act, under the resolve of April 24, 1776, differs from it in several unimportant particulars, which have not been thought of sufficient consequence to be noticed here, inasmuch as all differences between the engrossment and the printed act most nearly in conformity thereto, have been carefully noted.

His power.

the first officer in rank who shall be present shall have the chief command of the whole.

And the inhabitants of every town now in, or that shall be in, the Continental Army, shall be deemed to belong to and be a part of the companies in their respective towns, and excused from duty in the militia whilst they continue part of the army aforesaid; and each company when so formed and set off, shall, together with those of the alarm list within the limits of the same, by ballot, in the presence of one of their field officers — who shall cause them to be duly notified for that purpose, and shall preside as moderator — choose one captain and two lieutenants; which choice shall immediately be certified to the secretary, by said field officers; and the major part of the council, thereupon, unless some material objection against such choice for any corrupt practice or irregularity shall be made at or before the time of receiving said certificates, shall commissionate such persons pursuant to their election: and all the said officers, when so commissionated by the council, shall, in the absence of their superiors, have the same power in ordering, directing and marching their regiments and companies as the first major-general has over the whole of said militia; and the colonel or commanding officer of each regiment shall, as soon as the captains in his regiment are commissionated, give them, respectively, under his hand, in writing, the limits of their respective companies, their alarm posts, and the manner of mustering their compan[y][ie]s on all occasions.

CHAPTER 15.

AN ACT FOR ENCOURAGING THE FIXING OUT OF ARMED VESSELS TO DEFEND THE SEA-COAST OF AMERICA, AND FOR ERECTING A COURT TO TRY AND CONDEMN ALL VESSELS THAT SHALL BE FOUND INFESTING THE SAME.

WHEREAS the present administration of Great Britain, being divested of justice and humanity, and strangers to that magnanimity and sacred regard for liberty which inspired their venerable predecessors, have been endeavouring, thro a series of years, to establish a system of despotism over the American colonies, and by their venal and corrupt measures have so extended their influence over the British Parliament that, by a prostituted majority, it is now become a political engine of slavery; and whereas the military tools of these our unnatural enemies, while restrained by the united forces of the American colonies from proceeding in their sanguinary career of devastation and slaughter, are infesting the sea-coasts with armed vessels, and daily endeavouring to distress the inhabitants by burning their towns and destroying their dwellings, with their substance, plundering live stock and making captures of provision, and other vessels, being the property of said inhabitants; and whereas their majesties, King William and Queen Mary, by the royal charter of this colony, for themselves, their heirs and successors, did grant, establish and ordain that, in the absence of the governor and lieutenant-governor of the colony, a majority of the council shall have full power, by themselves, or by any chief commander or other officer or officers, to be appointed by them, from time to time, for the special defence of their said province or territory, to assemble in martial array, and put in warlike posture, the inhabitants of their said province or territory, and to lead and conduct them, and with them to encounter, expulse, resist and pursue, by force of arms, as well by sea, as by land, within or without the limits of their said province or territory; and also to kill, slay, destroy, and conquer, by all fitting ways, enterprizes and means, whatsoever, all and every such person and persons as should at any time thereafter attempt or enterprize the destruction, invasion, detriment or annoyance of their said province or territory; and to take and surprize by all ways and means whatsoever, all and every person and persons, with their ships, arms, ammunition and other goods, as should in a hostile manner [in*]vade or attempt the invading, conquering or annoying, of their said province or territory; and whereas it is expressly resolv'd [b*]y the grand Congress of America, "That each colony, at their own expence, make such provision, by armed vessels or otherwise, as their respective assemblies, conventions or committees of safety shall judge expedient and suitable to their circumstances and situations, for the protection of their harbours, and navigation on the sea-coasts, against all unlawful invasions, attacks and depredations from cutters and ships of war," and it is the duty and interest of this colony to exert itself, as well for the purpose of keeping supplies from the enemy as for those mentioned in the paragraphs of the charter and resolve now recited; and whereas the great and general court, for carrying into execution the purposes aforesaid, did at their session begun and held at Watertown on the 19th day of July, A. D. 1775, and from thence continued, by adjournments, to Wednesday the 20th day of September in the said year, pass an act intitled "An Act for encouraging the fixing out armed vessels to defend the sea-coasts of America, and for erecting a court to try and condemn all vessels that shall be found infesting the same;" which act has been found insufficient to answer the good purposes thereby proposed; wherefore, to render more effectual the good purposes by said act intended, — 1775-76, chap. 7

Be it enacted by the Council and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same, [Sect. 1.] That all and every clause contained in the aforesaid act, be and hereby are repealed, and made null and void.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid,

[Sect. 2.] That all armed and other vessels which shall be brought into this colony, and have been found making unlawful invasions, attacks or depredations on the sea-coasts or navigation of any part of America, — or improved in supplying the fleet and army which have been, or shall at any time be, employed against the United Colonies, or employed by the said enemy in any respect whatsoever, since the 19th of April, 1775; and also all vessels whose masters or supercargoes shall have had designs of carrying supplies of any kind to the enemy, or that shall be returning from the enemy after having carried such supplies, — and shall be convicted thereof as is herein provided, such vessel or vessels, with their appurtenances and cargoes, shall be deemed forfeited, and shall be disposed of, as is by this act hereafter ordered and directed.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid,

[Sect. 3.] That the council of this colony, or the major part of them, shall be fully impowered to commission, with letters of marque and reprisal, any person or persons within this colony, who shall, at his or their own expence, fit out and equip, for the defence of America, any vessel, as also any person who shall, by the owner of such vessel, be recommended therefor; and that all such persons so commissioned, as aforesaid, shall have full power, with such other persons as they shall engage to their assistance, to sail on the seas, attack, take and bring into any port within the United American Colonies, all vessels offending or employ'd by the enemy, as aforesaid, and also to retake and bring in, as aforesaid, any vessel or vessels that may be taken from any person or persons by said enemy.

Provided, always, —

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 4.] That the master or owner of such vessel shall, at the time he receives such commission, enter into bond, with one sufficient surety, at least, for the faithful discharge of his office, and observing the law of this colony relating to armed vessels: which bond shall be in the form following; viz., —

Know all men by these presents that we, A. B. and C. D., of , &c., are holden, and stand firmly bound and obliged, unto the treasurer and receiver-general of the colony aforesaid, in the full and just sum of . to be paid unto the said treasurer and receiver-general, or to his successor in said office; to the true payment whereof we bind ourselves, our heirs, executors and administrators, jointly and severally, firmly by these presents. Sealed with our seals the day of , Anno Domini, 17 .

The condition of the aforewritten obligation is such that, whereas the said A. B. hath, on the day of the date hereof, received a commission to command an armed vessel called the , burthen about tons , to make reprisals of all armed and other vessels that shall be found supplying the enemy, or acting counter to a law of this colony, entitled "An Act for encouraging the fixing out of armed vessels to defend the sea-coasts of America, and for erecting a court to try and condemn all vessels that shall be found infesting the same;" if, therefore, the said A. B. shall and do, in and by all things, well and truly observe and fulfill such instructions as he shall receive from the council of this colony, and shall, in all respects, conform himself to the directions given in and by the act aforesaid, then the aforewritten obligation to be void: otherwise to remain in full force.

And be it further enacted,

AN ACT TO PREVENT THE FORGING AND ALTERING BILLS OF PUBLIC CREDIT, AND FOR PREVENTING THE DEPRECIATION THEREOF, AND FOR MAKING THE BILLS OF CREDIT OF THE UNITED COLONIES, AND THE BILLS OF THIS GOVERNMENT, A TENDER IN ALL PAYMENTS.

Preamble. 109 Mass., 327.

WHEREAS, by reason of the unjustifiable attacks committed against the United Colonies of America by the troops of Great Britain, and the difficulty of collecting money, plate and bullion to support the charges of their necessary defence, the Congress of said colonies have thought fit, for the carrying on the public affairs and answering the present demands of soldiers and seamen employed by them, to order the imprinting and signing a certain number of bills of credit, of several sums, by commissioners thereunto duly appointed and authorised; and whereas the congress and general assembly of this colony have, also, for the payment of seamen and soldiers employed in defence of the same, order[e]'d that a certain number of notes and bills of credit, of several sums, should be imprinted and signed by commissioners thereunto duly authorized and appointed; and whereas several of the United Colonies have, by their governments, severally ordered the imprinting and signing a certain number of bills of public credit, for answering the demands of soldiers and seamen by them severally employed for their necessary defence, all which bills have obtained a good currency, and have very much facilitated the carrying on of the present war; nevertheless, some wicked persons, intending to defraud the inhabitants of the colonies aforesaid, and for the sake of base and unlawful gain, have forged, altered and uttered several counterf[ie][ei]t notes and bills of the same, in imitation of the true notes and bills of this colony, thereby imposing a vile cheat on unwary and less discerning persons; for the prevention of which evils, for the future, —

Be it enacted by the Council and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same,

[SECT. 1.] That whosoever shall presume to forge or counterfeit any note or notes, bill or bills of the teno[u]r, or in imitation, of the bills of credit of the United Colonies, established by any resolve of the American Congress, or the convention, congress, or government of this, or any of the United Colonies of America, or that shall utter any such counterf[ie][ei]t and forged notes or bills, knowing them to be such, or that shall council, advise, assist in, or procure, the forging, counterfeiting, imprinting or signing of any such false notes or bills, or engrave any plate, or make any instrument to be used in forging and counterfeiting such notes or bills, every person so offending, and being thereof convicted before the superior court of judicature, court of assize and general goal delivery, shall be punished by being set on the gallows, for the space of one hour, with a rope round the neck, and shall pay a fine, for the use of this colony, not exceeding thirty pounds, and suffer six months' imprisonment, and be publickly whipped, not exceeding thirty-nine stripes, and be incapable of holding any office under the government of this colony; or shall suffer all or any of the foregoing punishments, in the discretion of the court before whom the trial shall be, according to the nature and circumstances of the offence; and shall pay to the person or persons that shall be defrauded by such forgery, treble damages. And if such offender or offenders shall not be able to pay the charges of his or their imprisonment, the court before whom the conviction is, shall order that at the expiration of said term of imprisonment, such person or persons shall be sold in service a time sufficient to pay the same.

And it is also enacted by the authority aforesaid,

Reward for information.

[Sect. 2.] That whosoever shall make discovery, and give information, of such vile and wicked practice of making, or knowingly putting off, any false and counterfeit note or bill, as aforesaid, so that the person or persons guilty thereof may be render[e]'d to justice, and convicted, every such informer shall have and receive as a reward for his good services, on every such conviction, the sum of twenty pounds, to be ordered out of the public treasury of this colony by the council, on a certificate from the court before whom the conviction shall be, that such person did inform of such offence according to this act.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid,

[Sect. 3.] That every person convicted of altering or increasing the sum or figures set and expressed in the notes or bills of credit of the said United Colonies, or either of them, or of forging or counterf[e]it[t]ing any hand, name, or stamps, or other private mark, that shall be or has been made or set thereon, shall be, for either of said offences, punished in the same manner as is provided by this act against those who shall forge or counterfeit such notes or bills.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid,

Penalty for passing bills of credit for a less sum than their real value, and how disposed of.

[Sect. 4.] That if any person shall, directly or indirectly, receive or pay any of the bills aforesaid for a less sum than is in them expressed, such person shall be incapable ever after of holding any civil or military office in this colony, and for every such offence pay a fine of forty pounds, to be recovered before any court of record, by bill, plaint, or indictment; one moiety whereof shall be to the use of the person who shall sue or inform for the same, and the other moiety to the use of this colony.

And be it enacted by the authority aforesaid,

Penalty for selling goods, &c., at a less price for gold, &c., than for paper currency.

[Sect. 5.] That if any person or persons shall set, or offer, his, her or their goods, wares or merchandize at a smaller or less price, in gold or silver, than what they are, by him, her or them, set at in the paper currency of the United Colonies, or either of them, he, she or they shall pay a fine of twenty pounds; one moiety thereof to the use of the person who shall sue for and recover the same, and the other moiety to the use of the town where the offence is committed.

And be it enacted by the authority aforesaid,

Bills of credit of the United Colonies and this colony, a tender in all cases.

[Sect. 6.] That the bills of credit of the United Colonies, established by the American Congress, and the bills of this government, shall be received in all payments within this colony, and a tender of the same may be pleaded in bar to any action brought for the recovery of any money, or species of money, due by deed or simple contract, or in any way and manner whatever. And all justices, sher-[r]iffs, grand jurors and tythingmen, are hereby strictly enjoined and commanded to bring to justice all persons offending against this act, or any part of it. CHAPTER 19.

Preamble. 1775-76, chap. 7.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid,

[SECT. 2.] That all proceedings already had on, or in pursuance of, and agre[e]able to, the act aforesaid, or to another act made and passed by the general court of this colony at their session in February last, which act is repealed, are hereby declared to be good and valid; and that the further proceedings in any cause[s] now pending, or that shall hereafter be brought, in any of the courts erected by said first-mentioned act, shall be according to the regulations hereafter provided; and that all and every person or persons who have, since the nineteenth day of April last, taken, seized and brought into this colony, any vessel or vessels that have been offending or employed as in and by said act is mentioned, are fully justified therein.

And be it further enacted,

[SECT. 3.] That the several judges that are or may be appointed to try the justice of the captures of vessels taken and brought into this colony, be, and they hereby are, authorized, respectively, to hold their courts in any of the seaport towns hereafter mentioned, within their respective districts, as they, from time to time, shall judge most convenient; viz[t]., the courts for the southern district, to be held in the town of Plymouth, Barnstable or Dartmouth; the courts for the middle district, to be held in Boston, Salem, Ipswich or Newburyport; and the courts in the eastern district, to be held in Falmouth or Pownalborough: anything to the contrary hereof in any former act contained notwithstanding.

And the judge before whom such bill shall be filed, shall, as soon as may be, appoint a day to try, by a jury, the justice of the capture of such vessel or vessels, with their appurtenances and cargoes, and shall publish the same in manner as is by the act aforesaid directed; and shall, seven days before the day so set and appointed for the trial of such vessel or vessels, issue his warrant or warrants, to any constable or constables, within the counties of his jurisdiction, commanding them, or either of them, to assemble the inhabitants of their towns, respectively, and to draw out of the box, in manner provided for drawing jurors to serve at the superior court of judicature, court of assize and general goal delivery, so many good and lawful men as the said judge shall order, not exceeding twenty-four; and the constable or constables shall, as soon as may be, give any person or persons so drawn to serve on the jury, in said court erected by the act aforesaid, due notice thereof; and shall make return of his doings therein to the said judge, at or before the day set and appointed as aforesaid. And the said jurors shall be held to serve on the tr[i][y]al of all such vessels as shall have been libelled before said judge, and the time of their trial published at the time said jurors are drawn, unless the judge shall see cause to discharge them or either of them before. And if seven of the jurors so drawn shall appear, and there shall not be enough to compleat the number of twelve — which shall be [a] pannel — or if there shall be a legal challenge to any of them, so that there shall be seven and not a pannel, it shall be lawful for the judge to order his clerk, the sher[r]iff, or other proper officer attending on said court, to fill up the jury with good and lawful men present: and the said jury, when so impannelled, shall be sworn to return a true verdict on any bill, claim or memorial that shall be committed to them according to law and evidence. And if the jury shall find that any vessel or vessels, against which a bill is committed to them, have been offending, used, employed or improved as aforesaid, they shall return their verdict thereof to the said judge, and he shall thereupon condemn such vessel or vessels, with their cargoes and appurtenances, and shall order them to be disposed of as by law is provided.

And where any vessel or vessels have been, or shall be, taken and brought in by any of the armed vessels fixed out at the charge of the United Colonies, as aforesaid, then one third shall go to the use of the captors, and the other two thirds to the use of the said colonies: provided, nevertheless, that if in either of the foregoing cases the capture be a vessel of war, then one-half of her and her cargo[e] shall be to the use of the captors.

Clerk empowered to summon witnesses. Penalty for witnesses refusing.

And whereas the honorable Continental Congress have recommended, that in certain cases an appeal should be granted from the courts aforesaid, —

CHAPTER 21.

AN ACT FOR THE EXECUTING IN THE COLONY OF THE MASSACHUSETTS BAY, IN NEW ENGLAND, ONE RESOLVE OF THE AMERICAN CONGRESS, DATED MARCH [FOURTEENTH] [14], [ONE THOUSAND SEVEN HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-SIX] [1776], RECOMMENDING THE DISARMING SUCH PERSONS AS ARE NOTORIOUSLY DISAFFECTED TO THE CAUSE OF AMERICA, OR WHO REFUSE TO ASSOCIATE TO DEFEND BY ARMS THE UNITED AMERICAN COLONIES AGAINST THE HOSTILE ATTEMPTS OF THE BRITISH FLEETS AND ARMIES; AND FOR THE RESTRAINING AND PUNISHING PERSONS WHO ARE INIMICAL TO THE RIGHTS AND LIBERTIES OF THE SAID UNITED COLONIES, AND FOR DIRECTING THE PROCEEDINGS THEREIN.

Preamble.

Whereas, on the fourteenth of March, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-six, a certain resolve was made and passed by the American Congress, of the following tenor; viz[t].,— "Resolved, That it be recommended to the several assemblies, conventions and councils, or committees of safety, of the United Colonies, immediately to cause all persons to be disarmed within their respective colonies who are notoriously disaffected to the cause of America, or who have not associated, and refuse to associate, to defend by arms these United Colonies against the hostile attempts of the British fleets and armies; and to apply the arms taken from such persons, in each respective colony, in the first place, to the arming of the continental troops raised in said colony, in the next, to the arming such troops as are raised by the colony for its own defence, and the residue to be applied to the arming the associators; that their arms, when taken, be appr[a]i[z][s]ed by indifferent persons, and such as are applied to the arming Continental troops be paid for by Congress; and the residue by the respective assemblies, conventions or councils, or committees of safety."—

All persons who refuse the test, to be disarmed.

Be it therefore enacted by the Council and House of Representatives in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same,

[Sect. 1.] That every male person above sixteen years of age, resident in any town or place in this colony, who shall neglect or refuse to subscribe a printed or written declaration, of the form and tenor hereinafter prescribed, upon being required thereto by the committee of correspondence, inspection and safety, for the town or place in which he dwells, or any one of them, shall be disarmed, and have taken from him, in manner hereafter directed, all such arms, ammunition and warlike implements, as, by the strictest search, can be found in his possession or belonging to him: which declaration shall be in the form and words following; viz[t].,—

The form of the test.

We, the subscribers, do each of us, severally, for ourselves, profess, testif[ie][y] and declare, before God and the world, that we verily believe that the war, resistance and opposition in which the United American Colonies are now engaged against the fleets and armies of Great Britain, is, on the part of the said colonies, just and necessary; and we do hereby severally promise, covenant and engage, to and with every person of this colony who has or shall subscribe this declaration, or another of the same tenor and words, that we will not, during the said war, directly or indirectly, in any ways, aid, abet[t], or assist any of the naval or land forces of the king of Great Brit[t]ain, or any employed by him, or supply them with any kind of provisions, military or naval stores, or hold any correspondence with, or communicate any intelligence to, any of the officers, soldiers or mar[r]iners belonging to the said army or navy, or inlist, or procure any others to inlist, into the land or sea service of Great Brit[t]ain, or take up or bear arms against this or either of the United Colonies, or undertake to pilot any of the vessels belonging to the said navy, or in any other way aid or assist them; but on the contrary, according to our best power and abilities, will defend by arms the United American Colonies, and every part thereof, against every hostile attempt of the fleets and armies in the service of Great Britain, or any of them, according to the requir[e]ments and directions of the laws of this colony that now are, or may hereafter be, provided for the regulation of the militia thereof.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid,

[SECT. 2.] That the committee of correspondence, inspection and safety, in each and every town and place in this colony, or some one member of such committee, shall, without delay, tender the said declaration to every male person in their respective town and places, above the age of sixteen years, requiring them severally to subscribe the same, with his name or sign, in his or their presence; and if any one shall refuse or neglect so to do for the space of twenty-four hours after such tender is made, the said committee, or some one of them, shall forthwith give information of such refusal or neglect to some justice of the peace for the county in which such delinquent dwells: and the justice to whom such information is given shall forthwith make his warrant, directed to the sher[r]iff of the same county, or his deputy, or one of the constables of the town in which such supposed delinquent hath his usual place of abode, or any indifferent person, by name, requiring him forthwith to take the body of such delinquent and him bring before the said justice, to answer to such information, and to shew cause, if any he hath, why he should not be disarmed, and have taken from him all his arms, ammunition and warlike implements; and in case it shall be made to appear to the said justice that the said information is true, and he should not shew any sufficient cause why he should not forthwith be disarmed, &c., then the said justice shall make his warrant, directed to some proper person, requiring him, without delay, to disarm the said delinquent, and take from him all his arms, ammunition and warlike implements; and in case such delinquent shall refuse to resign and give up all his arms, ammunition and warlike implements, the person to whom the said warrant is directed shall have power, after demanding admission, to enter the dwelling-house, or any other place belonging to the delinquent, where he may have reason to suspect such arms are concealed, and make strict and diligent search for the articles aforesaid; and in case he shall find any of the said articles, he shall take them, and immediately carry and deliver them to the justice who made the said warrant, which justice is hereby required to receive them and to appoint some indifferent and judicious person or persons to appraise the same; and the said justice shall keep a true account of all such arms, ammunition and accoutrements, the person or persons they were taken from, and the sum or sums they were appraised at, and shall return a true account thereof into the secretary's office, as soon as may be, and shall keep the said arms, &c., safely to be disposed of and paid for as the general court shall order; and if the person to whom the warrant is directed shall meet with resistance, or shall have reason to apprehend that he shall meet with resistance, in the execution of the said warrant, then he shall give information thereof to the justice of the peace who issued the said warrant, who, if he shall judge it needful for carrying such warrant into execution, shall go in person to some military officer in the same county and require him immediately to raise such a number of the militia as the said justice shall judge necessary, and the said justice shall proceed in person, with the said militia and the person to whom the said warrant is directed, and in the most prudent way he can, cause the delinquent to be disarmed, and all the articles aforesaid to be taken from him, and appraised and retained in manner as is above directed.

[SECT. 3.] And in case it shall be made to appear to any justice of the peace that there is reason to suppose that any of the arms, ammunition, or warlike implements, belonging to any person who shall refuse or delay, as abovesaid, to subscribe the said declaration, are concealed in any dwelling-house or other place not belonging to such delinquent, such justice shall have power and is hereby directed to make his warrant to some proper person, requiring him to make diligent search in such suspected place or places, to be particularly described or mentioned in such warrant, for the articles aforesaid; and in case they shall be found, such proceedings shall be thereupon had, touching the same, as is above prescribed when they are in the actual possession of the delinquent, aforesaid; and in case of resistance or opposition made to the execution of such warrant, the like proceedings shall thereupon be had as are above directed when resistance is made to the searching for or taking such articles when in the actual possession of such delinquent: and all officers and soldiers of the militia are hereby directed to obey and observe such direction as shall be given by such justice of the peace in the premis[s]es.

[SECT. 4.] And every person who shall refuse or neglect to subscribe the said declaration, having had the same tendered to him as [abovesaid] [aforesaid], in case he holds any office, civil or military, in this colony, shall be deem[e]'d and adjudged, ipso facto, disqualified to exercise any such office; and if a town officer, the town he belongs to shall, and they hereby are, impowered and required to, proceed to make choice of some fit person to serve in such office in his room; and in case he does not at present hold any such offices, he shall be deemed totally disqual[l]ified to be chosen or appointed, or to hold any such office, till some further order of the general assembly. And in case any such person so refusing or neglecting shall be chosen or appointed to any office, civil or military, all acts and doings of such person in the execution of any such office, shall be deem[e]'d and held to be null and void and of none effect; and no person so refusing or neglecting, shall be permitted to give his vote in the choice of any person to serve as representative in the general court or assembly, or in the choice of any military, town, or county, officer, until[l] he shall be restored, by order of the general court, to the privile[d]ges of a good and free member of this community. And no settled minister or gramm[e][a]r-school master, who shall refuse or neglect to sign said declaration, shall be intit[u]led, by the laws of this colony, to demand or recover any sal[l]ary or reward for any time or service spent or performed in their respective offices, from and after such refusal or neglect, until[l] they shall subscribe such declaration; and if any of the governors of Harvard College shall refuse to sign the declaration aforesaid, they shall be thereby disqualified to receive any salaries or grants of the general assembly for services done after their refusal as aforesaid.

—and from voting for a representative, or any military, town, or county, officer;

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid,

Persons who shall supply the army or navy, &c.,

[SECT. 5.] That if any person or persons resident in this colony, shall, during the war aforesaid, directly or indirectly, supply the army or navy of the king of Great Brit[t]ain, or any employed by him, with provisions, military or naval stores, or shall give any intelligence to the officers, soldiers or mariners belonging to said army or navy, or shall inlist, or [shall] procure any other person or persons to inlist into the service of the said army or navy, or shall take up or bear arms against this or any other of the United Colonies, or shall undertake to pilot any of the vessels belonging to the said navy, or in any other way shall aid or assist the said army or navy, every person so offending, and being thereof duly convicted before the superio[u]r court of judicature, &c., shall forfeit all his estate, which shall be accordingly seized and entered upon, by the order of said court, for the use of this colony; and such person shall be further punished by imprisonment, in any of the g[o]a[o]ls in this colony, at the discretion of the said court, for a term not exceeding three years; and every person so convicted shall be totally disqual[l]ified to hold or exercise any office, civil or military, and shall not be permitted to give his vote for any representative to serve in the general court or assembly, or in any town meeting for the choice of any town or county officer, or for any military officer, until[l] he shall be restored, by order of the general court, to the privile[d]ges of a good and free member of this community.

—shall forfeit their estates and be imprisoned,

—and be disfranchised.

And be it further enacted,

Mode of proceeding against persons inimical to the liberties of the United Colonies.

[SECT. 6.] That, on complaint being made by the selectmen, or committee of correspondence, inspection and safety, or by any sheriff, deputy sheriff, constable, grand-jurymen or tythingmen, in any county in this colony, to any justice of the peace for the same county, against any person or persons dwelling or residing in such town or county, that he or they are inimical to the liberties of this colony and the other United Colonies in America, the said justice is hereby impowered to issue his warrant to the sher[r]iff of the county, his deputy, or to the constables of the town wherein such person or persons dwell, requiring him to apprehend and bring before him such person or persons, to be examined; and if on examination, it shall appear to the said justice that he or they are inimical and dangerous to the liberties of this colony and the other United Colonies in America, the said justice shall require such person or persons to find sureties for the peace and good behaviour, as also for his appearance at the next court of general sessions of the peace, or superio[u]r court of judicature, &c, to be holden in said county, at his discretion; and, for want of sufficient sureties, shall commit him to the common g[o]a[o]l in the said county, there to be held until the next sitting of one of the said courts, as the said justice in his said warrant shall order, and until[l] he be discharged by such court, or otherwise by order of law; and in case such person or persons shall, before either of the said courts, be found by the jury, upon trial, to be inimical or dangerous to the liberties of this colony or the other United Colonies, the court shall order that he be immediately disarmed; and shall make their warrant, directed to some proper officer, requiring him to seize and take all the arms, ammunition and warlike implements belonging to such criminal, and commit the same to the clerk of the court, who shall proceed with such arms in the same manner as a justice of the peace, before, in this act, is directed to do with the arms taken from any person for refusal or neglect to subscribe the declaration in this act prescribed; and shall require him to find sufficient sureties for the peace and good behaviour for any longer time, at their discretion, and on default thereof, shall commit him to the common g[o]a[o]l of the county until he comply with such order; and shall order the person so convicted, to pay the cost of prosecution, and to be committed [un]til[l] he pay the

And whereas it may have hap[p]ened that some towns and unincorporated plantations in this colony may be destitute of a committee of correspondence, inspection and safety, by reason of their not having seasonably received the resolves of this court directing thereto, or from some other cause; therefore, —

[Sect. 7.] That in all such towns and places as did not, at their annual meeting in March last, agre[e]able to the resolves of this court, choose such committee, the committee of correspondence, inspection or safety, in every such town and place, last chosen before the annual meeting in March last, are hereby directed and impowered to continue acting in such capacity, and shall perform the business required in this act of a committee of correspondence, inspection and safety, [un]til[l] a new committee shall be chosen in their respective towns and places; and where no such committees have heretofore been chosen, the selectmen shall perform the same; and all such towns and places are directed and impowered to call meetings and choose such committee as soon as may be.

In all such towns as did not choose a committee of correspondence, &c., in March last, the committee formerly chosen are impowered to act until a new committee is chosen.

Provided, nevertheless, —

And be it further enacted,

[Sect. 8.] That nothing in this act shall be construed to extend to the disarming, disqualifying, or any way punishing any of the denomination of Christians called Quakers, for not signing the aforesaid declaration, in case, upon being required to sign the following declaration, and having the same tendered to him, shall not refuse or neglect to subscribe it; viz[t]., —

Quakers not to be disarmed for not signing, in case, &c.

We, the subscribers, do solemnly promise and engage that we will not aid, assist or abet[t] the land or naval forces of Great Brit[t]ain, in the war now carrying on against the United Colonies of America, nor supply them with any kind of provisions, naval or warlike stores, nor hold any correspondence with, or communicate any intelligence to, any of the officers, soldiers or mariners, of said army or navy.

—and the committees are required in like manner to tender the last preceding declaration to each of the said denomination of Christians called Quakers, and require them to sign the same, if any such there are in their respective towns or places.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid,

[Sect. 9.] That no person who hath voluntarily left his town or usual place of abo[a]d[e] and fled to the Brit[t]ish fleet or army, while stationed in Boston or elsewhere, or willingly supplied said fleet or army with provisions or stores of any kind, since the nineteenth of April, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-five, communicated any intelligence to, or held any criminal correspondence with, any of the officers, soldiers or mariners, of said fleet or army, or that hath voluntarily entered into, or signed, any association to join or assist said army or navy, or in any way voluntarily aided, assisted or abetted the same, shall be permitted to sign either of the declarations aforesaid, and shall be totally disqualified to hold or exercise, in this colony, any office, civil or military, or to give his vote for any representative to

AN ACT FOR ESTABLISHING THE STILE OF COMMISSIONS WHICH SHALL HEREAFTER BE ISSUED, AND FOR ALTERING THE STILE OF WRITS, PROCESSES, AND ALL LAW PROCEEDINGS, WITHIN THIS COLONY; AND FOR DIRECTING HOW RECOGNIZANC[E]S TO THE USE OF THIS GOVERNMENT, SHALL, FOR THE FUTURE, BE TAKEN AND PROSECUTED.

Preamble.

WHEREAS the petitions of the United Colonies, to George the Third, king of Great Brit[t]ain, for the redress of great and manifest gr[i]ev[e]ances, have not only been rejected but treated with scorn and contempt, and their opposition to designs evidently formed to reduce them to a state of servile subjection, and their necessary defence against hostile forces actually employed to subdue them, have been declar[e]'d rebellion; and whereas an unjust war has been commenc[e]'d against them, which the commanders of Brit[t]ish fleets and armies have prosecuted, and still continue to prosecute, with their utmost vigour, in cruel manners, and have directed their veng[e]ance principally against this colony, wasting, spoiling and destroying the country, burning houses and defenceless towns, and exposing the helpless inhabitants to every mis[s]ery, — by which inhumane and barbarous treatment, by the commandment of George the Third, king of Great Brit[t]ain, &c., the people of this colony consider themselves greatly injur[e]d, and have been obli[d]ged to have recourse to arms to repel such injuries; and whereas, under such circumstances, the absurdity of issuing commissions, writs, processes and other proceedings in law, and in the courts of justice within this colony, in the name and stile of the king of Great Brit[t]ain, is very apparent, and the tendency it has to keep up ideas inconsistent with the saf[e]ty of this government has given the good people of this colony great uneasiness,—

Be it therefore enacted by the Council and House of Represent[i][a]tives in General Court assembled, and by the authority of the same,

Style of civil commissions, &c:

[SECT. 1.] That all civil commissions, writs and precepts for conven[e]ing the general court or assembly, which shall hereafter be made out in this colony, shall be in the stile and name of the Government and People of the Mass[e][a]chusetts Bay, in New England; and all commissions, both civil and military, shall be dated in the year of the Christian [a]era, and shall not bear the date of the year of the reign of any king or queen of Great Brit[t]ain.

NOTES. — As the time approached for issuing writs for a new assembly, under the charter, the provincial congress, some account of which is given in the note to chapter 1, infra, began to consider what course it should recommend to the people to pursue in relation to the convening of the General Court.

It is likely that, notwithstanding the change made in the charter by the act of parliament "for the better regulating the government of the province," &c., the leaders of the popular party were not without hope that the effect of that act might, in some way, be avoided, either by its repeal, or from necessity, since it was evident that the few mandamus councillors who had not resigned would never actually sit as a council, outside of Boston; and a quorum of that branch was essential to the complete organization of the General Court.

Whether influenced by this expectation, or, simply, by the determination that there should be no appearance of a design, on their part, to evade a duty imposed by the charter, the provincial congress resolved, April 1, 1775, that if writs should be regularly issued for calling a general assembly, to be held on the last Wednesday of May, the several towns ought to obey such precepts, and choose representatives, as usual, but advised that the representatives so chosen do no business with the council appointed by mandamus, and, if the House should be dissolved, then that the members reassemble in a provincial congress. Another resolve was passed, at the same time, recommending the towns to choose delegates to a new provincial congress in case no writs for calling an assembly were issued.

The affair at Lexington, on the 19th of April, however, changed the prevailing sentiment with regard to the duty of the people to respect the agents of the crown, and led them to take a further, important step towards revolution. By the 20th of April, Gage had issued writs for convening a new assembly, to be held on the last Wednesday of May. As soon as a copy could be procured, a committee was appointed to consider the propriety of recommending to the several towns and districts to take no notice of these precepts. This was April 28th; and, on the 4th of May, "after a long and serious debate," a committee was appointed, by a vote of 94 out of 107 members, to bring in a resolve for reconsidering the above-mentioned resolve of the first of April. The next day, this committee reported two resolves; one, reconsidering and annulling the resolve of April 1, and the other, declaring that no obedience, whatever, ought, in the future, to be given to General Gage, but that "he ought to be considered and guarded against as an unnatural and inveterate enemy to this country." The congress at the same time appointed a committee to prepare a resolve recommending the election of delegates "for a new provincial congress, to be held on the last Wednesday of the present month."

The suggestions as to "resuming the first charter, absolute independency, &c.,"* which had startled the delegates at the Continental Congress in September, previous, were now earnestly renewed; but it was concluded not to adopt measures which might be looked upon by the other colonies as extreme and unwarranted, without the advice and consent of the Congress at Philadelphia. On the 12th of May, therefore, upon the report of a committee of the whole house, a committee was appointed "by a very large majority" to submit the draught of an application to the Continental Congress "for obtaining their recommendation for this colony to take up and exercise civil government as soon as may be, and that the committee be directed to ground the application on the necessity of the case." On the 15th, the form of application reported by this committee was read, "paragraph by paragraph," and accepted, and a messenger was forthwith despatched to deliver it to the president of the Congress.

In answer to this application the Continental Congress adopted a resolve, June 9, 1775, to the effect that, as no obedience was due to the act of parliament altering the charter of the province, "nor to a governor, or a lieutenant-governor who will not observe the directions of, but endeavour to subvert, that charter, the governor and lieutenant-governor of that colony are to be considered as absent, and their offices vacant;" and recommending the provincial congress, "in order to conform, as near as may be, to the spirit and substance of the charter," to issue precepts for a general assembly which, "when chosen, do elect councillors; and that such assembly, or council, exercise the powers of government, until a governor of his majesty's appointment will consent to govern the colony according to its charter."

The third and last provincial congress, was in session during the battle of Bunker's Hill, and, on the day after the battle, a committee was appointed who, on the 19th, reported the form of a precept for choosing deputies to represent the several towns at a General Court, to be held, pursuant to the advice from Philadelphia, in the meeting-house at Watertown, on the 19th day of July, following. Precepts, issued in accordance with a prescribed form, were ordered to be sent to all towns and districts throughout the province.

Two hundred and five deputies assembled at the time and place appointed for the meeting of the General Court; and, on the twenty-first of July, they proceeded to the choice of twenty-eight councillors, fourteen of whom appear to have taken their seats at the board on the twenty-sixth, and seventeen on the twenty-seventh, of the same month. On the twenty-eighth, the House passed a preamble and resolve, to the effect that, the governor and lieutenant-governor, having absented themselves, and refused to govern the province according to the charter, until they return to "their duty, or some governor shall be appointed to govern the province according to the charter," they will recognize the Council, or the major part of them, as governor, and will acquiesce in their doings as such.

The new government thus organized — the legislative records of the Council, commonly called the General Court Records, beginning on the twenty-sixth of July — held sway without any other executive head than the Council, until the adoption of the Constitution.

* Letter to Gen. Palmer, 26 Sept. 1774: John Adams's Works, v. i., p. 154.

It is noticeable that, in the correspondence between the provincial congress and the Congress at Philadelphia, the designation of Massachusetts as a province was studiously avoided. This is explained by the fact, which could no longer be ignored, that those relations with the parent state which made the government of this people and territory distinctively provincial, had terminated. The authority of the immediate agents of the crown had been repudiated; all supervision of our affairs by the Privy Council had practically ceased, and even parliament, by overstepping the limits which, it was claimed, were prescribed for it by common right and the British constitution, had, in the opinion of the popular party, forfeited all claim to obedience, at least so long as the unconstitutional legislation remained unrepealed. Up to this time, however, the belief which was cherished by many patriots, that separation from the mother country was not inevitable, had been generally deferred to even by those who considered it delusive; and hence the title "province" was replaced by that of "colony," to avoid the appearance of any intention to renounce all dependence upon Great Britain.

Another objection, also, to retaining the word "province," arose from that provision of the charter which required all laws to be published under the province seal. This instrument was in the custody of the royal governor, and had been affixed by him to proclamations and other official papers, issued since his authority had been repudiated by the representatives of the people. There could be but one genuine seal of the province, and, therefore, it became necessary, in order to comply, as nearly as possible, with all the requirements of the charter, to establish a new public seal, in character distinct from the seal previously used. Accordingly, on the 28th of July, an order was adopted appointing "a committee to consider what is necessary to be done relative to a colony seal." This committee reported, on the fifth of August, that "the device of the old province seal be not taken up," but that a new device and motto, submitted by them with the report, be adopted. The design proposed by this committee, with some changes, was agreed to the same day, and, on the seventh, a joint committee was appointed "to direct the making" of the seal. This new seal continued to be affixed to the engrossments of the acts until towards the close of the May session, 1776, which was prorogued on the thirteenth of July. The former great seal of the province remained in the council chamber, at Boston, whence, together with all the other public seals, it was secretly purloined some time between the ninth of September and fourth of October, 1775. The loss of these insignia was considered so serious by the governor that he immediately communicated the fact to Secretary Dartmouth; but before they could be replaced, the progress of the Revolution had rendered them useless.

There were four "sittings" of the General Court this year, which are here treated as separate sessions. According to the secretary's records, there was a prorogation from Nov. 11th to Nov. 29th; by the House Journals, all the sessions, except the last, appear to have been adjourned; and in the journals of both branches, the "sitting" which ended August 24th, is referred to as the "last [antecedent] session."

The General Court now improved their immunity from the operation of ministerial vetoes, by resuming the enacting style which they had consented to change during Shirley's administration, and for which, in part, they had contended, in vain, with Lieutenant-Governor Hutchinson, in 1770. This form is now established by the Constitution of the Commonwealth. — See notes to 1742–43, chap. 1; and 1770–71, pp. 139–140, ante.

Early in the second session, a question arose as to the proper wording of the introduction to be printed with the acts of the first session, and a committee was appointed to prepare a form for that purpose. To the draught reported to the Council, by this committee, amendments, which included the substitution of "colony" for "province," were offered by the House and these amendments being concurred in, the resolve establishing this form was passed on the thirtieth of September, and this new heading, which is as follows: "Acts and Laws, Passed by the Great and General Court or Assembly of the Colony of the Massachusetts-Bay in New England:" &c., continued to be used until the year 1778.

The regnal year continued to be given in all the acts before chapter 18, which is the first act in which it was changed to the year of the Christian era, although the alteration was first made, on the fifth of April, in the bill to chapter 20, which was not enacted until a few days later. By the first of May, an act was passed (chapter 22; and see note to that chapter, post,) requiring a similar change to be made in the precepts for convening the Assembly, and in all legal processes; and, though the name of "colony" was still retained, all commissions, writs, etc., were ordered to be issued in the name of the "Government and People of the Massachusetts Bay in New England."

All the engrossments of the acts of this year (none of which, however, are on parchment) are preserved; and all were printed, except chapters 15 and 17. Some of the engrossments are badly mutilated; and the seals seem to have been removed from chapters 3, 5, 6, 7, 14, 15, 19 and 24; and chapters 13, 16, 21 and 26 do not appear to have been sealed. The signatures of the councillors, to chapter 5, are obliterated; but all of the other acts of this year were signed by fifteen councillors, except chapters 10, 17 and 28, which were signed by sixteen, chapter 18, by fourteen, and chapter 26, by thirteen.

Chap. 1. On the first of September, 1774, Governor Gage issued writs for convening a new assembly at Salem, on the fifth of October, following. As early as the 6th of August, he had received from the Earl of Dartmouth a copy of the act of parliament "for the better regulating the government of the Massachusetts Bay", together with other important papers, including instructions from the Privy Council for carrying the act into operation. This act expressly repealed the provisions of the charter respecting the choice of councillors, and vested in the crown the authority to appoint the members of that board; and, accordingly, a list of thirty-six councillors, who, from the manner of their appointment, came to be generally known as "mandamus councillors," was among the papers transmitted to the Governor from the Secretary of State.

The publication of this act of parliament increased the resentment which the act for closing the port of Boston had provoked, and excited the indignation of the people to the highest pitch, insomuch that all but fourteen of the persons named by the king as councillors, either voluntarily refused the trust, or were forced to resign, and most of the remainder were virtually prisoners at Boston, under the protection of the royal forces. By the charter, the councillors elected in May were to continue in office one year; but, by the act of parliament, their offices were vacated on the first of August, and the Governor, in issuing writs for the election of deputies to a new general court, had expected the new councillors to act with the representatives. Deeming it impracticable, in view of the increasing tumults in the vicinity of Boston, to convene a quorum of the Council, at Salem, the Governor, a week before the time fixed for the meeting of the representatives, issued a proclamation excusing them from appearing at, or holding, a general court.

Notwithstanding this proclamation, ninety of the representatives elect assembled at the time and place appointed, and, after waiting, in vain, the first day, for the Governor to appear, they organized, — choosing John Hancock chairman, and Benjamin Lincoln clerk. On the next day (Oct. 7), they resolved themselves into a PROVINCIAL CONGRESS, and adjourned to meet at Concord, on the following Tuesday, where, on the 27th, they formally invited such members of the council chosen in May, as had not openly sided with the ministerial party, to attend with them.

This first provincial congress, which was adjourned from Oct. 29 to Nov. 23, was dissolved, Dec. 10, 1774, having previously passed a resolve recommending the several towns and districts to choose deputies to represent them in a second congress, to be held at Cambridge, on the first of February, following. The second congress, which had one adjournment, from Feb. 16 to March 22, was convened according to the above-mentioned recommendation, and the date of the last record of its doings is May 29, 1775, although the journal, after May 21, is not preserved.

Two days after this last entry, a third congress was assembled at Watertown, upon a similar call. There were present 229 delegates in the second congress, and 245 in the third congress, which continued in session until the General Court was reëstablished.

In less than ten months from their first assembling, these congresses had assumed, throughout the province, except within the town of Boston and the immediate vicinity actually occupied by the king's forces, full control of the three great functions of government — legislative, judicial and executive. Such of the journals of these congresses as could be collected, were, in 1838, printed and distributed, by authority of the Commonwealth, in an edition of fifteen hundred copies, and, therefore, it has not been deemed advisable to incorporate them with this edition of the laws.

Although no formal acts were passed in either of these congresses, their doings, both legislative and executive, had been, in most instances, general in their operation, and were so important, and, frequently, permanent, in their effect, that it was deemed essential to have their validity established in the most solemn manner. Accordingly, the present chapter, being the first act of the new Assembly, was passed to ratify them, and to provide for the preservation of the records thereof, and for the use of those records as evidence.

The following extracts show all the proceedings relating to the passage of this act: —

"Aug. 5, 1775. Benjamin Chadbourne, Esq; brought down a Vote of Council, appointing Benjamin Greenleaf, Esq; and Joseph Palmer, Esq; with such as this House shall join, to be a Committee to examine the Proceedings of the late Provincial Congresses, and to bring in a Bill for the Confirmation of the same, or such Parts thereof, as they shall judge necessary.

Chap. 2. During the session of the first provincial congress, no further effort was made towards raising money to defray the public expenses than to provide that the several constables and collectors pay over their collections under former tax acts, to such persons as had been, or might be, appointed to supersede the receivers and treasurers in office, who adhered to the former government. As early as October 28th, the congress appointed Henry Gardner, receiver-general, in place of Harrison Gray, and urgent appeals were made to the inhabitants of the towns and districts throughout the province, to forward the business of collecting and paying over to him the arrears of former province taxes, as well as the tax of this year.

The second congress empowered and directed the receiver-general to borrow £100,000, lawful money, to be repaid in June, 1777, with six per cent interest. For this loan a form of treasurer's note was adopted. This was followed, on May 20th, by a resolve for issuing bills of credit, to an amount not exceeding £26,000, for the advance-pay of the Massachusetts army. This amount was enlarged, by the third congress, to a total of £30,000. The bills emitted under these resolves were to be redeemed, May 25, 1776, with six per cent interest, and were all that were issued up to the time of the enactment of the present chapter.

The third congress, however, had referred the subject of a further issue of bills of credit, to the committee of safety, — a body first appointed by a resolve of the congress, Oct 26, 1774, with authority to call out the militia, in an emergency, and to exercise espionage over persons suspected of being enemies. This committee, which was thoroughly organized, and soon became the chief executive directory of the government, promptly attended to the business thus referred to it, and reported the following vote, under date of July 6, 1775: —

"[Voted, That it be recommended to the honorable Provincial Congress to pass the following resolve:]

Whereas, the exigencies of the colony require that there should be, as soon as possible, an emission of bills of credit: therefore, Resolved, that there be immediately issued on the credit of this colony, and deposited in the treasury, a sum not exceeding one hundred thousand pounds, lawful money, in bills of credit of the following denominations, viz.: of one shilling, of two shillings, of two shillings and six pence, of four shillings, of five shillings, of seven shillings and six pence, of eight shillings, of eleven shillings, of thirteen shillings, of seventeen shillings, of nineteen shillings, of thirty shillings, of forty shillings, of sixty shillings, of eighty shillings, and of one hundred shillings; to be five thousand of each denomination, and no more, and to be of the form following, viz.:

Colony of the Massachusetts Bay. } July ——, 1775. No. 109.

The possessor of this bill shall be paid, by the treasurer of this colony, two shillings and six pence, lawful money, by the 18th day of July, 1777, and [it] shall be received in all payments at the treasury at all times. By order of Congress.

And said bills shall also be printed on the back, with the colony seal, the value of the bill, and its date, and round the seal, these words: Issued in defence of American Liberty. Also, Resolved, that A. — Printed Journals of the Committee of Safety, 1774-75, p. 588.

This report was taken up, in the House, July 26th, when the following order was passed: —

"Ordered, That Col. Freeman, Major Fuller, Capt. Derby, Col. Mitchell, and Mr. Hopkins, be a Committee to consider the Report of the Committee of Safety to the late Provincial Congress, relative to a new Emission of Bills of Credit, and report to this House what is best to be done thereon."— House Journal, p. 15.

This committee, the next day, reported a resolve that four committees be chosen to sign the proposed bills, the number and denominations of which were therein set forth. This report was forthwith recommitted, and the committee instructed to limit the amount of the proposed bills to £100,000, and that the highest bill in such emission be of forty shillings, and the lowest, one shilling. The committee, accordingly, reported again, July 29; and again their report was recommitted, and they were instructed to increase, to eight, the number of the committees to sign the bills. The report subsequently made, with this amendment, was accepted, and sent up for concurrence; but the Council not having concurred, the resolve was sent for, from the House, on the first day of August, and ordered to be recommitted, and some change was made in the committee. On the same day, the committee again reported to the House; and their report was ordered to lie on the table; but subsequently, the following orders were passed: —

"Aug. 1, 1775. The Resolve for a new Emission of Colony Bills being amended, was read and accepted. Sent up for Concurrence. Ordered, That Mr. Vose, Major Fuller, and Mr. Watson, be a Committee to procure suitable Paper for printing the Bills upon.

* * * * * *

Ordered, That the new Emission of Bills of Credit be printed on Types."— Ibid., p. 32.

The resolve last referred to seems to have been a resolve for bringing in a bill. On the third of August a new draught of "a resolve for the emission of bills of credit was read and passed and ordered to lie upon the table," and, on the ninth the secretary was ordered to lay upon the table a resolve, for the same purpose, which had been brought down from the Council, and this appears to have been the end of the attempt to authorize the emission of bills, by a resolve.

On the 7th of August, a bill for a new emission of bills of credit was sent up by the House, for concurrence, which, in reply to a message from the House, next day, the Council declared they had not acted upon; and, on the 9th, after the resolve for emitting bills had been laid upon the table, as above mentioned, the following order was passed in the House: —

"Ordered, That Major Hawley, Mr. Story and Col. Freeman, be a Committee to bring in a Bill for an Emission of one Hundred Thousand Pounds, agreeable to a Resolve which has passed this Court for that Purpose." — Ibid., p. 59.

The House Journals show that a resolve for the emission of bills, &c. was read, August 16th, and ordered to be read a second time in the afternoon. The bill for that purpose was actually read a second time at the time appointed, and, as it appears that this bill was, on the 18th, read a third time, and sent up to the Council, it is likely that the clerk inadvertently used the word "resolve" for "bill" in the former entry. Messages passed between the two branches, on the 19th, by which it appeared that the Council non-concurred with the House upon the passage of this bill, and it was thereupon, by direction of the House, brought down and amended, and, on the 21st, it was read a second and third time, and passed to be engrossed. On the 23d, the bill was passed to be enacted, in concurrence, and thereafter the following proceedings appear of record: —

"In the House of Representatives August 23d 1775

Resolved that Colo Thompson and Mr Webster with such as the hoñble Board shall join be a Committee to inspect the press for striking off Bills of several denominations to the amount of the sum of One hundred thousand pounds lawful money, and they hereby are directed to appoint the hours for striking off said Bills and to take especial care to keep the plates in their own hands and possession at all times except when said Plates are in use at the hours assigned for striking off the same Bills

"Aug. 5, 1775. Voted, That Major Hawley have Leave to bring in a Bill, settling the Rights of Representation of the several Towns and Districts in this Colony." — House Journal, p. 45.

Agreeably to the foregoing order Mr. Hawley reported a bill, on the 8th of August, which had its first reading the same day, and its second reading the day after. On the 12th, it was read the third time and re-committed to have a "clause inserted relative to the unconstitutional restrictions of the towns of Newbury and Newburyport, and then passed to be engrossed." It was then sent up to the Council, where, on the 14th, it was concurred in, with certain slight amendments, in which the House also concurred. On the 17th it was passed, in the House, to be engrossed; and, on the 23d, it was passed, in the Council, to be enacted.

"Apr. 29, 1777. *In the House of Representatives — Resolved That such unincorporated plantations as are Taxed to this State be and hereby are impowered to join in the choice of Representatives with such Town where they are taxed. — In Council Read and Concurred Consented to by fifteen of the Council." — *Council Records, vol. Chap. 4. "July 31, 1775. Ordered, That Major Hawley, Dr. Church and Mr. Wheeler, with such as the honorable Board shall join, be a Committee to bring in a Bill for vacating the Commissions of all such Civil Officers as have been appointed by the Governor with the Advice of Council." — House Journal, p. 26.

The bill reported by the committee above named, was read in the House, a first time, August 4th, and, the next day, it was read a second and third time, and passed to be engrossed. It was then sent to the Council, for concurrence. On the 10th, John Adams brought the bill down from the Council, in a new draught, in which form the Council had passed it, in concurrence. The House immediately returned the bill, still further amended by striking out, from the preamble, the declaration that sundry "officers, civil and military," to be suspended, were "through age and infirmity, rendered unable to serve in their respective offices." On the 11th, Mr. Greenleaf brought down the amended bill, with a vote of concurrence by the Council, but with a proposal of other amendments for the consideration of the House.

The subsequent proceedings were as follows: —

"Aug. 12, 1775. The Bill for vacating the Commissions of Civil and Military Officers, was read. The new Draught passed with the following Amendments, at A, dele the Words 'all such Officers,' and insert the Words 'their respective Appointments and Commissions;' at E, dele the Word 'heretofore,' and insert the Words 'before the present Meeting of the General Court;' at H, dele the Word 'Officers;' at I, insert the Word 'now;' at the several Parts of the Bill, where the Time is limited to the 31st Day of August, instead thereof insert 'the 19th Day of September.'" — Ibid., p. 67.

"Aug. 16, 1775. The Bill for vacating the Civil and Military Commissions in this Colony. Read and Resolved, That this Bill pass to be Enacted. Sent up for Concurrence. — Ibid., p. 75.

On the 23d, the bill was passed to be enacted by the Council.

"Aug. 31, 1776.† In Council. Whereas by reason of the difficultys raised by the wicked designs of the Enemies of our liberties an Interruption took place in the Administration of Civil distributive Justice throughout this Colony; — And Whereas by an Act of the General Court removing all Officers from their respective offices, many Civil Suits, which had been Commenced, and were actually entred on the Docquet, or Book of Entries, of the Inferior Courts of Common pleas in the several Counties within this Colony, have not been prosecuted to final Judgment, and much Injury will happen if an adequate remedy is not provided in that behalf —

It is Resolved, That all Civil Actions, that were pending in any Inferior Court of Common pleas in any County within this Colony, by having the same entred on the Docquet, or Minute Books of said Courts, and on which Judgment has not been given may be brought forward at the next Term of the said Court, in which the same was entred as aforesaid, and the same proceedings had thereon, as tho' such causes had been regularly continued in the said Inferior Courts respectively from Term to Term where the same were pending, when such Interruption took place. — Provided always, that nothing in this Resolve shall be construed, or intended to be meant to enable any person, or persons to bring forward any Civil Action which was brought forward had, or pending in the Inferior court of Common pleas held for, and within the County of Suffolk from, & after the first day of September Anno Domini 1774. untill the 17th of March A D. 1776. — Provided also that no Execution, or Writ of possession shall Issue on any Judgment given in any of the Cases aforesaid, until fifteen days after such Judgment, and the Justices of the said Inferior Courts of Common pleas respectively shall continue, the said Causes, & Actions one Term at least, and cause the absent parties to be notified of the suits against them, and where any of the Parties shall be out of the County, and in the Continental, or Colonial Service the said suits shall be continued until the Party absent as aforesaid shall return, or be dismiss'd from the said Service, any Law, Usage, or Custom to the contrary notwithstanding. Chap. 5. No form of oath appears to have been adopted by the provincial congresses, or by the succeeding legislatures, to be administered to the representatives, and members of the council; but in the second provincial congress, May 2, 1775, a committee was appointed to draw up a form of oath to be taken by officers and soldiers in the army. On the 5th of May, this committee made the following report, which is here printed from the original: —

"In Provencial Congress Watertown May 5th 1775. —

Resolved, that all officers & soldiers of the Massachusetts army now raising for the defence & security of the rights and liberties of this and our sister colonies in america, shall each & every of them excepting only the the General Officers repeat and take the folowing Oath: (viz) I. A B. swear, I will truly & faithfully serve in the Massachusetts army, to which I belong, for the defence and security of the estates, lives and liberties of the good people of this & the sister colonies in america, in opposition to ministerial tyrany by which they are or may be oppressed, and to all other enemies & opposers whatsoever; that I will adhere to the rules & regulations of s^d^ army, observe & obey the generals & other officers set over me: and disclose and make known to said officers all traiterous conspiracies, attempts and designs whatsoever which I shall know to be made against said army or any of the english american colonies, so help me God" — Mass. Archives, vol. 206, p. 3.

On the same day, a resolve was passed empowering muster-masters to administer this oath, and another committee was appointed to prepare the form of an oath to be administered to the general officers. This last committee made the following report, May 16, which was adopted: —

"May 17, 1775. Resolved, That the general officers of the Massachusetts army, now raising for the defence and security of the rights and liberties of this and our sister colonies in America, shall each and every of them repeat, take, and subscribe the following oath, to be administered by viz.:

I, A. B., do solemnly swear, that, as a general officer in the Massachusetts army, I will well and faithfully execute the office of a general, to which I have been appointed, according to my best abilities, in defence and for the security of the estates, lives, and liberties of the good people of this and the sister colonies in America, in opposition to ministerial tyranny, by which they are or may be oppressed, and to all other enemies and opposers whatsoever; that I will adhere to the rules and regulations of said army, established by the Congress of ‖ the colony of ‖ the Massachusetts Bay, observe and obey the resolutions and orders which are or shall be passed by said Congress, or any future congress, or house of representatives, or legislative body of said colony, and such committees as shall be by them authorized for that purpose; and that I will disclose and make known to the authority aforesaid, all traitorous conspiracies, attempts and designs whatsoever, which I shall know to be made, or have reason to suspect are making, against the army, or any of the English American colonies." — Printed Journals of the Provincial Congress, 1774-5, p. 233.

Artemas Ward, who was commissioned general and commander-in-chief, May 20, 1775, took his oath before Mr. Dexter, by order of the congress; and this seems to have established the rule for administering the oaths to general officers appointed by the provincial congress: thus the president was, in like manner, directed to administer this oath, to General Frye, June 23, 1775, and the oath was, at the same time, altered, by adding the words "or house of representatives, or legislative body of said colony," in contemplation of the meeting of the representatives in a new assembly.

Upon the reëstablishment of the General Court, measures were taken to relieve public officers, civil as well as military, from the obligation to take and subscribe the oaths of allegiance and supremacy required by the provincial statute, 1719–20, chapter 11. The following order and report were adopted: —

"Aug. 16, 1775. Ordered, That Major Hawley, Mr. Cushing, and Col. Orne, with such as the honorable Board shall join, be a Committee to consider what Oaths are proper and necessary to be taken by the Officers, Civil and Military, who may be appointed by the honorable Board. Sent up for Concurrence." — House Journal, p. 76.

"The Committee appointed to consider what Oaths are proper & necessary to be taken by the Officers, civil & military who may be appointed, submit it as their Opinion, that it is proper & necessary, that a Bill should be brought in to oblige all Officers, who shall be appointed in this Colony, to take the Oaths of Office prescribed by the Laws of the Colony, now in force, and authorising, impowering & requiring all such Officers to proceed in the Execution of their respective Officeies according to the Laws of this Colony, notwithstanding any provision in a Law of this Colony made & passed, in the sixth Year of the Reign of his late Majesty, King George the first, Chapter the fourth, to all intents & purposes, as if such Act had never been passed, untill other provission shall be made by the Authority of the Great and General Court — By Order SAM^L^ ADAMS

On the 18th, the House joined in accepting this report, and ordered the appointment of a joint committee to bring in a bill in acordance therewith. The Council refused to concur in this order, but voted to reconsider and recommit the report; and in this the House concurred. The following is the committee's second report, and the record of proceedings thereupon: —

"The within named Committee humbly Submit it as their opinion that it is necessary that a Bill be brought in, to oblige all officers civil and military, who shall be appointed in this Colony, to take an oath in the Form following viz ' I, A. B. being appointed, to the office of do Solemnly Swear, that I will honestly faithfully & impartially execute all the Duties of the said office, according to the best of my skill and abilities So help me God' and to authorize and require all officers who shall be appointed and Sworn as aforesaid, to proceed in the Execution of their said offices, without taking any other oath any Law, Usage or Custom to the Contrary notwithstanding. —

Mr. Wood, was appointed on said Committee, in the Room of Mr. Devens, otherwise engaged." — Ibid., p. 107.

On the 21st of September, Col. Porter and Mr. Jewett were added to the committee appointed to bring in a tax bill. The bill was read a second time, on the 27th, and after its consideration had been several times postponed, it was discussed and recommitted, Oct. 4th, and Major Hawley and Mr. Sullivan were added to the committee. This committee was ordered to sit forthwith, on the 9th of October, and the next day, upon special assignment, the bill was further considered, read a second and third time, and passed to be engrossed. It was sent up to the Council, October 11th; but the next action upon it appears to have been on the 31st, when the House proposed, as an amendment, that one quarter part of the tax on Stockbridge be taken off, and put on West Stockbridge, in which amendment the Council concurred, and the bill was then passed to be enacted.

A petition from the town of Sunderland relative to the apportionment of taxes upon that town, and the town of Leverett then lately set off from it, was presented September 27th; and petitions from sundry other towns, for abatement of their taxes, in whole or in part, were presented, from time to time, during the legislative year; namely, by the inhabitants of Wellfleet, under date of May 30th, whose business of whaling, and gathering oysters, upon which they were mainly dependent, had been ruined by the British cruisers; by the inhabitants of Topsham, under date of June 15th, on account of their losses by the stopping of the lumber trade, from the same cause; by the inhabitants of Salem, prepared in a town meeting, Jan. 1, 1776; and a like petition from the town of Marblehead, dated March 30, 1776, — the destruction of the fisheries, the chief business of the inhabitants of both these towns, having greatly impoverished them; a petition from Dorchester, dated Jan. 16, 1776, praying for similar relief, and another from Harpswell, dated Dec. 20, 1776.

The petitioners from Salem and Marblehead had leave to withdraw; but no action appears to have been taken upon the other petitions, by the legislatures of 1775 and 1776.

"June 27, 1776. Petition of the Select men of Hull — in behalf of the Inhabitants of said Town. — Setting forth — That the Town consisted of about Twenty Families, that were liable to be taxed when the whole were together, & less than 1000 Acres of Land; that the Inhabitants were assessed for their proportion of the province tax in 1773: but in the Winter following before it was collected a number of poor persons were taken with the Small Pox, which cost the Town about Eighty pounds; w^ch^, in addition to the common expences of the poor, was so great a burden on the Town as render'd it next to impossible for them to pay the Tax laid in that Year, & in the Winter following they were again visited with Small Pox — and finding that their proportion of the province Tax for 1774. could not be Collected — they Voted that it shou'd be borrowed — but before this was done, hostilities were Commenced by our Enemies and soon after the Inhabitants were removed to neighbouring Towns which deprived them of the Income of their Farms the last Year and the inhabitants were so scatter'd through the Country that the Tax for 1775. was not assessed, and indeed had it been — such is the poverty, and real distress of the Town, that it could not have been Collected — and praying, that their proportion of the public Taxes for 1773. 1774. & 1775. for the reasons abovemention'd may be remitted, &c.

In the House of Representatives, Resolved,* that the Prayer of the Petition of the Selectmen of the Town of Hull in behalf of said Town be so far granted, that the whole of the Province Tax which is set on the Inhabitants of said Town for the Year 1775 be and hereby is remitted them. Chap. 7. During the third provincial congress two committees, the members of which were enjoined to secrecy, were successively appointed to consider the expediency of "establishing" a number of small, armed vessels to cruise on the coast, for the protection of trade and to annoy the enemy. A report made by the committee last appointed, was repeatedly considered, but the subject was finally "ordered to subside." — See printed Journal, of June 19, 1775, p. 361.

mending the colonies to make immediate preparations for defence on land and sea, and the resolve set forth in the preamble to this chapter is one of these. The second session of the General Court was begun September 20th, and, on the 28th, an order was passed in the House, appointing a committee of seven, to consider the expediency of fitting out a number of armed vessels. To this committee, on the 29th, was referred the petition of Ivory Hovey, in behalf of nine districts in Lincoln County, lying "between Machias and Penobscot," praying for protection from British men-of-war, &c. This petition was taken from another committee, to which it had been referred the day before. The result of this reference was the following report: —

"Oct. 9, 1775. The Report of the Committee appointed to consider the Expediency of fitting out armed Vessels, was taken into Consideration. Read, and accepted.

Whereas the unnatural Enemies of these Colonies have infested the Sea-Coasts with armed Vessels, and are daily endeavouring to distress the Inhabitants, by plundering Live Stock, and making Captures of Provision and other Vessels, being the Property of said Inhabitants: And whereas the Grand Congress of America, have resolved 'That each Colony at their own Expence, make such Provision by armed Vessels or otherwise, as their respective Assemblies, Conventions, or Committees of Safety shall judge expedient, and suitable to their Circumstances and Situations, for the Protection of their Harbours and Navigation on the Sea-Coasts, against all unlawful Invasions, Attacks and Depredations, from Cutters and Ships of War:' And whereas it is the Duty and Interest of each Colony to exert itself as well for the Purpose of keeping Supplies from the Enemy, as for those mentioned in the Resolve just recited.

Therefore Resolved, That a Committee be now appointed to prepare and bring in a Bill for the Confiscation of all armed and other Vessels, that shall be taken and brought into this Colony, together with their Cargoes, Appurtenances, &c. which shall have been found making unlawful Invasions, Attacks or Depredations on our Sea Coasts or Navigation, or improved in supplying the Enemy with Provisions, &c. or employed by them in any other Respect whatever. — And that Provision be made in said Bill for encouraging such of the Inhabitants of this Colony, as shall for this Purpose be recommended by the Committees of Correspondence and Safety of the Town in which they shall dwell, to fit out armed Vessels under such Regulations as the General Court shall order; and that all Vessels and Cargoes that shall be taken by said Inhabitants or others, properly authorized to take the same, and that shall be legally condemned in this Colony, shall be the Property of the Captors, they paying the Charges of Condemnation. Also that further Provision be made in said Bill for determining the Salvage that shall be allowed on such Vessels as shall be retaken from the Enemy before Condemnation; and for erecting a Court for the Trial and Condemnation of all Vessels, Cargoes, &c. as aforesaid, that shall be taken and brought into this Colony. Accepted." — House Journal, p. 151.

A bill was accordingly reported, which was read a first time, in the House, October 14th, a second time, on the 17th, and a third time, on the 18th. In the Council, the bill was read a second time and passed to be engrossed, October 27th, with amendments, in which the House concurred. The House proposed a further amendment, November 1st, substituting North Yarmouth, for Falmouth, in the seventh section, which the Council agreed to, the same day, and the bill was thereupon passed to be enacted, and, on the 8th, was ordered "to be printed in the Watertown newspaper." On the 10th, the secretary, by direction of the House, laid the bill on the table, when the following proceedings ensued: —

"The Secretary agreeable to Order, laid on the Table the Act for encouraging the fitting out armed Vessels.

Upon a Motion, Ordered, That Mr. Gerry, Capt. Bacheler and Mr. Rawson, be a Committee to bring in a Resolve impowering any Person to make Captures of all Vessels within the Predicament of those made liable to be taken, by an Act for encouraging the fitting out armed Vessels." — Ibid., p. 259.

"Nov. 10, 1775. The Committee appointed to prepare a Resolve impowering any Persons to make Captures of Vessels in certain Cases, reported. Read and accepted as follows.

Whereas by a Law of this Colony made in the present Session of the General Court, Intitled an Act for encouraging the fitting out Armed Vessels to defend the Sea-Coast of America, and for erecting a Court to try and condemn all Vessels that shall be found Infesting the same — it is provided that all Vessels which shall be brought into this Colony, and proved to be the Property of, or any Ways employed by the Enemies of the United American Colonies, or for Supplying the said Enemies, shall with their Appurtenances and Cargoes be deemed forfeited, and disposed of as by said Act is ordered and directed, and no Provision being therein made for Captors not legally commissioned therefor, who in certain Cases ought to meet with all necessary Encouragement.

Resolved, That when and so often as it shall appear to the Judge of any Court by said Act provided, that any Vessel or Vessels which shall be by such Court condemned, have been taken by any Inhabitants of the United American Colonies, within thirty Leagues of the American Shore; in that Case it shall be lawful, and such Judge is hereby authorized and directed to award to the Captors the amount of what such Vessel or Vessels with their Cargoes and Appurtenances shall produce, after deducting the Charges of Tryal and Condemnation; and also the Sheriff's Fees for Sale at public Auction, in the same Manner as would have been done, had such Captors been commissioned with Letters of Marque and Reprisal, by any of the Colonies aforesaid. Sent up for Concurrence." — Ibid., p. 264.

On the 7th of December, a committee was appointed to prepare and bring in a temporary fee-bill for the admiralty courts. On the 29th, this committee was ordered to sit forthwith. Another committee was appointed, Jan. 8, 1776, to bring in a bill for this purpose. On the 17th, this last-named committee was directed, by the House, to report forthwith, and that the bill be brought in, in the form of a resolve. On the 24th, the table of fees reported was considered by the House, and recommitted to another committee, "the House having previously voted that the judges of said court should severally be paid, for the trial of any cause, at the rate of twenty shillings per day." On the 25th, the following resolve was reported to the House: —

On the 14th of February, this act was repealed by chapter 15, for reasons which appear in the preamble and notes to that chapter; but it was revived by chapter 17, which repealed the repealing act. Chapter 17 was passed March 19th, whereupon the following preamble and resolve were adopted: —

"Mar. 20, 1776. In Council — Whereas the Judge of the Court of Justice for the Counties of Suffolk, Essex and Middlesex (appointed in pursuance of an Act of the General Court at their Session in November last, intitled an Act for Encourageing the fixing out of Armed Vessels to defend the Sea Coast of America, and for Erecting a Court to try and condemn all Vessels that shall be found infesting the same) has appointed certain days for holding his Court for that purpose at Ipswich Viz — the Eighteeth nineteenth, Twentieth, Twenty First, Twenty Eighth, and Twenty ninth days of March instant, and it being inexpedient that those Courts should be held untill some further Regulation shall be made relative to the proceedings therein — It is hereby Resolved and Ordered that the Court aforesaid appointed to be held on the days aforesaid (which are not already Elapsed) be adjourned until monday the First day of April next to be held at Ipswich in the County of Essex, and all Processes, Pleas, and every matter and thing whatsoever which might or could have been heard, considered and determined by the said Judge in Virtue of the appointment of those days for that purpose shall and may be heard and determined by him on the said First day of April next, and they are hereby continued accordingly. — And all Jurors and Witnesses who have been summoned to attend in pursuance of the appointment aforesaid shall be hereby holden and are accordingly directed to attend said Court on the said First day of April next, and shall be liable to the same penalties for Nonattendance as if the said Court had been held on the days appointed for holding the same. — In the House of Representatives Read & Concurred Consented to by Fifteen of the Council." — Council Records, vol. XXXIV., p. 667.

A resolve was prepared, June 4, 1776 — the preamble to which declares that the judges of admiralty, and others, were in doubt as to whether or not the warrant for the sale of prizes condemned under this act must be directed to the sheriff — directing that each judge issue his warrant, for the sale of prizes, to some sheriff within his jurisdiction; but upon this resolve no action appears to have been taken, although this direction had been made more explicit in chapter 15, which was repealed.

Chap. 8. The bill of this act was reported, August 22, 1775, and, after a second reading, was "referred to the next session of this court." This bill came up again for consideration, October 12th, and had its third reading on the 16th or 17th, after one or two postponements. On the 19th, it was passed to be engrossed, and on the 31st, it was passed to be enacted.

"Nov. 7, 1775. John Taylor, Esq; brought down from the honorable Board a Resolve concerning the necessary Qualifications of Retailers to receive Licences.

Pass'd in Council, viz. In Council, November 7, 1775.

Whereas by an Act of this Colony made in the sixteenth Year of the Reign of George the third, intitled an Act, impowering the Courts of General Sessions of the Peace within this Colony to grant Licences to Innholders and Retailers in certain Cases; it is among other Things therein enacted, that the several Courts of General Sessions of the Peace in each and every County in this Colony, who have in any Measure been interrupted in their Proceedings (as mention'd in said Act) or have omitted granting Licences as usual, are thereby authorized and impowered at their first Sessions thereafter to be held respectively, to grant Licences to Innholders and Retailers of spirituous Liquors, or common Victuallers, to exercise their respective Callings for, and during the Remainder of the Year, or untill the Term at which by Law they are authorized to grant such Licences, observing the Rules and Directions of the Law in such Cases made and provided.—And no Direction is given in the said Act, what preliminary Steps are necessary to be taken by Innholders, Retailers, or common Victuallers, in order to qualify them for the said Employments:

It is therefore, Resolved, That before any such Licences be granted to Innholders, Retailers or common Victuallers, every Person applying to the several Sessions as aforesaid, before they are Licenced, shall produce a Certificate from the major Part of the Selectmen of the Town where they dwell, recommending them to be Persons of sober Conversation, suitably qualified, and provided for the Exercise of such an Employment; and that this Resolve be published in Hand-Bills, and sent into each Town in this Colony. Sent down for Concurrence. Read and concurred with the Amendment, at A. viz. at A, insert — and particularly that they be firmly attached to the Rights and Interest of their Country. Chap. 9. On the fifth of December, Elbridge Gerry, William Cooper and William Story, of the House, were appointed a committee to bring in a bill for the further emission of bills of public credit. The bill which they reported having had three readings, was passed to be engrossed, December 8th, and sent up for concurrence. On the 16th, the bill was sent for by the House, amended, and again sent up; and on the 22nd, it was passed to be enacted, and Capt. Bragdon and Capt. Morton were appointed a committee to superintend the impression of the bills. The order appointing this committee was reconsidered, the next day, and it was ordered that the superintendence of the printing be done by a joint committee, of which the two gentlemen previously appointed be members, on the part of the House.

"Watertown Dec^{mr} 8, 1775

House of Represta^{s}. shall order, for the sum of one penny half penny old Tenor, each Bill, and finde the Paper, and all the materials, the paper to be equal to the last Emmission.

As the alteration & engraving will not be quite so much work as the last, I agree to alow thirty Shillings L. Money out of the whole. PAUL REVERE

Memorandam The Paper for the last, cost me Six dollars a Rheam, when I did not expect to give but four, which made 44 Dollers odds, the Committee of the House ordered the paper to be made, & did not agree for the price, & I was obliged to pay the paper maker his demand.

M^{r}. Cooper to bring a Resolve for Engageing the above price to M^{r}. Revere & to direct y^{e} plates to be d^{l} to him." — Mass. Archives, vol. 138, p. 271.

Chap. 10. The provincial congress attempted no direct changes in the laws relating to the formation and regulation of the militia; but recognizing the old establishment, they, as early as the 26th of October, passed resolves authorizing the committee of safety to muster the militia, upon an alarm, and earnestly recommending all officers and privates to obey the orders and calls of that committee. They, also, at the same time, made provision for the subsistence of the forces, when on duty, and for the purchase of cannon and gun-carriages, ammunition and ordnance stores. By another resolve they recommended such companies of the militia as had not already chosen officers, to proceed, forthwith, to choose them; the officers so chosen, to immediately meet and divide the regiments — restricting their limits when necessary — and to elect field officers. These field officers were requested to forthwith endeavor to enlist at least one-fourth of the respective companies, and to form them into new companies of at least fifty privates each, to hold themselves in readiness for immediate service. Each of these companies was recommended to choose a captain and two lieutenants, and the captains and subalterns were to form them into battalions of nine companies each, and, when so formed, field officers were to be elected for them. This subsidiary organization of active militia, which soon became known as "minute-men," was placed under the command of five general officers, appointed February 9, 1775, "to command, lead and conduct" it in opposing and resisting any attempt "for carrying into execution, by force," the recent act of parliament for better regulating the government and for the more impartial administration of justice in the province.

On the 8th of April, measures were taken for the formation, in conjunction with the governments of Connecticut, Rhode Island and New Hampshire, of a standing army, and on the 23rd, this business having been accelerated by the affair at Lexington and Concord, on the 19th, it was unanimously resolved "that an army of 30,000 men be immediately raised and established," and "that 13,600 men be raised immediately by this province."

From this time forth, although the authority of the committee of safety still extended over the whole militia, and was confirmed in the revised resolves adopted May 19th, the attention of Congress, in respect to military affairs, was chiefly confined to the organization, equipment, augmentation, subsistence and movements of the "Continental Army," which was also under the direction of the committee of safety.

On the 18th of July, the Continental Congress passed the resolves which have been already referred to (note to chap. 7, ante), and which, so far as they relate to the organization of the militia, are as follows: —

"Resolved, That it be recommended to the inhabitants of all the United English Colonies in North-America, that all able bodied effective men, between sixteen and fifty years of age in each colony, immediately form themselves into regular companies of militia, to consist of one captain, two lieutenants, one ensign, four serjeants, four corporals, one clerk, one drummer, one fifer, and about sixty-eight privates.

That the officers of each company be chosen by the respective companies.

That each soldier be furnished with a good musket, that will carry an ounce ball, with a bayonet, steel ramrod, worm, priming wire and brush fitted thereto, a cutting sword or tomahawk, a cartridge-box, that will contain twenty-three rounds of cartridges, twelve flints and a knapsack.

That the companies be formed into regiments or battalions, officered with a colonel, lieutenant-colonel, two majors, an adjutant, or quarter-master.

That all officers above the rank of a captain, be appointed by the respective provincial assemblies or conventions, or in their recess, by the committees of safety appointed by said assemblies or conventions.

That all officers be commissioned by the provincial assemblies or conventions, or in their recess by the committees of safety appointed by said assemblies or conventions.

That all the militia take proper care to acquire military skill, and be well prepared for defence by being each man provided with one pound of good gun-powder, and four pounds of ball, fitted to his gun.

That one fourth part of the militia in every colony, be selected for minute men, of such persons as are willing to enter into this necessary service, formed into companies and battalions, and their officers chosen and commissioned as aforesaid, to be ready on the shortest notice, to march to any place where their assistance may be required, for the defence of their own or a neighbouring colony; and as these minute men may eventually be called to action before the whole body of the militia are sufficiently trained, it is recommended that a more particular and diligent attention be paid to their instruction in military discipline.

That such of the minute men, as desire it, be relieved by new draughts as aforesaid, from the whole body of the militia, once in four months.

As there are some people, who, from religious principles, cannot bear arms in any case, this Congress intend no violence to their consciences, but earnestly recommend it to them, to contribute liberally in this time of universal calamity, to the relief of their distressed brethren in the several colonies, and to do all other services to their oppressed country, which they can consistently with their religious principles.

That it be recommended to the assemblies or conventions in the respective colonies to provide, as soon as possible, sufficient stores of ammunition for their colonies; also that they devise proper means for furnishing with arms, such effective men as are poor and unable to furnish themselves.

That it be recommended to each colony to appoint a committee of safety, to superintend and direct all matters necessary for the security and defence of their respective colonies, in the recess of their assemblies and conventions.

* * * * * *

That it be recommended to the makers of arms for the use of the militia, that they make good substantial muskets, with barrels three feet and a half in length, that will carry an ounce ball, and fitted with a good bayonet and steel ram-rod, and that the making such arms be encouraged in these United Colonies.

Where in any colony a militia is already formed under regulations approved of by the convention of such colony, or by such assemblies as are annually elective, we refer to the discretion of such convention or assembly, either to adopt the foregoing regulations in the whole or in part, or to continue their former, as they, on consideration of all circumstances, shall think best." — Journals of Congress.

On the seventh of August, these resolves of the Continental Congress were referred to a committee of the House of Representatives, with instructions to take them into consideration, and report "what is proper to be done by this House, relative to that matter in this colony." This committee, the next day, reported a resolve that, agreeably to the above resolves, the court proceed to the choice of field officers for the several regiments of militia throughout the colony, "as quick as may be," which report was "ordered to lie on the table until the next session of this court."

At the second session, the subject was resumed, and a committee was appointed "to bring in a bill for regulating the militia of this colony." This was on September 26th. On the third of October, this committee was ordered to sit forthwith, and, on the 13th, some changes in the committee having been made in the mean time, the draught of a bill was brought down from the Council. The bill had its first reading, in the House, Oct. 16th, by special assignment, and its second reading, Oct. 19th, after two postponements, and was then refused a third reading, and another change was made in the committee. On the 21st, the Council, in answer to a message from the House, replied that the bill "is recommitted, and in the hands of the chairman"; and, on the same day, a new committee was appointed to bring in a bill. On the 23rd, Col. Otis was substituted on this committee, for "Major Hawley, on other duty" and an order was passed that the committee "bring in a bill providing that the officers of the companies be chosen by the companies; that the field officers be chosen by the Assembly; and that all be commissionated by the Council." On the next day, the committee was ordered to "proceed on that business," and the following proceedings ensued: —

"Oct. 25, 1775. Upon a Motion, the Question was put, Whether there be any Necessity or Advantage in making an Alteration in the Appointment of Military Officers, different from what is now established by the Resolves of the Provincial Congress, and confirmed by the Assembly; which pass'd in the Affirmative.

Resolved, That Major Hawley, Mr. Gerry, Col. Orne, Col. Bowers and Col. Grout, be a Committee to confer with a Committee that may be appointed by the honorable Board, with regard to the Method of appointing Militia Officers, and the best and most advantageous Steps to be taken for the Regulation of the Militia in this Colony." — House Journal, p. 196.

"A Message from the major Part of the honorable Council, by the Secretary.

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives,

The Council view with the deepest Concern the unhappy Dissention between them and the honorable House of Representatives, relative to the Right of appointing the Military Officers in this Colony, and the growing ill Consequences which necessarily result from such Disunion.

The Council have no Desire unduly to extend and exercise the Powers vested in them, and are far from having a Disposition to altercate with the honorable House; they wish a Coalition of Sentiment with them in every Point. No Motives short of what appears to them to be their indispensable Duty would be sufficient to induce them to claim an exclusive Right of appointing such Officers. Could they give it up consistent with the Obligations they feel themselves under to adhere strictly to the Charter, as recommended by the Hon. the American Congress, they would do it with Pleasure.

In order therefore to put an end to this Dispute, and have it ascertained with whom is the Right of appointing such Officers, the Council propose and offer it for the Consideration of the Hon. House, that they immediately make a joint Application to the Hon. the American Congress, by whose Advice and Countenance this Colony have set up, and now exercise the powers of Government, and to whose Counsels it is necessary we should conform, for their Determination thereon

Read and Ordered, That Mr. Speaker, Major Hawley, Mr. Gerry, Col. Grout, and Col. Orne, with such as the honorable Board shall join, be a Committee to consider and report a Method of appointing Officers in the Militia, that shall be agreeable to a Resolve of the Continental Congress, and best calculated to promote the Interest of the Colony." — Ibid., p. 228.

"Nov. 7, 1775. Samuel Holten, Esq; came down from the honorable Board with a Message, desiring that the House would lay before them a Resolve of the Continental Congress, to which the Reference is had in a late Order of this house, proposing a joint Committee for considering the Method of appointing Officers in the Militia.

Ordered, That Col. Porter go to the honorable Board with the Resolve of the Continental Congress, respecting the appointing Officers in the Militia." — Ibid., p. 237.

"Nov. 9, 1775. The Committee to whom was committed another Message from the honorable Board, reported,

Read and accepted, and thereupon Ordered, That Mr. Gerry, Major Hawley, Col. Orne, Col. Sayer, Mr. Hopkins, Mr. Partridge and Col. Thompson, be a Committee to wait on the Major Part of the honorable Board with the following Message, viz.

May it please your Honors,

This House have considered your Message of the third Instant with equal Candor and Concern. When they observe that in the same Message wherein your Honors intimate that you judge it to be your indispensable Duty to maintain a Claim of an exclusive Right of appointing Military Officers in this Colony, you expressly acknowledge that it is by the Advice and Countenance of the honorable the American Congress, that this Colony have set up and now exercise the Powers of Government, and to whose Councils it is necessary we should conform. When they also consider the Clearness and Precision of the Resolutions of the said American Congress, of the Eighteenth of July last, touching the Method of appointing Military Officers 'in all the United English Colonies in North-America,' and at the same Time recollect that this Colony has hitherto considered herself as one of them, ever since that Union took Place; they are constrained to be of Opinion that the abovesaid exclusive Claim of the honorable Council is altogether indefensible in any Consistency with the abovesaid Resolutions; and that it cannot fail to infer Dishonor and Disgrace both on your Honors and this House, either jointly or severally to make an Application to the honorable Congress for their Determination on the Meaning of their Resolves, and the Justness and Propriety of your Honor's Claim abovementioned, as well as imply an Imputation on the honorable Body of Obscurity, want of Correctness and Precision in so important Resolutions made for all the said Colonies, which appear to this House so plain, as that he that runs may read." — Ibid., p. 251.

"Nov. 10, 1775. The Secretary came into the House and read the following Message.

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives.

Your Message of Yesterday, relative to the Appointment of Military Officers, has been considered by the Council with Candour, as they presume; and certainly with deep Concern, that a Controversy of this Nature should be raised and continued, at a Time of the most eminent Danger, when our ALL is at Stake, and when Union and Stability of Councils and Actions are particularly necessary to the Preservation of our remaining Sea-Ports, against the Depredations of our Enemies. The Council are not contending for Victory; in this Case they would wish to be vanquished, if the honorable American Congress would permit it; they have very high Conceptions of the Wisdom of that august Body; and have never considered them as a Body of Obscurity, nor imputed to them a Want of Correctness and Precision; but being composed of fallable Men, tho' wise, 'tis possible, that some of their Resolutions may not be so plain to others as to the honorable House, who, perhaps, can read as they run. The Council have not Discernment enough to be apprehensive of Dishonour and Disgrace by an Application in this Case, to the honorable Congress: If the honorable House have such Fears, they may avoid the Charge; if they have not, the Council would wish for such a joint Application, as was proposed in their Message of the third Instant.

The Council have considered the Resolve of the honorable American Congress of June ninth past, in which it is recommended to this Colony, in order to conform as near as may be to the Spirit and Substance of the Charter, to chuse Representatives, which Representatives or Assembly should elect Counsellors, which Assembly and Council, should exercise the Powers of Government, until a Governor of his Majesty's appointment, will consent to govern the Colony according to its Charter. — They have also considered their Resolve of the eighteenth of July past, wherein it is recommended to all the Inhabitants of the United English Colonies, to regulate their Militia in such Manner as is therein mentioned; and among other Things it is therein recommended, that all Officers above the Rank of a Captain, be appointed by their respective Provincial Assemblies or Conventions: And that all Officers be commissioned by the said Provincial Assemblies or Conventions, or in their Recess, by the Committees of Safety, appointed by said Assemblies or Conventions.

The first of these Resolves, specially respected this Colony, and this only; the other was a general Resolve, and did not mention this Colony: The Council considered themselves bound by the first, to exercise the Powers of Government, as near as might be to the Spirit and Substance of the Charter; and we presume the honorable House, on the seventh of August past, considered it in the same Point of View, or they would not have 'recommended to the Board' to make Appointments for Military Service. The other Resolve being general, and this Colony not specially mentioned therein, the Council presume was not intended in the Case of Appointments and commissionating Military Officers, to effect this Colony, or in this Case, to repeal the first of said Resolves; and the Council have appointed and commissionated, as conformable as may be, to said first Resolve, without any Intimation of Complaint from the honorable House in their late sitting, nor 'till very lately in their present.

The Council may truly boast a firm Attachment to the natural Rights of Men; and if there is an Incompatibility between those Rights and the Charter-Constitution of this Colony, the Council can only lament their being bound to the Observation of such a Constitution: But considering themselves thus bound, they have religiously observed the same, in order to preserve the Union of the Colonies: But as the continuing this Controversy, will expose to our merciless Enemies this distressed Country, especially upon the Sea Coast, for Want of a well regulated Militia; the Council do most ardently Desire, that the honorable House would explicitly order their Claim to subside for the present, or point out some other Mode of Proceeding, by which the Militia may be immediately settled, and our Country saved from impending Ruin." — Ibid., p. 261.

"Nov. 11, 1775. The Committee on the Message from the honorable Board, reported.

Read and accepted, Resolved, That Col. Grout, Deacon Rawson and Mr. Story, be a Committee to wait on the honorable Council with the following Message.

May it please your Honors,

The House propose to the honorable Board at twelve o'Clock this Day, by joint Ballot with them to come to the Choice of some suitable Person to such Service and Command in the County of Cumberland, as is expressed in a Message from the honorable Council to this House of the seventh Instant; which Person when chosen, shall be accordingly Commissioned by the honorable Council. * * * * *

The Committee on the Message from the honorable Board, reported again. Read and accepted.

The multiplicity of important public Affairs which have been under the Consideration of this Court during this Session, having unavoidably prevented a new Appointment of Military Officers within this Colony; and it being of the utmost Importance to the Safety of the Colony, that the Militia thereof should be well equipt and disciplined, and in the best Posture of Defence.

Resolved, That the several Military Officers who have been chosen by the People of this Colony, agreeable to the Resolves and Recommendation of the late Provincial Congress, be, and hereby are Ordered to remain and continue in the several Stations to which they were appointed as aforesaid, untill the further Order of this Court; and all such Officers are directed to use their utmost Exertions in putting the Militia under their respective Commands in the best Posture for Defence they are able. Sent up for Concurrence." — Ibid., pp. 266 and 267.

On the last day of the session the Council addressed the following letter to the delegates from the province to the Continental Congress: —

"Watertown Novr. 11th. 1775

Gentlemen. The Manifest militation between the Resolve which passed the hon'ble the American Congress on the ninth June last relative to Establishing Civil Government in this Colony and the Resolve which passed the Congress on 18th of last July pointing to a method how the Militia should be regulated in the Several United American Colony's hath caused some Altercation between the Hon'ble House of Representatives, and the Council — The House have claimed by Virtue of the Last resolve a right to a choice, in the choice with the Council of the Militia Officers in this Colony — The Council have considered themselves bound to Act in conformity to the first mentioned Resolve

But such is the Prevailing sentiments of the House, that they have a right to join in the Election of Military Officers, that it will be difficult for the Council longer to Storm the Torrent of a measure so popular, unless absolutely directed thereto by the Hon'ble Congress — The Council hope an Order of that kind will not take place — they rather wish the Representatives of the people may be Gratified in this claim, as we think it will promote the peace of the Colony & the Public Cause — You will think of the matter and give us your advice, either with or without compelling your brethren of the Congress as you shall Judge best." — Mass. Archives, vol. 195, p. 393.

"Philadelphia, Novr. 23d. 1775.

Sir I had the Honor of your Letter of Novr. 11th by Express and am very sorry to learn that any Difference of Sentiment has arisen between the two Honorable Houses respecting the Militia Bill, as it is so necessary at this critical Moment, for the publick Service —

If I was of opinion that any Resolution of the Congress now in Force was against the Claim of the Honorable House, as the Honorable Board have proposed that we should lay the Question before Congress I should think it my Duty to do it; But it appears to me that supposing the two Resolutions to clash, the last ought to be consider'd as binding, and as, by this, it is left in the 'Discretion of the Assembly either to adopt the foregoing Resolutions, in the whole, or in Part, or to continue their former, as they on consideration of all Circumstances shall think fit.' I think it plain, that the Honorable Board may comply with the Desire of the Honorable House if, in their Discretion they think fit. — I am the more confirmed in the opinion that it is unnecessary to lay this Matter before Congress, as they have lately advised the Colonies of New-Hampshire and one more, if they think it necessary to establish such Forms of Government, as they shall judge best calculated to promote the Happiness of the People.—

Besides the Congress are so pressed with Business, and engaged upon Questions of greater Moment, that I should be unwilling, unless in a case of absolute necessity to interrupt them by a Question of this Kind, not to mention that I would not wish to make known so publickly, and extensively, that a Controversy had so soon arisen between the Branches of our new Government.

I have had frequent Consultations with my Colleagues since the Receipt of your Letter, upon this Subject; but as we are not unanimous, I think it my Duty to write my private sentiments as soon as possible. If Either of my Colleagues shall think fit to propose the Question to congress, I shall there give my candid opinion, as I have done to you. —

I have the Honor to be, with great Respect to the Honorable Board, sir, your most obedient, and very hble Servant JOHN ADAMS

The Hon: James Otis Esqr.

"Philadelphia Novr. 23 1775

Sir Having very maturely consider'd your Letter of the 11th of November, written in the Name and by order of the Hon^ble the Council of Massachusetts Bay, and directed to the Delegates of that Colony, I beg Leave to offer it as my opinion that the Resolve of Congress pass'd on the 9th July* last, must be superceded by the subsequent Resolve of the 18th * of July following, so far as they appear to militate with each other. — By the last of these Resolves, the Conventions or Assemblies of the several Colonies annually elective, are at their Discretion either to adopt the Method therein pointed out for the Regulation of their Militia either in whole, or in part, or to continue their former Regulations, as they on consideration of all Circumstances shall think fit. It therefore seems to me manifest, that the Hon^ble Council are under no Restraint from yielding to the Hon^ble House a Voice with them in the Choice of the Militia Officers in the Colony. —

I am prevail'd upon to believe that this is the sense of the Congress; because they have lately recommended it to the Colony of New-Hampshire, to set up, and exercise Government in such Form as they shall judge to be most conducive to the Promotion of Peace and good Order among themselves, without laying them under Restrictions of any kind. —

As the Hon^ble Board have been pleas'd to direct us to give our opinion with or without consulting our Brethren of the Congress, I hope I shall be justified, after having conferr'd with my Colleagues on the Subject, in declining on my part to have the Matter laid before Congress, for Reasons which were of Weight in my Mind; and indeed I am of opinion, that the Congress would not chuse to take any Order of that Kind, they having diverse times of late declin'd to determine on Matters which concern'd the internal Police of Individuals of the united Colonies. It is my most ardent Wish, that a cordial Agreement between the two Houses may ever subsist, more especially in the Establishment of the Militia, upon which the Safety of the Colony so greatly depends.

I am with all due Regards to the Honorable Council, Sir Your most Humble Serᵗ.

SAMUEL ADAMS.

Att SAM FREEMAN Clerk." — Ibid., p. 160.

It appears, from the following joint letter, that Hancock and Cushing wrote to the Council, on the 24th, but neither the original nor any copy of that letter has been found: —

"Philadelphia Nov. 29ᵗʰ 1775

Gentlemen We wrote you on the 24 Instant that we thought the matter in dispute between the two Houses ought to be laid before the Congress and their Sentiments taken upon it, but for various reasons, too many now to enumerate, this has not as yet been done; however we have consulted the members of the Congress individually and upon conversing with them, we find that in general they are extreamly desirous we should Conform, in all Governmental Matters, as near as possible to the Spirit & Substance of our Charter, and it is their opinion that, when the Resolutions of the 18 July last was passed it was the intention of the Congress, not to superceed the resolve of the 8 of June last, but to leave such Governments, as were competent to the Business to model and regulate their Militia agreable to their several Constitutions as prescribed by their respective Charters, however, they said as it appeared from our representation of matters, that our House of Representatives had Conceived otherwise of this Matter & had Claimed a right to a Voice, with the Council, in the choice of militia officers & that if the dispute was Continued it would throw the Colony into a Ferment; and considering also that at this critical Juncture our militia might be suddenly wanted and it was therefore highly expedient & necessary it should be immediately settled & regulated, it was their Opinion that it would be adviseable for the Council, during the present exigency of our affairs, to gratify the House of Representatives in this Claim but not by any means any further to deviate from the Charter. Thus we have Collected and advised you of the Sentiments of the members of the Congress in general, which we doubt not will be some aid to you in your deliberations & determinations upon this Important Subject, and were we present we Should Vote Agreable to this advise

We Conclude with great respect Your Honor's Most obedient humble Servants

JOHN HANCOCK

THOMAS CUSHING." — Ibid., p. 171.

This concurrent advice of the delegates prevailed, as the provisions of the third, fourth and fifth sections of the act show. During the third session the bill was the subject of frequent debates and orders, from December 5th, when another committee was appointed to prepare and bring in a bill, to December 18th, when, changes having been made in the committee, and the bill having been considered by a committee of the whole House as early as the 14th, — which resulted in instructing the joint committee charged with bringing in the bill to report certain amendments, — the bill was amended in concurrence, and had its first reading in the House. The bill came up for consideration, from day to day, until the 22nd, when it was recommitted. On the 26th, it was again considered and again recommitted, and Messrs. Hawley and Gerry were added to the committee. On the 29th, the bill was again considered and recommitted, and, the next day, it was still further considered, and again recommitted. January 2nd, it was "read a third time, and passed to be engrossed," and sent up for concurrence.

On the 4th of January, the Council appointed a committee to confer with a committee of the House, "upon the subject matter of the militia bill, and upon the manner in which the officers shall be appointed," which was agreed to, and the resolve of the Council, appointing the committee of conference, was sent down in answer to a message from the House requesting it. The representatives now reconsidered their vote appointing a committee of conference, and chose a new committee. On the 10th of January, the bill again came down from the Council with certain proposed amendments, in which, on the 11th, the House refused to concur, but proposed certain other amendments. In these amendments the Council immediately concurred, with additional amendments which the House rejected, and voted to adhere to their own vote. On the 12th, the Council again proposed amendments, whereupon the House proposed a joint committee to revise the bill, "and report what amendments they think proper to be made therein." On the 15th, the Council sent the bill down, with proposed amendments. To these amendments the House agreed — some of them "being first taken into a new draught." On the 17th, the Council sent the bill down, with a further amendment, which was considered by the House, and the bill recommitted; whereupon the committee reported another amendment, in which, on the 18th, the Council refused to concur, but passed the bill to be engrossed, with certain changes reported by the committee on revision. At this stage, the bill was concurred in by the House, and, on the 19th, ordered to be "printed in next Monday's paper," and, on the 22nd, it was passed to be enacted.

The bill was now ordered to be "printed and dispersed to the several towns in the colony" This was on the 31st of January; and, two days later, a committee was appointed by the House, "to bring in a resolve for explaining that part of the militia bill which excludes all persons belonging to, or being a part of, the established forces of the United Colonies [or], of this colony, from being elected to, or holding any office in, the militia of this colony." Although the committee thus appointed made a report on the next day, which was read and debated, and specially assigned for future discussion, no record of further action upon it has been found.

During the fourth session, the House took up the consideration of the "state of the militia in this colony," and April 1st, was assigned for the debate, which was then postponed to the next day. On the fourth of April, a "report of the committee on the state of the colony" was brought down from the Council in these words: —

"That it is expedient that the Militia of this Colony should be regulated as soon as may be, agreeable to an Act lately made and passed for that Purpose. And the Committee ask Leave to sit again." — House Journal, p. 79.

This report was read the next day, and Tuesday, the 8th, was assigned "for the purpose of regulating the militia of this colony agreeable to the late act of this court." On that day a committee, "appointed to report rules for the better regulating the militia," was directed "to sit, and report as soon as may be." The subject of the state of the militia was again considered on the 9th, and, on the 15th, a special assignment was made for the consideration, on the next day, of a code of rules and regulations for the militia of this colony, when drawn forth on an alarm. These regulations, in fifty-nine articles, were then adopted. They are reserved for the Appendix. On the 20th of April, a committee was appointed "to consider what is proper to be done with regard to printing" these regulations, and reprinting the militia act, upon whose report, April 24th, it was resolved that one thousand of each be printed, in pamphlet form, for the use of commissioned officers. By the 6th of May, the first instalment of these had been printed, and a committee was then appointed to distribute them; and, on the 19th of June, the next general court ordered the same committee to procure from the printer, and distribute, the remainder, among those regiments that had not received copies.

"June 24, 1776.* Whereas by a late Act of the General Court, intituled, 'An Act for forming and regulating the Militia within the Colony,' &c. the Selectmen of each and every Town, are directed to provide, at the Expence of the Colony, a Number of Spades or Iron Shovels, narrow Axes and Pick Axes, and the same to deposit and keep in some safe Place, for the Use of the Militia upon an Alarm. And whereas it may be found expedient, to make Use of such Tools in erecting Fortifications, or for other necessary Purposes. Therefore Resolved, That the Selectmen of each and every Town within this Colony, be, and they hereby are severally impowered, (A) to apply the whole, or any Part of the Tools provided agreeable to the Act aforesaid, to any Purpose for which there shall be Occasion to Use them, for the Defence of this Colony, in their own, or any other Town within the same, (B) the aforesaid Act notwithstanding. Sent up for Concurrence." — Ibid., p. 122.

"June 25, 1776. Daniel Hopkins, Esq; brought down the Resolve which passed the House Yesterday, impowering the Selectmen to lend Tools, &c. with the following Vote of Council thereon, viz.

In Council, June 24, 1776. Read and concurred, with the Amendment from (A) to (B,) viz. Dele from (A) to (B), and insert, 'And directed upon Application being made, to deliver the whole, or any Part of the Tools, provided agreeable to the Act aforesaid, to any commissioned Officer, commanding any Number of Soldiers, employed in fortifying against the Enemy, in any Town in this Colony, taking their Receipts for the same, particularly mentioning the Number of each Tool so delivered, and said Officers are hereby directed to return said Tools to the said Selectmen, as soon as conveniently may be, after they have done using them, in fortifying as aforesaid.' Sent up † for Concurrence. Read and concurred." — Ibid., p. 134.

"June 26, 1776. Ordered, That Capt. Brown see that the Resolve of this Court, impowering the Selectmen to lend Tools, be printed in the several News-Papers." — Ibid., p. 139.

Chap. 11. "Oct. 31, 1775. Moses Gill, Esq; brought down a Bill for altering the Places of holding the Courts of Justice in the County of Middlesex." — House Journal, p. 214.

The bill thus brought down from the Council, was read a first time, in the House, on the second of November, when the second reading "was referred to the next session," and, the next day, the treasurer was ordered to bring in a resolve for the same purpose. A resolve was accordingly reported, November 9th, providing for holding the April term of the Superior Court, and the March and November terms of the court of common pleas, and court of sessions, at Concord, instead of Charlestown, as formerly, until the further order of the Legislature. In this resolve the Council voted to concur, with an amendment which does not appear to have been agreed to by the House, and nothing further relating to it seems to have been done this session.

At the next session (February 2), upon leave given, the members of the House from Middlesex County, brought in the bill of the present chapter, and, on the same day, it had its three readings.
